MARKET CLOSED TO GERMAN-MADE TOYS

EVEN PETERBO OUGH MERCHANTS STEER CLEAR OF THE HUN PRODUCT.

TORONTO, Nov. 25. — Will big, happy-hearted Santa Claus, who is planning a real peace Christmas, buy German toys for his kiddies? It is rumored that some firms are planning to put them on the market. When visiting several of Toronto's largest toy departments to-day, the Examiner representative asked the managers: "Where are you buying your toys this season?" "We are buying them in England, France and the United States, and not a few from Japan, as well as from our own local firms." "Are there no German toys on the market?" "Not a one, and there never will be as far as I am concerned," said one manager. "It is against the policy of our firm, and besides, I never bought such an excellent collection of toys in my life."

A number of Peterborough merchants interviewed expressed similar views and made it clear that they were not in the market for German-made goods of any kind.

PETERBORO LADIES WILL LOSE THEIR CHANCE TO SMOKE

THAT IS IF THE PLANS OF THE W.C.T.U. DO NOT MISCARRY.

Unless the plans of the W.C.T.U. miscarry those of the Peterboro fair sex who indulge in an occasional of more than occasional "whiff of the weed" will be up against it in a few days as the organization has in other cities started a campaign against the sale of cigarettes to women and the matter, it is expected, will be brought up at the regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. to-day by Mrs. Seels who attended the convention in Hamilton.

Directly the announceemnt was received that the matter would probably come up, a telephone campaign of the smart set was set in action to learn the feelings of the ladies in regard to the matter and it was surprising to find the avalanche of indignant queries and uncomplimentary statements regarding the possible campaign. It was easily ascertained that the habit had become fairly firmly entrenched amongst the ladies in the city.

Habit Growing

The habit, it was found is becoming prevalent among the gentler sex in Canada and Peterboro is far from an exception to this. "How in the world did you commence to smoke", one lady was asked and she reluctantly admitted she thought it looked rather smart. The habit seems more or less to have developed in Peterboro through the return of the city's daughters who spent some time in England during the war. Considered to be a rather daring and smart practice like any other daring inovation which has been confirmed by the smart set of somewhere else the practice has little trouble in finding a large following, and to-day, it was stated, any special gathering at club or tea is slow and the people provincial if the ladies fail to light up during the course of the meeting.

Supposing it Succeeds.

But supposing the action of the W. C. T. U. succeeds what will you all do, the ladies were asked. Will you merely stop or will you fight the organization? An indignant protest followed this. They'll find more trouble in taking away our smokes than they did when they attempted to take them away from the boys in the trenches one lady assured the inquirer.

"The very idea," said on indignant young person, "why perfectly nice women do it openly in the restaurants in London and no one thinks anything about it—are they going to object to us smoking in our own homes if we want to?"

"Well, I'm going to lay in a stock promptly," spoke up one woman when told of the dire news.

"Of what kind?" enquired the reporter inquisitively.

Have Violet Scent

"Why—why, there is a simply lovely brand; they're scented with violets you know, and they are in a dear little violet box and you can get them at—well, I won't say over the telephone because goodness knows who might be listening in (it was a party line), and there would be a terrible rush and I simply must get all they have— and, please excuse me, I think I'll go downtown now and stock up."

Between exceedingly rollous puffs one of the devotees of the fair weed reluctantly admitted that she honestly didn't care a terrible amount whether she smoked or not but "didn't the inquirer think it looked perfectly heavenly?"

One Way Out.

"Oh, I don't mind, if they go," haughtily one woman of the "three hundred can always get the same anyway."

ANOTHER STEP IN THE TREATY FIGHT

PRESIDENT WILSON'S TYPEWRITER IS WORKING OVERTIME ON ANOTHER MESSAGE TO CONGRESS.

LINE OF ATTACK

United Press.
By Raymond Clapper.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. — While President Wilson worked to-day on his message to Congress, the Republican leaders in both Houses planned their attack on his expected demand for quick ratification of the peace treaty.

The situation is when the President's message goes before Congress the Republicans will be ready to concentrate their efforts on the passage of the Senator's resolution declaring the war ended.

If Wilson adheres to this stand that the Treaty should be ratified, with only explanatory reservation, and that the Lodge reservations nullify the document, the Republicans immediately will start their drive to force through the resolution and put it before the President for his signature thus laying on him the responsibility for continuing the technical state of war if he vetoes it; but if Wilson manifests a spirit of compromise and says that the treaty is acceptable with the Lodge reservations based on them the opposition leaders will devote their efforts to bringing about this qualified reservation.

SERGT. R. BEAVIS RETURNED HOME

HAS LEFT AGAIN FOR OVERSEAS AFTER SHORT FURLOUGH

Sergt. Reuben Beavis, an old Peterboro boy, who has seen over five years service, having gone overseas with the first contingent, spent a short time on furlough at his home, 119 James street, East City, between Sunday noon and Monday noon. He was suddenly called to proceed overseas again and unless his furlough is extended, he will sail from Montreal to-morrow.

Sergt. Beavis has had some very thrilling experiences while overseas, and was wounded in all some thirty-four times.

It will be remembered that in 1916 his mother went to England to visit him but at that time his mind was affected and he did not recognize her. Now, owing to excellent treatment and care he has completely recovered and although hampered by a wound in the leg and back he can get around quite well.

Mayor Duncan, who has taken a kindly interest in Sergt Beavis, did not succeed in seeing him in Peterboro but by good fortune saw him in Havelock when he was proceeding east.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKETS

Stores at 92, up 1; American Loco at 96 3-4, up 3-8; Union Pacific at 129, up 1-8; Texas Co at 299, up 3; Central Leather at 96 7-8, off 1-4; Crucible at 71, up 2; Bethlehem B at 96 3-8, up 3-8; Republic Steel at 109 1-4, up 1 1-8; Baldwin at 112 1-4, up 3-4; Southern Pacific at 98 3-8, up 1-2.

MR. BURNHAM WRITES TO PREMIER DRURY

Premier E. C. Drury in acknowledging a letter received from Mr. J. H. The Ontario Prime Minister acknowledges the letter with thanks for the information it contained.

CONFERENCE HAD TO DELAY TREATY

(Special to The Examiner.)

PARIS, Nov. 25.—The Peace Conference will be unable to carry out its plan to make the treaty effective Dec. 1, it was learned definitely to-day. Failure of the American Senate to ratify the Versailles treaty, combined with departure of the German delegates without signing the proctocol providing enforcement of the terms, compelled the conference to decide upon postponement of the tentative date, it was learned.

THEODORE WOLFF ON PEACE TREATY

(Specil to The Examiner.)

BERLIN, Nov. 25. — Even if the American Senate eventually ratifies the peace treaty, the Entente must figure that the United States has assumed a position against mixing in "purely European affairs," Theodore Wolff declared in an article in the "Tageblatt" to-day.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Mrs William Routley, of this city, had a narrow escape from drowning while crossing the Pigeon Creek Bridge. Mr. Routley was returning from a deer huntiug expedition, and while crossing the bridge, his car nearly disappeared in a hole in the roadway. After some difficulty, Mr. Routley managed to extricate himself, although his car was somewhat damaged.

He states that the bridge is in a dangerous condition, and it is having the effect of diverting a lot of traffic to Lindsay that would otherwise come to Peterborough.

A THORN IN THE ADMINISTRATION

HON. I. B. LUCAS CALLED UPON SIR ADAM BECK THIS MORNING--DECLINES TO ADMIT HE WILL STICK ON THE JOB.

NOTHING TO SAY

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—Hon. I. B. Lucas called upon Sir Adam Beck this morning at eleven o'clock. As both he and Premier E. C. Drury are more than reticent, there is keen speculation over the purpose of the visit.

Will Mr. Lucas resign or will he still continue on the Hydro-Electric Commission?

Premier Drury, it is known, would like to have the resignation of the former Crown Attorney. Unless he does receive it, he will be in the difficult position of not being able to place the second representative of the Government on the Commission.

The position of Mr. Lucas is somewhat incongruous. It is true that he was a representative of the Hearst Government on the Commission, but not by virtue of his office as Attorney-General. His connection with the Hydro, therefore, did not terminate automatically with his resignation from the Government. On the Commission he is supposedly a representative of the municipalities.

It has been suggested that he retain his connection with the Hydro as a test of the boasted non-partisanship principles of the Drury Government.

Interviewed to-day, both the Premier and Mr. Lucas were silent as to their feelings or intentions.

"Will you resign?" Mr. Lucas was asked.

"I have nothing to say," was the smiling answer.

"Was there any significance in your visit to Sir Adam Beck?"

"I haven't anything to say," was the additional enigmatical reply.

REDUCTION IN TRAIN SERVICE

WAY FREIGHT ON G.T.R. WILL ONLY RUN EVERY OTHER DAY.

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—As anticipated drastic reductions in passenger and possible freight service on Canadian railways, on account of shortage of coal were officially announced to-day, as result of meetings of Railway Officials to consider conditions following strike in United States. These reductions so far as announced by Canadian Railway War Board and Grand Trunk Railway will chiefly affect, C.N.R. and Grand Trunk for time being, with possibility that other railways may later on be affected. There reductions will go into effect Saturday next.

Passenger Service

The local Grand Trunk Agents have received advice from the officers of the company that "owing to the critical condition of coal supply, material reduction in passenger train service will be made Sunday, November 30th., with definite announcement to be made Thursday next. If however there is an improvement in the coal condition this will not be necessary.

It is understood that it is the intention of the G.T.R. to reduce the way freight service through Peterboro and that the way freight running to Belleville each day will only run every other day as a measure of conservation.

24-YEAR COURTSHIP WINDS UP IN COURT.

LONDON—A story of 24 years courtship was told at Birmingham when Florence Annie Hunt, postmistress at Earlswood, brought an action for breach of promise against William Wright, a farmer. Her counsel explained that the courtship started in 1895 when the lady was eighteen, and the defendant persuaded her to give up another young man and accept his exclusive attention. Three years later they became engaged, but one excuse after another was given to postpone the wedding day. The plaintiff alleges Wright was paying attention to another woman last winter. He denied this. The jury awarded Miss Hunt $1,750.

THE APPEALING FACTOR.

Sir—Absolutely no class!

Ma—Why, that girl lives in Farrog!

Auntie—She's going to be fat.

Uncle—Bow-legged, that's what she is.

First Cousin—She ought to have more cash.

Pa—What's that?

Son—She hasn't a relative up-stairs.

OBITUARY

MRS. WILLIAM DINEEN.

(Contributed.)

Just as the hour of twilight last evening a home was plunged in the shadows of grief when the Angel of Death called a loved one out to the great beyond, in the person of Mrs. William Dineen, 246 Charlotte street, city. Deceased, whose maiden name was Catherine Morrissey, was born in Wexford, Ireland, 78 years ago. Coming to this country as a child, her parents settled in Streetsville, Ont., and with this town, west of Toronto, is connected all the associations of her youthful days. United in marriage to William Dineen of this city at the age of 22, she resided in Peterborough for some years, later moving to Havelock, where the couple entered public life as proprietors of the hotel, well known as the "Dineen House." Gifted with all the charming affiability and warm-heartedness of the ideal hostess as well as the sterling qualities of a character that can make and keep friends, she was loved and esteemed not only by the citizens of this vicinity, but by all who came in contact with her genial personality. Here was a soul of generous ideals—a nature true and loving as it was cheerful. Ever remembering to extend the warm hand-clasp that cheered the lonely and the sunny smile that eased those in sadness, she will not soon be forgotten by her large circle of friends. Deceased, who was noted for her devout life, was a faithful member of "Our Lady of Mount Carmel" church, Havelock, where she donated, among other gifts, a statue and window of exquisite beauty. Afflicted with an illness 14 years ago, which subsequently developed into complete disability, she received at the hands of her adopted niece, Miss Mary Dineen, and now her unconsolable mourner, all the attending care that only an affectionate heart can give.

Mr. and Mrs. Dineen, with their niece, Miss Mary, retired from public life and took up residence in this city two years ago, where the deceased was attended by the late Dr. McGrath. Apparently in her usual condition of health until a week ago, when she was taken ill with pneumonia, to which she finally succumbed.

She leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband and niece, to whom the sympathy of the entire community is extended in their hour of trial, three sisters, Misses Anna and Johanna Morrissey of Streetsville, Ont., and Mrs. Richard Dineen, this city, also one brother, Mr. James Morrissey, of Streetsville. Mr. J. Dineen of Toronto, is a nephew, and Mrs. McDonald, this city, is a niece. Other relatives in this city are: Mrs. John Lane, sister-in-law, Mr. Thos. Lane, nephew, Messrs. Timothy and Joseph Dineen nephews, and Mrs. Thos. Sweeney, Toronto, is a niece.

The funeral will take place from her late residence, 246 Charlotte street, tomorow morning at 8 o'clock, to St. Peter's Cathedral and St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

SERBS, CROATS AND SLOVENS RESIST THE ARMED INVASION OF THE ITALIAN POET.

THE PEACE TREATY

(By Don. E. Chamberlain.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—War, which might involve all Europe and, threaten the peace of the world, will result if Gabriele D'Annunzio attempts to carry out his reported intention of seizing the whole of Dalmatia, Dr. S. Y. Grouitch, Minister representing the Serbs, Croats, and Slovens, predicted to-day in an interview.

"Any invasion by D'Annunzio beyond the line of demarcation fixed by the Peace Conference will be met by the Jugo-Slavs with armed force," Dr Grouitch declared.

(United Press.)

ROME, Nov. 25.—The American Senate's refusal to ratify the Treaty of Versailles is interpreted by both the Jugo-Slavs and the Italians as a victory for their aspirations in the Adriatic, according to a despatch from the Giornale D'Italia's Dalmatian correspondent.

LIVER TROUBLE AND HEARTBURN

The liver is the largest and one of the most important organs of the body. Its duty is to prepare and secrete bile, and serve as one of the filters of the body, cleansing it from all impurities and poisons. Therefore when the liver gets out of order it is the starting of trouble in nearly every part of the body.

Keep the liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no heartburn, constipation, biliousness, sick or bilious headaches, dull, yellow eyes, brown blotches, sallow complexion, coated tongue, jaundice, catarrh of the stomach, or the painful protruding, internal or bleeding piles.

Mrs. John Kadey, Chipman, N. B., writes: "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for some time and can recommend them to anyone suffering from heartburn and liver trouble. I tried other remedies but they only relieved me for a short time. I always recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to all sufferers as I think that they are a valuable remedy."

DAILY MAIL ADVOCATES IMPORTED WOODEN HOUSES.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Daily Mail which is strenuously advocating the importation of wooden houses, says Dr. Addison's (Minister of Health) attempt to run them down has been exposed repeatedly from evidence from every country in the world.

Other papers express the fear that the proposed subsidy of 150 pounds sterling for approved houses will only add to the building cost.

HIS LITTLE ANGEL

An Eastern paragrapher says the most pathetic thing is to hear a 21-year-old boy call his father "papa" Maybe, but we want to enter as a close competitor the 98-pound husband who refers to his 200-pound wife as "his little angel."

Robert Herrick once said he could live on rosebuds and cherries if they were served by the woman he loved that may be; but our guess is that Herrick never put his assertion into practice—or we'd have a contradiction on record.

A famous explorer declares that all lions are "left-handed." He has noticed that whenever one of these beasts desires to strike a blow it always uses the left paw.

(Evidently the explorer was not the one whom the beast in question made the blow. If he was our opinion is that he wouldn't take notice of which paw was used. Binoculars are surely very handy, nowadays.—C. E.)

PETERBORO LAW ASSOCIATION DEAL WITH THE CASE OF J. GUISE-BAGLEY

MOVE MADE TO HAVE MR. BAGLEY'S NAME STRUCK FROM THE ROLL —A POLITICAL APPOINTMENT.

A special meeting of the Peterborough Law Association was held yesterday afternoon to deal with the case of J. G. Guise-Bagley.

The secretary was instructed to write to the chairman of the Discipline committee of the Law Society of Upper Canada asking that Mr. Bagley's name be struck from the roll of those allowed to practice law in the province.

A resolution was also passed that the Premier of Ontario be memorialized in order that his attention might be drawn to the fact that Mr. Bagley had never taken any regular course in law at Osgoode Hall Law School, but was created a barrister and solicitor by the late Hearst government by a Private Act, and urging upon him that in future no persons be admitted as solicitors and barristers by private acts of the Legislature because such a practice is likely to lead to abuses and the admission to the Bar of incompetent and undesirable persons.

It was appreciated that Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for Mr. Bagley from a sense of duty, as it is recognized that every person who is charged with a criminal offence should be represented by counsel to assist the Court in bringing out all the facts either for or against the person accused, with a view of placing before the tribunal trying the person accused all the facts and circumstances favourable and adverse to such accused person. This custom relates even to a lawyer who may be accused of some criminal offence. In fact the oath of office and obligations of a solicitor require him to appear for an accused person who he may know to be guilty in order to protect the interests of such person, and to bring forward everything which the Court may consider valuable in dealing with the case of an accused person.

COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING TO-DAY

FINAL SESSION — THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS POSTPONED.

The final sessions of the County Council this year opened this afternoon with Warden McIntosh presiding.

A bylaw authorizing the borrowing of $14,000 to meet the cost of new bridges and repairs was given three readings and passed.

Warden McIntosh postponed his address until Wednesday.

To avoid the cost of arbitration for the determination of the share of the expense of the maintenance of the Burnt River Bridge at Kinmount, the Victoria Council wrote that they had appointed a committee to meet representatives of Peterboro. They reported that the cost of arbitration could be saved by a conference, otherwise they were prepared to proceed to arbitrate the allotment of the expenditure for the upkeep of the bridge. Victoria Council asserts that 80 per cent of the traffic was from Peterboro county. This communication was referred to Mr. E. A. Peck, county solicitor.

PROMINENT CURLER IN A MOTOR CAR ACCIDENT.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 25.—Serious injuries to his head and back were suffered the other afternoon by Arthur Garden, when he was struck by a motor car driven by Rev. T. D. McCullough, a retired minister. Mr McCullough, in striving to save Mr. Garden, who was crossing Harvard Street, turned his car through a plate-glass window in the Ford motor car plant. Garden was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, and is reported to be resting easily.

Rev. T. D. McCullough is well-known to Peterborough curlers, and was very popular and well-liked here.

WEDDING BELLS

WARD—GOSELIN

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of the Sacred Heart this morning at 9 a.m., when Miss Lillian Goselin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Goselin of this city, was united in the Holy Bonds of matrimony to James Francis Ward of Lynn, Massachusetts, son of M. P. Ward, of that city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Gorman, assisted by the Rev. Father Costello, of St. Peter's Cathedral, and by Rev. Father McCauley of the Ennismore parish.

The bride dressed in a navy blue travelling suit with a seal scarf and hat to match and carrying a bridal bouquet to match, entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Wagner's Wedding March played by the organist, Mr. Armstrong.

After the ceremony was over and the happy couple were leaving the church Mr. Armstrong played Mendelsshon's Wedding March.

The groom was supported by Mr. H. Boyd Wilkinson of this city.

After the ceremony the young couple left the church amid showers of confetti and good wishes. A dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward were the recipients of numerous and beautiful presents. The groom's gift to the bride was an exquisite pearl necklace and to the bridesmaid a pair of pearl earrings, and to the groomsman a pair of gold cufflinks.

Among the guests present from out of town were Miss Amy Eden, Miss Margaret O'Donnell and Miss Maud McNichol of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. David McIntosh of Lakefield.

This evening the happy couple will leave for Montreal, Boston and points east to spend their honeymoon and on their return will reside in Toronto.

Mr. Ward holds a responsible position with the International Press in Toronto.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1919.

DR. McPHERSON'S APPLICATION.

One of the matters that will come before the Property committee at its meeting this week will be the application of Dr. A. W. McPherson, the city's Medical Officer of Health, for an increase in salary. In this connection the Examiner can only repeat what it said several weeks ago, that Dr. McPherson's present remuneration is entirely out of proportion to the importance and responsibilities of his position and that it believes that a generous increase would be endorsed by the great majority of citizens. Dr. McPherson's salary in 1919 is exactly the same as it was when he enlisted for overseas service in 1915. It was none too large four years ago; it is disgracefully small now in view of the declining value of the dollar. Simple justice would require a generous treatment of the application of the Medical Officer of Health.

AN INDEPENDENT MAYOR.

Mayor MacBride, of Brantford, elected to the Ontario Legislature as a Labour representative, and who caused a mild sensation by withdrawing from the recent U.F.O.-Labour conference, has evidently decided to make the break with the Farmers permanent, judging by the announcement that he is inaugurating a campaign to bring down the prices of food on the Brantford market. Mayor MacBride fails to see why potatoes should sell for $2.75 a bag and will endeavour to bring the prices down within reach. His action is not likely to increase his popularity with the U.F.O., but the Brantford labour member has never been noted for a very conciliatory attitude towards the farmers, and evidently has come to the conclusion that he can afford to ignore their opinions.

CENSORING THE FILMS.

The request of the stage employees and moving picture operators that the various provincial moving picture censorship boards shall be abolished and that in their stead a Federal Board of Censors shall be adopted, is one that seems worthy of consideration. The censorship as it exists at present is at best unsatisfactory and freakish. Naturally a board of censors in one province differs in its viewpoint from a similar board somewhere else. What would be passed by the Ontario board would be condemned in Quebec, and a film that the Quebec censors would approve would fail to satisfy the Ontario board. The result is that film firms are at a loss to know just what kind of a picture to send out through Canada, while the system does not succeed in preventing objectionable pictures from being shown. A Federal Board would be of assistance to the producers and the public would be as equally well protected as they are under present conditions.

OPPOSITION NOT WANTED.

It is not expected that any opposition will be offered to the return of the six Ontario cabinet ministers who have to appeal to the electors of their respective ridings next month. Outside of the moral certainty that they would be elected no matter who ran against them, there is a strong feeling throughout the province that they should be returned by acclamation. The general sentiment of the province as reflected by the newspapers is that the new government should be given every opportunity to make good and there will be little sympathy for parties or candidates who try at the present time to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery. The people, on the whole, seem inclined to thoroughly test this innovation in government and accordingly there is a popular demand that the ministers should be returned to office as speedily as possible, and that Premier Drury, Hon. W. E. Raney and Hon. Manning Doherty be accommodated with seats so that the new administration can settle down to their task of governing the province.

There are many important problems before the Drury government, not the least momentous of which is the sudden and steadily growing movement in Northern Ontario for secession from the rest of the province. Mr. Drury declares that there is no danger of the north waging or obtaining secession, but reports say that no fewer than 240 municipalities scattered through New Ontario are sympathetic towards the movement.

EMBARRASSMENT, THE RESULT OF COUGH

You've seen it often—just as the singer, preacher or great actor reaches the climax and the audience is keyed up to the highest pitch of anticipation, there comes that uncontrollable cough or sneeze from somewhere in the audience. How embarrassing for the victim who knows that the pleasure of many has been spoiled.

You can avoid being in a similar position by always carrying a box of Dominion C. B. Q. Tablets (in the red box). One or two doses will stop a cold before it gets seated, or break up a hard cold in short order. Get a box today. National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited. 12

AN AWAKENING NEEDED.

When Dr. Horace L. Brittain, of the Research Bureau, remarked the other day that the apathy and indifference of ratepayers were responsible for civic mismanagement, he was not referring particularly to Peterborough, yet his statement applies as well to this city as to any of the other municipalities he may have had in mind. It is an unfortunate fact that in the past many local electors have been neglectful of their civic responsibility and have failed to take enough interest in the election of municipal officials to even record their vote. Various remedies have been proposed to meet this condition of affairs, including the drastic course of disenfranchising those who could not produce a legitimate reason for not marking their ballots, but even the threats of such heroic treatment as losing the privilege of voting have not served to arouse the delinquents to a sense of their responsibility as citizens. What is to be done about it? Candidates for municipal office can help a little, but those who have their eye only open to the main chance naturally confine their attention to getting out the vote that is favourable to them. An organization like the Board of Trade, however, could do a good deal towards securing an adequate expression of opinion by inaugurating a campaign to impress upon citizens the necessity of taking sufficient interest in civic affairs to have a voice in selecting the men who preside over the destinies of the city. By using the members of the Board as missionaries in this much needed propaganda work during the next few weeks public sentiment could be aroused to a considerable degree and a much greater interest created in the municipal elections than has been in evidence for some years. This suggestion by no means contains the idea that the Board of Trade should enter into municipal campaigns in so far as selecting candidates is concerned, but merely that they endeavour to interest the ratepayers in the necessity of exercising the franchise.

The citizens who will not take the trouble to vote should be silent as to the faults of civic administration—yet it is noticeable that much of the grumbling comes from those who have failed to do their part by registering their vote. Inefficient aldermen do not elect themselves; they get into office generally because many ratepayers remain away from the polls. Similarly, by-laws that are not in the best interests of a community sometimes slip by because the minority who are interested vote and the rest are too apathetic to register a negative.

It is high time for a change in this respect in Peterborough.

Two Splendid Things

One is plenty of open-air exercise.

If you can't get all of that you should, it's all the more important that you should have the other tried-and-true remedy for a torpid liver and bowels that don't act freely and naturally.

EFFECT OF PROPAGANDA.

Ludendorff in his book blames British propaganda in large measure for Germany's defeat. The blockade and propaganda together, he declares, undermined the spirits of the German people and shook their belief in ultimate victory. The people were divided and the morale of the army weakened. In the preaching of revolution through this propaganda "the German people at home and at the front had received a death blow."

It is of interest to note that others besides Ludendorff saw the effectiveness of British propaganda. Hindenburg in September of last year wrote on the subject:

> The enemy knows that Germany cannot be conquered by arms alone. The enemy knows that the spirit which dwells within our troops and our people makes us unconquerable. Therefore he has added to the attack on the German armed forces an attack on the German spirit. * * * He bombards our front not only with a drum-fire of shells but also with a drum-fire of printed paper. Beside bombs which kill the body he drops from the air leaflets which are intended to kill the soul.

And in the same month the German shipping newspaper, Hansa, said:

> At every step and turn we meet despondency, discontent, depression, hanging of heads, grumbling, * * * Whence came they? Who brought them to us? To-day we know. To-day we can recognize the origin of this depression of German will power. It was the long-advertised publicity offensive of the Entente, directed against us under England's lead and under the special direction of that unprincipled, unscrupulous rascal, Lord Northcliffe.

Records show that Northcliffe did not conserve ammunition in his leaflet bombardment of the Germans. In May, 1918, the German military authorities collected 84,000 leaflets from the soldiers, giving a reward for their surrender. In June the German soldiers turned in 190,000, in July, when the Germans were at the height of their success, 300,000. The German generals entreated their men to disregard the British literature, General Hutier, commanding the 6th army, denouncing "that most thorough-paced rascal of the whole Entente, Lord Northcliffe, Minister of the Destruction of German Confidence." Learning the good effect produced by its efforts, the propaganda department increased its output of leaflets for distribution among the German soldiers. In August it issued 3,980,000, in September 5,715,000, and in October 5,-260,000.

It is claimed that these British leaflets gave nothing but the truth. Written clearly and simply, they set forth the facts of the military situation; they told the number of American soldiers in France and reported the German losses, which at the time were heavy and which the German authorities were endeavouring to conceal. In contrast to this truth-telling, German propaganda for British consumption was composed mostly of silly falsehoods.

Ludendorff, who attributes so much to British propaganda, has only contempt for German propaganda effort. He has said of it:

> Our foreign propaganda rendered us no service. * * * Our political intentions and decisions were so violently sprung upon the world that they often seemed to have been arrived at brutally or in an off-hand manner. A far-seeing propaganda with large ideas would have prevented this. * * * Only with great effort could the German propaganda make its influence felt; in its working it showed itself, notwithstanding all the pains that were taken with it, unequal to the greatness of its task.—Ottawa Journal.

For the Sake of Whiter, Safer Teeth

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

It Is Film
that causes men's teeth to discolor, and that holds tobacco stains.

It Is Film
that clouds women's teeth, spoils their glistening beauty and is the basis of tartar.

It Is Film
which is responsible for decay in children's teeth. It is the source of most tooth troubles.

The dealers named below have been supplied with 10-Day Tubes of Pepsodent. This week a tube will be handed free to anyone who asks. Simply present the coupon. The purpose is to urge a test of this film-removing tooth paste, which leading dentists nowadays advise. Prove the results for your own sake and your children's sake. Learn what they mean to your teeth.

See How Your Teeth Look When the Film is Gone

There is on your teeth a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to the teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

The tooth brush doesn't end it. The ordinary dentifrice does not dissolve it. So it clings and, night and day, it may do ceaseless damage.

The Tooth Wrecker

That film is the great tooth wrecker. Most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

The film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of many other troubles, local and internal.

That is why well-brushed teeth so often discolor and decay, why tartar forms and pyorrhea starts. You leave much of that film.

Tooth troubles are constantly increasing, as statistics show, despite the wide use of the tooth brush. And the reason lies in that film.

Now We Combat It

Dental science, after years of searching, has now found a way to combat film. Able authorities have proved it by convincing clinical and laboratory tests. Thousands of dentists have proved it, and at least a million people.

The results are seen everywhere in cleaner, whiter teeth. Some of your own friends have them.

For home use, this method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And this week you can test it at our cost.

Based on Pepsin

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual method is an acid harmful to the teeth. But dental science has discovered a harmless activating method. And that method, used in Pepsodent, enables all to daily use this efficient film combatant.

Watch the Results

We urge you to present the coupon. Get the 10-Day Tube and use like any tooth paste. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten—how they glisten—as the film disappears.

Compare the results with your old methods. Then let your own teeth decide the method best for you and yours.

This is of lifetime importance. Don't neglect it. Cut out this coupon so you won't forget.

VON MACKENSEN FREED.

PARIS—Field Marshal von Mackensen, one of Germany's most successful commanders on the Eastern front in the campaigns against the Russians and Roumanians, is to be permitted to return to Germany from Saloniki. The Supreme Council decided today to permit the return of the Field Marshal, taking into consideration his age and the poor state of his health.

Von Mackensen was in command of the German troops in Roumania when hostilities ended. He tried to force his way through Hungary to Germany, but was arrested at Budapest by French troops and was later reported to have been interned at Saloniki. He is nearly 70 years of age.

He stated that he was most favourably impressed with the care taken of the war graves, adding that the work of collecting those bodies buried in scattered places and reverently reinterring them in cemeteries had been colossal, but had been carried out with great care.

A VISIT FROM TOWN FRIENDS

CHAPTTR CXXV.

"I've had a letter from a Countess," I said to Neil when he came home. "That is she is Countess — now," mentioning the name of an Italian well known for family and wealth.

"What do you mean?"

"Just what I say. Blanche Orton has married him by this time. Want to read her letter?"

"Well I am glad for her. I haven't much use for the nobility but from what I have heard of him is a decent sort considering.

"Oh, you American men! I never heard one of you praise a foreigner until we went to war, and now, unless it is because of their fighting you damn them with half praise."

"Blanche was a good sort." He paid no attention to what I had said. "I hope she will be happy. I fancy she never was with Orton. And Bab she tells the truth. She never knew that I accepted properties without investigating them. She wouldn't have helped me had she known."

"I am so glad she didn't know. I can feel kindly to ward her now that I know that. I hope too that she will be happy." Then I gave expression to a thought which often came to my mind when I saw married people who were evidently mismated, and so unhappy. "It must be dreadful Neil for a woman to live out her life with a man for whom she does not care; to live always without love, or loving.

"It is dreadful as you say for either man or woman," Neil returned. "And a good many live always without knowing anything of the happiness we, and others enjoy together."

We talked of Mrs. Orton, now a Countess, all through dinner. Then we took our walk to investigate the vacant lots in town. The place was so small, because of restrictions, that we could walk all over it in an hour, so we took Robert along. He was delighted that we talked of buying a lot and building a house of our 'very own' as he expressed it. He adored the place, and was very happy in his school.

"A fellow can have some fun in a place like this! New York is all right when you're grown up, but there's no place for a fellow to play." he said as we stopped to look at a lot Neil had heard was for sale.

"He's right!" Neil said to me. "Only I don't known that New York is so good for grown ups either. Someway one gets nearer to the real things of life if they have room to breathe instead of being cooped up between rows of brick and stone."

"Are you going to buy this lot," Robert interrupted.

"I don't know son. We are only looking about to-night. We won't decide in a hurry—we can't. We have to save the money for it first."

"Will it take long?" disappointment in his voice.

"Not very if we all help."

"I'll help all I can dad. Can I have a workshop in the attic like Tom Smith has?"

"You shall have a workshop somewhere if we build a house. He was very ingenious, and Neil encouraged him in every way.

I think we were all a bit excited over the thought of owning a home once more. For before we went to bed Neil and I looked thru several magazines which had plans for inexpensive houses, and talked excitedly of how we should like one or other of them.

When we reached home we were surprised to see a big touring car in front of the house. Lorraine Morton and Ned Rayburn were sitting on the porch, waiting for us.

"We knew you hadn't gone far, because the door was unlocked. Think of living in a place where one could go out without locking everything up," Lorraine said as she followed us into the house. It had been some time since I had seen her, so leaving Ned and Neil to smoke, I carried her off into my bedroom to gossip I told her all about Blanche Orton, and she gave me the gossip of town friends. She had been to an affair at Mrs. Powers and had heard the host say that there wasn't a man in town he respected more than he did Neil Forbes. It made me so happy to hear such things, Neil had been publicly censured; it was good to know his worth was also publicly recognized. They remained until late, I fixed a chafing dish supper, and we told them of our plans.

"You can't find two lots can you?" Ned Rayburn asked while Lorraine blushed. "Lorraine and I may like a summer home near you." So amid congratulations and expressions of pleasure they left us.

"I'm glad for Lorraine. It's time she was married," Neil said yawning. "She'll not be so conventional now I'll bet."

SUFFICIENT COAL FOR 8,000 YEARS STILL IN EARTH

That King Coal is not in immediate danger of being dethroned by King Waterpower is indicated by some figures presented by the English engineer, Charles A. Parsons, who quotes the estimate of 7,000,000,000,000 tons as representing the probable total remaining resources of the world in coal. From other sources we find that the total annual coal production of the world at present is in the neighborhood of 900,000,000 tons. Dividing the first figures by the last, it appears that supposing the present rate of production and consumption to continue unchanged it would require 7,777 years to exhaust the world's coal supply.

That is long enough for a good many empires to rise and fall, and also long enough to give plenty of time to inventive science to find cheap and effective substitutes for coal. However, it must be admitted that every year the difficulty and the cost of extracting the coal from the earth increases while some long worked coal fields are giving signs of approaching exhaustion.

This seems to be particularly true in England, who says Mr. Parsons, "owes her modern greatness to the early development of her coal," although she is now using up her resources in coal so much more rapidly than most other countries that in his opinion it may eventually be cheaper for her to import coal than to try to continue obtaining her supply from her impoverished seams.

Coal Cheaper as Power Producer.

Mr. Parsons says it takes about eight tons of average coal to maintain one horse-power of electrical energy for one year. Now, in Great Britain there are not all told, more than 1,500,000 horse-power derivable from waterpower, and in the whole world it is calculated (although calculations are far from certain) that the total energy derivable from falling water does not exceed 200,000,000 horse power.

That is nearly twice as much as the 900,000,000 tons of coal could maintain per year, but only a small part of the world's waterpower has yet been developed, and the cost of that Mr. Parsons says the average capital required to produce electrical power from coal is less than half that required in the case of waterpower.

One fundamental difference which will finally work enormously to the advantage of waterpower is that the coal, once burned, is gone forever as far as supplying further power is concerned, while the water will continue to flow and to furnish undiminished power per unit of time as long as the meteorological and climatic conditions of the planet remain unchanged.

Water Power is Constantly Renewed

In burning coal we are using capital from a stock that is not renewable but in deriving power from water we use only the interest of an active capital of energy which the sun maintains in its integrity.

Millions of years ago the sunbeams locked up a certain definite amount of energy in the plants of the Carboniferous age which were transformed into coal. The deposit was made and left inactive in the earth, and became dead capital, which could earn no interest.

But all the time the sun pours forth energy in the nature of interest on its active capital, which lifts the water of the sea to the realm of the clouds and winds, and they inturn distribute it over the continents and thereby maintain the flowing streams

EXAMINER LOST AD RECOVERS 20 DOLLARS

A refreshing example of honesty was revealed in the results of an Examiner want "ad". A man who had lost a purse containing twenty dollars inserted an advertisement in the Examiner's "Lost and Found" column and when he called that night in the hope that his purse might have been returned he was surprised to meet a woman who was just inserting a "found advertisement", which was cancelled shortly afterwards when it was clearly proven that she had found the money the man had lost. And as an expression of his appreciation of her honesty the man offered her five dollars, and it was with no little difficulty that he finally persuaded her to accept the "reward".

MEMORIAL SHIELD AT SUNDAY SCHOOL

A memorial shield bearing the names of the members who were killed in action was unveiled by His Honour Judge Huycke at the Murray street Baptist Sunday School on Sunday. The honour roll showed the following muster of departed soldiers:—Arthur Lewis, John Ellam, Joseph Horton, George Collins, Norman Barrie and Harold Matthews. The Sunday School sang "O Canada, and Mr. Walter Batley a pupil and returned soldier sang "The Victor's Crown" and the ceremony closed with the National anthem. By their sacrifice, Judge Huycke said, these fallen soldiers had proved themselves true followers of Christ in offering their lives for others.

Wrinkles Disappear "As If By Magic"

"In the removal of wrinkles, I have discarded cosmetics entirely," writes Mme. Corsan, the celebrated beauty expert. "The results they produce are deceptive and never permanent. Massaging is only partially successful and it is too slow a method.

"I've never seen anything work such wonders as a simple, harmless solution any woman can prepare and use at home without the least trouble. A half pint of witch hazel and an ounce of good powdered saxolite are all you'll need. Mix the two and apply this refreshing solution to your face daily. The effect is marvelous—instantaneous. The skin becomes firmer, 'tighter'—every wrinkle and sag is affected. You feel so refreshed after using the wash; you look refreshed, too; soon you will look ten years younger."

NOTICE TO CANADIAN FUR SHIPPERS.

"SHUBERT" — A CANADIAN HOUSE.

For the convenience of Canadian fur shipers "Shubert" is operating a Canadian fur house, A. B. Shubert, Limited, 324 Donald street, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada.

This procedure (says Mr. A. B. Shubert, president of A. B. Shubert, Ltd., Winnipeg, Canada) was due to an increasingly large amount of new Canadian shippers each season, and since "Shubert" has always had "The Shippers' Interests" at heart, we make these connections so that we may be closer to "The Canadian Fur Shipper," thereby giving him advantages which could not very well be applied, such as returns, "Quicker," "Better Service," closer cooperation and always liberal grading, highest market prices.

"Shubert" requires no introduction to the Canadian fur shipper, having been in the field satisfying fur shippers for over thirty six years. "Shubert" is now prepared to give Canadian fur shippers, "better service" than ever before.

Canadian fur shippers are kindly requested to address all inquiries or communications to A. B. Shubert, Limited, 324 Donald street, Winnipeg, Canada.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC DIRECTOR

Mr. W. O. Forsyth is one of the recently elected new Directors of the Canadian Academy of Music, Toronto. He has the greatest fondness in his work for the Heintzman & Co. piano, made by Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterborough, and has said of this instrument: "The tone of your Upright pianos and of your Baby Grands is distinguished for its mellow, rich, even quality, and the touch is delightfully flexible and finely adjusted. These are features which particularly delight the artist, and when they are coupled with durability as to staying in tune, etc., as I have abundantly proved for myself, are commendable in the highest degree."

RECEIVES 25,000 VOLTS AND IS NOT BADLY

STRATFORD, Nov. 24.—To have 25,000 volts of electricity passed through him without suffering serious injjury was the experience of Leon Brooks at the Hydro power sub-station on Saturday. While working his leg touched a switch carrying 25,000 volts the shock of which threw him forward until his knee touched a steel pillar, completing a circuit. Brooks was rushed to the hospital, but beyond two severe burns on the leg he seems to have no further injury.

MUSIC LOVERS HAD TREAT LAST EVENING

TRINITY CHURCH EPWORTH LEAGUE ENTERTAINMENT WAS A SUCCESS.

Music lovers in the city enjoyed a superb and rare treat last evening in the entertainment given under the auspices of the Epworth League of Trinity church in the Sunday School Hall on Reid street. The hall with a seating capacity of several hundred was taxed to the utmost by admirers of Frank Oldfield and Mr. and Mrs. George King.

Admittedly the best baritone in Canada, Mr. Oldfield possesses a wonderful voice. His range, mellowness and sweetness of note are little short of wonderful and while several of the songs he rendered last evening had been heard previously in the city his voice retained all the old charm and each selection whether heard for the first or second time was equally appreciated. One song which was particularly well received was 'Captain Mac' by Sanderson which is admirably suited to his voice. In the solos "In an Old Fashioned Town" and "Eileen Mr. Oldfield demonstrated his ability to sing the delicate airs in soft sweet tones so uncommon to singers and which are the product of the most careful training added to a natural gift.

The Duets.

In the duets "Excelsior" and "The Spirit of the Wood", Mr. Oldfield's and Mr. King's voices were suptrbly blended and like the other numbers in which the artists took parts were enthusiastically and insistently encored.

Enthusiastic Reception

At her every appearance Mrs. King was welcomed with the most heartfelt enthusiasm. Her sweet soprano voice with its extraordinary range was at its best last evening in each of the numbers she presented and her clarity of pronounciation never more pronounced. Each song was new to her Peterboro audiences and undoubtedly the song of the evening which cemented her popularity more strongly with her audience was "Dreams of Home" a waltz song from Bacio by Arditi. Two little French song, "Bon Jour Ma Belle" and "Little French Baby" took particularly well and brought down the house. For popularity these two songs divided honors with Liza Lehmann's "Daddy's Sweetheart".

The Accompanist.

Mr. King who accompanied the artists displayed his splendid gift for being 'with the singer' to perfection. Each of his accompaniments was given with the sympathetic touch which goes far towards bringing out the best in the artist's voice.

A QUININE THAT DOES NOT AFFECT HEAD.

TONGUEE CAUGHT IN BOTTLE

LONDON—The medical staff at the Anti-Vivisection Hospital, Battersea, were called upon to perform a novel operation the other day when a little 8-year-old girl's tongue became caught in the neck of a tin metal bottle which she had been using for drinking. The tongue was drawn into the neck, and, owing to the air pressure could not be relieved. The surgeons cut out the bottom of the bottle and eventually had to slit the container from top to bottom to release the tongue.

BEREAVEMENT OF HON. W. E. RANEY

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 25. — In the little cemetery of Aultsville this afternoon at three o'clock, in the presence of the Hon. W. E. Raney, his brother Rev. W. H. Raney, of Renfrew, and three sisters from Rochester, the late Herman Raney, father of the new Attorney-General, aged 84, was laid to rest.

With the elation of his new appointment will be connectd now for Mr. Raney the death of his father, for he died from the results of a stroke following the excitement of the news of his son's appointment.

The old gentleman, making a new precedent, left his home for the the first time to spend the winter with his daughters in Rochester. It was here that he was told of the honour that had been done his son. For a few days there seemed to be no ill result. The old gentleman seemed to be in his customary good health until Sunday night, when he took a stroke and quietly passed away.

His body was brought home to Aultsville by his daughter for burial.

The late Mr. Raney was born in 1835 on the farm that his father, a United Empire Loyalist, received after the American War of Independence from the British Government.

The two hundred acres were situated on the St. Lawrence River, and through the land passed the dividing line of the two counties of Stormont and Dundas.

Duvetyne is one of the most popular of all fabrics.

COMMON DISEASES OFTEN DANGEROUS

CHIEF AMONG THESE IS THE ORDINARY COLD IN THE HEAD—PROMPT TREATMENT REQUIRED.

Many people think a cold in the head is something which comes once or twice a year, and that it will always work itself off without attention.

No greater mistake could be made A cold in the head will sow the seeds of acute disease unless it is treated promptly. Even when the cold does work off itself it leaves the patient weakened and liable to an attack from disease.

When a cold in the head appears start work at once. Keep the system open. Check the fever which shows especially toward night. Allay the soreness which develops in the muscles. Tone up the system to fight the after weakness.

The drugs which will do this work are contained in Grip Fix, a preparation which has been used for colds in the head for years, and with wonderful results. There is nothing in it which would not be approved by any physician and the contents are plainly noted on every box. It is prompt in its work, relieving a bad cold in a night and a case of Grippe in 48 hours or 60.

Have a box of Grip Fix in the house. It comes in capsule form and sells for 35 cents per box. It is on sale at all druggists. (Advt.)

PANTALETTES RETURN.

Philadelphia—Because of the aggressiveness of Pennsylvania mosquitoes the pantalettes of grandma's day are returning. Having been discovered as a sure protection for silk-clad ankles they are being worn extensively. Instead of being starched and with ruffles the modern pantalettes are loose and of dark material.

Watching the Clipped-Mane Horse.

It is about time we were getting a curfew in Hoosier, for the time has now come when one is needed. Those who wish to "spark" after hours, will kindly seek some more secluded spot and clear the King's highway, lest our town be accused of harboring undesirables. The night-watchman has already got his eye on the horse with the clipped mane and promises to report progress from time to time, hoping that their example will not be detrimental to the rising generation. In respect to this, we are wondering if Roy will spend the winter in Saskatoon with those of our fair sex who usually winter there.—Loverna Borderline Budget.

UNINVITED TO A PARTY, THROWN OUT AND ENDED WITH POLICE COURT FINE

LOCAL MAN PRIMED HIMSELF WITH ALE AND FURNISHED EXCITEMENT FOR AN "AT HOME"—SENTENCE SUSPENDED ON M/N WHO BROKE INTO STORE.

OLD MAN TO WINTER IN JAIL

An unbidden guest at a party on Waterford street last night was fined $14.10 in police court this morning on a charge of having been intoxicated in a public place. One of the hosts of the little social testified that he had never seen the accused previous to last night's occurrence, when the stranger walked right into the midst of the gaiety, took off his coat, tried to hang it up, and when it fell on the floor, let it lie there.

"By his actions I thought he was drunk," said the witness. "I asked him to go out and he answered that he was all right and that he didn't want to leave. Then I told him that he had to go, so he said all right and started to go."

"I grabbed him by the collar to put him out," witness continued, "and he grabbed me by the leg with his teeth and bit me. There was a lot of confusion. He had two bottles. Both fell out of his pocket on to the floor. My father picked them up and gave them to him."

P. C. Thomas said that he and P. C. Wigg found the accused intoxicated outside the Waterford street house. At the police station he took off his coat and offered to fight any or all of the night force.

The defendant in his own behalf said he had drank six bottles of Labatt's "Old Loudon" ale. He had bought them and the two he carried at the American hotel. He had drank one of the six in the hotel and the others on the street.

"Did you have an opener in your pocket?" Magistrate Dumble asked.

"No," the accused replied.

"How did you open them?"

"You can bite the tops off," was the rather novel reply.

Chief Thompson—"You made yourself at home there."

"I wasn't in the house five minutes. Some one told me to hang up my coat. There wouldn't have been any trouble if they hadn't tried to kick me out."

Chief Thompson—"I'd feel inclined to kick any person out of my house if they came uninvited.

One of the two bottles produced in court was empty, and the accused said he was sure he didn't drink it. He further declared that he had taken nothing but two per cent. ale, and added that enough of it would produce a real "kick."

"Kick" or "stick" asked the Magistrate, who imposed a fine of ten dollars and costs which were paid forthwith.

Chief Thompson anticipated any curiosity as to how one of the two bottles had been emptied by telling the press that the accused had opened it with a jack-knife after he had been brought to the police station. The other bottle was confiscated and will be sent to Toronto for analysis.

Will Winter in Jail.

A homeless old man, who hibernates in the county jail, appeared on a convenient charge of vagrancy. He applied to be returned to his winter home, and when Chief Thompson suggested six months he advised that four months would be sufficient. Last summer was spoiled for him, he said, by too long a term.

"We'll do our best to accommodate you, Henry," the Chief remarked when the old man had painfully struggled to his feet.

"My foot is paining me all the time," he explained. "It is all swelled up and needs medical attention at once."

Sentence Suspended.

Magistrate Dumble exercised commendable clemency in suspending sentence on the man who broke into N. Sukloff's dry goods store last week and stole a pair of blankets and several waists. This man's wife and two children were in court and their tears and other evidences of mental torture deeply moved the court and attendants.

"I hope we don't get any more like that," said Chief Thompson when the husband, after he was liberated, clasped his two little girls in his arm and went out to his wife, who was almost hysterical from grief.

Mr. Joseph Wearing appealed to Magistrate Dumble to give the prisoner a chance to redeem himself. He had gone into the store more out of curiosity than intent to steal and his theft was a sudden surrender to temptation that had been partly excited by a pressing problem of providing for his little blind daughter whom he was about to send to the school for the blind in Brantford.

Magistrate Dumble, addressing the prisoner, told him that his offence was most serious and reprehensible. He had been earning an honest living, but without thought of the consequences to himself and to his wife and family committed an act that was wholly criminal.

"I want to give you a chance to redeem yourself," Magistrate Dumble told him. "You can get along comfortably and happily by strict honesty. In order that you may have another chance, and especially for the sake of your wife and children, I will let you go on suspended sentence.

The prisoner, who had pleaded guilty on his former appearance, broke down several times, and upon receiving conditional liberty, thanked the Magistrate, wiped his eyes and rushed to his two little daughters, of probably four and five years, both of whom sobbed against their father's shoulders as he carried them from the court room.

BAKERS GET TWO EXTRA LOAVES

ORGANIZER FOR THE MEN CLAIMS THIS IS STUMBLING BLOCK.

(Special to Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 25. — Abolition of night work in bakeries and throughout Ontario, was urged upon Hon. Walter Rollo, the Minister of Labor, to-day, when a deputation representing the Journeymen's Bakers' Union, appealed for enactment of Provincial legislation which will establish all bakeries on the day work system.

The deputation consisted of Thos. Watt, general organizer of the Canadian Federation of Labor, and John Drummond, the president of the Bakers' Union.

"The opposition to day work by the employers," stated Mr. Watt to the reporter, "hinges solely on the master bakers to get an extra two loaves of bread from each barrel of flour. This is the case in the baking of bread at night as the bread having not had sufficient time to vaporize properly contains practically 10 per cent. more water than had the baking been done 24 hours earlier. The consumers would then get 10 per cent. more bread, and an equal percentage less water."

CHILDREN'S COUGHS QUICKLY CURED

It is very hard to keep the children from taking cold. They will run out of doors not properly dressed—play too hard and become overheated—get their feet wet—kick the bed clothes off at night.

There is nothing so good for children's coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough or bronchitis as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is so pleasant to the taste the youngsters take it without any fuss, and at the same time its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm and healing the lungs and the bronchial tubes are such that the cough is checked before any serious trouble can possibly develop.

Mrs. Harold Acker, Lake Pleasant, N. S., writes: "I have three children, the eldest eight years old and the baby ten months old. They all had a bad cough. I knew of quite a few persons who had used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup with good results so I got three bottles. I am glad I did so as it is a sure cure for coughs and colds. A home where there are children should never be without it. I highly recommend it to those who need a quick cure."

Do not let the bread sponge set too long or it will sour and be unwholesome.

(Specil to The Examiner.)

BRACEBRIDGE, Nov. 25. — According to a gentleman who is acquainted with all the details, G. W. Ecclestone, Conservative M.P.P. for Muskoka, was offered the position now vacant on the T. & N. O. Railway Commission in the event of him deciding to give up his seat. Mr. Ecclestone, says this informant, was recently approached by the Government through the medium of a prominent Toronto K.C. The railway appointment was mentioned and when Mr. Ecclestone declared that it had no attraction for him, the K.C. spoke of an important post in connection with the Hydro-Electric.

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—An officer in the confidence of the Board of Commerce said to your representative today that the milk producers had not made application for a hearing before the Board as reported, and that if they did it will be granted to them. He knew nothing of a probable advance in the price of milk.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

Once upon a time, there was a little girl called Red Riding Hood. Of course, that was not her name, but when she was quite tiny her grandmother made her a little red cloak and hood, and every Christmas as she grew bigger, Granny made her another, and so everybody called her Little Red Riding Hood, and quite forgot what her real name was.

One day little Red Riding Hood's mother gave her a basket filled with cake and lots of good things to take to Granny, who lived on the other side of the woods, and who was very ill in bed at the time.

You know what happened then. If little Red Riding Hood had only lived here now she would have probably have heard Stuart-Whyte's song, "There's a Wild Wolf Waiting for Every Good Little Girl," and have taken the longer way 'round instead of cutting through the woods, and saved herself a lot of trouble. However, if she had done that there wouldn't have been anything for Stuart-Whyte to write the song about, and that would have been a terrible disappointment for all the little and big boys and girls who are going to see his latest English pantomine, "Little Red Riding Hood", at the Grand on Monday, Tuesday, December 1 and 2, matinee Tuesday.

After all, it is just as well that she did meet the naughty Wolf that time because everything really did come out all right in the end, and if the Wolf hadn't run true to form and gobbled up Granny and tried to get the cake and everything, what would Mr. Whyte have done for a plot for this year's pantomine?

A RHYMED REVIEW OF TOM MOORE IN "LORD AND LADY ALGY"

Lord Algy had a pretty passion
On races he would always bet.
His Lady, connoiseur of fashion,
Against his Lordship's whim was set.

On Dewdrop he had placed a fortune
He felt that victory was sure.
Her ladyship could not importune
His Lordship to effect a cure.

So she resolved to teach a lesson
To Algy for his foolish course.
To keep her handsome husband
She wagered on another horse.

She doped Lord Algy's stocky jockey
Despite the seeming heavy cost;
And Algy soon was not so cocky
When Dewdrop dropped his pile and lost.

Go see this picture—it's a winner,
It's full of love and thrills and mirth
It stars Tom Moore—he's no beginner.
You'll surely get your money's worth.

"LORD AND LADY ALGY," SPECTACULAR RACING PICTURE

Tom Moore added to his popularity as a screen actor at the Allen Theatre last night by his excellent performance in the leading role of his newest picture, "Lord and Lady Algy." The part calls for a lightcomedy touch, as well as the ability to reach heights of emotional power. His leading lady, Naomi Childers, is finely cast as Lady Algy, the beautiful an firm aristocrat who leaves her husband when he breaks his word to her to refrain from betting.

Many stirring dramatic and spectacular scenes give an added interest to and exceptionally well made photodrama. The running of the Derby is beautifully done.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"BROKEN BLOSSOMS."

Theatre-goers of Peterborough are fortunate in having several more opportunities of seeing "Broken Blossoms" at the Grand. Its opening yesterday was the occasion for a crowded house and those who have seen it agree that it is one of D. W. Griffith's greatest achievements and occupies an advanced position among the photoplay productions of the day.

In its theme, atmosphere and general production there can be seen the artistry of the master hand which conceived and produced it. It was a tale of love, but of love under circumstances which are different to those in the ordinary rank and file of pictures. There is a deep spirit of pathos and sadness permeating the production, and it presents, with little or no attempt at camouflage, some of the sordid and unhappy events which are so common in London's Limehouse district.

There may be those who would rather these were eliminated from the picture. But the picture portrays the lives of certain people, with no desire to fashion those lives into a kind which may meet with the approval of those who wish to turn their eyes away from the sordid realities of life. There is a love story of sweet and redeeming nature, in the production, and a multitude of truths and lessons for those who wish to probe beneath the surface of the play.

Some of the most powerful acting which has yet been done is seen in this picture. Richard Barthelmess who takes the difficult role of Cheng Huan, the young Chinese merchant, does so with remarkable ability. Lillian Gish as "White Blossom," will be remembered for a long time by those who see the picture. Donald Crisp as "Battling Burrows" plays a difficult and undesirable role with rare ability.

The Royal Hawaiian singers and players proved to be an added attraction. They presented "A Night in Hawaii" in a weird music and dancing act, to the accompaniment of the strumming ukulele and the haunting steel guitar. It was a whole show in itself and some of the numbers were encored three and four times. A Pathe News and a "Fatty Arbuckle" comedy preceded this act.

Barney Gilmore, the popular Irish singing comedian is coming to the Grand Opera House on Saturday, matinee and evening in his great Irish play, "The Rocky Road to Dublin." He has surrounded himself with a great acting company headed by Miss Helen Evily, who came to this country with the Irish players several seasons ago. The story deals with the friendly rivalry between a western miner touring Ireland, and the driver of a jaunting car, for the hand of a wealthy widow, which furnishes no end of complications. The play is full of sparkling dialogue real Irish wit, songs and dances by Mr. Gilmore, with the assistance of a real Irish piper. The Lakes of Killarney, and a story of real heart interest, makes The Rocky Road to Dublin" the best Irish play that has ever been written.

ONLY TABLETS MARKED "BAYER" ARE ASPIRIN

Not Aspirin at All without the "Bayer Cross"

The name "Bayer" is the thumbprint of genuine Aspirin. It positively identifies the only genuine Aspirin,—the Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years and now made in Canada.

Always buy an unbroken package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" which contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Joint Pains, and Pain generally.

Tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Larger "Bayer" packages.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer"

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

LILY WHITE HAND IS GOING, SAYS A WOMAN LEADER

Lily white hands in which women take pride are going out of style and soon will fail to bring thrills to the gentle wooer. Such an opinion is held by Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould of New York, president of the Women's Chamber of Commerce formwife of Howard Gould and leader in the "back to the farm" movement for women.

"Callouses on the hands are coming to mean more for the women so far as the men are concerned," said Mrs. Gould to-day.

Waiting Woman is Useless.

"The woman who sits around home in idleness waiting for some men to come along and support her is useless for other than ornamental purposes.

"There are greater things in life for women than becoming expert in the art of shuffling a deck of bridge cards.

"Women must take their places in the business and industrial field along with the men, but if they aspire to equality they must be efficient."

Mrs. Gould declared that the war had made it necessary for women to engage in business. "But they can not expect to start in at the top," she continued. "They must commence at the bottom and work up, as men have done.

Get Dirt on Noses.

"Many college women are taking up farming. They no longer scorn the raising of chickens, or the planting of corn—both are occupations that are productive.

"There are openings for women as salesmen in foreign countries. They would be particularly successful in South America, where the harsh mannerisms of men sometimes hinder successful work. Let them step in and get a little dirt on their noses—it will do them good."

OLD BOOKS AS RUBBISH.

London—In a parcel of old books which an Ealing woman sold to a second-hand bookseller as rubbish and which he bought for 75 cents, were three first editions of works by Shelley which were resold for $250.

NEW YORK HAS MANY SUCKERS WITH BANKROLLS

NEW YORK—This is Easy Money Valley. Dollars grow on every bush and the town is filled with hedge trimmers. Enough fresh ash reaches the city on each train from the west to keep three avenues provided with gas, and kolinsky. And New York's brand of home-made sucker is a thoroughly reliable one. "The bigger they are," as the late Bob Fitzsimmons remarked "the harder they fall." Witness various joint stock enterprises launched in New York for the recovery of sunken treasure or the utilization of finback whale. The lists of subscribers published in the newspapers after the blowoff have been made up of the best of our old New York names. Some of the families extend away backeten or fifteen years.

"Timmy Heck organized a pool to play the market," said a downtown criminologist, "the day after he got out of the penitentiary."

No References Asked.

No one asked for references. Mr. Heck is a large jovial person, who hammers strangers on the back and roars with laughter. That is enough. Any one interested in the study of the human physiognomy would call a messenger and send his wallet home after one peek at Mr. Heck's eyes. But Mr. Heck's first-day acquaintances in New York accepted him with the blithe faith of lambs. The odd part is that he actually won. He has an office now and calls himself a broker.

Sucker lists are worth almost anymoney. They are supposed to be revised up to date and many of them are. One sucker list editor, at least, has a good sized office and a competent working force. He likewise has his own sucker list of the brokers, blue-sky stock salesman, inventors of surethings and the like, who want to buy sucker lists. The ordinary purchaser buys a merely ordinary list, made up of men and women who have in the past fallen for some fashion of hunco. But the men on the sucker list man's sucker list are offered a "guaranteed" list of suckers.

Careful Yankee On List.

"How do I know they are as easy as you say they are?" asked a possible purchaser, who really represented a downtown investigating agency.

"I give you my word," said the sucker list specialist. "What more do you want?"

One of the names on one of the sucker lists is owned by a friend of mine. He is hard-headed, careful studious Yankee. He is not tightfisted in the sense in which that term is usually used, but he would cut his fist off and eat it before he would open it to the tickle of any uncertified proposition. He never made a losing investment in his life because of the extraordinary care he uses. But he is bombarded with offers of fortune from one of the downtown "brokerage" houses. Lately the "broker" has been waking him out of his bed by telegrams.

"Who is this Mr. Vandermorgan?" he asked a man who was once on the Chicago detective force but is now a broker himself. "What do you know about his house? Is it straight?"

Started as Pickpocket.

"Vandermorgan's real name is Finkelvitch," said the ex-detective. "I pinched him in Chi twenty years ago for picking pockets."

Most of to-day's easy money is so new that it still smells of varnish. The war turned financial society upside down, apparently. The head of one of the great stores that cater to women's vanity said the other day that his organizatiion had never done so much business since it opened its doors—not by 200 per cent.

THE British are noted as great tea drinkers and are naturally good judges of tea.

So when we learn that over 70% of the tea used in Great Britain is Indian tea we can be sure that Indian tea is of the very best quality.

In Canada the preference for Indian tea has become just as strong, as evidenced by the success of Red Rose Tea which consists chiefly of ASSAMS—the richest and strongest of Indian teas.

Red Rose is always sold in sealed packages.

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea"

BUTTER AT $5 A POUND.

London—Major Sir Keith Fraser called the attention of the House of Commons to the fact that butter is being sold in London at the exorbitant price of $5.12 a pound under the conditions provided by the Kitchen Committee. The Major explained that pats of butter weighing one-quarter of an ounce cost 2 cents a pat at restaurants.

Sir J. T. Agg-Gardner replied that the committee had no desire to profiteer, but under the regulations of the food controller they were compelled to make the arrangement.

LONDON—In the past year 23,000 people were killed in India by snakes and wild animals according to mortuary statistics made public here by the Home Office. Snakes were responsible for the death of more than half of the victims, according to the report. Most of the casualties were, of course, in the rural districts, but more than a thousand deaths from snake bites were recorded in cities.

The deaths from wild animals are higher than they have been for many years, and are attributed to the fact that the animals became more numerous and bolder during the war period when there was very little hunting.

RIOTS IN FRENCH CAMPAIGN.

Many Hospital Cases Result From Bitter Political Encounters.

PARIS—The political campaign continues with unabated vigor throughout France. M. Brisson, one of the most extreme Socialist Deputies in the last Chamber, who is seeking re-election, said at Moulins yesterday:

"Peasants, the land is yours; you must take it. No more chateaux: no more landlords?"

Although many riots and personal encounters have taken place, no deaths have yet been reported, but there have been many broken heads and hospital cases.

The National Council of the Women of France, under the Presidency of Mme. Siegfried, wife of the former member for Harve, has issued an appeal to voters demanding the right of women to vote. This will be placarded throughout the country. Absolute prohibition is one of the planks of their platform.

Daughter of Peer Will Lead Labor.

London—Lady Cynthia Colville, daughter of the Marquis de Crewe, and a firm believer in the trade-union principle, has been elected an honorary vice-president of the Ministry of Pensions Temporary Staff Association, a registered union. For two years she worked as an ordinary clerk at the Ministry, and was an organizing member of the association.

"I believe in a scale of wages based on merit alone, regardless of sex," she says, "and I believe that men are gradually beginning to realize that men and women should receive equal pay for equal work. Our association now numbers over 6,000 men and women members. Women should not be compelled to give up their positions to returning soldiers, when they themselves have lost husbands, fathers and brothers in the war."

INJURIES WERE FATAL.

(Canadian Press.)

HAMILTON, Nov. 24.—John Rapchinsky died in hospital this morning as a result of injuries received during a quarrel at Ton Sinouski's boarding house on Hess street last night. Sinouski, his wife and several other boarders are under arrest pending an inquest. Sinouski admits that he used an axe in self defense.

"I Am Climbing Mountains" A Harmonious Tenor Duet

This sentimental song of childhood's and manhood's dreams and ambitions is a beautiful bit of harmony. Both this song and the coupling "Golden Gate" are worthy successors to "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" by the same authors. Charles Harrison and Lewis James—a new combination—sing them wonderfully.

Everybody will care a lot for this truly amusing tenor duet by Irving and Jack Kaufman. Lack of "lovin'" is what they lament. Coupled with "I Wanna Go Back to Dear Old Mother's Knee."

HOUSING PROBLEM IN PETERBORO

To the Editor:

Dear Sir,—I was very much interested in your report of the public meeting held by the Housing committee on Friday evening last, and especially in Mr. F. H. Dobbin's explanation of the scheme. But there appeared to me to be several serious omissions in the cost of acquiring a house as outlined by Mr. Dobbin, viewed in the light of the experience of most of us who have purchased homes. Mr. Dobbin has not allowed anything for the $800 paid for the lot or the interest it would have earned, nor for insurance, nor for sidewalk, sewer and garbage tax, and nothing for repairs beyond twice painting the exterior. Mr. Dobbin's estimated cost is as follows:

Payments of $30 per month for 20 years	$4,800
Taxes at 30 mills on an assessment of $3,000, $60 per year for 20 years	1,200
Painting house outside twice at $70	140
Amount paid by purchaser	$6,140
Amount purchaser would have paid as rent at $18 per month for 20 years	4,800
Net cost to purchaser for home	$1,340

Is not the following estimate nearer the mark, and indeed a very conservative one:

$20 per month for 20 years	$4,800
Taxes on assessment of $2,400 at 30 mills for 20 years at $72 per year	1,440
Sidewalk, sewer and garbage tax at $4.50 per year for 20 years	90
Insurance on $3,000 for 20 years at $9.00 per year	180
Investment in lot	800
Interest on $800 invested in lot at 6 p.c. for 20 years	960
Compound bank int. at 3 p.c. on interest from lot investment for 20 years	54
Painting outside twice at $70 each	140
1 new furnace in from 10 to 15 years	150
Painting and decorating interior 3 times in the 20 years at $75	225
Incidental repairs for 20 years at $5.00 per year	100
Amount paid by purchaser	$7,839
Amount purchaser would have paid as rent at $18 per month for years	4,300
Net cost of house to purchaser	$3,539

By this we find that a man who buys his home under the scheme as outlined would own a home which cost in the first place $3,800. He has paid for same over and above his rental at $16 per month, the sum of $3,539. He has a house 20 years old with shingles, etc., in need of renewal, and with, in all probability, a difference in value owing to an increase of the purchasing power of the dollar of from 30 to 50 per cent., or in other words what he has paid $3,539 for will be worth probably $2,400 or $2,500 or even less. I do not wish for one moment to put anything in the way of a sound housing scheme for Peterborough, for houses are sorely needed, but I do not think it fair to ask the working classes to shoulder a burden and responsibility that capitalists have stepped from under. If it were possible to build under present conditions without risk of serious loss the money now lying in the banks would be used in building houses, but those who are experienced in these things know perfectly well that if they build now they stand to lose heavily and are wise enough to keep out. Anyhow I believe a man who takes up this proposition should know just where he stands. What then are we to do for houses? The need is great, and lest it be said that I seek to destroy a scheme and have nothing better to offer, I would suggest that the government raise a fund by a tax on war time and war made fortunes, build houses and sell them to returned men at pre war values. The returned men would have justice, the profiteer would also have justice done him, and the housing problem would be at least be partially solved. Thanking you,

Yours faithfully,
GEO LEADER.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

May be Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — This Letter Proves It.

West Philadelphia, Pa.—"During the thirty years I have been married, I have been in bad health and had several attacks of nervous prostration until it seemed as if the organs in my whole body were worn out. I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made a well woman of me. I can now do all my housework and advise all ailing women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I will guarantee they will derive great benefit from it."—Mrs. FRANK FITZGERALD, 25 N. 41st Street, West Philadelphia, Pa.

There are thousands of women everywhere in Mrs. Fitzgerald's condition, suffering from nervousness, backache, headaches, and other symptoms of a functional derangement. It was a grateful spirit for health restored which led her to write this letter so that other women may benefit from her experience and find health as she has done.

For suggestions in regard to your condition write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

WINTER IN ALGONQUIN PARK.

As a winter panacea for coughs and colds Algonquin Park cannot be equalled. Two thousand feet above the sea it is always dry and cold. Days spent in snow-shoe tramps, tobogganing or ski-ing and in skating, together with evenings spent in social converse around the cosy warmth of an old fashioned log fire; these slip away unnoticed but those who have once experienced them return to their avocations with renewed energies. The "Highland Inn" owned and operated by the Grand Trunk Railway offers comfortable accommodation at reasonable rates. For all particulars apply to N. T. Clarke, Manager, Algonquin Park Station, Ontario.

RUSSIA WITHOUT NATIONAL SENSE, SAYS F. SYMONDS

Perhaps there is no situation in all the confused mass of European tangles which must be viewed with more suspicion than the Russian.

In the first place, such news as comes to us from Russia is almost without exception so handled in transmission and so written at the outset as to create an impression rather than to present a fact. In the second place in the very nature of things, swift solutions of Russian chaos are in all human probablity out of the question, says Frank H. Simonds in an article in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Russia, even before the revolution, was a nation in which the cohesive influences, relatively slight in any case, had practically crumbled to nothing. The world, the Allied world made the natural but profound mistake of interpreting Russian events by the precedents of the French Revolution.

On the basis of this reading of the situation, Paris, London and Washington promptly looked to the Russian revolution to reveal that passionate patriotic impulse, which moved the French nation to the frontiers in 1792.

But in point of fact, the striking fact in the Russian revolution was the absence of patriotic impulse. It was a matter of absolute unconcern for the mass of the Russians that the Germans occupied Polish districts. It was a question of no moment that the whole edifice reared by Peter the Great, and the succeeding Romanoffs, was being destroyed by a foreign enemy, and that the gains of several centuries of effort was being wrecked.

The Russian was without anything suggesting patriotism despite the unmistakable patriotic sentiment of those few men who for a brief period directed Russian affairs. In the case of France the inhabitants of the various provinces, those who had been French for centuries, and those like Alsace and Lorraine, which had been incorporated to drive the enemy from the frontiers.

But in the case of Russia, there had been no fusion of the nation comparable with the fusion of the several quite distinct elements in France. The conquered nationalities, the Letts the Poles, the Lithuanians, preserved a strong memory of ancient independence, as did the Finns.

A century or two centuries of Russian domination had merely paralyzed it had not destroyed the separatist desires of the people of the Russian fringes.

Once the Central power, the bureaucracy, with the already shadowy Czar, collapsed, Russia flew into fragments as so many empires conquered by the sword have disintegrated, once the great conqueror has disappeared.

In a word, unlike France, in the revolution, unlike Germany to-day, unlike Italy in the last century Russia possessed no national sense.

It was not a nation in the deeper meaning of the word. It was a vast geographical expression, held together by no bond of mutual understanding, common ideals; it was in this respect almost purely Asiatic.

And added to the absence of a sense of nationality, and an emotion of patriotism, there was a cerain indescribabe stolidty ignorance among the millions.

ZAM-BUK

Used After the Bath

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Keeps Baby's Skin Soft and Smooth

Baby's skin troubles are generally caused by chafing and skin irritations resulting from friction of the clothing.

Baby's skin is tender, and if neglected these irritations of the skin develop into eczema. Everybody knows the suffering caused by eczema and the tendency of eczema to become chronic and spread over the body.

While Dr. Chase's Ointment cures eczema, it is always better to prevent such ailments, and this is why mothers use the ointment after baby's bath so as to prevent irritations and more serious skin troubles.

Powders clog the pores of the skin and are on that account a cause of skin irritation. Dr. Chase's Ointment, on the other hand, cleanses the pores and keeps the skin in healthful condition.

Regular size, 60 cents a box; family size, about five times as much, $2.00. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

SCHOOL ASSOCIATION HELD A SOCIAL ON FRIDAY EVENING

Music, elocution, an art contest and a charade and a warm sociability among the guests combined to make a most successful and enjoyable evening pass very quickly at Queen Mary School last Friday night when the Home and School Association of that School were at home to the Home and School Club and teachers of King Edward School. The guests of the evening were received and welcomed by Mrs. S. T. Medd, presiden tof the Association after which a short programme, including pleasing recitations by Miss Muriel Harvey and Mr. J. Johns, delightful piano solos by Miss Caldwell, a well rendered vocal solo by Mr. Chandler and an excellently acted and very amusing charade in four parts given by the teachers of the school, was very much enjoyed by those present who had previously become acquainted while solving the titles of famous pictures represented by articles displayed on two tables. Partners for this contest had been arranged by matching quotations which had previously been written out and handed to the guests. Mrs. Clarke and Mr. Mowat, Mrs. Sisson and Mr. Mattice and Mrs. Allison, and Mrs. McCannon were the winners of the different prizes. After delicious refreshments had been served by the mothers of the association the teachers having arranged the programme, the evening was brought to a close, those present all expressing their pleasure and hoping that social evenings in the school might occur frequently when parents and teachers might be brought together and become better acquainted.

PETERBOROUGH'S KING OF COMEDY

Coming forth to shine in all his glory comes one of Peterboro's Star Comedians, Mr. Arthur Graham. Once again the fun-loving populace will have the delightful privilege of hearing this clever, witty gentleman bring forth from his superabundance of original humorous jokes and stories a combination such as was never brought forth before. In Act III of the Y.M.C.A. Minstrels he will give a monologue which will agreeably surprise and delight the audience. Nuff said. Everyone knows Art.

From beginning to end the Minstrel show combines the funniest jokes, with the cleverest dancing to the most captivating music. Its value and appreciation has been greatly enhanced by the fact that the talent is entirely local. The audience will be delighted by singers, dancers and jesters, all of whom are known well. Peterboro has no need now or in future to look to outsiders for entertainment while so many of its young people are capable of creating such a success as is this minstrel show.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobody Can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautifull.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with you dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Never keep meat directly on the ice. Do not keep milk in an open vessel.

OBITUARY

THOMAS ROSS.

Thomas Ross, a pioneer of Halton County, died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. Kilner, 26 Grace street. He was born in the Township of Nelson 82 years ago and he witnessed the development of the whole county from the bushland to a prosperous agricultural community. Until 30 years ago he operated the farm on the old homestead. Since then he had lived in Toronto. His wife died three years ago. He is survived by three daughters and one son, Mrs. E. Kilner, Misses May and Della, and George of Peterborough.

DOUBLE FUNERAL.

Miss Edith Shields, formerly of this city, and until a few days ago head dressmaker in one of the large business houses in Owen Sound, was called to Toronto to care for her mother, who had been taken seriously ill with pneumonia. Miss Shields contracted the dread disase, and on Friday last both mother and daughter were removed to the General Hospital. Miss Shields passed away on Sunday, and early this morning, was followed by her mother.

A double funeral will be held in Toronto to-morrow afternoon to St. James' Cemetery.

Mr. William Lytle and Miss Helen Lytle, of this city, cousins of the late Miss Shields, will attend the funeral.

Miss Shields was an annual visitor to Peterborough. While here she made her home with her cousins, Mr. Lytle and family.

Other members of the Shields family are Mrs. Herbert Hartin, of this city, one son William, of Winnipeg, and another, Miss Winnifred, who is dangerously ill at home.

NEW HOME RULE MEASURE FOR IRELAND

NEW HOME RULE BILL

MEASURE WILL PROVIDE FOR TWO PARLIAMENTS IN THE TROUBLED LAND.

HOPEFUL SIGN

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 26. — The new Home Rule Bill setting up two parliaments in Ireland, with the Council or Senate of forty to be chosen by two, will probably be introduced in Parliament within the next two weeks. Daily sessions are being held by the Cabinet committee in charge of the measure, the subject under discussion at present being finance, which is in charge of the sub-committee under the chairmanship of J. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Control of customs has always been the point of sharpest difference when other home rule schemes have been debated and was one of the rocks upon which the Irish convention was shipwrecked. Control of police is another knotty point.

Hopeful Sign.

The most hopeful sign of an agreement is the silence which Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, has preserved since the latest Irish kite was flown. Sir Edward has not issued any mandates to the Ulster volunteers to keep their powder dry, while the presence of two staunch Unionist leaders, Walter Hume Long and Baroh Birkenhead, on the committee, shows that Ulster is tending toward conciliation. Another alternative remains, that the Sinn Feinn may capture the new southern Parliament and promptly declare Ireland an Independent Republic. It would be possible in such case, to carry on the work of Parliament without recognizing any Imperial overlordship.

SUGAR PRICES UP AGAIN THIS WEEK

Sugar went up another 75 cents a hundredweight this week, and is now quoted at $12.37 wholesale. The Government permits the retailer to collect another cent a pound, which will bring the price up to at least $13.27 a hundred pound bag.

The trend of the sugar market is for higher prices and a shortage in supplies.

"Sugar will be scarce by January," sai done dealer.

A HAPPY HOME

No home could be perfectly happy without comfort, and no comfort is obtainable without the necessary furniture. A wife's comfort should be the husband's pleasure. Buy her the furniture she wants, and make her happy. There are few homes in Peterborough which don't need something in the house furnishing line.

A good opportunity is offered by the Home Furnishing Co., of Charlotte street, for parties who wish to refurnish their homes, or a single room, at quite a saving on the cost. This firm offers to supply plain, medium and artistic furniture to suit everybody's taste. Don't be scared about the prices; they are low, and terms are easy.

SONG OF THE WAGE SLAVE

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—The song of the wage slave, at least in so far as the bricklayer is concerned, has lost its lament. Rather, the scale of wages paid this section of the building trades workmen is sufficient to make even a respected member of the white collar brigade envious.

Offers ranging from $1.00 to $1.25 per hour for first-class bricklayers are now the rule, according to John T. Vick, business agent of the Bricklayers' Union.

This scale is offered in outside points to attract workmen from Toronto where the local scale ranges from 85 cents to $1.00 per hour.

On the basis of $1.25 per hour for a 44-hour week the "lowly" bricklayer hands his better half his weekly envelope, containing no less than $55.00—that is, if he has not "got in" any overtime. In that case the jump is a rapid one, as time for Saturday afternoons or on holidays costs the employer a modest $2.50 per hour!

THE PROSPECTS.

PREMIER BORDEN IS RETURNING TO-NIGHT

Many Pressing Problems Are Awaiting Attention.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.—Premier Sir Robert Borden will be home from the south to-night, and many pressing and several more or less urgent problems are awaiting his attention. A policy regarding the handling of forty millions voted by Parliament for soldiers' aid must be decided, also action to be taken respecting war time prohibition and decision to be made in the enquiry into business and industrial conditions as a preliminary to revision of tariff.

THE BUSINESS MEN ARE FALLING DOWN

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—Are a great many business men losing their patriotism? This is a question which is bothering the Retrained Men's Employment Bureau in the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. Speaking yesterday, one of the scouts attached to Mr. Tottersoll's department, said:

"It is surprising and disheartening trying to find work for our problem cases. We go into office after office and receive the same answer to our inquiries—"It is tough we'll admit, but we can't do anything for your men," and this is especially true of larger corporations.

10,000 TEACHERS TO BE ORGANIZED

HEADQUARTERS ARE IN PETERBORO -- TO ARRANGE CONFERENCES.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.—Ten thousand men and women Public school teachers of the Province of Ontario are to become organized shortly. They are to be formed into the Federation of Male and Women Teachers of Ontario respectively, but will co-operate whenever their mutual interests become affected. Headquarters for the time being have been established in Peterborough.

The Male Teachers' Club of Ottawa is the latest organization to join up with the new Federation of Men. A substantial donation has just been forwarded by the secretary to the executive, to be devoted to the organization fund. The women teachers here are also going to join and will shortly undertake a financial grant.

Branches in Many Centres.

Both the men's and women's organizations in many Ontario towns are already part of the federations. Brant County, Brantford ,Hamilton, Woodstock, Ottawa and other places are now represented, and it is anticipated locally that within a very short time fully ten thousand teachers will have been enrolled.

"Everyone else is becoming organized," said a prominent local teacher to-day, "and there is no reason why we should not be. We have delayed a long time now in getting together but the time has come when we should not lose any more time."

To Arrange Conferences.

When the organization of the two federations has been completed, conferences will be arranged when delegates from all parts of the Province will have an opportunity of meeting and discussing the questions of the day of interest to the teacher.

CALEDONIANS WILL CELEBRATE ST. ANDREW'S DAY.

The Caledonian Club members are preparing for a big night on the evening of 28th November (Friday). A lecture on Scotland's Patron Saint is expected to be delivered by a local gentleman, and a concert and dance, with refreshments will make up the remainder of the evening. Good talent is being secured for the occasion.

THE WEATHER

While the jingle of sleigh bells was heard yesterday for the first time, it is altogether unlikely that the present snow will remain. There is yet little frost in the ground. It is not unusual to have a few days' sleighing about this date, but the permanent sleighing should not be here for three weeks yet.—W. P.

MR. SIMPSON IS AMAZED

THE COMPROMISE

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—Speaking this morning in reference to the statement made by Mayor MacBride of Brantford that "There is no denying the fact that a great deal of dissatisfaction has been caused in Brantford over the statement of James Simpson that a compromise had been offered on the eight hour day." Mr. Simpson expressed utter amazement that Mayor MacBride should give out such an interview. He pointed out that Mayor MacBride was one of a committee of two appointed by the labor group to meet the U.F.O., committee to decide upon a platform agreeable to both parties. It was at this conference that Mayor MacBride accepted the compromise in the eight hour day," said Mr. Simpson. "The compromise was in the nature of an assurance from the U.F.O., that a commission would be appointed to make a thorough investigation into the eight hour day question before the enactment of legislation. Mayor MacBride accepted this compromise and so reported to the labor group at their meeting in the Labor Temple, Toronto. It is difficult to conceive how, in the face of this fact, Mayor MacBride can make the statement that if a compromise was reached it was not left the conference at Toronto. If there is any doubt at all about the matter., a reference to the minutes prepared by Secretary Jodrey will clearly indicate that Mayor MacBride was a party to the decision which I referred to in my address before the Open Forum a week ago.

STORM SWEEPING LAKE SUPERIOR

DISABLED VESSELS DRIVEN ASHORE —THE MISSING LIST.

(Canadian Press.)

SAULTE STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 26.—The storm that swept Lake Superior since last Saturday, showed no signs of abating to-day. Reports reaching here indicated that shipping generally was laying up in various harbors. A high north-east gale was lashing the east end of the lake, and two more vessels, unidentified in reports here, have been driven ashore in a blinding snow storm. One of them grounded during the night in the upper St. Mary's river near the point where the "Kotcher" went ashore yesterday. Another steamer was reported ashore on Whitefish Point. The "W. C. Richardson," disabled while seeking shelter from the storm, was being towed to this port to-day by tugs. No word that would indicate the fate of the crew of the "Myron," which went down Saturday, has been received here, and the owners of the vessel have all but abandoned hope for their rescue.

THE PEACE COVENANT

TREATY MAY BE PIGEON-HOLED --THE REPUBLICAN PLAN-- RUSSIAN ARMY STILL RETREATING.

WORLD NEWS

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.— Plans to pigeon-hole the peace treaty indefinitely by keeping Congress busy on domestic legislation, are being made by a number of Republican senators, it was learned to-day. Quick action on the Lodge resolution to declare war at an end is said to be part of this progress.

(Canadian Press.)

TEMPORARY BRIDGE OPEN FOR TRAFFIC

MR. TOWNSEND DROVE HIS AUTOMOBILE OVER IT LAST NIGHT.

The temporary bridge below Hunter Street was completed last night, and the first automobile was driven over it by Mr. Charles Townsend, of the Russell-Townsend Company.

Mayor Duncan and Ald. Phelan were present for what served as an opening ceremony.

"I wish we had built this bridge at Dalhousie Street," Mayor Duncan commented, realising the strength of the wooden structure. "It would have served us for as long as we could leave it there."

An Ashburnham resident has argued since the bridge was begun that it should have been laid across the river at London Street. He contended that it would have done duty for twenty years, and that another generation could then replace it.

Mr. Townsend said that the work had been unexpectedly delayed by difficulties arising out of the height of water in the river. Disregarding the time lost until the river was controlled from the locks dam, the bridge has been speedily built from Simcoe Street across to a roadway that fringes the Riverside Park along its north fence.

Conflicting News Adriatic Trouble

DESPATCHES SAY D'ANNUNZIO IS PLANNING AN ATTACK IN THE DIRECTION OF TRIESTE.

MAY COMPROMISE

(United Press.)

ROME, Nov. 26.— Gabriele D'Annunzio is planning another coup, this time against Trieste, the newspaper "Avanti" warned the Government to-day. He has sent emissaries to Trieste to ascertain the feeling towards his cause there, the newspaper said.

Says Situation is Improved.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Considerable improvement in the Adriatic situation is reported here as a result of conversations in Paris between British, French, Italian and Jugo-Slav representatives. Latest indications are there is a possibility of a compromise satisfactory to all parties, including Capt. Gabriele D'Annunzio.

ALD. EDGAR OUT OF THE COUNCIL RACE

Ald. Edgar told The Examiner last night that he would not be a candidate for either the Mayoralty or Council. He gave no explanation of what had prompted him to this decision, but remarked that he might have more to say later.

The first report of Ald. Edgar's intention to resign from the Aldermanic Board was heard on the day after the death of his brother, the late James Edgar. Last night he said:

"You can say that I have decided not to be a candidate in the elections of the Mayor and Aldermen in January. I haven't anything further to say than that just now."

In withdrawing from the Council's activities, Ald. Edgar leaves a record of having made few mistakes during his service, and of having brought into exercise more commonsense, initiative, and depth of thought than most of his colleagues, nearly all of whom recognised him as the strongest member of the Council.

PREMIER MAY RUN IN CENTRE SIMCOE

U.F.O. MEMBER MAY RESIGN—ACCLAMATION IN PROSPECT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

BARRIE, Nov. 26.—The impression prevails here that Premier E. C. Drury will seek election in Centre Simcoe, of which this town is a part. It seems to be also generally accepted that he will be given an acclamation if the offer of the present U.F.O. member to resign is not withdrawn and Mr. Drury decides to seek election here. The chief opposition was expected from the Conservatives, but they are said to have expressed themselves during the past few days as against contesting the riding should the Premier choose to offer himself here. The only opposition now seems to be coming ostensibly at least from the anti-prohibition element. H. Murdock, U.F.O., has a majority of 1,400.

STATEMENT LATE TO-DAY

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—A definite and final statement on behalf of the Government in the coal wage controversy will be made to the operators and miners late to-day by Fuel Administrator Garfield.

A final decision was reached by the Cabinet at a meeting to-day, Dr. Garfield and Secretary of Labour Wilson said.

The Fuel Administrator called a joint session of the operators and the miners for five o'clock to receive the decision.

LOCAL DELEGATES TO THE CONVENTION

On Monday and Tuesday of this week one of the most successful religious conventions ever called together met in Toronto. This was the National Inter-Church Forward Movement Convention.

Nearly 50 delegates from this city and district attended the Convention, representing Methodists, Anglicans, Presbyterians, Baptists, and Congregationalists.

The Convention, which is the beginning of a national movement to quicken the spirit of the Church and to help the different churches meet the great problems of to-day, was a wonderful success, and the delegates informed The Examiner that they enjoyed every minute of the sessions, and felt privileged to be present.

Some of the Peterborough delegates were Messrs. J. M. Greene, Fred Preston, Norman Moncrief, H. E. Hodgins, and R. J. Kidd, representing Trinity Church.

Y.M.C.A. NOTICE

THE Y.M.C.A. SENIOR GYMNASIUM CLASS AND BASKET BALL GAME WILL BE POSTPONED ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT ON ACCOUNT OF THE FINAL MINSTREL REHEARSAL

SUMMER COTTAGE DESTROYED BY FIRE

BRIDGENORTH HOME WILL BE A TOTAL LOSS.

Early this morning fire destroyed a cottage in Bridgenorth, owned by Mrs. James Brown, of Oak Park, Chicago. The owner is a daughter of Mrs. William Smith, of the Charlbond Apartments, this city.

The fire was first discovered by some of the residents in the vicinity. Nothing could be done to save the structure, which is a total loss.

Eye-witnesses believe that the cottage was set on fire, and claim that a woman's footprints in the snow were found leading away from the cottage. The footprints were headed for Peterborough.

Last summer the cottage was occupied by Mr. Alexander Miller of this city. The loss will be about $1,200.00.

The police have been notified of the occurrence.

THRILLING SCENE

One of the most exciting and thrilling scenes ever conducted on a Peterboro stage will take place at the Grand Opera House on Thursday and Friday night. At some expense the Y.M.C.A. Minstrels have arranged to have the Bull Fight from Red Ink reproduced on the stage. Every minute detail has been arranged and protection for the audience has been assured. Come and see the Toreadors Shoot the Bull.

Mr. George Wesley and Mr. Vern Morphet, who so ably took the part of end men last year will play the same role now. George's supply of jokes has not diminished and Vern's talk is just as glib as ever.

To outline all the wonderful features of this show would need large space and detract from its value to those who intend to see it. However, we will state that several features including saxaphone selections, dancing girls and an augmented orchestra will add to its store of fun and laughter.

Come one and all to this wondrous creation of [illegible] arranged songs, dances and Jokes. This comes introduction to Mr. Asa Hughes's latest success The Y.M.C.A. Minstrels.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. James I. O'Brien wish to thank their friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of their little son.

LABOURERS' UNION

A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE LABOURERS' UNION WILL BE HELD IN THE LABOUR HALL ON THURSDAY AT 8 O'CLOCK. EVERY MEMBER IS REQUESTED TO BE PRESENT. BUSINESS IMPORTANT. 2d 122

ATTENTION!

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: — THREE HUNDRED PEOPLE ARE WANTED TO-NIGHT AT MARK STREET METHODIST CHURCH TO ATTEND AN OPEN MEETING AND FREE CONCERT TO BE GIVEN UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE W. M. S. A SILVER COLLECTION WILL BE TAKEN IN AID OF W.M.S. "REST FUND." THE SAME "300" ARE INVITED TO ATTEND THE MARK STREET LADIES' AID "BAZAAR" AT THE STORE OPPOSITE "BARRIES" ON GEORGE STREET NEXT MONDAY AND TUESDAY. THIS IS A GREAT OPPORTUNITY AS THE RUMMAGE IN CONNECTION WITH THE BAZAAR IS BOTH PROFITABLE AND POPULAR. DON'T FORGET THE DATE.

COUNCIL HAS PILED UP AN OVERDRAFT OF $12,000

EVERY COMMITTEE IS REPORTED TO HAVE EXCEEDED ITS APPROPRIATION --FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT SPENT $4,000 MORE THAN ALLOWANCE.

An overdraft of from $10,000 to $12,000 will be the legacy the Council will leave for its 1920 successors.

Nearly every department has overspent its appropriations, and the Fire, Water and Light Committee alone has an unprovided-for surplus expenditure of nearly $4,000.

In meeting the everyday expenses of the city's administration, nearly every department disbursed its allowance with a generous hand. In this connection it may be remarked, however relevant it may be, that the infusion of Labour aldermen evidently had slight, even negligible, effect upon the whole Council.

Perhaps this was due to their minority, but it is difficult to recall any outstanding opposition the Labour group offered to the accumulating outlay that has reached the total of nearly $12,000 in excess of the year's appropriations.

This resultant situation, no doubt, can be explained in various ways, and perhaps excused, but every Council considers it good and safe business to cut its expenditure to the measure of the appropriations, and leave a clear sheet for the incoming Council.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN

St. John, September 3, 1919.
Sales Department.

Several days ago the writer had an opportunity to discuss a certain matter with Brigadier-General McLean, and while doing so made some inquiries concerning the condition of his car, as this is the fifth closed car he has purchased.

While discussing this matter with him he made the statement that he was greatly satisfied with the Ford Sedan, particularly since the Prince of Wales' recent visit; this for the reason that Premier Borden of Canada, while here attending the state function, had the opportunity to ride from Rothesay to St. John in the Ford Sedan in order to discuss several matters with the Brigadier-General. After the luncheon tendered the Prince of Wales, the committee in charge of the programme sent the official car to the Union Club for Premier Borden, but he refused to accept of their kindness, stating that he was delighted with the riding ease of the Ford Sedan owned by Brigadier-General McLean, and preferred making the return trip from St. John to Rothesay in the Ford Sedan to attend the Garden Party at Government House, remarking that the Sedan was entirely good enough for him. He furthermore stated to Brigadier-General McLean that his car was the easiest riding closed job he ever travelled in.

Brigadier-General McLean is considered one of the wealthiest men in this section, and is inclined to believe that Premier Borden was sincere in his remarks insofar as Ford Sedans are concerned. Furthermore, the Brigadier-General will stake the Ford Sedan against anything on the market to-day.

OTONABEE CHAPTER I.O.D.E. DANCE

Complete success attended the card party and dance given last evening in the Great War Veterans Hall by Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E. and several hundred persons were present. Both hall in which the dance was held and the upper storey of the building where the card tables were arranged were most tastefully and attractively decorated in flags and palms, while the music and floor left nothing to be desired. The smallest detail had been so cleverly arranged and the organization so perfect that everything ran with the proverbial smoothness of clock work.

BILIOUSNESS

How to Prevent and Cure

Among the earliest symptoms are furred tongue and dull headache.

Then come dizzy spells, bad taste, quick pulse, fever and cold sweats.

Finally, sleeplessness and vomiting make the condition of the sufferer almost intolerable.

The root of biliousness is with the liver which is clogged and can't keep bile from getting into the blood

Nothing works with the certainty of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they act directly on the liver, restore the bile to its proper course and prevent it from contaminating the vital fluid.

Of course, the bowels are ordered and relaxed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills the kindeys receive new tonic, the blood is renovated, and the result is a renewal of good health.

No need for delay, the sooner you use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, the sooner you'll feel the brisk, keen satisfaction of a healthy, well-regulated system. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c.

THE EMERGENCY FUND.

It is announced, from Ottawa that the sub-committee of the Cabinet will deal this week with the manner in which the forty million dollars voted for soldiers' relief at the recent session of Parliament is to be handled. The government certainly cannot be blamed for undue haste in settling this question. There has been delay enough to give the sub-committee ample time to hit upon a satisfactory scheme. According to the Ottawa reports, existing organizations, such as the Canadian Patriotic Fund and the Soldiers' Aid Commission, will form the basis for the plan that will be decided upon. There is likely to be objections from the returned soldiers to this course but the veterans would be well advised not to throw any stumbling block in the way just now. The relief funds will undoubtedly be needed at once; there are emergency cases now which the various organizations are assisting, and which are of a type that should be helped by the government fund. Anything that tends to delay the putting into effect the government's dealing with such cases should be avoided.

APATHETIC CITIZENS.

In an editorial note the Toronto Globe yesterday referred briefly to the question discussed by the Examiner in last evening's issue—the apathy of many ratepayers in regard to their responsibility in municipal elections. Speaking of the suggestion that non-voters should be disenfranchised, the Globe says, "Punishment for people who do not vote will have to be accompanied by a guarantee of somebody or something worth voting for."

That is to a certain extent true. Undoubtedly voters have remained away from the polls in past elections feeling that the field of candidates did not possess sufficient qualifications for the offices they were aspiring to, to make it worth while exercising the franchise. But such citizens are taking the wrong course to correct the conditions they complain of. Staying away from the polls only makes it easier for some candidates to be elected. They get enough of their friends out to ensure their election, the task being easy when many other electors fail to vote. The remedy lies in the hands of the people. If they show they are sincere in a desire to get men into the field who are qualified to hold office they can succeed in improving the quality of the field. But as long as candidates of this type feel that many electors will not even take the trouble to get out and vote on election day there will be difficulty in securing their consent to have their names go on the ballot paper.

THE ONLY TEST.

"Unless he is a capable administrator there is no more reason for electing a mayor, a controller, or a member of the Board of Education because he is a Labor man than there is for electing him as a pork packer, a physician or an accountant," declares the Toronto World, and what our contemporary says of Labor candidates applies equally to the nominees of any other organization or class. Membership in this or that group is not a qualification that should be applied in testing municipal candidates. If the welfare of the city is the first consideration, and unquestionably it should be, then the personal strength and fitness of the applicants must be the only basis upon which a selection is made. In private business, the ability of a man to do the work for which he is applying is usually the sole test upon which a choice is taken. If that is good business in private concerns, logically it is good business for a city. The candidates who should head the polls at a municipal election are those who possess in the highest degree the qualities necessary for a proper transaction of the city's affairs— no matter to what organization they may happen to belong. Ability to fill the position should be the one and only criterion upon which the ratepayers make their selection, and the sooner the majority of the electors realize that it is folly to adopt any other means of choosing civic rulers, the sooner will this city have business methods and efficiency in the handling of its affairs. Electing an alderman, simply because he happens to be a member of the G.W.V.A., the Board of Trade or the Trades and Labor Council, is unbusiness-like and unjustifiable. His affiliation with these or any other organization should be a secondary consideration—to be thought of after his own fitness and ability have been weighed.

A VOTERS' LEAGUE.

The problem which the Examiner has been discussing in a series of articles—that of arousing a deeper and more general interest in municipal elections—is, it is interesting to note, engaging the attention of public-spirited citizens in other communities. In Toronto for instance, the desire to cause the ratepayers to pay more attention to the important task of choosing carefully the candidates for various municipal offices, has led to the formation of a Voters' League which is planning a campaign to awaken public interest in the matter and to get people out to vote. The League will not attempt to bring out candidates on its own account, but will confine its activities this year to the objects already mentioned. Next year the organization will watch closely the actions of members of the City Council and Board of Control, registering the stand taken on every important question, and the result of this observation work will be widely distributed to the voters at the end of next year so that the people will have an accurate review of the career of every candidate who offers himself for re-election. In a word the League proposes to bring out every possible vote and to supply each voter with information as to the candidates. The result of this experiment will be watched with considerable interest. There is opposition to the scheme from some quarters, but it is difficult to see why there should be any objection raised. No one can deny that the vote at municipal elections, not only in Toronto, but in the majority of the other Ontario cities and towns, has usually been much smaller than is desirable, and it would seem that the enterprise of the promoters of the organization would be approved by every citizen with a sense of civic responsibility.

MR. MATTHEWS' RESIGNATION.

It is with deep regret that the people of Peterborough learn of the resignation of Mr. T. F. Matthews as a member of the Utilities Commission. While it has been known that since the development of the business with which he has so successfully been connected, required that he should take up residence in Toronto, Mr. Matthews intended to retire from the commission this year, the fact that he has now done so will be none the less unwelcome to the citizens of Peterborough. The great service that he has rendered this city as chairman of the Water Commission, and in later years of the Utilities Commission, cannot be over-estimated. That his fellow citizens have not failed to appreciate his splendid work in their interests is evidenced by the fact that since 1908 Mr. Matthews has been returned by acclamation whenever his term of office expired. He has given Peterborough during all these years the benefit of his intelligence, business training and foresightedness. To him in a large measure and to the manner in which he co-operated with his colleagues, must the credit be given of the successful civic operation of the waterworks system, and in more recent years of the light and power department.

The question of chooging a successor who will measure up to Mr. Matthews' standard of efficiency is one that will require careful deliberation. Ambition for the office may be justification for a man offering himself, but it certainly does not furnish a reason for his being selected unless he combines with it the necessary qualifications for the position. The man who succeeds Mr. Matthews will, of course, have the benefit of the business methods and the system that gentleman was successful in putting into force, but on the other hand he will have to reach a high plane of civic usefulness to fill the shoes of the retiring chairman.

The Council has power to appoint a commissioner to take Mr. Matthews' place until the end of this year, when his present term of office would have officially come to an end, had he not anticipated that event by tendering his resignation. The Council's choice for the position—if they decide to appoint one for the few weeks that are left—would have to face the electors in the January elections, so that there does not seem much to be gained by a temporary appointment.

POWER IN ALBERTA.

Industrial progress is representative of the power supply; where an abundance of power is available, at a competitive cost, there will manufacturing develop.

In certain of our Provinces, water-power is predominant, while in others, coal is the more important. Such is the case in Alberta, as is exempilfied in a pamphlet just issued by the Commission of Conservation, in which the subject of Power in Alberta is treated by Mr. James White, Assistant to the Chairman of the Commission, who was a speaker at the recent dinner of the Peterborough Engineers. The original paper was prepared for the Alberta Industrial Congress, in Calgary, in August last, but the subject, being of such vast importance, and its effect so widespread, Mr. White was induced to amplify his paper and have it issued in pamphlet form.

At the Industrial Congress, much consideration was given to the question of the production of power on a wholesale scale. This paper demonstrates that, by establishing super-power stations at the principal coal-mining centres, all the power required in the Province can be generated from coal which, at present, is being wasted or left in the mine. It is suggested that super-power stations at Lethbridge, Drumheller, and vicinity of Edmonton, with transmission lines of, in general, not more than 100 miles in length, would supply electric energy to practically the whole province.

The paper points out that one station at Drumheller, with transmission lines not exceeding in length the Ontario Hydro-Electric line from Niagara to Windsor, Ont., could supply all the villages, towns, and cities of the Province, except in an area to the west and north of Edmonton. The energy generated by only two great steam-electric units of 80,000 h.p. each, similar to one now in operation in a street railway powerhouse in New York, would supply the whole Province with power and light.

Statistical data of cost of transmission lines and losses of electric energy during transmission are included. The relative costs of steam-electric and Hydro-Electric plants are compared, and the use of natural gas for the production of power, except under special conditions, is deprecated. The possibilities of the electrification of railways, the occurrence of petroleum and the fixation of nitrogen are briefly discussed.

In the review of the whole situation, strong emphasis is placed upon the importance of a thorough and detailed study of all the factors of the problem, financial, economical, and physical. It is urged that the Provincial authorities study most carefully whether economic and other conditions in any locality warrant the furnishing of electric energy before entering upon any project of power development.

ROMANCE DRAMATIZED

LONDON—A romance of South Africa, which was dramatized and produced for charity at the St. James Theatre, was woven around Dr. James Barry, a woman, who served in the army in South Africa as inspector-general of the army medical forces, and her sex was not discovered until she died in London in 1865 at the age of sixty.

Voice Of The People

To the Editor:

Sir: There lie, within the confines of the county gaol, five strangers, five foreigners, five practically friendless, moneyless and unfortunate men.

According to our laws, which are by no means perfect, each and all are equally guilty of murder and are doomed to die.

There has never been a time when law courts administered Justice only, but often only Law, and then again often even Injustice.

To the ordinary observer one of the five men took the life of another without any provocation, the victim not having attempted any fight.

To the ordinary observer all five men conspired to robbery and are equally guilty in that respect; but they evidently did not conspire together to murder, but the murder was the outcome of the rash act of one of them.

If there had been a free-for-all fight there is no doubt of equallty in the guilt of murder.

But in the mind of the observer there is considerable doubt whether the other four had the same intention of murder as the one. In fact a couple of them were not on the actual scene and could not have had the same intent unless they had conspired to that effect.

If there is any deviation from the actual statutes it should be on the side of Leniency, and not on the side of stringency.

The Great War Veterans' Association has taken steps to save one of the two boys from the ultimate penalty. Could not the G.W.V.A. take a broader view than to protect one of their own numbers and enlarge their action to save the other three from a similar fate?

To the ordinary observer these other three are being treated to a fatal dose of Law and not to Justice.

This is written with the hope that it will be read by some one who is big enough and willing to act in the other three cases as the G.W.V.A. is acting in the case of one.

TO DO RIGHT BRINGS PEACE AND HAPPINESS

CHAPTER CXXVI.

The summer came and went. Our garden was a constant source of pleasure as well as profit. Robert helped me before and after school and thru the vacation with my flowers so they also were cared for as they should be. Neil rose early and worked an hour in the garden before he went into town. He was happier, healthier than he had been since the first years of our marriage and did not hesitate to say so. We had bought a lot, and were paving for it as fast as possible. We had decided upon a plan for our house, and were so happy over it that we often laughed at ourselves for being so foolish. "Just like a couple of kids,' Neil declared.

Ned Rayburn had bought the lot next us, and they would also build a house which would look well next to us. I had cautioned them about building too elaborately or we would be dwarfed. Many evenings that winter we gave to talking of our new home, of our plans for Robert and his little sister who had arrived in the late autumn, and whom Robert adored.

Neil was making good in adjusting the affairs of the business, "getting it on its feet again," he said to me. Frederick had not come East for months. He left everything to Neil. This entire confidence he displayed did more to give Neil back his self respect than any other thing could have done. He was growing brighter, more like his old self. Some of the boyishness was noticeable at times, nad I fairly gloated over it. It was the old Neil I had married coming back to me, the best part of him.

By spring we had paid for the lot, and started building. What a constant source of pleasure it was to watch that little home grow. Every night when dinner was over Neil and I walked over to see what had been accomplished during the day. It made no difference that I had taken Elsie in her go cart over in the morning. I was just as interested in going again. It seemed to me that never was a home so longingly looked for, so eagerly awaited as was that six room house on Long Island. We were to pay a little down, then some as rent, the rest on a mortgage which Ned Rayburn had taken at 5 per cent. That made it easy for us, and allowed us to buy what was necessary to furnish it. We moved in for Christmas. And never were two people more thankful than were Neil and I.

"It's quite different from the New York home, Bab," he said on Christmas morning. It was our present to each other.

"But I shall love it far more, Neil. We are going to be so happy here. And when it is all paid for we will buy better furniture. One piece at a time until we have it all to our liking."

"What a little executive you are," he answered smiling, and bending down to kiss me. "Here is a letter from Frederick. I forgot it for a moment. The postman just left it."

We stood together as he opened it. I read it with him, then he read it aloud while we both let fall a few grateful tears.

"Dear Friends: I wish you a very merry Christmas. I have planned for you to receive this on that day. I enclose a contract for next day for you Forbes; and a check for the wife and children. Buy them something they want, but don't really need. Barbara has gone without the pretty things women love so long, get her something really foolish—as she may think. Now I have something to tell you. Robert said I should be third with him because I had no boy of my own. I shall look after him, his education, etc. And if he outlives me make him my heir I shall never marry." There was much more, but of interest only to us, until the close when he said:

"Many men have gone thru the deep water Forbes, you among them. But I am proud to call you friend; proud to have you associated in business with me. Experience is a hard teacher, but sometimes her work is so well done that one forgets the hardness in time because of the results. I believe you are a better, a bigger man, because of what happened." Then he wished us all a merry Christmas, and closed.

"Hadn't you better look at the contract?" I asked as Neil stood holding it in his hand. It was for ten thousand dollars, 'because you are worth it to the business, not because of friendship,' he had added, so making Neil supremely happy. The check for Robert and me was for five hundred dollars. I wanted to put it toward the house, but Neil said "no" he would buy me the brooch I had so admired in a jewelers window the last time I was in town. And for Robert he bought him a meccano outfit he long had desired intensely.

"Right living, doing all one can seems to bring its own reward," Neil said as we sat together after the children were in bed. "I thank God every day of my life that he gave me the chance to be a man in spite of my mistakes."

"And I thank Him for you, my babies, and my happy home," and so we bade each other good night on our first Christmas in our new home. A happy, thankful, man and woman; a loving husband and wife.

—The End.

IVORY TOILET GOODS

In buying Christmas goods of Ivory, the public should be warned of the danger of buying goods stamped "French Ivory" as the name means nothing. French Ivory may be made in Japan, Canada or United States for that matter, as any person can label his goods "French Ivory". The best Ivory is labelled ORIENTAL IVORY; each piece is absolutely guaranteed not to turn yellow or tarnish. ORIENTAL IVORY may cost a little more, but you are sure to get the best kind of Ivory in asking for this brand.

FISH THAT CANNOT SWIM

It sounds strange to say that there are fish which cannot swim! Yet it is a fact.

A Brazillian fish called the maltha is one of these species of fish. It can only crawl or walk or hop. It has a long, upturned snout, and resembles, to an extent, a toad. The anterior fins of the maltha are quite small, and are not able to act on the water. They only move backward and forward, and are, in reality, thin paws which are of no service for swimming, as are the fins of other fishes.

The star-fish, which can be seen at our seaside resorts among the rocks or on the shore, is another fish unable to perform the aquatic art. It can walk and crawl, whoever, as you doubtless have observed.

Another fish, which, although unable to swim, does not get drowned, is the sea-horse. It is a most peculiar shaped inhabitant of the sea, and, unlike most non-swimmers, loves the water!

Then, although not strictly fish, it is interesting to note that such crustacea as crabs, lobsters, crayfish, shrimps, etc., which live in the sea, cannot swim.

But the wonder is that they have not tried to emulate their briny brothers and sea-sisters which constantly pass them by.

Humanity has looked a practical rheumatic remedy since time began. Fortunes are spent yearly at hot springs, electric baths and hospitals to obtain relief, yet better results are achieved right at home by using T.R.C.'s "the common sense treatment." Just compare cost and results with any other treatment and you will be convinced. Ask your druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King W., Toronto). We mail anywhere on receipt of $1.04.

MILESTONES

Are you tired of the word "efficiency?" Then don't call it that. Just say "advertising." For that's one big form of it.

Dead Certain!

Some people object that advertising isn't an absolutely certain proposition.

H'm! Let's see!

It isn't as absolutely dead-sure certain as NOT advertising, that's a fact.

But its results are a lot pleasanter.

Sleepy Clerks Kill Lively Ads.

It's Up to You.

Business, whether it's good or whether it's bad, will continue to be done, as long as there are people in the world.

Advertising will help determine whether you'll be the one who is doing it.

A NOVEL TRANSCRIPTION.

Jones was a commercial traveller, and he had been after a large order from an important firm in the North. Great, therefore, was his exaltation when, one morning, he beheld a letter from the firm in question lying on his desk. And better still, it was written in the hand of the senior partner!

Unfortunately the partner was notorious for the illegibility of his handwriting, and the wretched Jones discovered that he was unable to make anything out of the letter at all.

He was getting desperate, when he remembered that chemists are usually able to read even the worst writing. Without loss of time he repaired to the nearest, and entered.

"I should be very grateful if you would read this for me," he said to the chemist, handing him the letter.

"With pleasure!" said the man of squills, and retired to the back of the shop with the letter. He returned in a short time carrying a very small parcel wrapped in white paper.

"Here's your medicine sir!" he said. "That will be one and sixpence. Take it just before going to bed!"

HAT CHECKING BUSINESS HAS LARGE PROFIT

GRABBING STUNT AT CAFE DOORS PAYS IMMENSE DIVIDENDS IN NEW YORK.

GIVE UP HAT OR YOU DON'T EAT IS POLICY

System is Well Organized With Pretty Lady in the Leading Role.

NEW YORK.—There is a very pretty blonde at the hat-rack in one of the big uptown dining rooms. She has a lure—oh, she has a wicked lure!—in her eyes of cerulean blue. She smiles never so sweetly. The man who can regain his hat from her without slipping her a dime is a hard-hearted, soulless, emotionless wretch who never knew what it is to have his pulses stirred by the vision of pure womanhood. Some of the men who dine there often pres a quarter into her soft palm. The touch of her tender little fingers fills them with vague aspirations. For at least an hour they feel the uplift.

Of course, the girl doesn't keep the dime. She drops it into the slit in the lid of a box provided for that purpose, it not being practicable to provide pocketless clothes for the hat-check girls, as in the old days of the Greek slaves. Or else she steps into the shadow of the rack and passes it to a dark gentleman lurking there.

System of Espionage.

The house detective watches the dark man to see to it that no one stops long enough in his vicinity to make a dime transfer possible. Then the spotter watches the hause detective. Each is an item in New York hat-check organization which produces considerably more profit each year than do the traction roads of New York.

"That sounds high," I said to the statistician who gave me those facts.

"Hat-checking in New York is paying five per cent. on a capitalization of at least fifty million dollars," said he. "The thraction roads are not."

Hat Checking Compulsory.

There are at least sixty dining rooms of the so-called hettter class in New York city. They operate along about the same lines. You may not carry your hat into the dining room. It will be taken from you if you commit this social error. If you stand on your rights as a citizen and refuse to give up the hat you will not be shown to a table. If you sit down at a table anyhow you will not be served. If you sit too long at a table the headwaiter suggests that your room is to be preferred to your company.

One company operates a string comprising iseven hotels and restaurants. Hat racks formerly existed in these places for the convenience of the patron. No doubt the recipient of the tip had to divide that tip with some one, but at least a part of it stuck to the original palm. In these seven places there are now about 30 stands where hats must be checked.

Fortune in Franchise

The total net revenue from the hat-checking in this string alone is estimated at $200,000 annually. That is five per cent. on a capitalization of four million dollars. Consider the total value of the Hat Check Company of New York if the exclusive checking franchise could be obtained in each of the 60 better class places. Fifty million dollars would be litttle enough.

Some men do not tip the hat-check girls. They are the birds of passage, the roamers, the butterflies who flit from flower to flower so to speak. Because there are ways of bringing the regular patron to heel. The New York restauranteur figures that the man who will not pay for his hat-check is not a desirable customer, anyhow. He belongs to that undesirable under class which always hows when it feels the prong. The true New Yorker submits to the harpoon with languid grace. He knows he'll get it anyawy.

"We got orders to lose the hats of them birds," said Lucille, the heaven-eyed beauty of a few paragraphs above. "They gotta come across. About the second time they get the raxs they get wise."

Smiling is Her Business

"What difference does it make to you whether they pay or not? You do not get the money."

"Whadda yuh think I'm smiling at these fish for?" asked Lucille angrily. "Do yuh think I'd waste a tender glance on a party with a face like a parlor lamp if it wasn't for the job? I'm here to get the dimes. If I don't the doors will open outward for my fairy feet.

There is just one redeeming feature about the hat-check hold-up. It proves the overwhelming superiority of the American brain. Ten years ago hat-checking was the exclusive province of leather-covered foreigners. Padrones hired little boys and put them in little pocketless pants and then searched them carefully at the end of each day of toil lest the guileless youth contrived to hide dimes behind their tonsils.

WANTS VENUS EXPERT.

New York—Charles Dillingham has an opening for an expert who can qualify to select the young lady in America who is best equipped to impersonate Venus in "Happy Days," the forthcoming super-spectacle at the Hippodrome. A call has been made for "a perfect woman" for a scene in which Venus is the central figure, and the opportunity is open to all from Maine to California who think they can best typify the model of loveliness and shapeliness.

Never before has embroidery played so important a part in women's apparel.

WHY PUSSY HAS WHISKERS

She Couldn't Catch Mice Without Them.

Most people imagine that a cat has whiskers for the purpoes of feeling its way in the dark or for measuring a gap in the fence or gate through which it wishes to pass.

This idea is all wrong. It is now known that pussy's hirsute appendages are really there to enable her to concentrate her gaze on her prey—the bird or mouse, for instance—on which she anticipates making a meal.

When you stare at an object for a short time your eyes grow fatigued so that you momentarily close them. In doing so, you often lose sight of the object at which you were staring—especially if the object is very small. This often occurs when you are looking at an aeroplane which is flying at a great height. You are forced to blink your eyes, and have some difficulty in finding the machine again.

Now, if pussy blinked her eyes she would run some danger of losing her dinner, so instead her whiskers serve the purpose of momentarily interrupting her vision without disturbing the focus of her eyes.

To prove this, Professor P. F. Swindle cut off the whiskers of a cat who was a splendid mouser, and poor pussy could no longer catch mice "for nuts." Finally, he stuck some false whiskers on the animal, and immediately it regained its former cunning.

Some of the new gaiters, in tan and brown, come almost to the knees.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

OPEN LETTER FROM SIR SAM

CITES CAUSES WHICH HE THINKS LED TO THE DEFEAT OF THE VICTORIA COUNTY CANDIDATES—CHARACTERISTIC BUNCOMBE.

To Dr. J. W. Wood, Lindsay, Ontario; Dr. R. M. Mason, Fenelon Falls, Ont.

Gentlemen,—Permit me to express my regret, is so far as you are both concerned, as the result of the recent election. You have both gone down as the lads of the old "Victoria" went down in the Mediterranean, and as many thousands of the boys went down in the recent war—with your heads erect, facing the opponents of responsible government.

That the defeat is not due to yourselves, personally, but to the various causes abroad, is evinced by the almost universal sweep in both city, town and country places in the Province.

But now in the time for sane and sensible people to pause and consider the situation.

There is now evidence that during the war, German gold inspired labor leaders in cities and towns throughout Canada, as well as in the United States and the Empire at large, to strike and to hold up production of munitions.

That German gold also inspired the agitation to keep farmers' sons from going to the front because they were needed for production.

That German gold also inspired religious sects of various forms to preach "Peace at any Price," and "Conscientious objection," and to refuse to fight for the defence of all that humanity holds dear, namely, liberty, home and loved ones.

That German gold has inspired, and many believe is still inspiring, the movement to produce chaos throughout the Allied countries, especially in the United States, Canada, Great Britain and France. In case disunion and disruption should follow in these lands, the Treaty of Peace, recently signed, would soon become another "Scrap of Paper." One billion dollars of German gold spent successfully in this regard, might save her a taxation of many billions and impose it on her opponents.

Therefore, it becomes the duty of every sane and sensible thinker to most seriously study the situation.

Why was the Hearst Government beaten? Not on its own immediate record, for no one specially found fault with it. It is true they were not regarded as an extraordinarily strong aggregation, but they were accepted as faithful, honest and loyal.

In addition to the aim of the Kaiser to disintegrate the allied nations by the establishment of factions such as Labor Parties, Farm Parties, Capitalist Parties, etc., the beastly Bolshevist movement has also been active in inciting labor against capital; the farm laborer with nothing, against the man with the farm; the servant with nothing, against his employer; the townsman against the country-man; the country-man against the townsman; in short, general hell upon earth.

Unfortunately, in many of these fool agitations, a limited number of the clergy and other prominent citizens of the land have lent their support unintentionally it may be, to propagate these movements which are largely akin to Bolshevism. They certainly are not in accord with the principle of true Protestantism, or responsible government.

The Hearst Government is by no means free from blame. They certainly were wrong in resorting to the "Referendum" principle, which should find no place in a country under responsible government. It belongs to autocracies. The government should have proclaimed its policy, should have assumed responsibility for temperance, and have faced the issue like men.

Permit me to point out that I raised upwards of four hundred thousand men in the first three years of the war by voluntary enlistment, and there was no more drunkenness pro rata among these gallant fellows than among any other class that I know of in Canada and yet the Hearst Government, yielding to fanatical cries passed a crude, harsh, drastic and repressive measure in prohibition which annoyed and angered hundreds of thousands of Ontario's best citizens—not of the drinking class, but of that great, big, broad, self-controlled class that makes for the up-building of any land.

The principle of "Personal Liberty" which is the foundation-rock of British liberty for nearly two thousand years, was cast aside, and tyranny, repression, mistrust and humiliation took its place.

But, you will reply, "Did you not yourself, drive liquor out of your military camps?" Of course I did, and I would do it again. What place is there for liquor in a camp of young lads, or what need? In doing so I stood by the principle of "Personal Liberty." The condition was this. Thousands of gallant, clean young fellows wished to take part in the defense of the nation and to train themselves therefor. They would come to our annual camps, which, unfortunately, in many instances were merely twelve-day debauches. The young lad, being under military discipline, was not a free agent as he would be at a public dinner, or in a public bar where he, being absolutely independent of all around him, could walk away or resent any aggression, as he might choose; but in military camps he felt himself under the control of his seniors. In far too many cases these senior were swash-buckling boozers who, not content with taking a drink themselves, would offensively insist on these young men drinking, and too often the boys, rather than fight or quarrel, would yield.

My action therefore, was directed to maintaining the personal liberty of the boy from being offensively imposed on by a boozing senior. In short, I protected the boy from having liquor forced down his throat on the one hand just as the sane, temperate, reputable, stalwart citizen, in his desire to quietly take a glass of liquor, might be protected from a ruthless and often irresponsible agitator who would knock down his arm and refuse to allow him his personal liberty.

This untimely and crude action of the Hearst Government gave a great impetus to the moonshiner, the bootlegger and the drug agent, and in a very few months assisted in developing an utter contempt for the observance of honest law and order. Indeed it ranks almost on a par in training people to break the laws with the famous Military Service Act and its kindred orders. The successful government of humanity lies in the open, manly observance of law and order, and in being careful not to encourage trickery, suspicion, hypocrisy and all debauching qualities that come with these.

In this connection, the Hearst Government made hundreds of thousands of enemies. In one instance, not a thousand miles from Lindsay, I came across sixteen splendid citizens, not one of whom had ever been intoxicated in his lifetime, nearly every one of them was an Orangeman and all were Liberal-Conservatives; men whose families were a credit to the community but who had been in the habit of keeping a little liquor in the house and using it when needed—who declared to me that some of them had paid two dollars to a doctor for a bogus certificate and four dollars and fifty cents for a bottle of poor whiskey which, under ordinary conditions, should only have cost a small sum. They complained it was not the cost of much as the mistrust and humiliation imposed on them. Each and every one of them, point-blank, refused to vote for the Hearst candidate. I merely mention this case to show that people like to have their independence recognized.

The Hearst Government was also sure of a strong opposition from the Knights of Columbus, the ultramontane wing of the Roman Catholic Church. But the peculiar feature of the case is that, owing to the action of the Hearst Government in assisting the Knights of Columbus' Hut Fund legislation, very many staunch Protestants not only voted, but worked hard against him and his candidates.

Very many were annoyed at the Hearst Government intruding itself in a Dominion matter and pledging support to the soldiers for a large gratuity. That this did not affect the soldiers' vote is evidenced by the fact that the great majority of that splendid body voted against the Hearst Government on account of the temperance issue.

Then the Referendum leaders were mostly working with the discordant elements against Hearst, so that the unfortunate man who gave the women the vote; who created the Farmers' Clubs; who passed the Referendum; who tried to please the soldiers and who pandered to the labor leaders "git it in the neck" from each and every one of them.

Moreover, the Hearst Government, like the Union Government at Ottawa, has not kept itself sufficiently in touch with the people or even with their supporters in the House. They were also carried away with the interested cry of "Uplift" by the Civil Service and others more prominent.

I am a fairly old hand in the business of studying humanity. I am a firm believer in standing by the principle of responsible government. I always opposed a close corporation Civil Service. There is only one way to run a country. The people elect their members to Parliament on any platform that may present itself; from the dominant party among the members, the Prime Minister and Government are chosen and the members of Parliament supporting the Government, or the defeated Government candidates must assume the responsibility of making appointments. It has worked well in Ontario in the past. It has worked well in the Dominion of Canada and the present system of mistrusting the people and disintegrating the Governments both at Ottawa and Toronto must disappear. Members of Parliament must not be afraid to demand and assume responsibility.

For a number of years, Canada in general, and Ontario in particular, have been burdened with a bunch of uplifters. Well-meaping men, maybe, with their gattelities, secured the ear of Sir Robert Borden and Sir William Hearst and these two governments, Union Government at Ottawa, and Hearst Government at Toronto, have long been recognized by the large-sized halo surrounding each. To anyone who understands humanity, such was nauseating, and a child might discern that it would not last long. Unrest in the public mind found vent and Hearst Government disappeared.

PATRONS ARE FIRST TO APPROVE OF PROPOSED CO-OPERATIVE DAIRY COMPANY—THE FACTORY'S MILK SALES AMOUNTED NO $32,101 THIS YEAR.

MR. COWAN ADDRESSED PATRONS

The patrons of the Shearer Cheese and Butter Factory, Peterboro County, have been the first to definitely discuss and identify themselves with the proposed big co-operative dairy company. At the annual meeting of the patrons, held November 25, the project was discussed at length and the following resolution was carried without an opposing vote:

"Moved by Andrew Evans, seconded by A. P. Donaldson, that this meting of the patrons of the Shearer Cheese and Butter Factory is in favor of the proposed big dairy company, being of the opinion that its formation is in the best interest of the dairy farmers of the country and we approve of the appointment of arbitrators to ascertain the value of the factory with the object in view of the patrons ultimately taking over its ownership and becoming identified with the proposed big dairy company."

Amalgamation Would Be Profitable.

The principle speaker was Mr. H. B. Gowan of Farm and Dairy, who had been invited by the president to attend for the purpose of discussing it with the patrons. The president, Mr. Samuel Armstrong of Indian River, showed the great savings that might be made by such a company, were the farmers who are patrons of adjoining factories to become identified with it also. At present there are considerable number of rigs hauling milk to the different factories and the city who pass and repass each other on the roads. A better division of the work would effect very marked savings.

The patrons apoeared to be unanimously of the opinion that the time has come when farmers must take hold of the market end of their business on a definite business basis and handle their dairy products in the same way that the grain growers of The West handle their grain. While the proposed company has not yet obtained its charter it probably will do so within the next few weeks after which progress should be more rapid. The Shearer Cheese and Butter Factory is owned by J. J. Hogan and is one of the best factories in the county. The total sales of milk, cheese and butter last year amounted to $32,101. The gross value of the milk per standard was $74.75. The net value of the milk shipped for city consumption per standard was $68.58 The net value of the milk made into cheese was $65.85. The net sum after deducting all expenses received by the patrons was $27,839.71 The five largest patrons during the six summer months were S. Armstrong 86,940 lbs., A. Evans, 63,857 lbs., W. W. Brown, 57,604 lbs. K. Esson, 49,162 lbs., and W. E. Wood, 47,415 lbs.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

FORMER C. P. R. AGENT IS IN TOWN.

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 18.—Mr. James Skinner, who for many years was uptown agent of the C. P. R. here, and who is now agent in Peterborough, arrived in town yesterday, and is renewing old acquaintances. He is accompanied by his son, Mr. Fraser Skinner, who returned in July from overseas.

Mr James Skinner speaks very enthusiastically of the progress made in Peterborough in recent years. At the present time business is at top-notch. The city has a population of 23,000, and is still growing.

While he is warm in his praise of Peterborough, Mr. Skinner is still a great believer in Owen Sound and its future.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS TRY NITRO-PHOSPHATE

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorous may now be met by the use of Nitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:— White Nitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

SUFFERED NEARLY HALF OF HER LIFE

MRS. SIMPSON TRIED TO FIND RELIEF FROM TROUBLE OF 25 YEARS STANDING.

"I spent about half my life in a useless search for something that would relieve my sto. ich and at last found what I needed in Tanlac" said Mrs. Abigail Simpson, of 64 Uxbridge St., West Toronto, Ont.

"My appetite was poor," she continued, "an I just had to force down enough to keep going. Most everything disagreed with me and often the least little thing would upset me and I would be sick with nausea for a week at a time, too weak an lifeless to do a thing. My nerves were in such a bad condition that I could hardly sleep and I would get up in the morning feeling heavy and stupid. My liver was sluggish. This went on, in spite of all I could do, for twenty-five or thirty years and I lost all of thirty pounds in weight.

"Hearing so much about Tanlac I decided to try it, and before I had finished my first bottle I felt greatly improved. I kept on taking Tanlac and soon my apetite was normal and I can enjoy my meals and never have nausea or any other trouble. My liver is active, that dull sluggish feeling is gone, and I can sleep like a baby and am getting back my strength and energy, and am now able to do all my housework without getting the least bit tired.

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co. Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle and Son.

WOULD SAVE COST WITH NEW FURNACE AT THE FIRE HALL

ALD. MORRISON'S PROPOSAL REFERRED TO THE CITY TRUST COMMISSION FOR THEIR HELP.

A meeting of the Fire, Water and Light committee was held last night with Ald. Morrison presiding.

Mayor Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Taylor that a hydrant be placed at the corner of Park and Lansdowne streets, and that the Utilities Commission be requested to lay a water main along Lansdowne street to connect with the proposed main to serve the Exhibition grounds.

Smith Street Bridge Lighting.

Commenting upon the complaints that the Smith street bridge was unlighted, Ald. Morrison said that four lamps had been installed recently. The other side he would have to examine again especially to inspect the wiring. He advised that "goose neck" fixtures be set in position and that the lamps be enclosed in a strong fine wire to protect them against stones and other missles thrown by young hooligans that frequent that neighborhood.

No action wa staken upon a request G. Snowden, T. Burke, Wm. Turnbull and others for lights on the Otonabee Road from the Locks bridge to Downer's Corners.

Heating Fire Hall.

Ald. Morrison drew the attention of the Committee to the comparitively heavy consumption of coal at the fire hall. An engineer from Toronto had outlined a method by which the entire fire station could be heated by the consumption of thirty tons. A new single unit boiler would have to be installed. Ald. Morrison suggested should endeavor to make this improvement.

Ald. Hamilton remarked that the alterations could scarcely be undertaken this year.

Mayor Duncan proposed that the City Trust be requested to consider a new heating plant, the cost to be borne by the Trust Commission. His motion to that effect was adopted.

Ald. Morrison reported that the yard behind the hall was now lighted by a strong lamp that had been erected, and he recommended that a strip of the yard be paved to permit the washing of the wagons, and also that a hydrant be placed at the rear of the station.

Ald. Turner: Put that idea on the file for next year.

Ald. Hamilton: I don't want to spend any money on those changes this year.

A complaint that Wolfe street west of Rutherford street was unlighted and that as a result girls had been annoyed on their way home at night was received for the present without action.

AN ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE MEN AT INCINERATOR

PETERBORO CITIZENS HAVE NASTY HABIT OF THROWING LIVE CARTRIDGES INTO GARBAGE CANS.

Unless some of the citizens of Peterboro wish to become murderers, the practice of throwing cartridges into garbage to be taken to the incinerator must cease immediately. Sanitary inspector Stapleton stated yesterday that his men employed at the Incinerator have recently picked several live cartridges out of the garbage and that one of the men escaped death a month ago only by a margin of a few feet, the cartridge exploding in the fire and passing him taking a big piece of brick from the wall near which he was standing.

PETERBORO IN THE EARLY DAYS

DEATH OF MR. W. GLIDDEN REMOVES LINK WITH PAST.

OTTAWA, Nov. 26—The funeral of the late William Gliddon, former accountant at the Printing Bureau and at one time prominent newspaperman, who died at his home, 501 Bessemer street, was held yesterday.

The late Mr. Gliddon was born in Barnstable, Devon, England, in 1833, and was educated in a private academy. After leaving school he was regularly indentured to learn the printing and bookbinding trade in all its branches and in 1855 came to Canada, and after a seven week's voyage reached Montreal in June of that year. He engaged with Richard White, the present manager of the Gazette, to take a position on the Peterboro Review, then being managed and edited by the late Hon. Thos. White. At that time Peterboro had only a population of some 3,000 and was surrounded by forest. Communication in those days with the west was only by steamboat, as the Grand Trunk was then merely in course of construction. There was, however, a railroad from Coburg to Peterboro with a treatle bridge across Rice Lake.

Moved to Toronto.

In the fall of the same year Mr. Gliddon moved to Toronto, where he obtained a position with the late Rollo Campbell, who was the owner of the Montreal Pilot, which in those days executed much of the Government work. While in the Queen City he took part in the memorable election of George Brown, then the "Protestant Horse" candidate. In 1857 he married and determined to make Canada permanently his home.

In Big Election Fight.

The Government was moved to Quebec at this period and Mr. Gliddon followed it, accepting the position of English foreman in the printing office then having the contract for doing the Government work However, after about a year he resigned and accepted a position on the Gazette of Montreal then conducted by Messrs. Low and Chamberlain. He was in Montreal during the famous McGee-Devlin election fight which culminated in the following session in the murder of the celebrated Irish orator in the Capital by an assassin. Those were historic days which Mr. Gliddon keenly recollected.

In June 1870, the late Col. Chamberlain was appointed Queen's printer and new printing contracts were awarded for all the Government work. Mr. Gliddon assisting the new Queen's printer to initiate the change.

In 1871 he permanently entered the office of the Queen's Printer here. When the Depart nent of Public Printing was created in 1880 Mr. Gliddon was transferred to that branch of the public service and two years later was appointed chief clerk and accountant which responsible position he occupied with eminent satisfaction to the Government and the public. Mr. Gliddon only very recently retired from his official duties, bearing the respect and good wishes of all with whom he had come in contact.

In St. George's Society.

He had lived an active life, eschewing politics since entering the Civil Service, but nevertheless taking a keen interest in men and events and keeping thoroughly abreast of the times in regard to public affairs. He was the original trustee of Eastern Methodist Church and a veteran Sunday School worker, of which he was past superintendent for 12 years, and ex-president of the St. George's Society of the Capital. The flag of the society is being flown at half mast over its hall.

He was also an active member of the Ottawa Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Class Society, a director and member of the Finance Committee of the Protestant Hospital. This being the jubilee year of his coming to Canada, he celebrated it by visiting his old home in Barnstable and afterwards retiring from active business life.

He is survived by three daughters Mrs. S. S. Reveler, Mrs. Franklin McVeigh and Miss Jessie; three sons Mr. William S. Gliddon, James F. Gliddon and Fred C. Gliddon, of Ottawa, one sister, Miss Susan Gliddon, of Barnstable, England, and three grandchildren, Dr. W. O. Gliddon, Miss Dorothy and Claude G., who is now attending McGill University, and a great granddaughter, Miss Joan Gliddon.

Deceased came to Ottawa in 1870, and the loss of such a prominent citizen will be mourned by a host of friends and acquaintances, by whom he was held in highest esteem.

This township's share of expense is $137.00, of that amount only $36.50 has so far been collected and that was practically all given by Warsaw people. The Referendum Committee feel that as all the township is benefitted by the act all parts, North, South and East should help with the expense.

On Sunday morning Rev. Hugh Brown preached from the text "Why criest Thou to me? Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward." Mr. Brown emphasized the fact that we do not need to pray on our knees all the time, but that we actually had to work if we wish to accomplish anything. At the close of the service Mr. Brown announced that he had handed in his resignation to the Presbytery and that it would be considered at the next meeting of Presbytery. Mr. Brown has been pastor of the Presbyterian church here nearly 10 years.

There were the usual services in the Anglican and Baptist churches on Sunday.

BEAVERBROOK'S SISTER "IN DUTCH" WITH AMERICANS

ACCUSED OF MAKING INSULTING REMARK ABOUT U.S FLAG.

RUTLAND, Vermont, Nov.—The city's vigilance committee, composed of Mayor James C. Dunn, Alderman J. C. Temple, C. W. Spencer Stephen Cragin and City Attorney L. F. Wing, met the directors of the Rutland hospital Monday night demanding an explanation as the results of local indignation at the alleged un-Americanism prevalent in the hospital. Miss Annie McLane, of Nova Scotia, whose alleged insult to the American flag stirred up the tempest now raging here, did not appear before the investigating committee. She left for Nova Scotia after obtaining her nurses' certificate from the hospital and after standing the state examinations.

Demand Ottawa Action

Following the meeting a telegram was sent by the mayor to each senator and congressman in the United States, demanding that the matter be taken up with Ottawa.

Beaverbrook's Sister

Miss Aitken, the superintendent of the hosital, is a sister of Lord Beaverbrook, whose last official positions were chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and head of the propaganda department of the British government.

While being questioned by agents of the department of justice from Boston last evening, Miss Aitkens is alleged to have removed an American flag placed on the table by the federal officers, remarking, "That the table would look better if you kept the table cloth clean." The officers advised Miss Aitkens that she would have due time to consider an apology or suffer an arrest.

Starts of the Row.

Miss Niles, it was said, had shown a postcard picture to Miss McLane, remarking on its beauty, when the Canadian girl agreed, but added: "Except for that dirty rag"—referring to an American flag which had a prominent place in the picture. A spirited argument between the nurses followed, and the incident was called to the attention of Miss Annie Aitken, superintendent of the hospital, who is a sister of Lord Beaverbrook of Canada, with a demand by American nurses that Miss McLane apologize. When the apology was not forthcoming, the American nurses went on strike as a protest, but returned subsequently.

BOBBY ARMSTRONG WITH FORT WILLIAM

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 25.—If anybody has an idea that Fort William will not have an 18-carat hockey team in the Thunder Bay League this Winter it might change their opinion by looking over the following names of players from whom the team will be chosen: Burney McTeigue, Harry Fraser, Bill Adams, Jack Ryan, Pat Flannagan, Dr. McGregor, Bobbie Armstrong, Percy McGregor, Buck Turner, Alf. Flannagan "Mac" McDonald, Bryant Scott, Art Myers, Frank Hacquoil, Harry Taylor, Fred Carney and several others, including a couple of dark horses whose names will be put on the list shortly. McTeigue, Fraser, Adams, Ryan, Pat Flannagan, Armstrong and Percy McGregor have all played in Allan Cup finals in past seasons, and the experience gained in those games is the kind of knowledge that counts in competition.

It will be a difficult task to pick out a better trio for defence than McTeigue, Fraser and Adams, and fans may be assured that with such a past master of the game as Bobbie Armstrong in centre ice, the offensive machinery of the team will balance up with the defence. Dr. McGregor, of McKellar Hospital, who has but just recently come to Fort William, has played in fast company in the East and will try out with the Fort Williams.

ONLY PROTECTION AGAINST SMALLPOX

The following statement, signed by Dr. Edmund E. King as president and Dr. F. C. Harrison as honorary secretary, has ben handed out by the Academy of Medicine, Toronto:—

"The Academy of Medicine, Toronto, appreciates that owing to false and unwarranted statements made regarding the present epidemic and the subject of vaccination, it is due to the public that the position of the profession of Toronto should be stated.

"Any irresponsible person or technically uneducated laymen may make statements about the most serious public health matters that may cause great unrest in the public mind, without having any foundation other than reiterating statements made previously by just as irresponsible but personally prejudiced persons.

"1. The epidemic tha tis at present developing in Ontario is smallpox. The majority of the cases are mild, but there are some severe.

"2 Most epidemics develop from mild form to those of grave severity. Notably the one in 1885 may be taken as an example.

"3 Vaccination is the only known protection against the disease, and is universally recognized as such.

"4 Vaccination properly performed is not a dangerous operation, but in some cases the reaction is quite severe, indicating the susceptibility of the individual to the virus.

"5. There is no possible risk of transmitting any such disease as tuberculosis, syphilis or other blood contagios from vaccination, as the lymph is collected from the host (calf), sealed in tubes and placed on scratch without coming in contact with any human.

"6. There is no vaccinating from one human to another.

"Vaccination is recognized as an operation and must be done under the strictest cleanliness, and care must be exercised in attending the after-results.

100 LANCASHIRE FACTORIES TRANSFERRED TO NEW OWNERS.

LONDON, November 26. — Industrial Lancashire is changing hands. Nearly 100 factories have been transferred to new owners and cotton mill shares have changed hands at prices even as high as seven times their nominal and paid up value.

The Daily Mail says it is estimated in Lancashire that the boom will last anywhere from two to six years, and it is attributed to the fact that he world now wants dressing again, and is pouring in orders for textile goods.

FLOCKING IN KHAKI

LONDON—There is a boom in recruiting in England, and men formerly in the army are flocking back to the khaki uniform in preference to trying to live under trying food and housing conditions. The new-old recruits are carrrying banners reading:

"Men who fought the Germans overseas find the profiteers at home too many for them." The army posters cite the fact that every private can save 21 shillings a week.

Warren Lewis, who has 20 acres of sugar beets three miles from Milan, Mich., finds it so hard to get help to top them he cheerfully goes three miles for one man and two women, conveys them both ways and pays them $20 a day.

followed by any wife who has the courage and confidence wth which the English lady in R. C. Carton's famous story was endowed. Her plan consisted in leaving her husband the first time that he broke a pledge to her. The promise was only to give ing his favorite horse. As a result his beautiful an dignified wife left him. However, she kept in friendly touch with her husband, and when the time came to prove her real devotion, she met every test in a way which bound the young Lord to her with an undying affection.

"THE ROCKY ROAD TO DUBLIN"

Barney Gilmore, the most popular of all Irish singing comedians, is coming to the Grand on Saturday, matinee and evening, in the play that he has starred in for ten years, "The Rocky Road to Dublin." Mr. Gilmore, younger than ever, has surrounded himself with an exceptional acting company, including Miss Helen Evily, who came to this country with the Irish players. "The Rock Road to Dublin" lives up to its billing of being the best Irish play that was ever written and in its twenty years as a travelling attraction continues to shatter box office records. There is no more popular player in America to-day than Barney Gilmore. He has greatly added to his popularity by the wonderful work he did in the recent Actors' Equity strike in New York and for his untiring efforts to provide amusement for the soldiers during the big conflict. During the action of "The Rock Road to Dublin," Mr. Gilmore sings a number of old Irish songs, assisted by a genuine Irish piper. Reserved seats are now selling for this big attraction.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

"Little Red Riding Hood", a gay and gorgeous musical spectacle which is called pantomine in England and extravaganza in America, but, like the rose, by either name would be as sweet, will be the attraction at the Grand for Monday and Tuesday December 1 and 2, matinee Tuesday.

The production which will be seen here is an English importation, produced under the personal supervision of Mr. F. Stuart-Whyte, whose previous offerings "Aladdin", "Robinson Crusoe" and "Cinderella", have proved wonderfully successful on this side of the Atlantic.

The action of the piece is divided into two acts and eleven superb scenes, while the costumes and lighting effects are marvels of beauty and riots of color.

The company is headed by Miss Zara Clinton, the favorite English comedienne and the cast of twenty includes Mr. Johnny Osborne and Miss Dorothy Mackay. In addition to the big cast of principals there is a chorus of wonderful girls, without which no big extravaganza would be complete.

ELSIE FERGUSON GIVES PARTY IN HONOUR OF HER HORSE

A large party was given at the Fort Lee, N.J. studios by Elsie Ferguson, who as the rich Helen Tremaine in her latest picture, "The Marriage Price," which is on view at the Allen Theatre for to-morrow only, gives, in honor of her racing horse, a banquet in the beautiful studio over his stables. A silver loving cup suspended from the ceiling contained over two hundred souvenirs and the entire company drew their lot by pulling ribbons. More than one hundred extra persons were engaged in the function. A real banquet was served and an orchestra engaged for the dancers.

"THE LUCK OF THE NAVY"

"The Luck fo the Navy," a brilliant dramatic success from London, acted by one of England's best known actor-managers and a complete English company, will be presented at the Grand Friday and Saturday, Dec. 5-6, under the management of F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest. The company is headed by Percy Hutchison, nephew of the late Sir Charles Wyndhtam, and an eminent theatrical star in London. Also in the English company, from the Queen's Theatre, London, are Miss Muriel Martin-Harvey, daughter of the celebrated actor; Miss Kate Carew, Miss Elsie Stranach, Mr. H. Croker-King, and many others. "The Luck of the Navy" has been running for nearly two years in London, and has made Mr. Hutchison one of the most popular of London stage idols. It is a stirring and dramatic play, full of action, and with much comedy also. Patrons are advised to be in their seats early in order not to miss the prologue, which in three scenes shows a British submarine under water, then rising to the surface, and finally the destruction of a Zeppelin by the British grand fleet in action. This martial prologue, however, paves the way for a strong and dramatic play in which there are no war scenes.

Mr. Percy Hutchinson with "The Luck of the Navy" at the Grand, Friday and Saturday, December 5th and 6th.

STOP BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Here's Instant Relief! No Pain, Soreness, Stiffness After Rubbing With "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Ah! Pain is gone!

Apply this soothing, penetrating oil directly upon the ache, and like magic, relief comes. "St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain. It is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica relief, which never disappoints, can not injure and doesn't burn or discolour the skin.

Straighten up! Stop those torturous "stitches." In a moment you will forget that you ever had a back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Liniment" from your druggist now and get this lasting relief."

Color is one of the most important elements in winter millinery.

Life Is Give and Take Proposition

No Man, Under Modern Conditions, Can Live Entirely Unto Himself

Each Dependent on Others

Citizens Who Do Not Aid in Building Up Communiity Can Not Expect to Have Prosperity Himself

(Copyright.)

There was a time in the world when a man could do pretty much as he pleased. What one man did was of little concern to anyone else, for it had little effect on anyone else. These days are gone, however, and never will return. To-day, no man can live entirely unto himself. Life is a complicated affair under modern conditions. No one man in any community is entirely independent of all the others in that community.

Organized society, in the form of Governments, national, state, and local, have recognised the new conditions and have decreed that every man must observe certain rules in his relations with his fellow men. He must not do certain things that would endanger the health of other people in his community. He must not do such things as would disturb the peace and quiet of his neighbourhood. He must remember that he owes a duty to his community.

Not Question of Right.

A man may say that he has the right to spend his money where he pleases; that no one can stop him if he wants to buy his groceries, his clothes, and his furniture in some city miles from where he earns the money to pay for them. He is right. There is no law to prevent him from doing so, unless it is the law of self-preservation. The man who has the right to send his money away to some distant city instead of spending it at home, also has the right to send his children to that city to be educated in the schools, which his money helps to support, but he doesn't exercise that right. He sends his children to the local schools, the maintenance of which is made possible by the men who spend their money at home.

Life in any community to-day is a give-and-take proposition. A man can not take everything and give nothing and get away with it for any great length of time. He can not take his living from a community and give nothing back to help the other fellow make a living. If he cuts off the other fellow's living, he is bound to eventually cut off his own, for unless the other fellow has money to buy his labour or his goods, he cannot make a living himself.

You may say that what you buy doesn't amount to much and the money that you send away to the mail order houses in other cities can not have any great effect upon the general business conditions in your town. Maybe it doesn't amount to much and maybe it won't have any great effect upon the community's prosperity in itself, but what will be the result if every person in the community, or half of them, or a tenth of them, take the same view of the matter. Your business, in itself, may not amount to much, but taken together with the business of a hundred others in the community, it amounts to a great deal. It amounts to the difference between a prosperous community and a "dead one." It amounts to the difference, in the end, between good times and bad times for yourself and your own family. If you lived on a desert isle, it would make no difference where you sent your money, because it would make no difference whether you had any money at all or not. But you are not living upon a desert isle. You are living in a modern community. To do everything possible to build up that community is not only a duty which you owe to the community, but—more important still—it is a duty which you owe to yourself.

Taxes Will Increase.

You have children to educate. You want your community to have good schools so that your children may have the same advantages that the children in the big city have. If you live on a farm you need good roads over which to haul your products to market. You may say that you pay your share of the taxes out of which the school houses are built and the roads constructed. Maybe you do pay your share, in proportion to the value of your world's goods, but where is the other fellow to get the money to pay his share of the taxes if, after you pay your taxes, you send the remainder of your money to some other community to help build their schools and construct their roads.

The merchants of any community pay a very considerable part of the taxes collected in that community. Go to the tax books and you will find this to be the case. When the business of the merchant falls off and he carries smaller stocks and has less money in the bank, he pays smaller taxes, and as the amount he pays in taxes decreases, the amount you pay must increase if the schools are to be maintained and the roads kept up. It may be a man's own business if he wants to send his money to help build up the big cities where the mail order houses flourish, but it's poor business for himself as well as for everybody else in the community in which he lives.

Mr. Ernest McDonald and Mr. Thomas Tooms, members of the Legislature for east and west Peterboro, have been invited to visit the County Council at their present session, one of the members said this morning. It is understood that if these invitations are accepted questions of interest to the County will be informally discussed.

Referring to the agitation for an electric railway from Peterboro to Kinmount, Reeve Shaw of Harvey stated this morning that because this project was broached just prior to the provincial elections many of the farmers regarded it as political bait. They expected that nothing more would be heard of it as soon as the provincial campaign had closed and that interest would at once subside.

One of the promoters of this scheme is Mr. G. N. Gordon whose motives are known to have been prompted by the need of linking the city of Peterboro with the village of Kinmount and the townships in the northern part of the county. The mooted electric line was neither an issue nor an allurement to the electors. It had been discussed before the elections were announced and as actually been under consideration since last Spring.

Hence there can be no question of Mr. Gordon's good faith and if any doubts or misunderstandings prevail in the townships that should be keenly interested in the radial scheme and would also be most directly affected by it, some effort should be made to remove them and to win the active support of the farmers of this county. It is probably a correct surmise that Mr. Gordon had two designs before him when he took up the question of urging the Hydro-Electric Commisison to survey possible routes and decide upon the feasibility of an electric railway traversing this county. One of them was the prospect of opening the way to a contract of probable local placement for electric equipment incidental to the building of the road and of providing advantages to both the city and back country that have long been suggested without avail.

Watch Your Blood

When The Iron Runs Low

You Are In Danger

The Same As When The Mercury Goes Down You Know There Will be a Frost

How To Make The Test That Tells

Actual blood tests show that a tremendous large number of people who are weak and ill lack iron in their blood and that they are ill for no other reason than lack of iron. Iron deficiency paralyzes healthy, forceful action, pulls down the whole organism and weakens the entire system. A pale face, a nervous irritable disposition, a lack of strength and endurance and the inability to cope with the strong vigorous folks in the race of life—these are the sort of warning signals that Nature gives when the blood is getting thin, pale, watery and literally starving for want of iron. If you are not sure of your condition, go to your doctor and have him take your blood count and see where you stand or else make the following test yourself: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. By enriching the blood and creating new red blood cells Nuxated Iron strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed energy and power into the whole system.

Unlike the older inorganic iron products Nuxated Iron is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

any public matter, but an old Scotch friend of mine came to my room the other night and opened up the Bible at Proverbs, chapter 31, verses 6 and 7, and read the words.

"Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish and wine unto those htat be of heavy hearts;

"Let him drink and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more."

My Scotch friend then asked me if I had ever seen the paraphrase by Burns on these verses, and he read me the following, which are very expressive but not quite so stately as the Biblical form:

"Gie him strong drink until he wink,
That's sinking in despair;
And liquor guid to fire his bluid,
That's prest wi' grief and care;
There let him boose and keep carouse
Wi' bumpers flowin' o'er,
Till he forgets his loves or debts
And minds his griefs no more."

Personally, I have been a strong advocate of temperance, but I am also a strong advocate of manly and womanly people—a people worthy of trust.

I need not assure you and the good people of Victoria and Haliburton Counties that I yield to no man of the uplift batch, or of any prohibition party in my desire, determination and action to have a temperate, law-abiding, manly and womanly class. I yield to none in my practice of the virtues of temperance. I have always resented any man's attempt to induce me to drink. I have gone further and by education, suggestion, inspiring their manhood, rallying their latent principles of honor, teaching them that the Lord intended them to be something nobler than a drunkard. I have been instrumental in leading many, many men along right lines. Further, I have never seen manhood strengthened by repression. Compelling men to be sneaks and tricksters encouraging, almost forcing them to be hypocrites and non-observers of law and order, has never yet made a great nation of a great people. These are my views. I would have people great, and the only way to get them to be great and noble is to train them to be manly and womanly and leave them free. In another part of His teaching the mandate of the Almighty is, "Let mankind be free."

In conclusion let me say, the spirit of unrest, of anarchy, of Bolshevism, of disruption and disunion, of selfish greed, of envy, will disappear in a year or so, and dear old humanity will rally back to stable, honest, law-abiding policy. The cry against capital, against the profiteer, against the man who has property, will vanish. The envy of the labor man for the wealthy farmer will disappear. It will be recognized that to reach the top of the ladder, one must begin at the bottom and work his way squarely and honestly up. Farmers do not realize that they are charged with being the greatest profiteers in the land. The cry is frequently heard that it costs the farmer practically nothing to raise his crops. For example, one man said to me, "Farmer Blank had several hundred bushels of clover seed last year off a couple of small fields and he charged many dollars a bushel for that." And, he added, "That seed did not cost him five dollars a bushel and he should be compelled to disgorge." It was in vain that I pointed out that the question of supply and demand must rule with farmers as with others, and I further showed this gentleman that he himself had not hesitated to make ten or fifteen dollars a day at munitions, and similarly, if the farmer would have to disgorge several dollars a bushel on clover, would it not be fair to ask him to disgorge all but the dollar and ten cents a day on the pay he had received for making shells.

But all these things will settle themselves and when your next election comes on, let me hope that you will have more time to prepare, and that the people will have resumed their normal lines of thought on public matters.

Faithfully,
SAM HUGHES.

THE COW

The Foster Mother of the World

The Cow is a most wonderful laboratory. She takes the grasses of the pasture, and the roughage of the field and converts them into the most perfect food for man. In that food there is a mysterious something which scientists have found essential to the highest health of the human race, and which can be found nowhere else.

Without her milk, children languish, the vigor of the adult declines, and the vitality of the human race runs low.

PRESENTATION TO MR. T. YERROW WHO IS MOVING TO BELLEVILLE

HAS BEEN IN CHARGE OF THE G.T.R. CONSTRUCTION WORK IN PETERBORO FOR A NUMBER OF YEARS.

Last evening a company of men of the G.T.R. maintenance of way and transportation departments visited the home of Mr. T. Yerrow, 461 King street, and presented him with a cabinet of silver and an address, the occasion being the departure of Mr. Yerrow from the city to take up his residence in Belleville.

Mr. Yerrow came to this city in June, 1914, to take over the post of Supervisor of Track of 9th and part of the 10th districts, succeeding Mr. Charles Mitchell of Lindsay. This was his first charge as Supervisor of Track and the very efficient manner in which he has carried on under the trying circumstances occasioned by the war, marked him for promotion. This transfer to a bigger job on the double track of the G.T.R. main line between Belleville and Toronto is an indication of the confidence placed in Mr. Yerrow by his superior officers.

The gathering of fellow workers and friends at his home last evening was to express their regret because of his removal from the activities of the 9th and 10th districts, and to wish him success in his new field of labour.

The Address.

Peterborough, Ont., Nov. 25, '19.

Dear Mr. Yerrow,—On the eve of your departure from our city of Peterborough, a few of those who have been associated with you in the great endeavour to keep the two shining lines of steel in fit and proper shape—so that the way-faring man might ride in comfort and safety—a few of those who have helped you to keep open the lines of communication, in many a mighty battle with the storms of winter and have endured with you in the heat and burden of many a summer day, have gathered in your home to-night to say "au revoir," for we will not say "good-bye," and to wish you God-speed as you start out in your new field of endeavour.

For over five years you have gone in and out among us and those five years have been memorable ones in the history of our country and in the history of the world. It was your lots not to go to fight in the fields of Flanders, but to say with the goods, and to do your bit in hurrying the goods to the boys in the trenches. Right royally you did your duty in this respect as we are here to testify and we are the men who know.

You have every reason sir, to be proud of your record of the past five years. You are passing on to greater things and new fields of endeavour, but your work on these districts will stand as monuments to your skill and energy. We deeply regret your passing from our midst but it is only another proof that you cannot keep a good man down.

We are not going to let you depart, however, without expressing our regret in a more tangible form than in words. We desire that you shall have some memento from those that you have left behind and whose heart shall ever beat in sincere friendship for yourself and your family. We therefore ask that you will accept this cabinet of silverware.

May you and your good wife live long enough to enjoy them and God grant you health and prosperity.

Signed on behalf of the donors—

A. MacNab.
R. J. Delahey.
J. S. Chambers.

Mr. Yerrow replied in a very fine spirit, testifying to the splendid support he had received from his men during the last five years, which had made it possible to transform the Belleville-Lindsay line from light steel to heavy steel. He was genuinely sorry to leave his staff and very sorry to leave the fine city of Peterborough. For himself and Mrs. Yerrow he thanked them most heartily for all kindnesses received and for the splendid cabinet of silver which would ever remind them of the happy days spent in the Electric City.

OWEN SOUND MILK DEALERS ATTEMPT TO RAISE PRICES.

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 26. — The local milk situation has been the subject of much discussion and dissatisfaction during he past week. The large sweet milk distributing concern attempted to advance the price if milk from 12 cents a quart to 15 cents a quart.

Many of the smaller distributors followed, but one refused, and as a result the other men lost nearly 20 per cent. of their customers.

Eventually they have been forced to reduce the price once more. Owen Sounders are asking one another how long the price will stay down.

IN MEMORIAM.

SHAMBO. — In loving memory of my dear brother, Fred Shambo, who died November 26, 1918.

Gone one year, our hearts are sore,
From day to day we miss him more,
His cheerful smile, his loving face,
No one on earth can fill his place;
We loved him, yes, no tongue can tell,
How much we loved him and how well.
God loved him too, and thought it best
To take him to his home of rest.
The blow was bitter, the loss severe
To part with one we loved so dear;
Our loss is great, we'll not complain,
But hope in heaven to meet again.

—Sister Minnie.

SALE OF CIGARETTES TO WOMEN NOT INCLUDED IN PLATFORM OF W.C.T.U

At a meeting of the W.C.T.U., held yesterday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A., Mrs. C. H. Shields gave an interesting report of the Provincial Convention of the W.C.T.U. held recently in Guelph.

The matter of prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to women was not broached, and it was stated this morning that such a plank is outside the platform of the W.C.T.U., who have so far gone only so far as to prevent the sale of cigarettes to minors.

Mrs. Shields has not made any previous report of the Provincial Convention on this subject, and the item in Tuesday's Examiner was based on reports originating in Sarnia and in Hamilton papers.

HYDRO MEETING IN CITY HALL

REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE DISTRICT ARE TAKING PART.

Representatives of Belleville, Trenton, Cobourg, Port Hope, and Peterborough met at the City Hall here this afternoon to discuss a local proposal that the Provincial Government be requested to transfer the properties of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission in the Trent Valley district to the municipalities that are interested and participating in this scheme.

In the resolution calling this assembly, it was suggested that the municipalities in Western Ontario own their power systems which are operated for them by the Commission, also that the Central Ontario system has been demonstrated to be desirable for the municipalities to acquire the ownership in the same manner as elsewhere.

It is the object of this movement to ask the Government to accept in payment for the Trent Valley system 40-year bonds of the Commission bearing four per cent. interest. It is the announced intention to discuss this whole scheme which if approved by the local municipalities, will be carried to the Government by a district delegation.

VETERANS WILL VOTE TO-NIGHT

G.W.V.A. MEMBERS TO EXPRESS OPINION OF POLITICS—ANNUAL ELECTIONS MONDAY.

Two important events in the history o fthe local branch of the Great War Veterans Association are at hand.

To-night the voting on the question of the G.W.V.A. entering politics as a body commences. The referendum will be conducted to-night; to-morrow night and Saturday afternoon and evening so that every member of the Association will have ample opportunity to register his opinion on this important subject. At the same time members will vote on the question of throwing the membership doors wide open to all men who enlisted in this war and to veterans of other wars. There is deep interest in both questions and a wide difference of opinion among the members. The vote promises to be large.

On Monday night the annual election of officers takes place. Nominations were held several weeks ago and there is a contest for every elective position with the chief interest centering in the race for president.

Four candidates were nominated for this office President H. J. Staunton, who filled thechief chair in the Association last year and who is completing the balance of ex-President Morrison's term this year and Comrades C. R. Ackerman, T. R. Cooper and R. H. Muir. Comrades Ackerman and Cooper are original firsts, the former going overseas with the 2nd Battalion and the latter with the 4th Battery C.F.A. while Comrade Muir also enlisted in 1914 going to France with the 21st Battalion, 2nd Division. All three were among the first members of the Peterboro branch.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The many friends of Mr. Melville Morrow, who met with an accident in the C.G.E. some days ago, that might have had a more tragic ending, will be pleased to learn that he has left the hospital and is recuperating before returning to work.

Dr. H. V. Anderson, specialist, of Toronto, was in the city in consultation with Dr. Moir regarding the condition of Mr. G. T. Stevens. Mr. Stevens' condition is unchanged.

AID FOR THE GOVERNMENT

(Special to the Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 27.—The needs of the University of Toronto have been placed before Premier Drury by President Sir Robt. Falconer. They are receiving the sympathetic consideration of the Government according to Premier Drury, Premier Drury and the University President were in conference for a considerable length of time and it is understood that Sir Robert left the Premier's offices sufficiently encouraged as to be sure of the University existence in so far as it depends on support from the present Government. The situation of the University to the extent that it needs attention from the government was laid before the premier and it is this: if the university is to retain its present commanding position in the educational world and to finish off the highest type of Canadian citizen, it must be given:

1. Increased salaries to the present staff.
2. A material increase is the size of the staff.
3. New buildnigs for academic purposes.

Winnipeg Set For Civic Elections

TO-MORROW WILL BE A MOMENTOUS DAY IN THE HISTORY OF THE WESTERN METROPOLIS—RADICAL-LABOUR OUT FOR THE CONTROL OF THE CITY COUNCIL.

THREE SEATS ASSURED

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 27.—To-morrow will be held the most interesting Civic Election in the history of Winnipeg, its roots going back to the general strike of last May and June, and the issue being whether radical-labor shall obtain control of the city government. Campaign managers declare that this fight is the most bitterly contested they have seen in a decade and that this feeling has aroused the voters to such an extent that there will be a 30,000 vote. Last year the ballots numbered 13,149 out of a total electorate of 55,063. This year the electorate has ben increased by about 2,500, a record by about 1,500. There are 118 sub-polling divisions as against 98 last year and nearly thirty additional officers have been assigned to count the ballots. This year, too, an increase in pay for deputy returning officers and poll clerks has been given, the rate therefor formerly being $12 per day and the latter $6.

Three Seats Assured.

With three seats assured at the last election, the Radicals are confident they can secure another five tomorrow and thus obtain a straight majority in council, which is now composed of the mayor and fourteen aldermen. Prior to last year there were four board of control members, all elected annually. Only one of these was usually a labor man, and he was very often criticised by the Radicals for failure to support direct action methods regarding the grievances of civic employees. For some years labor members of council have stated that their aim was to ultimately obtain a majority in council and last year, when council decided that civic employees must not allow their organization to affiliate with outside bodies, meaning the Trades and Labo Council, the labor men on the civic board declared it must come to a straight fight between them and the rest of the council for the right of the civic employees to organize and to affiliate with any organization they saw fit. It was this attitude which created interest in to-morrow's election long before nomination day and long before any mention of prospective candidates had been made. In their final meetings this week the labor men have made it clear that if they are elected the first thing they intend to do is to reinstate 150 or more employees who lost their jobs in the strike.

Nomination Day.

Prior to nomination day, on November 18, there were chances of several three-corned contest in at least four of the seven wards. Two members of the present council who were opposed by radicals withdrew from the fight when they were urged to do so by friends who believed they had a stronger opponent for radicalism. A third member of council did this, after much persuasion and a plethora of ward meetings which meetings were at times very boisterous. In all three cases the retiring candidates declared it to be solely with the object of limiting the chances of a "Red Labor" victory that they had consented so withdraw. Two withdrawals were made the last minute but one man declined to avoid a triangular fight. Mean while the labor candidates have stood together from the first round and are now confident of victory. They were chosen at a local labor convention several weeks before nomination day and from that time on declared they were out to secure by constitutional methods what they failed to gain by striking last May and June.

Active Workers.

From Mayor C. F. Gray to the last aldermanic candidate the burden of argument at election meetings has been around the strike. The first meeting Mayor Gray held was at Weston, where the C.P.R. shops are located. He went right into the men's dining hall and told them [illegible] like hell." From that time on he has been questioned and cross-questioned on his strike attitude. The mayor for personal reasons would probably not have run this year save that he wants his strike attitude vindicated. His opponent, too, is freely quizzed on this issue and declares he will reinstate every man that left the civic employee, also that the agreement which new employees must sign, to discountenance sympathetic strikes, will be immediately repealed. One of the labor candidates is an ex-policeman who failed to get his job back after the strike. He charges discrimination. A number of striking firemen who were refused reinstatement are active workers in the campaign because of alleged discrimination. On the other hand the Citizens Committee which combatted the strike is out behind the opponents of the reappeals, their argument being tha tif the labor men are elected it will mean another strike and the abscene of fire and police protection as a lever for trades unions to enforce demands in avenues other than civic.

There are no candidates in the campaign on the returned soldier ticket, neither have the veterans held any meetings to discuss civic affairs. They are more concerned just now, they say, with re-establishment plans and gratuities, and have held several meetings with their champion from the city to Ottawa, Major G. W. Andrews, M.P. Two of the radical-labor men, however, are overseas men.

For the first time in many years there are contests in all wards for school trustee honors. Labor has never been represented on the board and the radicals declare they will secure at least four seats.

Voters are also asked to endorse a municipal milk plan, but supporters of the municipal idea are not satisfied with the detail of the present plan and its passage is doubtful.

Next year adult suffrage will likely be in vogue here, which will increase the electorate from 50,000 to 85,000, it is expected.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PETERBORO

It's an old saying that there's nothing new in his world. Most of our latest inventors were used and patented with the Egyptians or Chinese way back in B.C. Mr. Asa Huycke has brought out something new, however, as an exception to the rule and he is still quite a young man, having not even passed the century mark. The opening chorus and several of the songs in the Y.M.C.A. minstrels are absolutely new and original, the credit for which is due [illegible] catchy song "The Referendum Blues" is one of these songs in singing [illegible] George Wesley makes [illegible] much he would like to ask Mr. Drury for permission to erect a Brewery. An Italian novelty song with accompanying dance will be introduced by two clever and nimble young ladies. This feature in itself is a sermon to young men who persist in being bashful over "popping the question". Come boys and see how the girls regard your bashfulness.

Knowing that a music loving populace will thoroughly appreciate this spectacle we can heartily recommend it to the music lovers of Peterboro.

Remaining,

Sincerely yours.

NO TRUTH IN THE REPORT

MR. F. E. RANEY IS NOT SEEKING A SEAT IN WEST PETERBORO.

(Special to the Examiner)

TORONTO, Nov. 27.—When asked if there was any truth in the report that he was seeking a seat in West Peterboro and that Mr. T. Tooms the present sitting member was to be given some appointment as compensation, Mr. F. E. Raney, K.C., attorney General, intimated to-day that there was no truth in it: "It's the first heard of it", he said.

PROMOTION FOR OLD PETERBORO RESIDENT

Among the older young men of Peterboro', that is, those who like to recall the days of ten or fifteen years ago when Peterboro', was not as large as it is now and when automobiles were a novelty and phonographs were all horn, there are no doubt a few who will remember Frank N. Simpson of the Royal Bank staff. It is just 12 years ago this month that Frank joined the "Royal" here, as junior or "swipe" 'when it was first opened.

To climb the ladder of success is not as easy as it may appear. Mr. Simpson has overcome all the difficulties and handicaps and for the past two years has held the managership of the "Royal" at Lynders in a highly satisfactory manner—in fact so satisfactory that when the Royal wanted to move him to a larger field a petition was circulated amongst the customers to have Mr. Simpson remain and was signed by nearly all.

This is a testimony to Mr. Simpson's business methods and the general ability. Not only has Mr. Simpson built up a good business at Lynders but has also opened up a branch at Capetown, which is now in a flourishing condition.

Mr. Simpson's presence was not only [illegible] business circles, but he was a faithful church worker and took a prominent part in the social life of the town.

Mr. Simpson states that he often thinks of his old friends in Peterboro and no doubt they often think of him and will be pleased to hear of the success he has met in his chosen vocation.

MISSIONARY TALK

Miss Bertha Robson, returned missionary from India, after about six ears there, was the guest of a little company at the home of Mrs. John Anderson, Stewart Street, last night.

The subject of the talk given by Miss Robson was on her work among the Bhil tribe, in Central India, one of the smallest of the aborigine tribes of India. Miss Robson dealt in a finished and simple and instructive style with the various characteritsics of this small body of natives—their home life, their industrial life, and their religious activities. They are, the speaker said, among the least-known people with whom our missionaries work. Miss Robson, with a medical missionary and his wife, and the few native Christians, have the oversight and welfare of the inhabitants of a radius of sixty square miles of territory, with much of it jungle and the wild animals therein.

The incidents, for close on an hour, which she recited to her hearers, went to show vividly how many obstacles stand in the way, what with rajahs of the surrounding provinces, and their policemen and inspectors, all crushing and grinding the little of this world's goods these honest natives possess—for they are a willing and industrious and honest people besides the nature of some of the surrounding tribes, and are easily led to do good or evil. Miss Robson concluded by saying how much room there is for help—financial and otherwise, and her request that she should like to take back to her work some one or more helpers among the Bhils, who are a loving people, notwithstanding their spirit worship, which is being gradually replaced by that of Christianity.

The talk was most interesting and very greatly enjoyed by the party of hearers.

Miss Robson is home on furlough, and left on the early morning train to-day for Ottawa, where she will spend a week with her old college chums. Miss Robson expects to return to her work in India about the month of September next.

A TENTATIVE COMPROMISE HAS BEEN REACHED—ITALIANS WILL MAKE "DIGNIFIED WITHDRAWAL.

The proposition includes a "dignified withdrawal" of D'Annunzio's forces according to the advices, which did not give further details.

METEOR PLUNGED INTO THE LAKE

(Canadian Press.)

DETROIT, Nov. 27. — That a meteor of tremendous size plunged into Lake Michigan last night causing earth tremors felt in a dozen Southern Michigan cities, and sending pillars of flames for hundreds of feet into the air, which was visible for a radius of more than 50 miles, was the theory generally accepted early today in explanation of the earth shock. From reports from various Michigan, Indiana and Illinois cities, where the blinding flare was visible, it appeared the centre of the disturbance was near the lower end of Lake Michigan.

Residents of Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, South Bend, Grand Haven and other western Michigan cities, fled from their homes in panic fearing an earthquake. The earth trembled half a moment, then came a deep prolonged rumbling as if of a terrific explosion.

MAN BROUGHT IN FROM THE NORTH

ROBERT MURDOCK WAS DESTITUTE AND STARVING NEAR KETCHECUM LAKE.

Almost destitute of clothing and practically starving Robert Murdock a man of about 40 years of age was brought in from Ketchecum Lake on Saturday by High Constable A. Moore. Hunters in the vicinity had noticed the pitiable condition of the man and upon investigation found him to be living in a roofless shack without means of heat. Had he not been found at the time he would without doubt have succumbed to starvation and to exposure. The asylum at Kingston was communicated with and it was learned that Murdock strayed from there on September the 16th., of this year and had been at large since that time.

Murdock claims to be a veteran of the South African war and that he received wounds in his head while on active service.

AN OLD STORY WITH LAKEFIELD SETTING

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 27.—A very amusing incident occurred in the Lakefield Public School on Tuesday, when one of the pupils gave an oral composition. He said:

"I'll take Stoney Lake for my subject. Stoney Lake is one of the prattiest lakes on the continent, and is largely used as a summer resort. The Americans like to come to Stoney Lake to fish. One day an American caught a large fish. It was so large that it upset the boat and threw the American into the water. The fish then attempted to swallow the American, and when he had him half down, it saw printed on his back 'We Won the War,' the fish could not swallow that, so he threw him up."

NOTICE

To War Veterans and Others:

Assuming that many of you desire to buy lots on which you can build homes for yourselves, I offer you most desirable building lots at low prices and easy terms. I can sell you lots on Dumble Avenue or Argyle street, size 66 ft. frontage by 208 feet deep, for $500.00, with easy terms of payment, say $10 down and $10 every two months. Interest 5%; for cash sales 5% discount.

These lots are just over the city limits, only township taxes, no city taxes. They lie immediately north of the hospital and are close to the street railway.

Go and see them or come to my office and see plan. There are in all over 50 lots, and a good group of soldiers could settle together. Yours truly,

INFLAMED GUMS— THE CAUSE OF TOOTH-BASE DECAY

Just as the strength of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so are healthy teeth dependent upon healthy gums.

Permit the gums to become inflamed or tender and you weaken the foundation of the teeth. This condition is called Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Loosening of teeth is a direct result. And spongy, receding gums invite painful tooth base decay. They set, too, as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) attacks four out of five people who are over forty. And many under that age, also. Its first symptom is tender gums. So you should look to your gums! Use Forhan's, which positively prevents Pyorrhea if used in time and used consistently. It also scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean. Brush your teeth with it.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

15 CANADIAN COMPANIES ASK OTTAWA PERMISSION TO IMPORT GERMAN DYES

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.—Fifteen companies, mostly textile firms, have applied to the Canadian Trade Commission here for German analine dye totalling an amount of about 8,000 pounds. Two firms are Toronto companies. In addition, correspondence has been received from a dozen other firms on the matter.

So far, however, the board has not secured any of the dyes from overseas ,and the condition under which they can be secured by the companies is somewhat severe. It must, for instance, be established that the firms cannot get them anywhere else, and that it is absolutely necessary to supply them. The firms which have applied represent that the substitutes made on this side of the Atlantic do not include certain dyes which they urgently need.

Tartar on Teeth

Shows That You Don't Clean Them—Note These Facts

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

This is to men and women who find that brushed teeth discolor and decay. Who find that tartar forms, or pyorrhea starts. You are not keeping teeth clean. You let a film remain and the damage is traced to it.

Dental science has found a way to end film. It is now embodied in a dainty tooth paste which millions are employing. We urge you to try it ten days at our cost and see the results for yourself.

That Film on Teeth
Can Now Be Ended in This Way

You can feel on your teeth a slimy film, ever-present, ever-forming. That film is the great tooth wrecker. Dental science now traces nearly all tooth troubles to it.

The film clings to the teeth, gets between the teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush does not end it. The ordinary dentifrice does not dissolve it. So millions find that teeth discolor and decay despite the daily brushing.

Why Teeth Discolor

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Dental science, after years of searching, has found a way to combat film. Many able authorities have proved its efficiency. For five years it has been subjected to every sort of clinical and laboratory test.

Now, for home use, it is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Leading dentists all over America are now urging its adoption. This week we offer a 10-Day Tube to anyone who asks. And we urge that someone in every home prove its unique effects.

Based on Pepsin

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. Dental science has now discovered a harmless activating method. And now everyone can fight the film with active pepsin constantly.

See What It Does

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Use like any tooth paste. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Watch the results and read the reason for them. Compare this new method with the old. Then adopt for yourself and have your children adopt the method which seems best. This is of lifetime importance to you. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

Look Now

That film, to some extent, clouds nearly every set of teeth. And most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

Look in Ten Days

See how the teeth whiten—how they glisten—as the fixed film disappears. Then you will know there is a way to cleaner, safer teeth.

CABINET CHANGES IN OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.—With the return to Ottawa this week of Sir Robert Borden, the suspended animation which since the session has prevailed in political affairs is expected to disappear. Problems awaiting consideration are somewhat numerous and pressing. The Grand Trunk agreement furnishing the basis of arbitration, is to be gone over, and after approval by the shareholders of the company, both sides will select their arbitrators and the process of validation will begin.

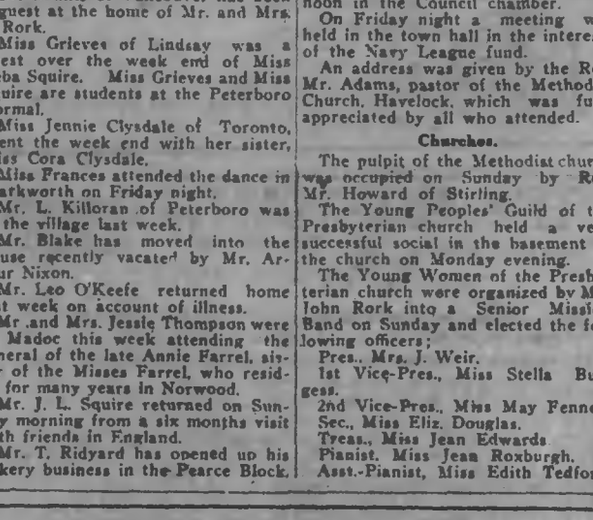
With the coming towards the end of the weeek of Viscount Jellicoe the naval question will once more rise as an issue calling for decision. Conditions are very greatly changed since the subject was last before Parliament, and while the supremacy of the British navy is conceded paramount, Canada's part in the matter of naval defence, is likely to be on lines entirely different from the Borden policy of 1913. The final decision as to its form may, very probably, wait next summer's constitutional conference to determine the status of all the overseas Dominions, though an earlier determination of the matter is by no means impossible with a Canadian navy under centralized authority more in favor now than before. A consideration which will loom large are the financial conditions of the country and the increasing prominence of elements which may be opposed to any heavy outlays for naval purposes. In the next few weeks the Ministers will discuss with Viscount Jellicoe different aspects of the question and seek his council as to what policy is best to pursue. It is an open question as to just when this advice will be acted upon.

A permanent shipbuilding policy has to be devised and, as intimated, it is more likely to take the form of financial assistance to those who build in Canada than continuing the existing system of State construction and ownership of ships.

With the Imperial proclamation of peace, expected next week, and the war thus officially ended to all intents and purposes, the question of the Canadian War Measures will come up. Technically they could be prolonged till there is official peace with Bulgaria and Turkey, but it will be for the Government to decide which construction is to be placed on the question—the broader one, that peace is final and official now, or the more restricted one that this will not be until the least of the faraway belligerents is signed up.

Cabinet Changes.

Incidentally, some further reconstruction of the Cabinet is overdue, and this will occupy the attention of the Premier soon after his return. A new minister from British Columbia to succeed Hon. Martin Burrill has been foreshadowed officially. The Ontario representation may be shaken up a bit, and the candle still is in the window as regards representation from Quebec. Another bye-election takes place the week after next in North Ontario, and others will occur later in Timiskaming and Kamouraska. The session is not expected before the end of January or later if the new buildings cannot be got in readiness for partial occupation by that date.—Toronto Telegram.



THE FLAG OF DEATH.

Across the cold, gray steppes there creeps
A stain, like fire, along the sky,
Where the frozen twilight hush
Far glows the blood-red flag on high.

A torch! It lights with lurid glare
An empire wasted, spoiled, and dead—
A land of graves and strange, mad dreams,
And blackened homes whence life has fled.

What though the will made served a throne,
And slew the sons of peace and toil
In crying winds they starve and die,
The young and strong, the sick and old.

For when the fearful Piper called,
The peaceful toilers stormed the plain,
And tore great, shining cities down,
And wrecked the fields of yellow grain.

Though now pale wraiths of children weep,
The morning brings no task, nor sound;
For none but ghostly workmen make
The broken, idle wheels go round.

Yet there in waste of woe and blood,
Where Hunger stills the feeble breath,
That flaming symbol hangs unveiled,
A nation's shroud, the flag of death.

RESOLUTIONS.

The Farmers' Sun editorially this week invites the people of Ontario to bombard the Drury Cabinet with resolutions. "Boards of Trade, Labour Councils, agricultural societies, workmen's meetings, school boards, debating societies—all gatherings where public interests come into consideration must if progress is to be made just now, be on the alert to discover public needs and to ascertain if possible the best means of meeting those needs. Let every such board see to it that its formulated opinion finds its way to the Legislative Assembly" says the official organ of the Farmers. The idea the Sun has in mind is an excellent one but it need have no worry about a lack of resolutions. We have in Ontario a multiplicity of organizations whose distinguishing feature seems to be a facility for passing resolutions on practically every subject under the sun. The trouble will not be in a scarcity of resolutions but rather in an overdose of half-baked, little considered motions in such numbers that the Drury Cabinet, expert agriculturalists as they are, may not be able to distinguish the wheat from the chaff. What is needed to carry out the Sun's plan effectually is a better consideration of the problems of the day by the many organizations in Ontario—not so many resolutions but more constructive ones—not so much fault finding, but more helpful suggestions. Undoubtedly if such organizations made a systematic attempt to view the questions of the hour from all angles and after doing so formulated their opinion in resolution form their collective findings would be of great value and assistance. But the habit of blindly voting for motion after motion, often voiced by hot-headed extremists renders some of our organizations ineffective as counsellors to those in authority.

THE WINNIPEG ELECTION.

Probably there has never been as much interest in any municipal campaign in Canada as is being shown in the Winnipeg civic elections, which takes place to-morrow. Every town and city in the Dominion will await the verdict with eagerness for the biggest issue in the contest hinges upon the question of the right of civic employees to organize and affiliate with other unions. The Labour candidates who are in the field, have left no doubt of their intention, in the event of being elected, of reinstating the city's employees who lost their positions as the result of their participation in the general strike last summer. The candidates who oppose them take the stand that the servants of the public, firemen, policemen, waterworks employees, etc., cannot be allowed to become affiliated with an outside organization such as the Trades and Labour Council, an affiliation that might require them at any time to take part in a general strike and demoralise the public utilities. The right of civic employees to organise among themselves for purposes of collective bargaining is not in dispute—but there is a very strong and reasonable objection to a policy that would cause a repetition of the trouble through which Winnipeg passed in May and June last. A large section of the public protests against being called upon to suffer because the employers and employees in any particular line of industry cannot come to an agreement. And the affiliation of the civic employees with the Trades and Labour Council might easily result in the firemen and policemen being summoned out on strike to assist in winning a strike for any particular union that may happen to have a dispute on its hands.

The issue in the Winnipeg election is clean cut and distinct — the result whatever it may be will have its effect in all the cities of Canada.

A MATTER OF BUSINESS

If municipal questions were viewed in their proper light, as a simple matter of business, there would be a much better prospect of securing an efficient civic administration. It is in the hope of interesting the people of Peterboro in this aspect of the situation that the Examiner has been devoting considerable space to a discussion of municipal politics—a discussion that it is proposed to continue during the next few weeks even at the risk of being accused of boring our readers with a repetition of arguments.

The Examiner agrees with Dr. Horace L. Brittain that if municipal councils are not as efficient as they should be, the fault may be laid at the doors of the rate payers especially those who refuse to use their franchise.

The annual elections of a municipality can be likened to the annual meeting of a business concern. The mayor, aldermen, commissioners, and Board of Education are the directors, the citizens are the shareholders. In a private business the shareholders endeavor to elect directors who will develop the business, and produce results in the form of dividends; is there any logical reason why the selection of a civic board of directors should not be made along the same lines? This Peterboro of ours is a big concern with a $20,000,000 dollar capitilization and a working fund running into millions. It is a concern in which there are 21,000 shareholders, a concern which should look after our health, our material prospects, give us good roads and pavements, water and sewer service, supply us with light and power, take care of all the different and important departments that make a municipality. There should be no place in the management of such a concern for men who are inefficient, who have not the ability to grapple with business details. We would not accept such men for a private business of much smaller dimensions and importance, why then should we be satisfied to hand over the handling of our public affairs to them?

In Peterboro we have citizens in in various walks of life who are qualified to hold positions in our city boards of management, because they have the intelligence and ability to properly look after the city's business. No matter what organization they may happen to be members of, these are the men who should be induced to become candidates, and who should receive the support of the electors.

Every candidate who offers himself at the coming election must be viewed from the standpoint of fitness for the position for which he is an aspirant. Surely there is nothing unfair about such a test.

CITY AND COUNTRY IN POLITICS.

Ontario is about half urban and about one-half rural, and eventually must be governed by a sort of agreement or compromise, of which the best basis is fair play. The point of view is different. Difference does not necessarily mean conflict. Every man feels that he needs what both kinds of life can give. The city-bred man craves the quiet and wide spaces of the country, and dreams of ending his days on a farm, perhaps the old homestead that his grandfather carved out of the wilderness. The farmer sometimes finds his life lonely and monotonous, and would say with Milton,

Towered cities please us then
And the busy hum of men.

In the cities the conflict of labor and capital is acute, because there the extremes of wealth and poverty meet, and the great employer is lord over the lives of thousands of men and women. The tendency is toward arrogance or condescension on one side, and a rebellious spirit on the other. Country life does not show the same sharp contrasts. The farmer is usually both employer and worker, and has some of the interests of both labour and capital. His interest as a worker is perhaps the stronger, for most of what he owns comes from his own labor and that of his ancestors and his children. It is, therefore, fitting that his political association, as represented in the Drury cabinet, is with urban workers. Each will, we hope, learn the other's point of view.

When Canada was mainly a rural country, or one depending upon natural industries, the protectionists warned us against becoming hewers of wood and drawers of water for the United States, and said that we could escape that fate only by building up great urban and industrial centres. They had their way. We got the urban and industrial centres, with whatever good and evil they embodied. The extremes of poverty and wealth caused discontent. Discontent has voiced itself in propaganda that is called Socialist and in its most radical forms Bolshevist. It is the natural outcome of the centralization that goes with modern industry. To a certain extent this is inevitable. Cities and industrial centres we must have. But in the unrest that alarms the propertied classes of the cities and towns today, there is a warning against the artificial stimulation of such centres by protective tariffs and other means. The cities and towns will grow fast enough without forcing.

Some city men express alarm or indignation over the prospect of being ruled by farmers. Class rule of any kind is objectionable, and we should be sorry to see the farmers abusing their power. But up to this time city and town influence has been paramount. It brought about the triumph of protection in 1878. As proposed by ir John Macdonald protection was to be a means of bringing about reciprocity with the United States. But when reciprocity was offered by the United States in 1911, a city-made agitation in Canada brought about its rejection. The agreement related mainly to natural products, and included only a small list of manufactures; but the manufacturers scented danger, and threw their whole weight against reciprocity. Banks and big business went the same way. True, many farmers were misled by the loyalty cry and by other means, but the impulse came from the cities, from the manufacturers and from big business.

The cities having had their way so long, should accept with good grace the increased political influence of the farming community. We hope that that influence will be used not for a class, but for the general good. —Farmers' Sun.

THE CITY MANAGER PLAN

While the members of the Canadian Club of Montreal were applauding an address in favour of a Commission form of Government and a civic manager the City Council was overthrowing a motion for the temporary suspension of the functions of the Council while the Civic Administration still remained in office. Meanwhile the Civic Commission will continue in office for two years more, sharing to some extent the powers of civic government with the City Council.

The address in support of the City Manager plan was delivered by Clinton Rogers Woodruff, secretary of the National Municipal League of Philadelphia, who declared that this form of municipal government was in force in 125 cities of the United States, and not one of those who had adopted it had given it up. He believed it was certain to spread to a large number of others. In association with the city manager would be an elective commission of five or seven men as legislators whose will would be carried out by an efficient manager. Germany had secured a certain efficiency in municipal government, but not democratic government of the municipality. The work of the city manager in association with an elective administration was a very remarkable contribution towards the development of municipal democracy. The managers were chosen because they had demonstrated their efficiency and ability to carry on municipal affairs. There had always been a recognition of specialisation in the professions, why not in the highly important matter of governing the lives and welfare of the citizens? Now men were being developed who were as secure in their tenure of this municipal profession as a doctor or a lawyer in his profession. Such a system ensured permanency, and gave the manager a chance to work out the important social and other problems of the city's life.

"Municipal efficiency is not new, but municipal efficiency under a democracy is new. There is no reason why these should not be synonymous. There is a difference between the city running the citizens and the citizens the city. This latter is the very essence of democracy. There is no doubt that the Germans results in municipal administration exceeded those in America. But who wants a good government imposed from above or from without? In that book of his on "What Happened in Europe," Frank Vanderlip, in dealing with America's opportunity—and he meant Canada's as well—declared that never before was there such a necessity for sound citizenship. If war demands self-sacrificing co-operation, peace demands it equally. It is not, What can the Government do for me, but What can I do for the Government?"

Thanks to the prompt action of the United States Government, Mr. Woodruff declared, in the recent Federal coal strike, the danger had been averted. But the feeling that gave rise to the strike still existed, and unless the situations were met in a very different way the condition would be very serious. There must be a recognition of community life. There must be new standards created of comfort and general living. There must be a working co-operation of all parties; the people must be worked into the warp and woof of citizenship. There would be no satisfactory solution unless men, women, and children were inspired with the feelnig that they were all a part of the Government. "Speak not of your rights; think of your duties."—Financial Post.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. SOLDIER FARMERS DRAG AROUND $50,000,000 IN MORTGAGES

FARMS, STOCK AND IMPLEMENTS BOUGHT AT WAR PRICES — WHEN THESE FIGURES FALL HOLDINGS AND FITTINGS WILL NOT BE WORTH MORTGAGE.

OTTAWA.—When the usual wild howl of disgust goes up from this seat of Government over what has been done for the soldier, the land settlement scheme of which th t eminent farmer, Hon. Arthur Meighen, is the presidin_ genius, is generally featured as the crowning blessing. And there is no lack of figures to prove that the infant industry that turns herces into farmers is growing into a most promising child. The records show that 15,209 of the men whom Canada delights to honor, and who have decided that the life of the farmer is a happy one, have been headed for the spring plowing. The otal cost of all this, exclusive of office expenses and other etceteras, igure up to $49,041,584, or, in round figures, fifty million dollars. This amount has been lent to the boys in chunks, running up to as high as $7,500. Only conditions are that the hero must provide $500 of his own money, and possess those requirements that make for a successful tiller of the soil.

Making Farmers.

In brief, the process looks something like this: The returned soldier puts in a fair proportion of young manhood, five hundred dollars in cash, and an ambition to become one of the yeomanry of our country. The Government takes the $500, buys a farm and presents it to him decorated with a mortgage that runs to about nine-tenths of its value. If he needs stock or implements, a benevolent Government also buys them for him. But every horse he drives pulls around a mortgage in addition to the plow; every cow carries a mortgage as she calmly chews her cud; and if the $500 contributed by the hero all goes into buying the farm, it looks as if the cows, horses and implements must be mortgaged to at least 100 per cent. of their value. And the words "at least 100 per cent," are used advisedly. For farm horses, cows and implements are all purchased at war prices. Now nobody pretends that wheat will always float over two dollars per bushel; nobody believes that live stock will continue at the present high ... el prices; and everybody hopes that even manufacturers of farm implements will some day relent and sell their wares at lower prices.

When the Prices Fall.

When the prices fall, what happens? The stock and implements are not worth the mortgage. The farm, too, must be worth rather more when prices are in the air, than they will be when a hungry world has been partially fed. Isn't there a good chance then, that when the hero-farmer has toiled for a few years that he will find that the natural shrinkage in prices will have eaten up not only his equity in the farm, but the fruits of his labors up to the time of reckoning?

But it is a grand little work, this beating of soldiers into ploughmen. It raises shouts of enthusiasm from every employe of the Soldiers' Settlement Department. It is re-echoed with acclaim by every spender of the Union Government's borrowed millions. But you search in vain for a practical farmer who believes that it can result in other than failure closely allied to disaster. Wiping a normal mortgage off a farm is the work of alifetime for an experienced farmer. How long, then, will it take an in experienced soldier to wipe off an abnormal mortgage off a farm andequipment bought at wartime prices? That question is harder to answer than the time-honored problem: "How old is Ann?"

Of course the department will tell you that the embryo farmers are carefully selected and specially trained. And no doubt some of them are sons of farmers who have learned the bucolic profession from the ground up. But not too many. Boys brought up on the farm can figure other and easier ways of achieveing greatness than helping pile up the interest on a series of farm mortgages. The great majority must necessarily be of the class who have always envied the wild, free life of the farmer, suppemented by members of another class who are always ready to start anything provided they can borrow the money to do it with.

"But they're adding to production," shout the enthusiastic employes, "and we must produce to pay the war debts." And again the question is: "Are they?" For be it remembered most of these amateur farmers do not settle on unbroken lands. They go out among the farmers of say old Ontario, choose farms to their liking, and this benevolent Government buys them. Thus an old experienced farmer goes off the farm to make ..ay for a younger and less experienced, if more enthusiastic worker. Does that make for greater production? Of course it is admitted that the new agriecturist has been examined by experts as to his fitness for a pastoral life. Even if he lacked previous experience, he has been given something akin to a correspondence course in agriculture. But while the theory of farming reads well, its practice largely consists of hard days' work. When the new series of farmers discover that they are drilling daily to pay interest or mortgages that loom larger as the years advance, they will probably thank the Lord that the penalty for desertion from a farm is not as severe as was the penalty of deserting from the ranks.

And the outlook for the not too distant future is the Government will find itself with enough vacant farm lands on its hands to subsidize another railway. Which after all, is the chief end of Canadian Governments.—Toronto Telegram.

HOME-GROWN BLOOM FOR WINTER COLOUR

A FEW WORDS OF ADVICE ON FORCING BULBS IN THE HOUSE.

Bulbs when properly forced make splendid house plants and come into bloom during two of the Winter months which most need the brightening effects of their rich colors. "Bulbs" is a general term which includes Narcissi, Early Tulips and the more recent Darwin Tulips noted for their elegance of form and range of rich colors.

After the bulbs have been potted the next essential is to induce an abundance of root growth as quickly as possible. The proper root development will determine the subsequent size, vigor and lasting qualities of the flowers. Explicit advice in this connection is, first, choose as the storage place for the pots the coolest, darkest and dampest part of the cellar—or the vegetable storage room is very suitable. Second, provide a condition which approximates as nearly as possible the condition they would have if planted in the ground outside. One thorough watering at the time of potting may be sufficient, but in most cases it is not, therefore water regularly as often as the top soil shows signs of dryness. Another method is to plunge the pots into damp sand and keep the sand moist. Provided the place is not too cold, or they are not kept exceptionally wet, rooting will proceed satisfactorily, and towards the end of December the roots should begin to fill the pots. Third, after two months or ten weeks has elapsed bring the pots into a lighter place and water even more regularly and frequently. Allow them to make about three inches of growth and the growth to change to a good color, then bring some of the pots into the full light and warmth. Very rapid and healthy growth should soon result.

A few words of advice as to what not to do. First, do not on any occasion place the pots too near the furnace or near the hot air outlets; dry, warm air is disastrous to healthy plant growth. It drys out the soil and hardens the roots; it stunts the foliage and shrivels up the blossoms. Second, do not over-water at any period; the soil should be kept always moist but never soggy and cold, and do not allow the pots to stand in pans of water. Third, do not allow the plants to experience too violent temperature changes. At the time of rooting the temperature may range from 35 to 45 degrees and after the plants are brought into the light it should range from 50 to 70 degrees. Higher temperatures during the day, due to combined furnace and sun heat, may not hurt the plants, but they are apt to be materially injured if forced to experience several hours of dry, high temperature during the evening when they should enjoy the resting period, always provided for them under natural conditions.

Flowers with little or no stem and plants with a stunted growth are due to improper forcing methods. Bulbs appreciate the sunshine and when in the flowering stage also respond to and should have abundance of water.

One more case of small pox has been reported in the city to Dr. A. W. McPherson, M.O.H., making a total of eight cases in the city so far reported. FORMER RESIDENT DIED IN ENGLAND

THE DECEASED WAS AN UNCLE OF DR. E. A. HAMMOND OF THIS CITY

Councillor Herbert Arthur Hammond, a brothre of the late John Edward Hammond, of this city, and an uncle of Dr. E. A. Hammond, Brock street, died at his residence, "Ashley," Workingham, Berks, England, on October the 31st.

The late Mr. Hammond, was a resident of the city for some time, and was a typical English gentleman While in the city he attended St. John's church, at the time the late J. W. R. Beck, was Rector of the Church, and was keenly interested in all church work, serving for some time as a lay reader and as a church warden. Referring to the death of Mr. Hammond, the Berkshire Gazette says: "Though a tall, finely built man he was of a modest and unobtrusive disposition. He won the esteem and affection of all who came within his sphere of influence. His name was freely mentioned recently in conection with the mayoralty for the coming year. He was also one of the special constables who were appointed during the war."

"The funeral took place at All Saints on Tuesday last when a large number of people assembled to pay this tribute of respect to one whom they had known and esteemed so long. The cortege left the house, preceded b ythe Cross, and as the cortege passed down the street the blinds on the market place and street were drawn. Most of the prominent men of the town were present as well as a large number whose work lies within the orbit of the public eye, who nevertheless felt that sympathy and respect which is inspired by worth, character and useful service.'

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—"Bill" Carlisle, western bandit, has rivals in the east.

Four thirsty robbers with regulation masks and revolvers, drove two 10-ton automobile trucks on to the Old Dominion line pier late Friday night and, after herding three watchmen into an ice house, loaded the trucks with cases of wiskey until they towered like a untains and then opened the throttle.

It was not until several minutes later that one of the watchmen escaped from the ice house and notified the police.

They had loaded on to the trucks 500 cases of bonded goods and six barrels of whiskey.

Down the pier was more "loose" whisky, leaking from cases which had been dropped by the robbers in their haste.

"The "Flu" Coming Back Are You Prepared?"

"HERE is an article about the "Flu." It says that the general opinion among physicians is that it will return this winter,"

"Have they found a cure?"

"No. It seems that at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association, papers were read by physicians who could speak from authority on this subject. There was such a diversity of opinion on the effects of vaccination and innoculation, that these methods cannot be considered a success."

"What is a person to do then?"

"Well, statistics show that about three persons out of four are immune to the "Flu" germs. Investigations of a large number of cases makes it clear that this immunity from attack is due to the healthful condition of the system."

"In some districts 24 persons out of 1000 developed pneumonia from the "Flu." The germs of these ailments seem to thrive under similar conditions. If you are tired out and run down you are an easy prey to pneumonia germs, and the same applies to the "Flu" and other germ diseases. The thing to do is to keep fit."

"In what way?"

"By living according to the best hygienic laws, giving attention to diet and exercise and keeping the blood pure and rich, for, after all, pure rich blood is the greatest of germicides."

"When your digestive system fails to keep the blood rich there is nothing that will help you so much as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This treatment is composed of the elements which nature provides for the building up of the red blood corpuscles. By its use you are enabled to get your vitality up to high water mark and to keep it there. For this reason it is a wonderful help in the fight against all germs which threaten the human system."

NO RELIEF UNTIL FEBRUARY, THEY DECLARE, DENYING REPORTS OF HOARDING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Sugar is scarcer in New York at the present time than at any period during the war and there is no probability of any real relief until the first of February.

Refiners, wholesalers and manufacturers are united in making this declaration. Already it is next to an impossibility for them to obtain sugar in even wartime quantities, they say. In answer to the question. Where is the sugar supply? the refiners and wholesalers declare that it simply doesn't exist, and they dispose of the question of the possibility of hoarding by declaring that a search of the city's warehouses would fail to reveal even a top of hoarded sugar.

All that can be done, in the opinion of the merchants, is to mark time until the new Cuban crop begins to arrive, and in the meanwhile cut out sugar rations to the lowest possible limit. Decreased consumption of sugar, candy, pastry and other foods in the preparation of which quantities of sugar are necessary, will help out the situation if the public co-operates and will aid in making the present meagre supply bridge the gap between now and the arrival of the Cuban crop.

May Lay Off 1,000 Workers.

An official of one of the largest candy manufacturing companies of the city said that his firm had not yet received its allotment of sugar for the period ending November 15. At present this firm is not receiving a single pound and with work almost suspended he declared that it would be necessary in the near future to lay off one thousand employes.

TAXES ARE HEAVY IN ENGLISH TOWNS

AUSTRIA IS BANKRUPT AND GERMAN FACTORIES ALMOST AT STANDSTILL.

NEW YORK—Sir Joseph Duveen, head of the firm of Duveen Brothers, on Fifth Avenue, returned on the Adriatic from a three months' business trip to Europe, accompanied by Lady Duveen and his secretary, H. W. Morgan.

"Living conditions in Austria and Germany are very bad, indeed, and no matter how much the Germans may bluff in the newspapers, at home they are down and out," said Mr. Duveen. "I base my opinions after traveling all over those two countries. The people themselves have nothing to say, and the victory could not have been any worse for Germany if the Allies had marched to Berlin and sacrificed another 200,000 lives. The factories are almost at a standstill, and it will take Germany many years to recover her trade and commercial prosperity even if she starts now, which is not likely. Austria is bankrupt, and the condition of her people is pathetic."

Europe Needs Locomotives.

W. H. Woodin, President of the American Car and Foundry Company, and a Director of the American Locomotive Company, returned on the Adriatic from a two months' business trip to England, Belgium, Holland and France.

"There is a great need for locomotives in Europe," Mr. Woodin said, 'and also for cars to replace the rolling stock destroyed during the war. France and Belgium want $500,000,000 worth of railroad stock right now, and supplying them is merely a matter of credit and rates of exchange. The United States Government should step in and carry out the task of financing Europe regardless of what any of the other powers have to say on the matter. We have ten billions of dollars invested in Europe already, and will require two and a half billions more to carry Europe over until the nations are ready to look after themselves.

Heavy Taxes.

Arthur J. Stanley, a London lawyer, who arrived on his way to Australia, said that the taxes in some of the towns in England were so heavy that the inhabitants could not pay them and had to move away. As an illustration he said that Mexborough, in South Yorkshire, of 18,000 inhabitants who are chiefly employed in factories, has a tax rate of 18 shillings and 8 pence in the pound, and a water rate to be added of another 1 shilling and 3 pence in the pound. The total sum is 19 shillings and 11 pence in the pound, which would be similar to a tax in New York of $4.98 on every $5 income. This excessive taxation, which leaves the people of Mexborough just 2 cents a year to live upon if they paid up to the Government, is due to the municipal trading of the Urban District Council. The members operate the gas, electricity, water, telephone and tramway system, and the only thing that pays its working expenses is the cemetery.

That is not due, however, to the inteiligence of the Urban District Council, but to a prevailing epidemic of influenza which is steadily removing the population. Mr. Stanley added that there were towns in England where the taxes were more than 10 shillings in the pound, $2.50 on every $5, and they were increasing all the time to the great alarm of the population.

WILL QUIT IF G.W.V.A. DECIDES TO ENTER POLITICS

DOMINION SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT DECLARES HIS POSITION ON THE QUESTION.

TORONTO—"As long as the boys demand political action ofr the G.W.V.A. I shall work for their interests, but if the association enters politics I'm through with it," was the summing up of Second Vice-President Sam Stalford, of the Dominion G.W.V.A., on the movement gaining force in the association.

"If we go in for politics we shall aim to be the strongest party, but would a soldier government be democracy?" he asked.

The Dominion Command will await the verdicts of the provinces before calling a convention," Mr. Stalford explained, "but outside of Toronto there is no outstanding effort for the G.W.V.A. to become political.

"Probably the annual convention of 1920 will be held earlier in the year. I doubt if we shall get one in this year, because we are awaiting the consensus of opinion from other parts."

Strangely, the officials of the Ontario Provincial Command claim to be depending on the Dominion Command for their decision on the necessity of calling an Ontario convention.

The G.W.V.A. constitution can neither be amended nor repealed without a convention, authorities say, but there is a possibility of a joint conference between representatives of the provincial executives and the Dominion Command.

COMPETITION OF JITNEYS STOPS STREET CAR SERVICE.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Nov. 26.—The trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway ceased operation of street cars in this city with the completion of regular runs tonight. The action is due to the competition of the jitneys.

The trustees some time ago gave notice that because their lines here were being operated at a loss, they would discontinue service on the 26th of November (to-day), unless jitney competition were eliminated.

The City Council revoked all jitney licenses yesterday, but no attempt was made to interefre with the running of the jitneys to-day, the drivers charging no fare, but accepting whatever passengers were willing to pay.

Large hats seem to be gaining in favor.

The Refinement of Purity

CAREFUL cooks know the value of purity. In the making of cakes or pastry they use those ingredients which they believe to be pure and wholesome.

To apply this "insistence on purity" to sugar, is no easy matter—for nearly all sugars look alike to those not expert in detecting variation. The safe course is to use a sugar that comes from refineries in which purity is a boast.

In the Dominion Sugar refineries the boast is backed by a standing invitation to the public to visit and inspect the plants in which Dominion Crystal Sugar is made.

In Dominion Crystal Sugar the housewives of Canada have one sugar that can be depended upon for that Purity which is so essential to successful culinary effort.

This is the only sugar that may be rightly termed "Canadian from the ground up." We do import the finest raw cane sugar and refine it—but our pride is in the product we make from Canadian sugar beets.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE DEAD AS HE DREAMS OF "BLACK HAND"

NEW YORK Nov. 27.—Dreaming that members of the "black hand" were kidnapping his three-year-old daughter from the room in which he and his wife were sleeping, James Sapienza, wealthy manufacturer of concrete blocks in Irvington, a suburb of Newark, N.J., reached under his pillow early, grasped a revolver he had there, and fired at two supposed intruders.

When the crash of the bullet aroused him from his nightmare, he found he had killed his wife.

This explanation was so well received by the Essex county authorities that Mr. Sapienza was released under $10,000 bail, which he furnished himself.

Jumping out of bed in consternation over what he had done, the manufacturer pounded on the floor until his wife's brother-in-law, Samello Russo, who slept in the room below, rushed upstairs and discovered his plight. He summoned a physician, who found that Mrs. Sapienza had died a few seconds after a bullet had entered her brain, piercing her skull behind the left ear.

The Irvington police took Sapienza in custody on a charge of murder, while continuing the investigation of the "black hand" letters, which he has reported from time to time as having received, the last one having been on November 18. The letters threatened harm to his wife or three children if he failed to hand over large sums of money.

He was taken to the Essex County Jail in Newark, where he described his nightmare to Lieutenant Walter Godfrey, related the story to Judge Harrison, county prosecutor Mr. Godfrey releated the story to Judge Harry V. Osborne, of the Court of Commons Pleas, who fixed the bail, and accepted deeds for $20,000 worth of Irvington real estate from Sapienza as securiey.

Sapienza said he dreamed he saw two men coming through a window, and that they were taking his little child from the bed." Lieutenant Godfrey said. "He said he dreamed he reached under his pillow for a revolver he had placed there when the 'black hand' letters first came. Then he was awakened suddenly by the sound of a shot. He found his revolver in his hand, and it was smoking.

"His wife rose in bed," he said, "and cried:—'Jimmy, Jimmy!' then she sank back—dead. I am convinced he is telling the truth, from the way the bullet seems to have passed through the pillow."

Louis A. Fast, counsel for Sapienza and neighbors of he family recalled the apparent happiness of their ten years of married life. The slain woman was thirty-two years old, her husband is thirty-five. He is the proprietor of the National Concrete Block Company, adjoining his home at No. 180 Coit street, Irvington.

ACCUSED OF SELLING HAIR TONIC ALCOHOL TO MAKE WHISKEY

MANUFACTURERS WHO PURCHASED SPIRITS ON SPECIAL PERMITS RESOLD IT, IT IS CHARGED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Five men who are engaged in the manufacture of hair tonic and dandruff cures were arrested by Internal Revenue agents charged with violating the Volstead law. They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Samuel M. Hitchcock, and held for examination next Friday.

Four of the men, according to the federal agents, are connected with a company which manufactures dandruff cures. The concern has a factory in Prince street and an office in upper Broadway. Books of the company were sized after search warrants had been served, according to Robert A. Peattie, Assistant District Attorney.

Quantities of alcohol purchased by druggists and others engaged in the patent medicine industry who have permits which allow them to purchase it has been used as the basis for the dangerous socalled whiskey now being served through underground channels, Mr. Peattie said. The federal officials are trying to run down all such offenders.

Four of the men arrested described themselves as Giovanni Rubino, and Giuseppe Rubino, of No. 287 Bleecker street; Charles De Angilo, who said he lived in Harlem, and Louis Lipari. They are charged with having sold two barrels of alcohol obtained on medical permits for hair tonic purposes to a dealer in New ark, N.J.

The other defendant said he was Enrico Maresca, of No. 457 Clinton street, Brooklyn, connected with another firm which makes hair tonic. The two Rubinos were held in $7,500 bail each and the other defendants in $1,000 bail each.

To Grow Hair On Bald Heads

Specialist Gives Simple Recipe That Works Fine

Thousands of people suffer from baldness, and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless, the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair, to its original color stopping hair from falling out, and destroying hair fro mfalling outhdrl l stroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces, Lavena de Composee, 2 ounces, Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Ladies using this prescription should be careful not to get it on the face or where hair is not desired.

HINDENBURG MAKES TRIUMPHAL JOURNEY.

BERLIN—Hindenburg had a triumphal journey home from Berlin to Hanover. At Brunswick, en route, he was greeted by great cheering and a song-singing crowd, and reports say the Field Marshal was greatly impressed. When he arrived at Hanover there was a tremendous demonstration of welcome and "Deutschland Ueber Alles" was, as usual sung.

Hindenburg went to his residence, and the crowd followed. Again "Deutschland Ueber Alles" was sung. When he appeared at the door after much cheering the Field Marshal declared it had not been an easy thing for him to go to Berlin, but he had to admit that though the journey had been trying it had also been inspiring. He discovered with great pleasure, he went on, that the nationalist spirit was rising again. He came back, therefore, much more cheerful than he went away.

BOWLING AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Bowling was keen at the Y.M.C.A. last night, when the Lawn Bowlers dealt the Centrals their first defeat in three intensely interesting games. Everett, Pratt and Maynoord starred for the winners, while Walton, Oke and Measlip made high scores for the Centrals. These games were looked forward to with considerable interest as the teams were first and second in the standing, and last night's result placed Everett's team in first place along with the Centrals, each having now lost three games. Bert Everett topped his high score of last week by one pin, getting 310 in the first game. The feature of the match was the large number of high scores made, nine men getting well over 200. The second game resulted in the highest total ever made on the Y.M.C.A. alleys, and in this game the Centrals piled up enough pins to win any game yet played, but the Lawn Bowlers got 8 pins more and won out. The return match between these teams is sure to be a real big event. The other teams are all scrappy and will not concede the lead to others without a real battle. Summary of the big night:

THE FINAL DISTRIBUTION OF THE LOCAL GOLF HONOURS

(Contributed.)

For the first time in the history of the local club, two of the much sought trophies have been captured by the one competitor. It remained for Bob Hamilton, one of the youngest and most promising players turned out locally for some time, to do the trick.

In the main event, open championship, goal of all golfers, he met Mr. A. Mowat, title holder for past two years. Although Bob was 4 down at the 17th hole, he stuck pluckily to his worthy rival, who had had the experience of many hard 36 hole grinds in past finals, gradually pulling up on even terms and eventually winning after a royal battle on the 32nd hole.

In the R. R. Hall match handicap final, Bob met another hard battler and former title holder, Mr. A. H. Stratton. It was another Vimy Ridge affair, but Sir Robert showed what British soldiers are noted for (he served three years in France) finally disposing of his staunch opponent.

In the meantime his still younger brother (there are no less than five of them, all golfers) "Sam," was running in his own class, after a whole summer's work of elimination. He had to beat Mr. Campbell, the local manager of the Union Bank in another splendid contest.

Harold Patterson, son of Mr. E. G. Patterson, president of the club, finally landed out on top in the Stratton trophy competition, winning over an entry list of 120 players, beating no less a rival in the finals than the daddy and coach of the Hamilton boys, Mr. Miles Hamilton, many times local champion.

The result of this match had aroused great interest, and many guesses had been made regarding the outcome. Harold has proved another comer and will require considerable attention in the future.

Championship, "Bob" Hamilton winner.

R. R. Hall Trophy, "Bob" Hamilton winner.

Macdonald Trophy, Sam Hamilton, winner.

BOWLING NEWS

6.30 was zero hour for the Inter-Excelsior battle Tuesday night at the Y bowling alleys, when Pidgeon's five met G. Robertson's team and lost two to the latter in five pins. Maynard's and H. Coon's teams also featured in the big double header, when Maynard took two games from Coon. All players were out for a good time and realized it by trying to beat the other fellow rather than the wide world. Some good scores were made during the night, but as the high total for the week so far is 809, no one seemed over anxious to wipe it off the slate. Scores:

BUSINESS SOLD

H. CHESLER HAS BOUGHT OUT THE $10,000 STOCK REMAINING IN H. J. ZACKS' STORE.

A few days ago, owing to the stress of business activity, caused by the selling out sale, Mr. H. J. Zacks was taken sick and confined to his room. Not being able to attend to the rush of business in the store, he concluded a bulk sale of the remaining $10,000.00 value of goods in his stock, at a very low rate, to Mr. H. Chesler, who at once took possession and is continuing the sale with greater vim than ever.

Mr. Chesler does not need the goods in his own store and his one object is to dispose of it quickly, at some price. The favorable rate at which he bought allows him to make more sweeping price reductions than ever. To Mr. Chesler price is no particular object, the goods must go as he cannot spare the time for a long drawn out clearing sale.

Parties who need ladies' wear can now profit by a saving of about half their value on new style 1919 garments, many of them exclusive New York models. Large announcement of Mr. Chesler's intentions will appear in to-morrow's Examiner.

Mr. Chesler's own store at 289 George street, is being run on its well known value giving lines, as usual.

What the Local Playhouses Have to Offer—News of the Movie World

"THE ROCKY ROAD TO DUBLIN"

"The Rocky Road to Dublin," which will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House Saturday, afternoon and evening of this week, is a rather neat little play with just sufficient pathos to counter-balance the rich vein of humor which is uncovered when the curtain first goes up and is not covered again until it is rung down for the final time. Irish humor in life, in books or on the stage, is always of the purest, and its appeal was in no way diminished by Barney Gilmore's company last night. There was a laugh to almost every line. Even spots which at first seemed bent on bringing into play the handkerchiefs of the overly-sentimental, suddenly took the curious Irish twist and ended in a smile. There was no suggestion of anything but cleanliness all through the three acts, and the cleanliness and the heartiness of the laughter which greeted each pun, each joke and each witty remark was a worthy reward. There is something very likeable about Mr. Gilmore, who plays the principal role. He has a quiet but yet very expressive manner, which gives full value to every line he speaks, which has a strong appeal to his audience, and which is in keeping with the part he has chosen to play. In addition, he has a deep, strong voice, which he uses to good advantage in the two songs which he sings. His leading lady, Miss Helen Evily, is a well-chosen partner. Pretty, attractive and possessed of a pleasing personality, she plays her part with excellent taste. As Darby O'Donnell, driver of the finest cab in Ireland, Danny Barrett gives an interpretation of the "Mr. Dooley" stamp of Irishman that marks him as an impersonator of the first water. Ada Lyton Barbour, as a servant girl, does her part well and never fails to raise a laugh. The remainder of the company are in keeping with the principals in the cast.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

F. Stuart-Whyte's fourth annual importation of English pantomime to Canada will be "Little Red Riding Hood," which comes to the Grand for two days, Monday and Tuesday, matinee Tuesday. The story of Red Riding Hood is one that lends itself admirably to pantomime usage, for, while the characters in the original tale are few, it is the custom when presenting the story in pantomime form to include all of the favorite characters of Mother Goose, among them being Boy Blue, Bo Peep, Jack Horner, Little Tommy Tucker, Big Jack Stout, Marjorie Daw, Jack and Jill, Peter Piper, Old King Cole, the Fairy Queen and Mother Hubbard, together with the Riding Hood family, and of course, the Wolf. This makes "Little Red Riding Hood" the biggest of all pantomimes to produce, as all of the characters are essential and must be played by competent artisans.

It has been Mr. Whyte's wish for some time to produce this piece and bring it to Canada, but the scarcity of real pantomime artists during the war made the securing of an adequate cast impossible. However, by being in London during the demobilization of the British troops and women war workers he was able to select a company of such proven abilities that even in pre-war days would have been difficult to engage for a Canadian tour.

WALLACE REID IS SPEED DEMON IN "THE ROARING ROAD"

Wallace Reid has always been a speed demon, within limitations. He has trouble in keeping within the speed laws even in his own car. He admits, however, that when he got up to 90 miles an hour the other day at Santa Monica, Calif., while making scenes for "The Roaring Road," which will be shown at the Allen Theatre on Friday and Saturday, he went as rapidly as he cared to go.

He had not even a mechanician with him, but only Guy Oliver, of the stock company. At one time, going at 90 miles an hour, they barely escaped a spill that would probably have been fatal. From all accounts this is the most exciting picture in which the athletic star has ever appeared. Ann Little is the leading woman and there is an excellent cast supporting them

Admirers of Elsie Ferguson, the beautiful and talented star, have another treat in store for them in her appearance in her latest starring vehicle, "The Marriage Price," which will be shown to-day only at the Allen Theatre.

Miss Ferguson has a new and delightful role in his photoplay, that of a young society girl who is impoverished when her father is ruined and after he commits suicide she is cast upon her own resources for a livelihood. Of course, it all turns out right in the end, but the suspense is quite gripping before Helen Tremaine's ship steers in the harbor of love and happiness. The photoplay is based upon a short story by Griswold wheeler which appeared recently in a popular magazine. Miss Ferguson is supported by Wyndham Standing and Lionel Atwill.

"THE LUCK OF THE NAVY"

No less a personage than Her Majesty Queen Mary of England has bestowed her official approval upon Percy Hutchison's performance of "The Luck of the Navy," the big London comedy-drama success which F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest will present at the Grand Friday and Saturday, Dec. 5-6, matinee Saturday.

During the closing days of the war, just before the armistice was signed, Mr. Hutchison and his London Queen's Theatre Company gave a performance of "The Luck of the Navy" by special command before Her Majesty the Queen and the Royal Family, this performance being for the Royal Navy Prisoners of War Fund. The performance netted $20,000 and attracted one of the most representative society audiences in London. A few days later Mr. Hutchison received the following letter, expressly dictated by Her Majesty the Queen, thanking him for the performance:

Buckingham Palace,
23rd October, 1919.

Percy Hutchison, Esq.,
"The Luck of the Navy,"
Queen's Theatre, London.

"Dear Mr. Hutchison:—I showed your lester to the Queen and Her Majesty was glad to have had the opportunity of speaking to you at the Palace Theatre.

"The Queen greatly enjoyed the performance of "The Luck of the Navy," and thought the play most interesting and admirably acted.

"Her Majesty is gratified to learn that the proceeds of the Royal Navy Prisoners of War Fund proved so satisfactory, and she congratulates you and the other artists on the successful result of your efforts. I am—

"Yours very truly,

PLANS AND ESTIMATES FOR THE PROPOSED FILTRATION SYSTEM

MR. WILLIAM KENNEDY, JR., SUBMITS A REPORT TO THE PETERBORO UTILITIES COMMISSION.

A meeting of the Utilities Commission was held yesterday in the City Hall.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, of the Peterborough Milk Products Co., asked that he be allowed to purchase the south 25 foot lot at the corner of Hunter and Bethune streets from Mr. Morrow who owns the lot and rents it to the Commission.

The Commission consented to Mr. Morrow selling it to Mr. Gillespie on the condition that the Commission be allowed to use the siding for unloading water pipes, and that they be allowed to carry them over Mr. Gillespie's property.

Remove the Poles.

The manager, Mr. H. O. Fisk, read correspondence from the C.P.R. regarding the removal of the telegraph poles on George street, south of Charlotte street, the arrangements having been completed for the removal of the poles. The C.P.R. will use the conduits of the Machine Telephone Company, and the doing away of these poles will make George street clear of telegraph poles from Brock street to the C.P.R.

The manager was instructed to construct an electric power line to serve Mr. E. H. Mann's saw mill on Whitlaw street, immediately across the Locks bridge.

Filtration Plant.

The Commission received a preliminary report from Mr. Kennedy, Jr., of Montreal, on the proposed filtration plant.

The Commission will wait on the City Council at their regular meeting next Monday night and will ask them to have a by-law submitted to the ratepayers for the construction of this proposed filtration plant at an estimated cost of $800,000, to cover which debentures will be issued.

The Report.

The report follows:

Montreal, Nov. 21st, 1919.

T. F. Matthews, Esq.,

Chairman, Peterborough Utilities Commission, Peterborough, Ont.:

Dear Sir:—Acting under instructions received from your Waterworks Superintendent, Mr. Dobbin, I have had preliminary plans and estimates of cost made for a proposed filter plant and clear water reservoir in connection with your present waterworks system, and report as follows:

After a study of the quantity of water supplied to the town for the past few years, the quantity required at certain hours of the day, and especially during dry and hot spells of weather, together with possible heavy drafts of water for fire purposes during such dry and hot weather periods, also making allowance for an increase of population and water consumption, I have decided to recommend for first construction a mechanical, gravity, sand filter plant of five million gallons capacity per day, and in connection with this filter plant a covered reservoir of two million gallons capacity.

The filter plant will be designed for six million gallons capacity per day in units of one million gallons to each filter unit, but five units only to be first installed, with the necessary connections made for the sixth unit when required.

I may also mention that the plant is so designed as to permit of duplication of these six units, thus providing for an ultimate filter capacity of twelve million gallons daily.

It is estimated that a five million gallons plant will be sufficient for all purposes until the year 1935.

The reservoir, containing filtered water, will have a present capacity of two million gallons, and is so designed and placed that its capacity may be increased to, say four or five million gallons when so required.

The additions to the filter plant or reservoir, or both, may be made without interfering with the water supply to the town.

Full plans and specifications for the entire plant, including coagulating and clear water basins, low lift pumps, etc., as above outlined, will be prepared, and from which tenders will be invited from contractors for the different classes of works, materials and equipment included. The whole of the necessary works and supply of materials, etc., will be divided into, say five contracts, but one contractor may undertake two or more contracts, or even the entire works required; or a part may be done by day work under the direction of your Waterworks Superintendent.

The contracts may be divided about as follows:

1. Intake crib in river; intake pipe; suction well; construction work generally and superstructure for filtration plant.
2. Filter equipment.
3. Low lift pumping machinery; suction and discharge pipes within the building; electrical equipment.
4. Outside pipe lines, including 24 inches discharge from the low lift pumps; 30 inches conduit from clear water basin to pumping station, with valves, etc., necessary sewers and drain connections.
5. Two million gallons clear water reservoir.

The specifications will also provide for receiving and the consideration of tenders for the entire filter plant from reputable contractors who may wish to make such modifications from the prepared plans and specifications as will suit their own designs and construction.

It is intended to place the entire works on the "Carnegie property" recently acquired by your Commission, except the pipe lines from the reservoir to the pumping station, which will run along the roadway.

More detailed plans may lower this estimate somewhat.

My opinion is that the works, as per this report, can be built for the amount named.

OPERATION: The main items in the cost of operation will be:

1. Wages.
2. Fuel, for heating purposes.
3. Power.
4. Chemicals.

Assuming 8,400,000 gallons per day filtration, the estimated cost for "operation"—assuming chemicals at their present prices—is $10,700 per annum, or say, $8.15 per million gallons of filtered water, or assuming a population of 28,000, this is equal to, say, 47 cents per capita.

Interest and sinking fund not included.

A preliminary plan showing, generally, the location and proposed layout of the works accompanies this report.

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) Wm. Kennedy, Jr.

DENIES RUMOUR

(United States)

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Premier Lloyd George, speaking in the House of Commons to-day denied he had promised President Wilson to try to effect a settlement of the Irish question.

Constipation or Costiveness

Constipation, although generally described as a disease, can never exist unless some of the organs are deranged, which is generally found to be the liver.

There is nothing more productive of general ill health than constipation of the bowels, and a regular action is absolutely essential to general health. One of the most common, painful and troublesome troubles caused by constipation is piles, and unless the bowels are kept open by the use of a good laxative such as Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills the whole system will be poisoned and many different complications of diseases arise, so if you would be well, keep your bowels regular.

Mr. A. Roder, Hastings St. E., Vancouver, B.C., writes:—"I desire to express my thanks for what Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills have done for me. I had been suffering from constipation for two years, and also had a bad cough and headaches. I tried all sorts of cures and remedies, but got no relief until I was advised to try your pills. I got great relief after the first few doses."

Get Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills when you ask for them or send 25c. and they will be sent by return of mail by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING OF LOCAL BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB

SECRETARY'S REPORT REVEALS THE ACTIVITIES OF THE ORGANIZATION DURING THE PAST YEAR OFFICERS ELECTED-

The annual meeting of the Business Girls' Club was held in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A., on the evening of Friday, November the 21st.

"I submit for your approval the following report, being the Fifth Annual Report of the Business Girls' Club for the year ending November 1919.

Our activities during the past year have been along the line of endeavour usually pursued by the Business Girls Club. Although the stimulus of "war" was removed the "carry on" spirit of our members was not lessened and thoroughout we have enjoyed the good fellowship and co-operation which always characterized our organization nad which means so much to the ultimate success of any undertaking.

Last June we gave a concert and play in St. Johns' S. S. Hall, followed by a Saturday afternoon excursion to Gores Landing. We served refreshments at the Bonspeil of the Bowling Club and sold "Hot Dogs" at the community dance held in connection with the Vtciory Loan. Mention should also be made of the Candy Booth at the Motor Show held last winter, which work was undertaken by us wholly in the interests of the Health Association. Calls for money during the year were more or less in connection with War Charities and donations were made to the Belgian Relief Fund, Salvation Army Red Sheild Drive and the Great War Veterans Association. We are also pleased to be able to help the Playgrounds Association and the Baby Clinic (money voted for the latter cause has not yet been called for).

During the year ten business meetings were held at which there was an average attendance of eighteen members (which average was the same as for the previous year). Each of these meetings was handled by a commitee previously appointed and in most cases cost of refreshments used was taken out of the club funds according to a resolution passed early in the year. We wish to thank most kindly all who so graciously contributed entertainment at these various meetings and might make mention here of the open meeting held last February, at which Miss Lancaster's talk on, "Girls" was very much enjoyed.

Eleven new members were voted into our club by the new method inaugurated some time ago. A constitution for our club was also adopted and printed copies handed to the members. Being incorporated we are obliged to make half-yearly returns to the government and wish to thank Mr. Kerr and Mr. McElderry for services rendered in this connection.

The future is all before us and we cannot be too optimistic. Our club is composed of Business Girls who are trained to do things in a business like way and with a definite policy in view there is really no limit to the things that we may accomplish for the good of ourselves and our community. Why not adopt for our motto that of our Prince, who has won the heart of his people, "I Serve".

The Hacking Cough Strains the Lungs

The terrible, hacking, lung-wracking cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it is a great source of danger to your health, and the longer it is allowed to stick the more serious the menace becomes.

You can easily get rid of the cough or cold at its inception by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a remedy that has been universally used throughout Canada for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Samuel Matthews, Portage, P. E.I., writes:—"Last winter I caught a heavy cold, and was laid up for sometime. I had such a hacking cough I could not sleep at night and did not think I would ever get over it. One day a friend dropped in to see me and was surprised to see how bad my cough was. She advised me to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so the next day I sent for a bottle and soon got relief and by time I had taken two bottles my cough was all gone. I doubt there is anything to equal it."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured only by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Is Your Nose Plugged? Have You Catarrh?

If Subject to Colds, Here is Real Good Advice.

Don't load your stomach with cough syrups. Send healing medication through the nostrils—send it into the passages that are subject to colds and catarrh. Easy to do this with Catarrhozone, which cures a cold in ten minutes. Even to the lungs goes the healing vapor of Catarrhozone—all through the bronchial tubes, nostrils and air passages—everywhere a trace of disease remains will Catarrhozone follow. You'll not have colds, nor will you suffer from sniffles, bronchitis, or throat trouble if Catarrhozone is used. Get it to-day, but beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhozone. Large size, two months' treatment, costs $1.00; small size, 50c.; sample size, 25c.; all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

WEAK, NERVOUS CHILDREN QUICKLY GAIN STRENGTH UNDER FOLLOWING PLAN

Nervousness, just like weakness, is a family predisposition. We inherit tendencies to disease just as we inherit physical resemblances. The strain of study, social duties, work at home — these all tend to make nervous troubles among children. No wonder that St. Vitus Dance, Epilepsy, and constant headaches have become alarmingly common. Pale, nervous, listless young people are met everywhere.

It is nothing short of criminal for parents to neglect signs of weakness in their children. By ignoring the slightest symptom of nervous or mental strain, you may condemn your child to life-long invalidism. If any member of your family complains of headaches, fear of going into dark places, give them that wonderful tonic, "Ferrozone." Strength of body and mind, hardy nerves, ability to study with comfort, all the attributes of health quickly follow the use of Ferrozone. It establishes strength, color, endurance, vim—does this by filling the whole system with nourishment and tissue-forming materials.

It's because we know the enormous good that Ferrozone will do, because we are sure every child and even grown folks, will be permanently benefitted, that we urge you to give it a trial. All dealers sell Ferrozone in 50c. boxes, six for $2.50, or direct by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

FAILED TO REPORT FOR WAR SERVICE

GEORGE O'BRIEN FINED $250 AND COSTS OF $19 10.

George O'Brien, of Douro, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to a charge of failing to report for military duty a year ago, and was fined $250 and $19.10 costs. He was ordered on October 6th, 1918, to report at Belleville in ten days, but it was only recently that he was arrested by the military police.

Mr. J. A. O'Brien appeared for the accused who, he said, was sick with influenza when he received the notice from Kingston. The war was nearly over and other conscripts were told they need not appear for service.

In imposing the minimum fine, Magistrate Dumble stated that the young man had been ordered to report at Belleville, but that he hadn't done so.

UNIONIST ELECTED.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 27. — Sir Alan Smith, Coalition Unionist, has been returned for South Croydon in the by-election, caused by the resignation of Sir Ian Malcolm. The vote was: Smith 11,777, Alderman Houlder, 9,873.

BAGLEY REMANDED FOR ANOTHER WEEK

HIS COUNSEL REQUESTED AN ADJOURNMENT AND CROWN WAS WILLING.

James G. Guise-Bagley was remanded for one week this morning on the request of his solicitor, Mr. F. D. Kerr. Crown Attorney Hatton consented, stating that the Crown wished to learn whether any other cases of alleged defalcation would be charged against the prisoner. The "standing room only" crowd was greatly disappointed, and were finally notified that their presence was not wanted for the hearing of several juvenile cases that closed the morning court.

Mr. Bagley did not appear in court. It was reported that he was being shaved at that time. There are five charges of embezzlement confronting him, in which it is alleged that he stole about $4,000 from the Misses Thompson.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headaches or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

BABY CLINIC WILL BE OPENED IN SHORT TIME

PREPARATIONS ARE NEARING COMPLETION--AIMS OF THE CLINIC--QUARTERS WANTED.

DOCTORS ENTHUSIASTIC

Directly the details of the proposed Baby Clinic are completed by the committee which is now working enthusiastically on the matter, the Clinic, so much needed in the city, will be opened, it was stated to-day.

The committee of women especially interested are Dr. Jessie Birnie, convenor; Mrs. Robert Harstone, president of the Women's Council; Mrs. James Kendry and Mrs. (Dr.) Neal, vice-presidents of the Women's Council; Mrs. C. E. Jamieson, secretary of the Women's Council; Mrs. R. H. Parsons, Regent of the Ashburnham Patriotic Society; Mrs. A. E. Coulthard, Regent of the Otonabee Chapter; Mrs. J. C. Davidson, Regent of the 57th Chapter; Miss Helen Stapleton, Regent of the Peter Robinson Chapter; Miss Eliott, president of the Teachers' Guild, and Miss M. Sherlock, president of the Business Girls' Club. The committee of doctors is composed of Doctors A. W. McPherson, E. B. Mann, C. H. Amys, G. S. Cameron, J. H. Eastwood, Jessie Birnie and B. E. Kelly.

AIMS OF THE CLINIC.

The aims of the Clinic are to lessen the death-rate among babies and to raise good Canadian citizens so that immigration will be unnecessary as it would be if the enormous drain, due to infant mortality, shown by statistics could be stopped. Statistics show that in some provinces in the Dominion 10,000 babies die per annum from preventable causes. The first means of accomplishing this end will be to tabulate all children born, rich and poor alike, from information of their birth received from the City Clerk's records. The mothers will then be instructed how to feed and generally take care of the little ones. A baby's layette will be at the Clinic rooms on exhibition, and the best, latest and most economical mode of dressing the little ones will be shown. A clinic will be held once or twice weekly, where mothers may bring their children to be weighed and examined by doctors in charge if necessary.

NO MEDICAL TREATMENT.

No medical treatment will be given whatever, the idea being to keep babies healthy by hygenic measures. The doctors and many professional nurses, as well as Wm. D. Lee, will give their services for nothing, as they realize the serious condition of affairs in the city.

PATRIOTIC DUTY.

In various cities where Clinics have been established they have proved great success, as the citizens have realized it is their patriotic duty to forward the movement as much as possible. The chief difficulty the committee finds at present is in getting suitable rooms. In almost every city where a Clinic has been established the rooms have been given free of charge by some patriotic citizen, and such an action would be greatly appreciated in Peterborough by the committee in charge.

THE FINANCES.

So far the committee has $400 either on hand or promised, which was donated as follows: 57th Chapter I.O.D.E., $100; Otonabee Chapter, $100 (promised); Ashburnham Patriotic Society, $100; Peter Robinson Chapter, $100; Teachers' Guild, $35; Business Girls' Club, $50 (promised); Mr. Trebilcock, $5.00.

FULLY IN SYMPATHY.

The doctors in the city are fully in sympathy with the movement, and a committee composed of the doctors and representatives of the Women's Council and affiliated societies will meet on Wednesday, when details regarding the Clinic and other matters will be arranged.

ELECTION RESULTS ANNOUNCED TO-DAY

PLYMOUTH, England, Nov. 28.—The official result of the Plymouth by-election of November 15th, at which Lady Nancy Astor was a candidate to succeed her husband in the House of Commons, was to be announced from the balcony of the Town Hall here shortly after noon today. The election of the American-born "Gibson girl," who before her marriage, was Nancy Langhorne, a famous Virginia beauty, virtually was conceded by everybody. Plymouth, however, was prepared to make a holiday of it.

CHANGE IN THE CHURCH SERVICES

METHOD SUGGESTED TO KEEP THE YOUNG MEN ON THE JOB.

In some of the local churches there has been some discussion of late as to the advisability of changing the order of service slightly so as to have the collection taken up at the close of the service. This has been caused by a tendency on the part of some of the young men who perform this office to absent themselves immediately their work is over. It is thought that having the collection taken up at the close of the service would ensure their presence throughout the service. Some of the young men, however, declare that if this were done they would not come until after the sermon. Consequently, the problem still remains unsolved.

There has been some criticism also of some of the ushers going outside to pay their respects to Milady Nicotine during the course of the sermon.

Election Results

THE OUTCOME IS REGARDED AS A VICTORY FOR LLOYD GEORGE GOVERNMENT--THREE IN THE FIELD.

CAMPAIGN ISSUES

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 28.— Lady Astor, Unionist, was elected to the Commons from Sutton, division of Plymouth, in the by-election Nov. 15, it is announced to-day. Her chief opponent was W. T. Gray, Laborite. This is regarded as a great victory for the Lloyd George coalition government. In the by-election in the Isle of Thanet, Kent division, Esmond Harmsworth, Unionist, defeated A. J. West, Liberal, by two thousand majority. The vote in Plymouth was:

Lady Astor 14,694
W. T. Gray, Labor 9,202
Isaac Foot, Liberal 4,139

Lady Astor became a candidate for the Plymouth seat in the British House of Commons after the death of Viscount Astor, of Heverhall had left her husband heir to the title and necessitated retirement from the Lower House of Parliament. Premier Lloyd George, A. J. Balfour, former Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and Baron Fisher, former First Sea Lord, were among the various notables who gave hearty approval of her candidacy. Labor legislation was the chief issue during the campaign, which at times assumed quite bitter aspects. Lady Astor, who becomes the first woman seat holder in the House of Commons, was formerly Miss Mannie Laughorne, of Virginia. She is the mother of six children, the fact of which she boasted on one occasion during her canvass. Countess Markieviez was elected as Sinn Feiner in Ireland, but did not take her seat.

THE POST OFFICE APPOINTMENT

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., states that the delay in the promotion of Mr. John Corkery to the position of Postmaster in the local Post Office is causing considerable comment. Continuing, Mr. Burnham said that Mr. Corkery applied to the Civil Service Commission in the usual way, but was advised that the Commission had nothing to do with it, as it was in the hands of the Deputy Postmaster-General. The Deputy Ministers are excluded from the Act. Mr. Burnham said he hoped the Act would be allowed to take its course and that no breaking in on the routine established by the Act would be attempted by any one in authority.

"The minute discretion of any kind is allowed the door closed by the Civil Service Act is reopened. It is like many other attempts to transfer the confidence of the people by Act of Parliament. It can only be done so far," said Mr. Burnham.

FUEL SHORTAGE BRINGS DISTRESS

Moulders Still Out

MINISTER OF LABOUR ROLLO IS ON THE JOB IN EFFORT TO CLOSE UP THE DISPUTE

THE PROSPECTS

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 28.—True to the profession of paternal service made upon assuming office to assist in the solution of labour disputes, Hon. Walter Rollo, Minister of Labour, is now bending his energies towards the settling of the last phase of Toronto's ill-fated general strike of the metal trade workers in May last. While little publicity has been given the fact of late, there remain a considerable number of moulders who have not yet accepted the terms offered by the employers and are consequently still on strike. Yesterday the Minister, accompanied by an official of his department, made a special trip to the east end of the city and laid a groundwork upon which negotiations may be re-opened between the strikers and the employers. While as yet there is no surface indication that a settlement is near, it is quite probable that steps will be furthered during the course of the next week to bring the conflicting parties together to finally adjust the dispute.

REPRESENTATIVES HAVE RESIGNED

United Press:

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Miners' representatives of the Sankey Commission resigned late yesterday, following a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Miners' Federation. The miners' representatives included Robert Smillie, president of the Federation. In a letter to Premier Lloyd George, the miners' representatives declared the present Board of Trade had decided against their co-operation, notably in the railway and covering of the prices of coal, which had gravely prejudiced the industry and the nation. The latest proposal to limit operations to influence coal control made it impossible [illegible] sitting on the Commission.

DR. HENDERSON RETIRES

Former Toronto Minister Made Pastor Emeritus of Montreal Church.

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—A call to the pastorate of St. James' Methodist Church, has been accepted by the Rev. Amos Thomas M.A., B.D., of Peterboro, Ontario, to take effect in June, 1920. The Rev. Dr. James Henderson, formerly of the Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto, who has been superintendent pastor of St. James', since June 1917, will take the rank of pastor emeritus, taking an active, though a lighter, part in the activities of the church.

MONTREAL MINISTER MOVES

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—Rev. W. Harold Young has accepted the call of the George street, Peterboro, Methodist church. He is the son of the Rev. Dr. W. R. Young, of Toronto.

PETERBORO COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE STUDENTS ALL SET FOR ANNUAL HOP BUT MINUS A PLACE TO HOLD IT IN

BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL BE ASKED TO RESCIND RESOLUTION PASSED SOME YEARS AGO PROHIBITING THE USE OF THE HALLS OF LEARNING FOR THIS PURPOSE.

The pupils of the Collegiate Institute are endeavoring to obtain permission to hold a dance in the Institute during the Christmas holidays.

A resolution was passed by the Board of Education several years ago forbidding dancing in the school and it will be necessary to have this resolution rescinded. The matter will come up at the meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night.

A student's committee has interviewed Dr. F. C. Neal, the chairman of the Supervision Committee, within whose province the matter lies. Dr. Neal did not commit himself beyond suggesting that if a dance were held it should be an "At Home" and that a promenade or something of the sort should be provided for those who did not wish to dance.

The Rugby Club.

For the past ... years the Rugby Club of the Institute has held an annual dance. Last year it was held in the Empress Hotel and previous years in the Conservatory of Music Hall. Plans were made to hold it as usual this year but Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, principal of the Institute, objected on the grounds that the Rugby Club did not represent the school and hence had no right to use [illegible] the P.C.I. name and that there had been considerable criticism last year of holding it in an hotel. He suggested that instead a committee be appointed representing the Boys' and Girls' Athletic Associations, which he considered sufficiently representative of the Institute, to arrange for a "P.C.I." dance.

The Committee.

His suggestion was favorably received and a joint committee was elected. The committee is composed of the following: Messrs. William Mowat Allan Stevenson, Herbert Mason, Noel Rishor, Arthur McClure, and Misses Lenore Lyle and Marjorie Ingall.

Those in charge of the dance were disappointed to learn that the decision of the Board of Education would not be known until next Wednesday, as this will leave but a short time in which to make the arrangements, especially for the orchestra, as it is necessary to engage an orchestra some time in advance. However, if the Board's permission is secured the committee is prepared to rush matters through. It is likely that the date chosen for the dance or "At Home" will be Monday, December ... [illegible]

TROOPS WILL BE USED TO FORCE OPERATION OF THE COAL MINES

NURSE REFUSES TO APOLOGIZE

(Special to The Examiner.)

RUTLAND, Vt., Nov. 28.— Nurse Annie McLane has not made the stipulated apology to the American nurses at the Rutland Hospital for calling the Stars and Stripes a dirty rag when she was shown a picture postcard of a flag-topped building. She said to a group of girls who waited on her that she was saucy if she said anything against their flag, but she refused to salute it, which the girls said was the only apology which would be accepted. The hospital directors and superintendent, Annie H. Aitkin, sister of Lord Beaverbrook, declares that the incident has been closed to the satisfaction of all parties, but the Board of Aldermen ordered an investigation because the city appropriates money to the hospital, and the public feelings are aroused. There will be a public hearing on the matter next Tuesday, when nurses, patients and physicians will testify. The affair has been made an excuse for a general investigation of the institution and of complaints that Miss Aitkin has for years discriminated against American student nurses.

WM. FAIERS ACQUITTED OF SOLICITING WHISKEY ORDERS

MAGISTRATE DUMBLE DECLARED THAT THE EVIDENCE OFFERED BY THE CROWN WAS INSUFFICIENT--DID THE SOLICITING HE SAID.

NO WHISKEY FOUND

"The Act be changed", was Magistrate Dumble's sharp reply to Crown Attorney Hatton's contention that under the Ontario Temperance Act William Faiers, who appeared in police court this morning on a charge of having solicited or received orders for whiskey, should be considered guilty until he proved his innocence.

After hearing the evidence of P. C. Bristow, His Worship declared that he would not find the accused guilty and abruptly dismissed the case, setting Faiers at liberty.

Faiers was remanded last Friday following the seizure of liquor and wine at Mr. J. G. Guise-Bagley's home. It was alleged that he was relieving the Bagley beverage somewhat in the role of a city salesman.

P. C. Leslie Bristow was the first and only witness. He recounted the incidents that had led to the arrest of both Baigley and Faiers.

Arranged a Meeting

"I went to Faier's house in the afternoon of Tuesday the 19th", witness said. "I told him two fellows sent me there that were at his house Sunday night. I said I was going out to a little party that night and would like a little bit of whiskey. I asked him if he could fix me up. He said, "not to-day, but I could see you tomorrow and fix you up."

I said, "what time". He said, "How would five o'clock in the evening catch you".

"I told him that was too late for me wanted to leave early".

"How would two o'clock catch you", I asked.

Bristow arranged to meet the accused at the corner of Charlotte and George street, and they parted with the warning "Mum's the word."

"I met him the next day but did not get any whiskey from him. I told him I could use fifty quarts and he told me he thought he could fix me up."

Mr. Gordon's "Depth Charge"

Mr. G. N. Gordon, solicitor for Faiers, exploded the case with just one question in cross-examination. "So you solicted Faiers first by going to his house", he suggested.

Magistrate Dumble remarked — "That's a criminal offence".

"Is that all the evidence you have?" His Worship asked.

Mr. Hatton replied that the rest was merely corroborative.

Magistrate Dumble stated that he could not find Faiers' guilty on the evidence that had been adduced. The accused was not the solictor but the "solicited". The Constable, he said, had gone to him in an attempt to get whiskey, but he had failed to find him in possession of any.

Mr. Hatton—"You must give the Crown credit for knowing that he had whiskey and was selling it.

Magistrate Dumble —"But you never saw it nor got any on him."

Mr. Hatton—"The Constable went to the man's house and knew whose whiskey he was selling.

His Worship insisted that the Constable had failed in the work he had begun.

Chief Thompson Nettled.

Chief Thompson —"He didn't fail, because it was as a result of his work that Bagley was arrested."

Mr. Dumble—"It's no use Mr. Hatton arguing with me. I won't make a conviction on that kind of evidence."

Mr. Hatton—"We have evidence that this man said he could supply fifty quarts of whiskey.

Magistrate Dumble — "You have no evidence that I am going to act on to show that this man had whiskey."

Chief Thompson—"We'll ask for an adjournment."

Mr. Gordon— "They should have asked for an adjournment before this Your Worship. This man has been back in jail and has been out at work."

THE ROWLAND MURDER ADDED TO MYSTERIES

STILL NO CLUE TO MAN WHO SLEW TAXI-DRIVER IN HIS CAR AT LEASIDE.

TORONTO, Nov. 28.— That John G. Rowland, taxi driver, who was murdered on Leaside Highway on the night of November 4, came to his death in the hands of person or persons unknown, was the verdict rendered by a jury, presided over by Coroner Dr. George Graham.

The jury added the following: "We strongly recommend that lights be placed on Macrae drive in order to make it safer and freer from the objectionable element who frequent it."

"I have been associated now with three or four murder inquests of taxi drivers in the county, and as yet no guilty person has been found. I think the crimes may be due to the foreign element," said the Coroner.

Woman Denies Being There.

Violet Moore, whom the police have held on a charge of vagrancy since a few days after the killing of Rowland, was called as a witness.

Mr. Greer: "Were you in the car the night Rowland was murdered?" "No."

"Which night did you go to Sherbourne street?" "Saturday night."

"You were not in the car Tuesday night?" "No!"

David J. Bell, said he passed the scene shortly after eleven o'clock on the night of the murder and heard voices in the field and a woman laughing. The car stood beside the road unoccupied.

C. A. Rundle, who was present when Rowland was trying to tell his story to the constable on Turner's verandah where he had staggered, said the car was stalled and he suggested that Rowland's foot was off the accelerator as he had made a quick throw of the gears.

Joseph Turner, whose verandah Rowland had managed to reach, said: "I didn't hear the man till he got near the verandah. Mother said somebody was shouting 'murder.' We saw a car come along and we shouted for help. We went out and Rowland was on the verandah."

"Then Bell was right when he said he heard voices?" "Yes, I am positive the automobile pulled up as Rowland came on the verandah."

"There were signs everywhere of a severe struggle inside the car," said Gardiner. "I found Rowland sitting on Mr. Turner's verandah.

"I asked him how many were in the car. Rowland put up his finger, indicating one person. He told me his passenger was a big man, a foreigner. He said 'Russ' but he could not complete the word."

Gardiner said he found $16.75 in money in Rowland's pocket and several days later an army knife was found near the scene with blood on it.

SITUATION SERIOUS

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Seizure of bituminous coal mines where owners do not show a disposition to co-operate in increasing production, and the use of troops to protect all miners who desire to work, has been decided upon by the government in an effort to end the bituminous coal strike, it was stated to-day officially. In the mines seized by the government 14 per cent. wage advance, agreed upon by the cabinet, will be put into immediate effect, it was said.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—An abrupt end came late last night to all attempts to settle the nation-wide coal strike by peaceful agreement.

Miners and operators spent a bleak Thanksgiving afternoon in embittered debate over the Government proposal for a 14 per cent. wage increase, made by Fuel Administrator Garfield, rejected it and every other proposal that was forthcoming, and then dissolved, sine die.

Participants went home last night, and when the break left coal strike conditions no one of them, miners or operator, would say. Likewise, in official quarters, there was silence.

The Result National.

Though officially all of the proceedings were in Wage Scale Committees of operators and miners for the central fields, all semblance of a sectional discussion was dropped. All districts of the United States were represented, and the final outcome and the action was national in its bearings.

Secretary Green, of the Mine Workers, accused Dr. Garfield of "doing great injustice to a million miners" in making his analysis of the situation, and said the Fuel Administrator's action "approached the Commission of a moral crime against the public."

"The mine workers cannot mine coal at his figure," Green declared.

Lewis and other national officials of the mine workers planned to stay a day or two in the city, but the 40 odd delegates from the districts joined the operators in leaving as quickly as possible after the break.

Fuel Administrator Garfield tonight was informed of the result, but had nothing to say for publication. Officials looked for further steps by the Government, but there was considerable doubt as to what these would be.

OTTAWA, Nov. 28. — Canadians can now look forward to a shortage of soft coal supplies for some time, in the opinion of Mr. C. A. Magrath, Dominion Fuel Controller, who has just returned from Washington, in view of the breaking off of negotiations between the miners and operators, announced late this afternoon, there can be little hope of amelioration of the situation for some time.

Most Rigid Conservation.

Previous to receiving the announcement of the breach at Washington, Mr. Magrath, who had been in conference with the Fuel Administrators of Ontario and Quebec, issued a statement calling attention to the gravity of the soft coal situation, and urging the most rigid conservation policy. On being informed of the new development across the border, he called attention to the fact that he had anticipated that the award might not be acceptable to either miners or operators, and said that now the utmost care with our present supply would be necessary.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While creepy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Sip a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue coated; if your head is aching; if what you eat sours and forms acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's noisesome waste, gases and sour bile before eating more food.

To feel like young folks feel: like you felt before your blood and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate, which is inexpensive and almost tasteless.

Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast.

NOTICE

To War Veterans and Others:

Assuming that many of you desire to buy lots on which you can build homes for yourselves, I offer you most desirable building lots at low prices and easy terms. I can sell you lots on Dumbie Avenue or Argyle street, size 66 ft. frontage by 200 feet deep, for $600.00, with easy terms of payment, say $10 down and $10 every two months. Interest 5%; for cash sales 5% discount.

These lots are just over the city limits, only township taxes, no city taxes. They lie immediately north of the hospital and are close to the street railway.

Go and see them or come to my office and see plan. There are in all over 50 lots, and a good group of soldiers could settle together. Yours truly,

THE BAZAAR WAS WELL ATTENDED

ONE WAY OF SOLVING THE CHRISTMAS GIFT PROBLEM.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Walter Green threw their beautiful new home 670 Water street open yesterday afternoon and evening to the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrews church for a bazaar and tea which was attended by several hundred of the ladies of the city.

In the handsome drawing room attractively decorated with palms and yellow chrysanthemums, Mrs. Green made a most gracious hostess and was assisted in receiving by Mrs. James Rollins and Mrs. J. John. The reception room was a revelation of daintiness, originality and attractiveness with the pretty booths cleverly decorated and containing all manner of charming hand work which will serve to solve the Christmas present problem for many who attended. At the fancy work booth Mrs. Gilman was convenor assisted by Mrs. R. M. Waddell, Mrs. F. L. Robinson and Mrs. MacDonald. Mrs. Archie Moore was in charge of the apron booth and was assisted by Mrs. Henry and Mrs. J. W. Fraser. Hundreds of daintily dressed dolls were sold at a booth of which Mrs. V. S. Foster was in charge assisted by Mrs. A. A. Cook and Mrs. Wren. Charmingly decorated in a color scheme of yellow and white the cake and candy was in charge of Mrs. P. L. Allison who was assisted by Mrs. MacKintosh.

The Tea Room.

Tea was served in the dining room and the daintily decorated tables upon which the color scheme of the tea room, mauve and white, was carried out in the centre-pieces of mauve and white chrysanthymums were in charge of Mrs. Wilgar, Mrs. F. Weir, Mrs. G. M. Rae, Mrs. Charles McFarland, Mrs. W. A. Conner and Mrs. J. I. Allen.

Musical Programme.

During the afternoon and evening an attractive musical programme, supplemented by selections on the Victrola, was given.

Here Is The Place And Now Is The Time

When Every Man in Need of Winter Clothes and Furnishings Should Visit Our Store and if we expect to clothe you, we have got to show that our clothes are better than you get elsewhere, haven't we?

We believe that we can prove that it will be decidedly to your interests to get your next suit or overcoat here. But we cannot prove it to you by merely saying so. You must see the garments in order to see the beauty of our styles. You must try on a few of our coats in order to realize the perfections in fit. You must wear one to really know the excellency of fabric and workmanship.

And so we would be greatful to you for an opportunity to show you some of the elegant suits and overcoats now in our store. We will not urge you to buy. We expect every man to buy what his best judgment dictates to be the best for his own particular needs. We know that you will like yourself in some one, at least, of the many styles we have. We know that the quality of fabric, the styles and workmanship is there to appeal to you as a man of good judgment, and what is more, we know that every garment is so overwhelmingly good in every essential detail that goes to make a thoroughly satisfactory suit or overcoat that when you wear one, you are sure to come here for your next one.

Maybe you think that we claim too much for them, but we want to say right here that you have determined to make our clothes absolutely unapproachable for the money, and we have done it.

If this is a fact, you want to investigate them in justice to your own interests, don't you? Then come a visiting and see for yourself. We'll leave it for you to decide.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that his distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has affected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength.) Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar: stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should

THE CHRISTIAN BANK.

I have a never failing bank,
A more than golden store,
No earthly bank is half so rich,
How then can I be poor.

'Tis when my stock is spent and gone
And I without a groat,
I am glad to hasten to my bank
To beg a little note.

Sometimes my banker smiling says,
Why don't you oftener come,
And when you take a one pound note
Why not a larger sum.

Why live so niggardly and poor
Your bank contains aplenty,
Why come and take a one-pound note
When you can have a twenty.

Yes twenty thousand ten times told
Is but a trifling sum
To what your father has laid up
Secure in God his Son.

Since then my Banker is so rich
I have no cause to borrow,
I live upon my cash to-day
And draw on him to-morrow.

I have been a thousand times I trow
And never was rejected,
Sometimes my banker gives me more
Than asked for or expected.

I know my bank can never fail,
Its funds always the same,
The same three persons in one God
Jehovah is his name.

Should all the banks of Britain break,
The Bank of England smash,
Bring in your notes to Zion's bank
You'll surely get your cash.

All forged notes will be refused,
Man's merit be rejected,
There is not one single note will pass
That God has not accepted.

TRENT VALLEY DISTRICT READY TO UNITE TO ASSERT ITS RIGHTS

CONVENTION OF REPRESENTATIVES OF 65 MUNICIPALITIES WILL BE HELD AT PORT HOPE IN JANUARY TO DISCUSS PROPOSED HYDRO PROPERTY PURCHASE.

Those present at the Hydro meeting yesterday afternoon were: From Lindsay—D. Ray, T. H. Stinson and R. Kylie; Belleville—Acting Mayor W. A. Woodley and C. R. White; Port Hope—Mayor S. B. Burnham and J. W. Sanders; Peterboro—Mayor Duncan and S. R. Armstrong.. Ald. Phelan and Mr. Robert Hicks were also present.

Beck Has Approved Idea.

Correspondence read by City Clerk Armstrong this afternoon showed that Sir Adam Beck had approved this proposed purchase of the Trent Valley power plants and transmission lines by the municipalities affected. The Hydro chairman in fact had outlined the method by which the municipalities might finance the deal. Instead of selling debentures and thus providing the money, they could offer the Hydro bonds to the Government at four per cent. interest.

Mayor Duncan Urges Unity.

Mayor Duncan said he had long felt that Eastern Ontario had not received a fair deal from the Hydro Associations. At every meeting they were urging the claims of Western Ontario cities without giving a thought to this district. "I believe we should call a meeting of all the municipalities in this district, towns, cities and villages and go in a body to Toronto and demand recognition of the rights of this part of Ontario," said Mayor Duncan.

Mayor Burnham of Port Hope recalled that the Hydro scheme had deprived this municipality of $1200 taxes a year levied upon the power companies.

"We tried to have that changed but failed to get any address" said Mayor Burnham. "I hope we have an honest government this time and that we may be able to circumvent that difficulty."

Mr. Stinson of Lindsay agreed with Mayor Duncan that the only hope of gaining attention and readdress was by union and co-operation.

Mr. Ray advised that the municipalities should obtain a thorough grant of their problem, call in the aid of experts and go before the Hydro Commission for the purpose of ascertaining what they would be prepared to accede in the matter of adjustment.

65 Municipalities.

Mr. Stinson said there were sixty-five municipalities in this Hydro district, extending from Kingston to Oshawa and to Fenelon Falls in the North.

It was stated that Belleville paid $24 a horse power, Trenton $15 and Peterboro $17.50.

Mr. R. Hicks counselled the municipalities carefully to avoid buying gas plants, street railways and other utilities that were included in the Hydro Commission purchase.

Will Call Convenion.

It was finally decided to call a convention at Port Hope of all the Trent Valley Municipalities interested in the power question and that Mayor Duncan, Mr. Armstrong, Mayor Burnham, Mr. Sanders, Mayor Woodley, Mr. White and Mr. Stinson be a committee to break the ground for the convention, and to prepare data and an agenda.

The convention will be called in January.

ARE THE DAYS OF MIRACLES OVER?

IS SUPERSTITION AND FALSE BELIEF TO OVERSHADOW FACTS ANY LONGER?

When a woman who has been sick for years becomes well after taking a certain scientific preparation—can you deny that the remedy must be good?

Read these extracts taken from a letter written to us by Mrs. H. Cross, of 363 King Street West, Toronto:—

"I suffered for several years with inflammatory Rheumatism and could hardly get up or down stairs. My husband bought me a box of Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules, and almost immediately I felt relief. The swellings started to go down and the stiffness left my knees. I might say that previously to using T.R.C.'s I had tried almost everything under the sun without success. I am a happier and wiser woman now, and I cannot thank you enough for the aid T.R.C.'s have given me."

It's the same story from hundreds of other Rheumatic sufferers. They tried T.R.C.'s and T.R.C.'s fixed them up. If you suffer, try them.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.00.

WHO STOLE THE RUSSIAN VIOLIN?

On the night of Saturday November 22, a lively party was held in an East Ward residence. After the guests had departed and while cleaning up the debris, the host discovered the loss of a Russian-made violin which he claims he wouldn't have parted with for $500. He reported the loss to the Chief of Police who has instituted a search for the violin, but without success.

The case may be taken to court as the gentleman has his suspicions.—Lindsay Post.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28TH, 1919.

UNCHIVALROUS COBOURG

Chivalry seems to be dead in Cobourg. Not only has the Cobourg Town Council decided that all unmarried women of twenty-one years and over will have to pay poll tax but to make the situation worse, not one councillor raised his voice in defence of the fair sex and the resolution was carried unanimously. It is reasonable to assume there are no bachelors on the Cobourg Council. Admirers of the Lake Shore town will be sorry to learn that its financial condition is such that it is necessary to exact poll tax from the women to bolster up the civic treasury.

AN IMPORTANT YEAR.

Next year will be an important one in Peterborough's history — so important that every citizen should be impressed with the necessity of strengthening the civic government by the election of an energetic, enterprising mayor and of five hustling, capable aldermen. The Hunter street bridge question has to be terminated, the sewage disposal plant problem has to be solved, and there are other matters of importance that will require an up-to-the-minute administration. There is a call for service for public-spirited citizens who have the necessary qualifications to do their bit on the aldermanic board. The position of alderman is not a sinecure under any circumstances. With the many problems that will present themselves next year, the 1920 Council will have a busy twelve months. To men, however, who have a sense of civic responsibility and a desire to unselfishly serve their fellow citizens, the fact that there is real work ahead should prove an incentive rather than an obstacle. It is a time when strong men are needed and those who are of the right calibre will be more likely to to accept the challenge because there are important questions to be dealt with than if there was nothing but routine civic business in sight.

AN AMERICAN VIEW.

(St. Paul Pioneer Press.)

Possessing, according to current report a keen sense of humor, the Hon. David Lloyd George must nowadays experience moments of uncontrollable mirth when he contemplates American agitation over the fact that five British colonies have votes in the League of Nations Assembly. Mr. Lloyd George sees himself pictured by Senator Johnson as a designing Macchiavelli who has succeeded in "putting over something" on the smart Yankee—and all the while, Mr. Lloyd George undoubtedly realizes that he not only had nothing to do with it, but that, inconsequence, he and his successors have a problem of some proportions on their hands.

Canada, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa and India all took an important part in the war so far as the fighting was concerned. Proportionately, all of them spent their blood and treasure as prodigally as the mother country. In this respect the price they paid for keeping the world safe for democracy equaled that paid by a great many of the nations, and exceeded many others. Quite naturally these colonies having had so important a part in the task of subduing Germany, demanded a part in the making of the peace. And who should say them nay? They had earned a right, upon the battlefield [illegible] transcended the rights enjoyed a great many of the other nations who came to the peace table with a record of technical participation only. The colonies, and not Mr. Lloyd George, as we recall it, insisted upon this. Premier Hughes of Australia went so far as to write to the London Times a stinging letter upon the subject. Australia had fought, Australia, he said, intended to have a hand on the pen when the terms for which Australia had fought were written. They had been, by the right, he said, with their blood and their treasure, and they insisted upon it.

And they won their point. When the conference began its sittings in Paris there were two delegates from each of the colonies—from Canada, Ministers Doherty and Sifton; from Australia, Ministers Hughes and Cook; from South Africa, Ministers Botha and Smuts; from New Zealand, Minister Massey, and from India, Secretary of State Montagu and the Maharaja of Bikaner. These men helped to write the peace terms—indeed, we believe that the League of Nations plan supplied by Gen. Smuts forms the basis of the covenant we are now so heatedly discussing. And, having a part in the fighting, and a part in the peace, the practical difficulties in the way of excluding them from representation in the league are fairly obvious.

A NOVEL PLAN

The problem of arousing municipal electors to the necessity of taking a deeper and more active interest in the election of their civic government is to the fore in many Ontario cities and a number of different methods have been suggested. The palm for novelty must be awarded to the London Chamber of Commerce, which is arranging a tagging system to act as an incentive to lethargic electors. It is proposed to issue a tag to every elector who exercises the franchise and he or she will be asked to wear the tag not only on election day but on the following day as well as an emblem that the wearer has recognised his or her duty as an elector. In order to further stimulate the interest of the public it is proposed that the school children shall collect and return the badges, a prize being awarded the class in each school which brings in the greatest number of tags. Using the children in this public work is an ingenious stroke that should prove of valuable assistance to the movement.

The fact that schemes of this kind are being put into operation is proof of the contention that a very large percentage of the ratepayers in Canadian municipalities have failed to recognise the obligation that should rest upon their shoulders at election times. The ever-growing movement to correct this condition of affairs should be heartily welcomed by those who realize that no city can have really representative government unless there is a much larger portion of the vote recorded than has been the case in recent years.

MR. BURNHAM'S FAME.

It is amusing to those who know Mr. J. H. Burnham's real views on the question of prohibition to find that the freak referendum amendment he introduced into the House during the last session and afterwards withdrew is being interpreted by people who judge only from the words of amendment as a proof that the member of West Peterboro must be numbered among the ultra drys. Consequently Mr. Burnham is gaining in circles far remote from his native heath the reputation of being an ardent prohibitionist. Beyond the confines of Canada even his amendment has won him renown that is based on this assumption.

For example we find the New York Herald moralizing in this fashion over Mr. Burnham's "Feather and Card" resolution:

In spite of certain speeches made at the W. C. T. U. Convention at St. Louis to the effect that the next campaign to the organization would be for the total suppression of the use of tobacco, the leaders of the Anti-Saloon League seem to have taken alarm at the wide attention which the new "crusade" attracted throughout the country and have warned the women to go slowly.

Hence a denial that any such movement is planned for the immediate future, together with a statement that the reformers are to confine themselves to an "educational campaign against the "weed," which, while it may sooth and comfort, yet also, we are informed, stupefies, deadles and destroys.

Across the border in Canada, in the curious Province of Ontario, the "drys" are less timorous. Mr. J. H. Burnham, a Prohibition M. P. from Peterborough, has served notice of a motion which is reported officially as follows:—"That it be an instruction to the Committee of the Whole on the said (Prohibition) bill that the committee do have power to extend the provisions of the said bill and of the act sought to be amended thereby relating to intoxicating liquors to playing cards, the feathers of wild birds for dress or other ornamental purposes and to tobacco in any form."

Said one of the delegates at St Louis the other day:—"Let us make this our campaign and the victory shall be ours." If they don't look out the glory may belong to the neighborhood of Toronto, where they not only believe in blue laws but enforce them.

Local people will chuckle over the description of Mr. Burnham as "a Prohibition M. P. from Peterboro."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto Star says that Premier Drury is being overwhelmed with advice. And yet the Farmers' Sun urges organizations to fire resolutions at the new government.

The price of bread is likely to rise as a result of the lifting of the United States' embargo on wheat. An announcement of that kind is not nearly as great a shock as a statement that the price of something is going to drop.

The new Ontario government must feel thankful that the anti-vaccination campaign and Ald. Sanr McBride sometimes divert the Toronto Telegram from its round of attacks upon the Drury cabinet.

Seven Stages of Marriage.

"There are seven stages of married life, just as there are seven ages of man," is the united verdict of an octogenarian couple who have just celebrated their diamond wedding.

First, there is the period of sentimentalism, which comes to a healthy-minded boys and girls; it is the first stirring of new desires for a new and splendid life.

"Second, there comes the romantic period, which is a more advanced stage than the purely sentimental.

"With the third comes disillusion: it is not necessarily tragic. The man realizes that his wife is just a woman, and this 'disillusion' often brings more solid happiness to the husband than he could ever have hoped for from the ethereal vision he once had.

"The fourth is the period of patience. Each has got to adapt himself and herself to the new view of each other.

"Fifthly, there is the period of reformation. The callow ideas of youth fade away and the real man and the real woman emerge.

"The sixth period is a period of contentment; each has become attuned to the other.

Lastly, there is the period of romance. We have been married 6[illegible] years, and we can often see more romance in looking back than in looking forward. The best rises to the mind, and we can dwell on many happy recollections."

An Englishman and Archangel

IT is a curious fact that Archangel owes its origin to an Englishman. It was in the days of Spanish greatness, when the galleons of the King of Spain claimed to rule the sea after a truly Spanish fashion, and the strangely elastic law of reprisals made voyaging for all merchantmen in certain waters a very uncertain experience. For several years there had been talk in England, especially at the English court, of the possibility of the existence of a northeast passage to India, and of the desirability of exploring it. Such a passage, if it existed, would undoubtedly be safe from Spanish depredations, and there were, moreover, great possibilities of opening up in this way a new field for British trade. The talk, however, was all there was to the matter, until about the close of the reign of the boy King, Edward VI. About that time, however, the famous navigator Sebastian Cabot took up the question in earnest, and, in May of the year 1553, there set out from Deptford an expedition of three ships, under the command of Sir Hugh Willoughby, bound for the northern seas. One of these ships was the Bonaventure, of which Richard Chancellor was the "captain and pilot-general," and it is round this ship and its doughty captain and pilot-general that all the interest of the story centres. He did not discover the northeast passage, but he did "discover" Russia, and, after many surprising adventures, returned to London with a letter from the Tsar "establishing trade relations between the two nations."

But let the story be told more in detail. In a storm off the north coast of Norway, the ships became separated. Chancellor, however, succeeded in reaching Vardohus, the meeting place that had been agreed upon in case the ships were unable to keep together, and there he waited for the rest of the company. The other two ships never appeared, and after waiting seven days Chancellor weighed anchor and again set sail east. It was all unknown land and sea now, and so, hugging the shore all the time, he skirted the coast of the Kola peninsula, and, at last, coming to the narrow mouth of the White Sea, turned in. Then following, though he did not know it, the route of the old Norseman, he cast anchor ultimately in the "bleak haven" at the mouth of the Dvina, close to where Archangel stands to-day.

Now, it is a long way from Archangel to Moscow, over 600 miles at least, as the crow flies, and longer as the sledge would travel over the frozen lowlands. But, with that astonishing rapidity with which news sometimes traveled before the arrival of the telegraph, word was quickly brought to Ivan the Terrible, at Moscow, of the English navigator's arrival. Ivan was much interested, and at once despatched an envoy to bid him welcome and to convey a courteous invitation to him to come to the capital. Chancellor at once accepted, made the long and unaccustomed journey, found great favor with Ivan, secured his trade treaty, returned to his ship in the bleak haven, and sailed once again for England. Even then his adventures were not at an end, for, before he actually reached his desired haven on the English coast, his ship was attacked and plundered by Flemings. However, whatever else he lost, he did not lose his precious treaty, and the outcome of it all was the granting of a charter to the Association of Merchant Adventurers, also known as the Muscovy Company. That was in the year 1555. Soon afterwards an English factory was erected on the lower Dvina, and in 1584 a fort was built round which there gradually grew up the town and port of Archangel.

Dickens' Office Boy.

The perseverance with which the unimportant lingers in memory is illustrated by the sum total of what the veteran porter who lately retired from his post at Temple Gate, London, can now recall about Charles Dickens. Back in the sixties this man, it is said, was office boy for the author, then editing All the Year Round. All he remembers is that Dickens wore a "black velvet coat with big smoked-pearl buttons, and a queer waistcoat, and trousers of shepherd's plaid, the biggest check you ever saw, and a great big deerstalker hat, as they called them, and his hair all hanging down, wiry like. Also that once upon a time somebody asked him, "Is that a showman?" And he answered: "That's the great Charles Dickens." A vivid picture, and this is probably why, plain trousers and all, it still sticks in the former office boy's memory; but one wishes he could now recall some of the other things he must have observed in his remarkable chief.

Long Time Between Showers.

In 1918 rain fell in the nitrate territory of Chile for the first time in nearly half a century, and for the first time in man's memory the coast towns were free from dust.

EVAPORATED MILK
Pure Milk!
—handled with exacting care
The Borden policy is to ensure the unquestioned purity of its products. Scrupulous cleanliness and care in the dairy are not enough. The freshly drawn milk must be taken immediately to a clean, sanitary milk house well removed from the milking stable. It is here emptied into sterilized cans—kept cool until the day's supply is hauled to the condensary.
Borden's St. Charles Brand is the same pure, carefully guarded milk, from which a part of the natural moisture is removed. This makes it available under all conditions, for it keeps fresh and pure in the sterilized cans until opened. Add an equal part of water for fluid milk uses. Handy—economical—for every milk purpose. LONGER WORKDAY IN MINES.

German Workmen Volunteer to Increase Their Output.

BERLIN—During a conference of Government officials, Minister of Finance Erzberger announced that the coal miners in the Ruhr district had volunteered to introduce a seventh shift in the week's schedule in order to increase the output.

Reports coming in from various districts in Germany indicate improvement in the labor situation. In Mecklenburg, the railway repair shop workers insisted upon working last Wednesday which was an official religious holiday. In the vicinity of Dortmund, twelve out of nineteen smokestacks which were idle six weeks ago now give indications that the plants are in full operation.

California trappers receive as high as $20 for coyotes, $8 for wildcats and $2.50 for muskrats.

St. Augustine, Fla., fishermen, capitalizing their time during the dull season, received a daily income of from $40 to $50 by catching shrimp, while are running in big schools this autumn.

Washington despatch says demand for autos in Sweden is about 300 per cent. greater than in 1914, due to unusual wave of prosperity developed during war. Fords brought $2,268 apiece after the armistice.

COUNTY BRIDGES DELAYED BY LACK OF IRON GIRDERS

COUNCIL PREPARED TO MEET VICTORIA COUNCIL TO SETTLE KINMOUNT BRIDGE QUESTION.

Reeve Nicholls, chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee, presented a report to the County Council this morning of the work done by his department this year. Girven's and Birdsall's bridges in Asphodel had not been built because of the long delay in receiving the iron girders that had been ordered for them. Reeve Nicholls said that he regretted this unavoidable delay and informed the council that the materials were now on the ground for construction next year.

Reeves Brown and Darling were instructed to make temporary repairs to Girven's bridge for which the gravel has already been drawn.

Because of the somewhat unsafe condition of Birdsall's bridge it was decided to post notices to that effect at each end of the road leading to it, and Reeve Brown was authorized to procure the necessary gravel during the winter.

Reeve Griffith reported that the Deer River bridge beyond Cordova needed a guard rail and flooring. He was also assured that the cost of Freeman's bridge would be apportioned as follows: 40% to the government, and 30% each to the township and the county.

The Kinmount Bridle.

Reeves Shaw, Clark, Nicholls, Anderson, Brown and Warden McIntosh were appointed a committee to meet the Victoria Council's special committee to adjust the cost of maintaining the Kinmount bridge. If negotiations fail, the committee has the power to select an arbitrator to meet Victoria's representative.

Dep. Reeve Eason, Otonabee, suggested that if Victoria is not willing to give this county a square deal on the Kinmount bridge, that Peterborough's contribution to the Pigeon creek bridge be discontinued.

Reeve Shaw stated that Peterboro is already bearing a share of the maintenance of five gridges that are wholly in Victoria county. They are the Pigeon Creek, Little Bob, Kinmount and two Bobcaygeon bridges.

"There has been too much sentiment on our part," Mr. Eason remarked. Warden McIntosh addressed the council this morning touching upon the year's work and the prospects for next year especially in regard to better roads under possible changes in the Highways Act.

Account Unsettled.

David Conroy's account in connection with the Wallace Point bridge, was referred yesterday to the Joint bridge committee of the Counties of Northumberland and Durham and Peterboro, on a motion by Reeve Darling, seconded by Reeve Matheson. His claim is for $2350.09, of which $914.30 is for timber he said he was willing to keep at its original cost, thus leaving $1435.79 demanded in cash if the council did not wish to take the material. Mr. R. R. Hall presented Mr. Conroy's claim.

Solo—Mrs. D. H. McMillan: "God Send You Back to Me."
Flag Drill—"We'll Fight for the Grand Old Flag." (16 girls).
Duet—Misses Doidge and Webster.
Recitation—Miss Edith Little.

At the close of the programme, dainty refreshments were served by the young people.

All the numbers were well taken, but special mention should be made of the flag drill, under the capable direction of Mrs. Moore. Miss Loloa Waldon was the acocmpanist.

Mrs. McMillan, a newcomer to the village, has a sweet, well cultivated voice, and her solo was much appreciated. The duet by Misses Webster and Doidge was loudly encored, but the young ladies declined to respond. Their singing is always popular.

Mrs. S. Spence Mrs. William Sherin, and Mrs. Pearson and others assisted Mrs. Moore.

MEXICO REFUSES DEMAND FROM THE UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Mexico's note refusing to comply with the state department's recent demand for the release of William O. Jenkins, American Consular Agent, imprisoned at Puebla on the charge that he connived with bandits, had not been received in Washington early to-day. The only information officials had that the reply had been sent was contained in press despatches last night.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 27—Joseph Hume Cook, Minister of the Navy, in a speech to-day at Albury, said that while whole-heartedly supporting the League of Nations, he thought that Great Britain should keep its powder dry. AFTER HANGING BY ARM FOR AN HOUR MAN WALKS TO HAVE IT AMPUTATED

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.— Exhibiting fortitude and endurance that astonished the doctors and nurses, James Anderson, a returned soldier, walked to the operating room in St. Luke's Hospital here, holding a badly-mangled arm, and unassisted got on the table preparatory to having the arm amputated.

What makes Anderson's case all the more remarkable is that he had just been removed from the top of the elevator shaft in the Daly Company, Limited, store, where he had hung suspended by the arm for over an hour before the source of his shouts for help could be located.

All through the terible ordeal Anderson retained consciousness and was able to walk to the ambulance after being taken from his excruciating position.

Anderson was oiling the pulleys in the top of one of the elevator shafts just after the noon hour on Saturday, holding on with his right arm around a support when his foot slipped throwing the whole weight of his body on the arm. The arm was crushed by the sudden strain and the unfortunate man hung suspended with six storeys of space beneath him, a distance of nearly 80 feet.

He succeeded in relieving the strain to some extent by taking hold of the cross beam with his left hand but was unable to regain his footing. His shouting for help were for over an hour unavailing, when Capt. W. P. Grant, the manager of the store, who with other members of the firm, found and relieved him from his position.

MORE LIGHT ON THE RUSSIAN SITUATION

Some further and very illuminating facts regarding conditions in Russia are given by W. T. Goode, special commissioner for the Manchester Guardian.

One of the central doctrines of Bolshevism, says Goode, is work: everyone up to the age of 60, or until invalided, is supposed to be occupied in work that is useful to the State. This is one of the reasons of the bitter hostility of those who under the former regime lived without work of any kind, oblivious of the fact that, if they lived, someone must be working to supply the means. In a State which is already a great employer of labor and aims at becoming the only one this doctrine of work implies that the State labour, and this in turn implies that the workman must forego much of his freedom since his labour is arranged for and controlled by the State machine. The manner of this control has vast influence. The extent to which it is considerable or inconsiderate to the individual determines whether it is regarded merely as irksome interference or as a blatant tyranny. The possession of high wages and increased leisure does not destroy this opinion, which has evoked hostility amongst the workmen—a matter easily understood, especially when it is known that large numbers of workmen are not Communists.

After 60—Rest.

A working day of eight hours has been fixed, with less for occupations that are injurious to health, and only six hours between the ages of 16 and 18, the remaining two hours being spent in study, pay being unaffected. Another feature is the right to a month's holiday with full pay, though the full month has not yet been granted owing to the war conditions, except in the case of the dangerous trades. The ordinary worker has received only two weeks of holiday. At the age of 60 the worker retires on full pay as pension, and if he be invalided or incapacitated before that age a committee decides on the proportion of incapacitation and assesses the retiring allowance accordingly.

Opportunities for Advancement.

The common idea of a Socialistic State as one in which everyone is on a level, all receiving the same rate of pay, is not borne out by Soviet Russia. Elaborate tariffs have been prepared for all classes of occupation without exception, the gradation being very minute, and fixed scales of pay for all the stages apportioned. The labor of drawing up these must have been incredible; it was supplied by the professional alliances, and the tariffs are regularly revised. Pay ranged from 600 roubles a month up to 3,000 roubles, but a revision provided from the 1st September, for the lower scale to be 1,200 roubles and the highest 4,000 roubles. Even this is not the highest where a much needed specialist is in question a committee of the Commissaries, after investigating the case, can order any sum to be paid. But such cases are judged on their merits, and according to the public need. When I was there Lenin himself received 2000 roubles a month, a figure a long way below the highest grade of salaries on the former tariff.

There is no reason why any workman should remain in the position fixed for him by the tariff, for by employing his leisure in self-improvement he can advance, and, it was asserted, many do advance. More than that, it was said that the elections to the various committees tend to bring out the men who possess special qualities, and make the system selective of the most brains among the mass of workmen. If that is true it is high praise and in any case, I came personally across instances of workers who had been elected by their fellows on to a workmen's committee, had proved their worth, and had advanced right up to the Supreme Council.

Making Russia Self-Contained.

The absence of raw material has provoked an inventive spirit. Cotton mills, for instance, are working on flax threads cut up into short lengths to imitate cotton fibre; generating stations have been built on the turf marshes for an unlimited supply of power, because of the lack of the ordinary coal and oil fuel and the difficulty of a full supply of wood. One thing seems certain, the Russian has been forced by the conditions of war to be self-sufficient, or, as one mill director put it to me, "We have been forced to learn many things which we shall not forget."

Land Only for Those Who Will Use It.

The land question has also passed through various stages since the March revolution. Before the fall of the Kerensky Government the peasants had begun taking the land, and the Bolsheviks, who played for peasant support by promising land, had to regularise what had already been done and keep their promises. The great landowners were expropriated, the land surveyed, and divided amongst the peasants who were landless or possessed too little. Even here the doctrine of work was put into force—no one has more land than he and his family can cultivate; there is to be no hired labour. But they tried to overcome the drawbacks of these small holdings by setting up land communes, where the advantages of co-operative farming were worked out in concrete object-lessons for the peasants to follow; by establishing stations some 600 of them all over the country for the improvement of seeds and of stock, the results being freely placed at the disposal of the peasants, who were beginning to use them, a fact of which the correspondent himself had ocular demonstration.

Rulers Are Workers.

The heads of the Russian Government are, Goode says, idealists and have been working with almost super-human energy to realise their ideal. These men are sincere and though sincerity may be an attribute of a criminal as well as of a saint, so much must be admitted for great play has been made in the West of stories of their self-seeking, their orgies, their personal ambition, all of which are without foundation. The reality is a simplicity of life and manners joined to an incredible amount of work which make the stories highly discreditable.

They are able men, and have proved themselves good administrators. In their rule they have reduced the chaos of the first revolution to a condition of order. They have improved the condition of workmen in pay, hours of labour, employment of leisure, and general conditions quite out of all recognition.

Order Maintained.

For the land they have a great policy. If one regrets their principles, one can see that they acted swiftly and with effect. They employed expropriation, certainly, but they distributed the land to those who could and would work it, not in a haphazard fashion, but with the usual Bolshevik minuteness of organization necessary for carrying out so stupendous a proposal. They attacked the abuses of official life and have removed them, or when discovered fiercely punish them, and many gesticulating abuses of town life have either disappeared or are in process of disappearance. In Moscow, other towns, and the countryside where the correspondent went they have maintained order and security, and though in Moscow the methods they adopted to put down hooliganism and indiscriminate robbery and insecurity were extremely drastic, they have, at any rate, been successful.

Making Education Compulsory.

In education they have been acting with wide vision and producing good results. Their provisions for national hygiene, medical service, the endowment of motherhood, and especially for the care of children are farsighted, and show a full realisation of the responsibility of the State in these respects. In the crucial matter of the food of the country they have however imperfectly, maintained a supply to all parts of Great Russia against difficulties of transport—caused largely by the necessary military and other services—that are almost incredible. If in this respect their greatest care was their armies and munition workers, in that they have but copied the action of all the peoples engaged in the Great War. In regard to the small nations which have broken away from the old Russian Empire, the Bolsheviks are the only people out of all those contending in Russia who have unequivocally declared their willingness to recognize the independence of these peoples. Such a line of action is based upon one of the very principles of their existence. So much is the latter placed to their credit.

On the other hand, the Bolsheviks are a minority of the population of Russia, though a much larger minority than is frequently stated. Being a minority, they have made force their great lever, and have worked it remorselessly against their opponents, especially against the possessing classes.

WOODSTOCK SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANS APPROVED.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 26. — The City Council has been informed that the Provincial Board of Health has given its approval to the proposed new intercepting sewer and sewage disposal scheme, and accordingly a by-law regarding it will be submitted to the people at the time of the municipal elections the first of the year.

The new plant will cost $120,000, but it will overcome the long-standing sewage troubles of the city, and particularly those in the southern portion.

The work of construction will be commenced as soon as possible next spring. When completed the city will have one of the best systems in this part of the Province.

If you divide the mind you scatter the effort. It is not only necessary to concentrate but it is necessary to concentrate on one thing at a time.

LANDLORD CONVICTED OF FORCIBLE ENTRY; MAY GO TO PRISON

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Henry S. Proctor, president of the Acme Improvement Company, owners of a block of apartment houses in Central Park West, was convicted in Special Sessions of forcible entry on the complaint of Harry J. Reed, a tenant in one of the buildings. The conviction carries an indeterminate sentence in the penitentiary and a fine. He was held in $500 bail for sentence on December 8.

According to testimony adduced before Justices Kernochan, Salmon and Herbert, Mr. Reed has a lease on an apartment in the house at No. 434 Central Park West, which expires in October, 1920. On August 15 last, while Mrs. Reed was walking in Central Park, Proctor entered her apartment and directed workmen to rip through the floor and ceiling to install pipes for bathrooms in the apartments above and below the Reed apartment.

Solomon Teksisky, Assistant District Attorney, brought out through the testimony of Mrs. Reed that Proctor had failed her to a municipal court in an effort to have her lease broken, and when the case was dismissed Proctor invaded her apartment to direct the workmen.

Evidence was produced which revealed that while, under his lease, Mr. Reed paid only $45 a month for an apartment of seven rooms, the Acme Improvement Company renovated the apartments of all the houses on the block, with the exception of that occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Reed, and that seven room apartments were divided into two apartments of three and four rooms, at a rental of from $75 to $100.

Proctor in his defence declared the invasion of Mr. Reed's apartment was necessary in order to effect necessary alterations in the apartments on the floors above and below.

Justice Kernochan dissented from the decision, but Justices Salmon and Herbert declared that Proctor's guilt was established through the proceedings in the municipal court which proved his intent to compel Mr. and Mrs. Reed to move, evidently in order that their apartments also might be divided to obtain higher rents.

JESS BUSINESS.

LAWRENCE, Kansas, Nov. 27.— Arriving here from his farm in Shawnee County, Jess Willard denied he had written to Tex Rickard about re-entering the fighting game. He said he wanted to see Rickard about oil and moving picture interests, which they had in common and expected him to come west in December.

"I am too busy to fight," was the only answer Willard would make to a direct question whether he planned to enter the ring again.

OVATION FOR MESSRS. M'DONALD AND TOOMS AT COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING

WERE SPECIALLY INVITED TO MEET THE COUNCIL—MUTUAL SYMPATHY DEEPENED AND BETTER RELATIONS ESTABLISHED BY RECENT SUCCESS OF COMMON CAUSE OF LABOUR AND FARMERS

Messrs. E. McDonald and T. Tooms, East and West Peterborough's recently elected members of the Provincial Government, were given a rousing reception this morning when they visited the County Council upon a special invitation. This incident of the sessions was something of a precedent and the enthusiasm shown in the greeting to the local victors in the elections recalled the scene inspired by Charlie Cobon when he set the keynote for the Council's singing of the National Anthem as a patriotic period to the passing of the County's first contribution to the Dominion's war chest.

Mr. McDonald said that the Government was anxious to get in touch with all County Councils with respect to problems affecting all classes. He was in favour of the Hydro-Electric policy and would try to bring about amendments that would be in the interest of the people as a whole. Every effort would be put forward to develop the Hydro scheme without inflicting hardships on property owners without providing compensatory remuneration. The Hydro idea had proved its success and usefulness, but in future it should be more actively promoted and extended in this section of Ontario.

Mr. Tooms expressed his appreciation of the invitation from the County Council. He regarded it as an evidence of the closer relations and better understanding that were growing up between the Farmers and Labour. Mutual confidence and respect with co-operation were absolutely necessary to the advancement of this province. Mr. Tooms said he supported Mr. McDonald in his ideas of improving rural conditions, especially in this district.

Both members of the Legislature intimated that they wished to work with the county in solving the problems that confront the people, and in urging the needs and helpful suggestions the Council may put forth.

Warden McIntosh thanked Mr. McDonald and Mr. Tooms for their assurances of assistance and sympathy.

Reeve Shaw of Harvey spoke of the necessity of maintaining the colonization roads in the back country. The Government should make substantial grants toward to those highways that were not provided for under the Highways Improvement Act.

TORONTO I.O.D.E. LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

CHAPTERS PLEDGE $75,000 AS SHARE OF $500,000 WAR MEMORIAL.

PLAN WAS APPROVED

The Toronto campaign for the I. O.D.E. war memorial was launched Wednesday at a luncheon at the King Edward Hotel, under the auspices of the Municipal Chapter. There were between eight and nine hundred women present and $75,000 was pledged in behalf of the Toronto chapters of the I.O.D.E. towards the $500,000 it is proposed to raise for the memorial. Miss Kathleen O'Brien regent of the Municipal Chapter, presided, and at the conclusion of the luncheon asked for a standing pledge for Toronto's share in the work, which was heartily given.

"The greatest league of free nations in the world today is the League of the British Empire," said Hon. Dr. Cody, in the course of a stirring and Imperialistic address, in which he outlined the aims ann objects of the I.O.D.E. war memorial. To any organization which had raised $4,500,000 during the war, Dr. Cody declared the raising of $500,000 would be a mere bagatelle, and he went on to show that the Daughters of the Empire are doing a seemly thing in thus seeking to commemorate the men who died and who very largely contributed in the winning of the war. Dr. Cody stated that in seeking to do a work of education and Canadianization the I.O.D.E. realize there is "democracy and democracy," and a great deal which masquerades under the name of democracy is not democracy at all.

"How are you going to make democracy safe and sane for the people of the world to live in?" he asked. Dr. Cody told of the university education to be provided for the boys and girls of deceased soldiers, sailors or members of the air force, and of the series of scholarships open to them as they attend the universities throughout the Dominion. He explained the nine post-graduate scholarships, one for every province, which will give one year at a British university.

"We don't want our youths to go to German universities, as they did almost exclusively before the war," he said, and added that out of those nine attending British universities one would be chosen for a further year's study at any university he might choose and that he hoped Paris would be selected by many.

Lecture Foundations.

The lecture foundations will embrace a course of lectures upon imperial problems, and Dr. Cody emphasized the importance of these. He showed how important it is to get in touch with the great mass of boys and girls in the elementary schools and pointed out that their interests are in common with the universities.

Dr. Cody also explained the Canadianization work among children of foreign parents which is being undertaken as part of the memorial work, through the war memorial pictures placed in 1,000 schools; through free illustrated lectures on history and geography; and the placing of historical libraries in every school where there are foreign pupils.

"There is no antagonism between ardent Imperialism and ardent Canadianism," Dr. Cody stated, and added that though he had been accused of being a "jingoist imperialist," he had sought to have taught within the schools the ideals of the British Empire.

Sir Robert Falconer showed the relation of the effort to the University. The president of Toronto University pointed out that though university education is regarded as a luxury that can be dispensed with by many people, the percentage of students who attend universities in Canada is very large.

The control and direction in the future will be in the hands of the leaders, Sir Robert stated, and unless they can lead with a clear eye we shall be led to disaster. Right intentions are not enough; it is necessary also to have the clear eye.

"The tendency of university education is to make people think otherwise it is useless," said Sir Robert. The speaker showed that scholarships are a saving to the country of human resources, and the more the better. There is no disgrace in scholarships and the idea should be spread abroad that this is not charity.

"What we want in this country is to develop brains and character," he asserted.

Sir Robert showed that one of the pitiful things in the soldiers' re-establishment is that these men never got a chance to do the things they wanted to do until they were disabled.

General Nicholl, C.B., C.M.G., gave some interesting reminiscences of the war.

TELEPHONIC "NEWSPAPER" IS LATEST INVENTION

NEW YORK—Distracted telephone users may be heartened by reading of a system which was heavenly perfection itself.

It existed in Budapest before the war—though one can imagine its fate at the hands of the Bolshevists since—in the shape of what may be called a telephonic "journal," called the "Hirmondo."

A special telephone was installed in every subscriber's house, and from the central office the day's news was announced by a clear-voiced speaker.

At 9 a.m. you had a call to give you the correct time of day—this being repeated hour by hour—and all stock exchange fluctuations, murders and so on came over the 'phone as they occurred.

At noon you had the news of the day condensed in a clear narrative and, then, keeping the receiver to your ear, could listen to a snappy story or a thrilling instalment of a serial.

For two hours each afternoon you were electrophonically connected—if you wished—with the performance of a famous military band, and on two evenings a week with the grand opera house.

The Romance of the Okanagan

(1) Fruit Orchards, Summerland, B.C.
(2) View of the Okanagan Lake, Penticton, B.C.

"The Cecil Rhodes of the Okanagan" has been the title given Mr. J. M. Robinson of Naramata, Okanagan Valley, B. C.

It is due to his energy and vision that the valley is now covered with smiling orchards and is one of the assets of the Dominion.

From his newspaper office in Portage La Prairie, Manitoba, in 1894, Mr. Robinson observed a family of eight, with their savings of ten thousand dollars, leaving for California. That they were seeking a milder climate led him to remark that it was to be regretted that Canada should lose such citizens and that there was not a Canadian California.

Two years later Mr. Robinson and his party went to Rossland, at the time of the mining-boom and formed a prospecting party who went into the Okanagan valley and located claims near Peachland and established Camp Hewitt. The hills refused to uncover their store house of metals. With courage they faced the conviction that their hopes were blighted. However, if the hills of Peachland revealed that the greatest wealth lay in the surface soil which, when cultivated and planted, produced fruit and vegetables, unsurpassed.

At the ranch of Mr. Lambly, gold commissioner, Mr. Robinson was given peaches and was amazed to learn that they had been grown on the ranch. He at once realized that he had found that for which he had been searching, the Canadian California. Boundless possibilities lay in the great reaches of upland, covered with scattered pines and sage brush. A tract purchased on the bench was called Peachland, the name carrying the advertisement with it. Eastern people then inquired if "Peaches grew in Peachland", so there truly was much in a name. To have one hundred families occupying the land that one family occupied; to see the barren, parched hills the homes of thousands of Easterners was the dream of the "Father of the Okanagan." Promoting this colonization scheme, a car of settlers was brought from Manitoba in 1898, a preacher and a teacher included, as there were twenty-one children in the party. The Peachland townsite company was formed and the land was divided into small holdings of ten acres. An irrigation system was installed, the water being brought from the mountain streams flowing into the lake and, with assured irrigation, the land sold at nominal cost. Orchards were planted and homes erected. It was all an experiment as irrigation was a new thing in Canada. A school was built, a store was opened, a union church was established. The first service was held on the veranda of Mr. Robinson's home and this union church continued for some years. The late Mr. J. R. Somerset, former business manager of the "Winnipeg Free Press" joined the colony and attended the fruit farm part of the enterprise. It required five years for the trees to come into full bearing and during that time there were many colonists "flake" but the staunch-hearted men continued their transformation plans. Over twenty miles of pipe lines were constructed and gave access to every tract. Electric and domestic water systems were installed. In due time, one hundred thousand fruit trees were bearing and the land and valleys back of the lake were planted to the very mountains, so the slopes were freed of their burden of pine trees. Woodlands gave place to orchards of apples, pears, peaches, apricots, plums and cherries.

This was one of the first small fruit farm enterprise in Canada where the irrigation system was installed by the company. The early days of development had to break down a prejudice against irrigation and when once a grower has learned to be his own rain-maker, he prefers the continuity of that to any other method.

Having found Peachland, Mr. Robinson determined to exploit a new district and to the south of his last enterprise, purchased ten thousand acres in 1903. No title could be more fitting than Summerland, applied to the new district which is the sunny centre of the Okanagan.

Summerland has an unusually picturesque environment. In the centre of the district rises the peak known as Giants Head.

The last venture in pioneering was at Naramata on the opposite shore of the lake. Over the hills that were parched and grey, pine-covered homes and public orchards now greet the eye. From the Lake front, at night, the twinkling lights of hundreds of homes shine far and clear and a vision has become a splendid reality. Mr. Robinson, the benefactor, to whom both the Okanagan and the Dominion owe much, rests content.

Possessing a Christian name that is probably without a duplicate in all the world is the rather unique distinction enjoyed by Mrs. Mackenzie, a well-known woman in English society. Mrs. Mackenzie, whose husband was killed in France, is a daughter of Lord and Lady Knollys, who have long been on terms of intimacy with the British royal family. Her Christian name, Louvima, is happily compounded of the Christian names of Queen Alexandra's three daughters — the Princess Royal (Princess Louise), Princess Victoria, and Princess Maud, now Queen of Norway.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble, and the [illegible] quickly and health fully [illegible] pepsin pills or [illegible]

U.S. SOLDIER DEAD MUST STAY IN FRANCE TILL FRENCH ARE READY TO EXHUME THEIR OWN

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The 65,000 American dead in France must be left in the graves they now occupy until the French are ready to exhume their own dead, which it is hoped will be before Jan. 1, 1922.

The Foreign Office had promised to consider the latest request of the American Government for the return of the fallen soldiers but later the following official announcement was made

"It has been definately decided that the Allies who fell together for the same cause should remain together in death until circumstances permit of the returning of the bodies to the families for whom they sacrificed themselves."

The proposed law forbidding the exhumation of the soldier dead for three years did not pass at the last session of the Chamber of Deputies but the Foreign Office expects that it will be adopted soon. This bill specifies a delay in exhumation of three years from the promulgation of the law, but it is expected that this period will be shortened. At the Foreign Office it is said to be probable that the exhumation will begin considerably before January, 1922.

TAG THE VOTERS LONDON' I A

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 28 The Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to get out voters at the municipal elections, are considering a scheme to have the deputy returning officer of each subdivision issue a tag to every man or woman who votes. The class securing the greatest number in each school will be awarded a prize. In this manner it is thought that the children will be interested and that they will be valuable publicity work in their homes

CHIEF OF MOSLEMS COMMENDS DRY LAW

SHEIK-UL-ISLAM SAYS THAT DRINK BROUGHT RUIN TO TURKISH EMPIRE.

Constantinople—Gratification over amendment to United States Constitution forbidding the sale of liquor was expressed by Abraham Effendi, Sheik-ul-Islam, spiritual head of the Moslem Church, in a conversation with the correspondent today.

"Drink is the mother of all evil," he said, "and lack of abstention from it wrought our downfall. I am delighted to observe that America is realizing God's command as spoken to our Prophet. It is strange that, after thirteen and a half centuries, a new nation should adopt prohibition, while we, whose Prophet commanded it, should again begin an effort to enforce abstinence.

Abraham Effendi, who counts among his followers 300,000,000 in the Moslem world, received the correspondent in his palace in Stamboul. The palace is built in two stories hanging gardens, and overlooks the Golden Horn. He sat in a many-windowed and austere white room, his venerable, stern figure, gray beard snow-white turban and black gown making a striking picture.

"It is with pride that we observe America's adoption of prohibition, after trying drunkenness," he said. "It was somewhat so with us in the lifetime of our Prophet, who first warned us against alcohol as the cause of financial ruin and the dethronement of reason, but when the Conqueror of Egypt said his prayers drunkenly at Medina, then God cursed liquor and the Prophet declared 'Drinking is one of the devil's works, like gambling, and whosoever drinketh loseth God's grace.'

"Our law regards drink as the worst evil, because it breeds other evils, whereas other habits may not do this. It is a matter of history that so long as our people did not drink they were of sound morality and order and were also prosperous.

"Sobriety was the secret of Islam's success as the builder of empires. But drink brought ruin. It came from contact with Europe, whose other bad habits we acquired at least in our cities, for the country is still sober. Our women do not drink. If ever Islam recovers, it will be because prohibition is restored to make men strong, clean and intellectual.

"We are now launching a prohibition campaign throughout Islam to make God's wisdom respected."

HAD ECZEMA For Over 28 Years

Eczema or Salt Rheum manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust is formed, and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat is almost unbearable.

The success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in skin diseases of each severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties, and we know of no other remedy that has done or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Mr. James Walker, 152 Niagara St., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I have been using Burdock Blood Bitters for some months past, and find it an excellent remedy for skin eruptions. I have suffered with eczema for over 28 years, and have tried almost everything you could think of. I was recommended to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and I am now clear of my skin trouble. It is certainly a good remedy and I shall recommend it to all my friends."

Great Britain the Bulwark.

Whatever may happen in other countries of Europe, we are assured Great Britain never will succumb to Bolshevism. As she was the defender of civilization by her navy against the barbarism of German undersea warfare, so she is now the chief bulwark against the spread of anarchistic doctrines. With an empire stretching over the world she is the most democratic of nations, and her laboring men are pursuing a constitutional course to obtain their share of the benefits arising from the general advance in wages.

There is not the slightest demand for pronounced social changes. William G. Shepherd, a former labor member of Parliament, states in an interesting interview published in the Evening Post. On the whole, the average English workman has quite as much liberty as the ordinary laborer in America. No self-sufficient moralists there presume to dictate what he should eat or drink, and the Government is actually spending $7,000,000 a week in pensioning the deserving unemployed.

This may seem a little startling to old-time theorists who believe that the individual should take care of himself without Government paternalism, and their theory is correct, too, provided equal opportunities exist for all. But the war has so disturbed all economic factors that such opportunities have been interfered with, and the British Government is determined on affording this relief until peace is declared, giving facility for an easy return to normal conditions.

The British Industrial Conference, appointed last month at the instance of Premier Lloyd George, is working in the same direction. The return of soldiers from the war is to be in part provided for by the discouragement of overtime, which the shortage of men has made necessary, and with a maximum working week of forty-eight hours it is calculated that a congestion of idle labor will be obviated. State development of new industries is urged to do the rest, together with raising the age of child workers. These are some of the solutions that might be considered in this country.—New York Times.

In the year 1785 a haughty noble of the ancient regime of France fell in love with a beautiful girl, the daughter of a wealthy tradesman of Paris. The latter, refusing to encourage the nobleman's passion, was soon after thrown into the Bastile. The sweetheart of the girl, who was to have married her in a few days, dreading a like fate, made his escape to Constantinople to serve as a volunteer under the grand seigneur, leaving his intended bride secreted with a woman friend. On the outbreak of the revolution the young man returned to Paris and was the very grenadier who first mounted the breach made in the Bastile, from the dungeons of which he had the happiness of rescuing the father of his future bride.

I sent for a sample box, and even this small quantity brought a little improvement. Now, after persevering for some months with Zam-Buk, my face is entirely rid of the eruption." 50c. box, all dealers.

SAYS SIBERIA IS SUFFERING.

Typhus and Poverty Working Havoc, Red Cross Chief Declares.

TOKIO.—Colonel R. B. Teusler of Tokio, chief of the Siberian-American Red Cross forces, arrived here yesterday after two months of active work throughout the whole Siberian field from Vladivostok to the Ural Mountains.

He said that conditions in Siberia were almost indescribable and that he could not exaggerate in speaking of the fearful state into which virtually the whole country was plunged and which now grows worse daily. The uncontrollable spread of typhus and the deprivation of the great mass of the people, more especially the women and children, caused intense suffering.

The Red Cross, he said, is doing its best against a rising tide of disease, suffering and death. So far as it goes the equipment is excellent, but anything except upon an almost gigantic scale would be unequal to the present task.

While still in Siberia Dr. Teusler sent appeals broadcast throughout civilization and has succeeded in arousing widespread interest.

ANOTHER EPIDEMIC OF THE SPANISH INFLUENZA

A great many authorities have predicted a return of that terrible plague which swept Canada from one end to the other not long ago and left so many deaths in its wake, and those who did survive were left in a great many cases with some serious after effect such as weak heart, shattered nerves, impoverished blood and a general weakened and exhausted condition of the system.

If you are run down, heart not just right, nerves a little shaky, take a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and fortify your system against this terrible plague.

If you had the "Flu" before and it left you with any bad effect Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will bring you back to health and strength.

Mrs. C. C. Palmer, Keppel, Sask., writes:—"I wish to inform you of the great good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. After a bad attack of the Spanish Influenza my heart and nerves were left in a very bad condition. I got two boxes of your pills and must say they are the best I ever used, and I have taken a great many different kinds. I will always keep Heart and Nerve Pills in the house."

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptons due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

By strengthening the nerves, weak, tired people regain energy and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health.

CAUTION—Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so, that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

FLEEING GERMANS IN PERIL.

Berlin Fears for Troops in Courland Routed by Letts.

BERLIN.—German troops in the Baltic region are in a desperate situation, according to reports printed in the Tageblatt.

Legions, including several free corps, have collected south of Mitau and have been attacked by Lettish forces near Kruka, the enemy advancing from the northeast in an attempt to seize the railroad running from Mitau to Shavli. Five trains along this road carrying refugees from Mitau have been fired upon by Lithuanians, it is said, fifty persons being killed and 150 wounded. Efforts are being made to keep the railroad clear so that the refugees can escape.

The General in command of the Sixth German Corps has his headquarters at Shavli, west of which city the roads are in control of the Germans.

Dispatches state that the situation is extraordinarily serious and in some cases desperate.

Canadian Faces and Anzac Faces.

Some who watched Saturday's march of the overseas troops fancied they detected the emergence of national types. Seeing large bodies of men from Australia, Canada, and New Zealand in the mass is a different thing from coming on equal numbers scattered in various places. It was the long succession of faces which seemed to imprint on the observers brain a recognizable composite photograph, as it were, of the Australian, Canadian, and New Zealander respectively.

Comparing impressions after the march, two men who cherished this fancy agreed on the Australian and Canadian types. The Australian, they told each other, was a fine fellow physically, and had a countenance which would look well on an old Roman coin, there being about him a suggestion of bearded row and ancient imperialism. The Canadian, on the other hand, was more English in his traits, and but for a certain breadth of feature might make an excellent Cockney. As for the New Zealander, one of the two observers had carried away an impression of slighter and more agile make, with a richer coloring, both in face and eyes, than either the Australian or the Canadian. The second man denied that New Zealand had evolved a type; but, as he happened to be a New Zealander himself, it might be argued that his perception was obscured by familiarity.

Prof. Keith, the eminent anthropologist, who has recently been giving us such interesting lessons from the human skull, was asked whether this empirical theory of types was soundly based. Though sympathetic, he was not reassuring, being inclined to think that if Englishmen and their overseas brethren were mingled in equal proportions it would be difficult, if not impossible, to distinguish between them. Climatic conditions produced superficial differences. The New Zealander's color, for example, might be ascribed to the atmospherical surroundings of his life at home; to the same causes, indeed, which impart the tinge to the Englishman's cheek, and to which the English girl owes her complexion.

But science is so far from being dogmatic on the question that it regrets the opportunity afforded by the massed presence of so many members of the British family in England has been lost owing to the immediate necessities of war. Instructive data might have been obtained if authority had not been compelled to fix its attention on more urgent matters. Even now there remains a chance of securing details of the kind to which science can pay attention before the great battalions are broken up for ever.—London Times.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and my doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well.

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my trouble so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is suffering with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARY BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

REV. A. J. AND MRS. MACKENZIE HONOURED BY LADIES' AID OF KNOX PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

ADDRESS WAS FOLLOWED BY THE PRESENTATION OF A GRANDFATHER'S CLOCK.

Last evening the home of Rev. A. J. MacKenzie, pastor of Knox church was invaded by about sixty members of Knox Church Ladies Aid Society who met together to welcome Mrs. MacKenzie into their midst and to present her and their pastor with a beautiful grandfather's clock as a remembrance of the love and goodwill of the members of the Ladies Aid

The Address.

The address was read by Mrs. George Davis Secretary of the Ladies Aid and the presentation was made by the president, Mrs. Thos. Carpenter.

Rev. and Mr. MacKenzie were completely surprised but Rev. MacKenzie replied in a few well-chosen words.

Dainty refreshments were served and the evening was spent in music and games.

The Address

The address follows:

Peterboro, Nov. 27.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie:

We have assembled here this evening, a band of members of the Ladies Aid Society of Knox Church. We have descended on your habitation like an invading army, but we assure you both our purpose is an altogether peaceful one and you need feel no alarm even though we do come armed. It is our intention to take possession of your home for a short time this evening, and as you see our swords are gone, you may as well capitulate at once.

Though but a short time since we have become acquainted with you Mrs. MacKenzie, your place in our affection and esteem is an assured one and we feel sure the attachment thus so happily formed will but strengthen with time and with the passing years. As a slight mark of our regard for you both, permit us to present you with this Grandfather's clock in the hope that as it gently ticks off the seconds, it may serve to recall to you both in later years your friends of Knox Church Peterboro.

Signed Mrs. Thos. Carpenter, Pres.
Mrs. David Beavis, Treas.
Mrs. George Davis, Sec.

WAS ARRESTED FOLLOWING FIRE

WOMAN'S HEAD WAS SMASHED

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Nov. 28. — George James Coppen, who was arested shortly after midnight after part of his home had been destroyed and the remains of his wife partly burned therein, was arraigned in police court this morning and remanded to await further investigation. The police discovered that the woman's head had been badly smashed. Neighbors declared that she had been living for years in a secluded part of the house and denied the company of her husband and young son.

DRURY DECLARES THE SWISS GOVERNMENT GENUINE DEMOCRACY

"MOST LOGICAL IN THE WORLD," SAY UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR AND U.F.O. PREMIER.

"If I wished to point out the most logical and most successful democracy in the world at the present time" said a prominent member of the University on Thursday. "I'd point to Switzerland." The same verdict came from Ernest C. Drury, the new Premier: "Yes, I have studied the Swiss system, and I think it has been a success." With the exception of proportional representation, which the Swiss rejected in 1910, the Swiss system, in Mr. Drury's opinion, has eliminated all the objectionable features of party government. Trickery, snap votes, plots, counter plots, all the meaningless paraphernalia of party intrigue have disappeared since the introduction of the initative, the referendum, and the election of the seven members of the Executive by the two Houses of Parliament for a period of three years.

No Political Crisis.

When a measure is defeated in the Swiss Council of State the Upper Chamber, or in the National Council, the Lower Chamber, there is no crisis no general election: the measure is simply defeated, that is all. The Executive, or Cabinet, is not dependent on the vote of a majority of the Federal Assembly; it is elected for three years. Party fury and bitterness, with the spoils system, are practically eliminated. The nature of the measure before the house is the only thing that counts.

The Swiss system is in reality a compromise between representative and direct government. This is embodied in the referendum, or in other words, the poll of the people, which is a check on representatives. In the fifty years between 1848, when the constitution, revised once since then, was inaugurated, and 1898 the referendum has been used fifty times. It is compulsory in constitutional changes and in the case of ordinady legislation, upon the petition of 30,000 or more electors or of eight cantons, within three months of its passage through the Assembly. As a result the people are calmer and the Government more stable.

Deputies Seldom Change.

Very often the Deputies remain Deputies undisturbed for many years. When the people feel sure that they can fall back on the referendum the Deputies are given a far wider scope. That the referendum is considered very seriously, and that the people have differed from their representative, is shown, for example, in the Workmen's Accident and Insurance Bill, which was passed by the Assemblies with only one dissenting vote, but was rejected by a great majority of the people who were insured in benefit companies, with which the new bill clashed. It was only when the Assemblies had remedied this defect that the measure was triumphant in 1907.

"People make the statement that the referendum is expensive," said the University professor above refered to, "without knowing the facts. I was in Switzerland in the spring of 1913, when there was a referendum on the St Gothard Pass Railway convention, the first move in the nationalization of the railways. That whole referendum cost the Swiss Government about $1,000, just simply the cost of the printing. Permanent Government officials have to work just a few hours extra for once in their lives. For that price don't it easier to have a referendum once for all, for instance, where the people really stand on Home Rule or Tariff Reform?"

Initative in Vogue.

Just as component a part of the Swiss democracy is the initative often talked of by the politicans of our Province these days. If we really believe that it is an axiom that a truly democratic government should first and foremost express as far as humanly possible the will of the people, then the initative is just as important as the referendum, say some of the new politicians. It is the right of 50,000 electors to insist either in general or specific terms on certain constitutional amendments being submitted to the electors. Lately there has been a move on foot to authorize the application of the initative to general legislation; indeed, in many of the separate cantons, this is already the case. While the initative is very seldom used, it is held that there is no doubt that it is unquestionably the logical conclusion of the principle of democratic government.

System in Brief.

1. Three and a half million people; 22 sovereign states or cantons.

2. Federal Assembly. Two chambers. (a) National Council—189 members, one to every 20,000 people. 1—Elected every 3 years, by males over 20 years. 2—paid $4.16 a day during session.

(b) Council of State (upper Chamber)—44 members, two from every canton, which have full arrangements for their election.

3. Federal Council (executive)—7 members, elected for 3 years by the joint chambers, may sit and speak in either House, but cannot vote.

4. Vice-president, one of the Federal Council.

5. President, one of the Federal Council, chosen yearly by the joint Houses, and presides over Federal Council.

6. Poll of the people (referendum).

7. Initiative.

In summing up the Swiss Constitution it remains to be noted that seventy years ago civil war divided the population. No greater differences from the standpoints of race, language, and religion can be found in any country. There are four distinct races in Switzerland. There is a distinct cleavage between Protestants and Catholics. There are three official languages. There is a mountain chain which divides the country in two. Yet there has been no more peaceful country in Europe for the last 60 years. All this peacefulness and progress, it is claimed, cannot be altogether ascribed to the wisdom of the Swiss electors and their placid compromising nature, but rather to excellence of their political machinery.

LIGHT BURNED TEN YEARS FOR MISSING MATE

WIFE FINALLY CONCLUDES SHE DESERTED AND GETS DIVORCE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—There is no light burning in the window of Mrs. Adeline Fields' home at 615 Howard street to guide home the wandering footsteps of Wm. F. Fields. For ten years the lamp glowed steadily through the night hours.

Mrs. Fields recently blew out the light, put on her hat and coat, and went down-town to see a lawyer. A few minutes later a suit for divorce was on file, and an hour or so later—for Mrs. Fields, after waiting ten years, had suddenly become impatient and insisted on quick action—Judge Thomas F. Graham was hearing her testimony.

"I married William F. Fields, a railroadman, in Denver, in September, 1909," she said. "He left soon afterward. For ten years I've been waiting for him to return, and have written numberless letters. Each night for ten years I've kept a light burning in my window for him to see.

"I decided at last that I've been deserted.

"I guess I'm old-fashioned with a lot of faith in humanity. I've disliked the thought of divorce."

Judge Graham granted her a decree.

Voice Of The People

QUISE-BAGLEY CASE.

Peterborough, 27th Nov., 1919.

To the Editor:

Dear Sir,—Will you allow me a little space to correct a statement made in the daily papers here: given to you by some one who evidently is not satisfied with seeing a man down, but wants to kick him when he is down. I refer to the statement made that Mr. Guise-Bagley did not pass his final examinations but got his appointment by political pull.

Now, sir, I have in my possession the original notice from the Law Society which states that he had passed the final examination and gives the figures as follows:

Evidence	67
Const of statutes	88
Equity	90
Real Property	88
Criminal Law	85
Private Inter. Law	73

And is signed by the secretary of the Law Society, Edwin Bell.

Anyone wishing to see this paper can do so at any time. I think that you should publish this in fairness to his family if not to himself.

Yours truly,
L. H. Guise-Bagley.

Editor Examiner:

In a recent issue of your paper there appears a report of an address by Bishop Sweeney, in which he hurls invective at Christian Science. One recalls St. Paul's comment on Ananias, as given in Acts 23, 5, "I knew not, brethren, that he was high priest." Certainly one might be pardoned for failing to detect any Episcopal grace or lordship in the Bishop's remarks. One might expect a bishop if he finds it incumbent upon him to denounce the religion of respectable fellow-citizens of his, to do so with some moderation and regret, but the aforesaid Bishop seems even to have discarded any sense of humor in his extreme and exaggerated flight. Imagine a Twentieth Century Christian parading, with a book "in similar binding to the Bible" under his arm, in order to deceive "the very elect!"

In referring thus to the Bishop's unkind remarks, I do not wish to write unkindly. In "The Manual of The Mother Church," by Mrs Eddy, there is a by-law which reads: "A member of this Church shall not publish, nor cause to be published, an article that is uncharitable or impertinent towards religion, medicine, the courts, or the laws of the land."

In the interests of the truth, it should be said that so far from Christian Science "repudiating the doctrines of Christianity," it explains them in a practical way. Conscientious study of the text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," written by Mrs. Eddy, does not fail to verify this statement. For instance, Christian Science teaches that the omnipresence of God, infinite good, is a fact, the discernment and application of which heals sickness and sin. In her book "Miscellaneous Writings," Mrs. Eddy writes on page 229, "If only the people would believe that good is more contagious than evil, since God is Omnipresence, how much more certain would be the doctor's success and the clergyman's conversion of sinners. And if only the pulpit would encourage faith in God in this direction and faith in Mind over all other influences governing the receptivity of the body, theology would teach man as David taught: "Because thou hast made the Lord which is my refuge, even the Most High, thou habitation, there shall no evil befall thee neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling."

Sincerely yours,
George B. Lowe.

ST. JOHN MAN HAS GAINED 26 POUNDS

CHARLES ALLEN FINDS TANLAC TO BE JUST WHAT HE HAS NEEDED FOR 15 YEARS.

"Yes, sir, I have gained twenty-six pounds since I commenced taking Tanlac, and I am in such fine condition that I can do as hard a day's work as any man," said Charles Allen, who lives at 231 Union St., St. John, N.B., the other day.

"My health broke down while I was serving in the Boer War," continued Mr. Allen, "and since that time my condition has been getting worse all the time. For the past nine years my stomach has been in an awful fix and no matter what I would eat I was sure to suffer afterwards. Every night that came was misery for me for I couldn't sleep but would roll and tumble till time to get up. I was so nervous that when anybody opened the door I would almost jump out of my chair. Finally I could go no longer, so I gave up my work and started to the country to take a long rest.

"But before I left I decided to buy a bottle of Tanlac and take it with me, as I had heard and read so much about it. I went on to the country and began to take my Tanlac, and I want to tell you I felt so much better when I finished my first bottle that I was determined to have some more and I walked two miles and got it. It has been some time now since my last bottle but I am feeling even finer to-day than I did then for I am heavier and stronger, and my work is a pleasure to me. My nerves are steady and every night that comes I can sleep as sound as a child and get up in the mornings feeling fine. My appetite is so good that I am almost ashamed of the way I eat, and everything I eat digests perfectly, and I never have the least pain in my stomach. Tanlac has proved to be just the thing I have been needing for over fifteen years, and a medicine that can do what it has done for me certainly deserves every bit of the praise I can give it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co. Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle and Son.

LAST AND BEST CHANCE

To finish up the November sale which was so successful, Mr. Black was short of certain articles and had to make another trip to look up something special. After some trouble, he was lucky to secure a lot of Ladies' Silk Maisoline and Serge Dresses at a very low price, which he will give his customers at cost for remembrance. See the Ladies' Wool Serge Skirts, trimmed with silk braid and buttons. Also Flannel Waists, Tea Aprons and Handkerchiefs; hundreds to choose from, as well as many Christmas gifts for early buyers. A large assortment at very low prices.

BIG FIRE TRUCK CROSSED BRIDGE

Chief Grange tested the efficiency of the new temporary bridge this morning at nine-thirty by driving the big truck across. While the bridge, he states, is perfectly safe, the approach over the race way is very narrow, and in case of ice will doubtless prove a drawback, due to the danger of the truck skidding.

Mr. Douglas is a young man, fully capable of handling the Rink to the entire satisfaction of skaters, hockey players and the public generally, having conducted a rink in Orillia last year.

"THE LUCK OF THE NAVY"

No less a personage than Her Majesty Queen Mary of England has bestowed her official approval upon Percy Hutchison's performance of "The Luck of the Navy," the big London comedy-drama success which F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest will present at the Grand Friday and Saturday next, with a special Saturday matinee.

During the closing days of the war, just before the armistice was signed, Mr. Hutchison and his London Queen's Theatre company gave a performance of "The Luck of the Navy" by special command before Her Majesty the Queen and the Royal Family, this performance being for the Royal Navy Prisoners of War Fund. The performance netted $30,000 and attracted one of the most representative society audiences in London. A few days later Mr. Hutchison received the following letter, expressly dictated by Her Majesty the Queen, thanking him for the performance:

Buckingham Palace,
23rd October, 1919.

Percy Hutchison, Esq.,
"The Luck of the Navy,"
Queen's Theatre, London.

"Dear Mr. Hutchison:—I showed your letter to the Queen, and Her Majesty was glad to have had the opportunity of speaking to you at the Palace Theatre.

"The Queen greatly enjoyed the performance of "The Luck of the Navy," and thought the play most interesting and admirably acted.

"Her Majesty is gratified to learn that the proceeds of the Royal Navy Prisoners of War Fund proved so satisfactory and she congratulates you and the other artists on the successful result of your efforts. I am—

Yours very truly,

"Signed) Edward Wallington,
"Private Secretary to H.M. the Queen"

MRS. CULVERWELL'S HOME WAS BURGLARIZED

Thieves Kindled Fire, Partook of Wine and Then Went to Bed.

PORT HOPE, Nov 27.—Evidently the burglars who entered the Baptist Church on Monday night immediately turned their attention to the residence of Mrs. J. A. Culverwell, Dorset street. Finding it a most comfortable dwelling, they made themselves quite at home. They kindled a fire retire to bed, an partook of another bottle of the sacramental wine which they had stolen from the Baptist Church. One bed evidently was not comfortable enough for them, and they carried the mattrass to another bed. Stubbs are strewn all about the room and empty glasses and the wine bottle now occupy a conspicious place on one of the dressers Every room in the house had been visited by the burglars and from the topsy-turvy appearance the intruders were evidently looking for money and jewellery. As far as can be ascertained nothing is missing.

Don't Be a Slave to Your Nerves

Good Advice to Nervous People

People who are excessively nervous, tired out and all run down, who get the jumps and fidgets, who can't concentrate their minds on work, have fits of blues, trembling, nervous headaches and dyspepsia and that "don't give a hang" feeling so common to nervous folks, may take it as a certain fact that their trouble is due to impoverished or devitalized nerve force. Their nerve cells are starving and when they give out entirely, complete nervous prostration or breakdown is the result.

A splendid treatment for weak nerves is found in the famous Ferro-Peptine, composed of six of the best nerve vitalizing elements known to modern chemistry. These tablets go straight to the nerve cells and begin immediate action. Take a Ferro-Peptine tablet, wait ten minutes and watch yourself perk up. They feed your famished nerve cells, start healthy blood circulation and normal digestion. Then you brighten up, put on a smile, get some of the old-time "pep" back in your system and feel as happy as a clam at high tide. Ferro-Peptine is absolutely harmless contains no dangerous habit-forming drugs, is easy to take, inexpensive and all leading druggists sell it on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back.

Mr. Reid drove his own car for all the race scenes in the picture, attaining at times a speed of from a hundred to one hundred and ten miles per hour. Mr. Reid came out at the finish without a scratch, thus proving himself a master in the art of driving a racing automobile.

The picture, which will be shown at the Allen Theatre to-day and to-morrow, is founded on a series of stories by Byron Morgan which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. The supporting cast includes such well known favorities as Ann Little, Theodore Roberts, Guy Oliver and C. H. Geldart.

GREAT AUTHOR'S FIRST PRODUCTION

"The Westerners", which will be seen at the Allen Theatre next Monday and Tuesday is the first of a number of Stewart Edwards White's famous novels of the great American outdoors to be picturized by Benj. B. Hampton, for Great Authors Pictures, Inc., with all-star casts, and the noted author himself assisting in the production.

In the cast will be seen such well known favorites as Roy Stewart, Wilfred Lucas, Robert McKim, Mildred Manning, Graham Pettie, Mary Jane Irving, Frankie Lee and others of equal prestige.

"THE ROCKY ROAD TO DUBLIN"

"The Rocky Road to Dublin", as presented by Barney Gilmore and his excellent company is a charming play of laughs and thrills. There is a heart interest story of love between a young Irishman and a girl of aristocratic English birth, and a scheming English nobleman, also in love with the girl. The lines, keen, bright and witty and the fun is clean and wholesome. The play affords Mr. Gilmore opportunity to display his good humor, his ready Irish wit, and vocal abilities. He is a natural Irish actor and portrays the Irishman as he really is without ridicule or burlesque. An excellent supporting company surround him and an enjoyable visit to Ireland is assured those who witness "The Rocky to Dublin" at the Grand Saturday matinee and evening.

"The Rocky Road to Dublin", as presented by Barney Gilmore and his excellent company, is an Irish play of love, laughter and song. The story of the young Irishman, who is accused of taking money from the bank where he is employed, his loyalty to the girl he loves, taking the blame for the theft of the money by the girl's brother affords Mr. Gilmore opportunity to display his vigorous personality, his ready wit, and his ability to say funny things in a funny way at the right time. Irish folk songs and dance, the scenes of Ireland and the merry tunes of the Irish piper make "The Rocky Road to Dublin" an ideal Irish play. Barney Gilmore is surrounded by an excellent cast of Irish players.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

Little Red Riding Hood", the fourth of the F. Stuart-Whyte pantomimes will be the offering at the Grand for two days commencing Monday with a special matinee Tuesday.

It will be presented here with a carefully chosen cast of English musical comedy stars and pantomime artists, together with a chorus of those wonderful girls that have always been a feature of the Stuart-Whyte shows. Not only will "Little Red Riding Hood" be presented by a superior cast and bigger chorus than any former pantomime importation, but, the production itself, scenery costumes and lighting effects, surpasses in every way either "Aladdin", "Robinson Crusoe" or "Cinderella", and that is saying much.

Miss Zara Clinton and Mr. John V. Barrett-Lennard, the two great favorites of former years are still with the company, while the role of Little Red Riding Hood will be played by Miss Dorothy Mackay, a little Scotch Lassie, who, although but eleven years of age has been the featured member of the cast in two Christmas pantomimes on the other side, as well as of the "Wee Macgays", sextette of juvenile entertainers of music hall fame. The principal comedian this season will be Mr. Johnny Osborne, late of the Follies Bergere, where he was seen by thousands of Canadian soldiers on leave in Paris.

The wise artist paints a woman's portrait, not as she looks but as she imagines she looks.

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—Possibly the strangest development yet found in the German industrial situations has appeared at the Aniline dye works, located at Wolfen, near Holle. The demand privilege of remaining at their posts on German Memorial Day, and when the firm refuses to permit this, workmen to the number of four hundred forced their way into the office of the director and compelled him to keep the plant open. Gustava Noske, Director of the Defence, fearing trouble, sent a brigade of troops to Wolfen, whereupon the workers struck because of the fact that martial law was imposed by the presence of the troops. Employees of electric plant at Ritterfield near Wolfen, which supplies Berlin with current, have struck in sympathy with the men at Wolfen, so that Berlin is threatened with loss of her electric supply. Martial law in the district has been ordered by authority of President Ebert and Minister Noske.

STARCHED MATERIAL IS WARM.

Starched material, even though it keeps clean longest, should be avoided during warm weather, as the starch prevents a free current of air passing through.

GERMANY'S TRAIN SERVICE WRETCHED

PRICES MODERATE WHEN DEPRECIATED VALUE OF MARK IS CONSIDERED.

BERLIN—The present Government will stand for some months to come, at least. It represents the best that can be had. Both Government and people will probably endure whatever exasperations are incident to the functioning of the allied commissions. I think that they will even accede to the demand for the trial of the war culprits, if that demand is pressed.

Railway travel in Germany is difficult and uncomfortable. I made a journey on a night train with only day coaches. A blizzard was raging, and the thermometer registered below zero. There was not a spark of heat or a drop of water abroad, and, of course, no food. We were over thirteen hours on the trip and the passengers were almost frozen when they arrived. But, of course, we were lucky to get places at all. The Germans say the railroad difficulties were caused by the sending of German rolling stock to France that does France no good, because it is too heavy for use on the French railways. They allege that most of the 5,000 locomotives taken from Germany, with the result of paralysing her transport, are rusting on side tracks in France.

"We do not ask for mercy," exclaimed a banker. "We only ask for common sense."

A New York banker who accompanied me to Germany and who at Coblenz said: "My marks (of which he had bought several millions on speculation) are getting better every minute," became disgusted with the mark outlook after a few hours in Berlin. It cost 10,000 marks to take him to the Dutch frontier.

Prices in Berlin are still low when exchange rates are taken into account. My suite of rooms and bath cost me 250 marks. I had three friends at dinner, and the bill was 1,000 marks, which is less than it would have been in New York. I paid at Essen $8 in gold for a pair of good, heavy boots, but afterward found that they were of American make and bought in quantity from the American Quartermaster. Cutlery and optical goods are very cheap, and of excellent quality. The amount of goods in the shops indicates that a good many German workmen are busy.

Americans, of whom there is a sprinkling in Berlin, are more or less outside the passport laws. They are trying to do business, but are much hampered. The British and others seem to be getting the start of us.

There is much complaint in Berlin of the "Hole in the Wall," as it is called. This refers to the German-French frontier, where customs are suspended and across which German goods are being taken wholesale. The Germans say they send out necessities and get back luxuries.

There is great anxiety in Berlin about Vienna. Famine conditions prevail there. If the 2,000,000 Viennese rise the effect on Germany will undoubtedly be bad. The example of Vienna will be much worse than that of Russia.

Women will have great influence on the future of Germany. Under the old system women was the housewife. She occupied a back seat, and spoke only if she was spoken to. It was not uncommon for a husband to administer corporal punishment to his wife. During the war women supported it as fervently as the men. Now that women vote they may be expected ot have a considerable share in shaping developments.

NEW MINISTER OF LANDS TAKES TRIP THROUGH NORTH

COBALT, Nov. 27.—Returning from a two-day trip over the T. and N.O., Hon. Beniah Bowman, Minister of Lands and Forests in the Drury Cabinet, passed through Cobalt Tuesday afternoon on his way to Toronto.

The Minister visited the Provincial Experimental Farm, Monteith, and made short stays at Timmins, Cochrane and Iroquois Falls. He did not call here. Hon. Mr. Bowman told the Canadian Press he had met no secessionist during his trip throughout Timiskaming, that he was greatly impressed with the country, and that he thought there was a great future before the North. Mrs. Bowman accompanied her husband on his first tour of this section of the province, and Commissioner George Lee was also of the party.

MUST SECURE LICENSE TO MAKE NATIVE WINE.

TORONTO, Nov. 26. — Persons who make wine from grapes and sugar were advised by Magistrate Kingsford, in the Police Court, to keep themselves within the law by securing a license permitting the operation from the Inland Revenue Department.

The advice was tendered during the hearing of a case in which Adam Bellick was charged with having in his possession a home-made brew of grapes and sugar, which developed 6 per cent. alcohol in three days, according to the defendant.

A conviction was recorded against Bellick, but no fine was imposed.

"20 CENT GUSHER" IN OIL SUIT INVOLVING MILLIONS IN STOCK

NOTED LAWYERS IN TRIAL OF ACTION AGAINST RICHMOND LEVERING AND OTHERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Back of an action placed on trial before Justice Davis in the Supreme Court is the story of an oil enterprise organized to promote and develop properties in Mexico which have yielded millions of dollars, and the dubious value of a "gusher," ouce pouring forth fifty thousand barrels of oil a day, but described as not worth twenty cents.

Since the organization of the Island Oil and Transport Company, formed by Richard Levering and others to finance the Mexican properties, stockholders of the Metropolitan Petroleum Corporation of Deleware, originally owners of lar, oil properties involved in the litigation became convinced that they had been deprived of their fair share of the profits.

They therefore sued Mr. Levering, his own company, Richard Levering & Co.; the Island Oil Company, A. B. Leach & Co., who financed the proposition with several millions, and others interested directly or indirectly with the enterprise.

Demands Return of Stocks.

John B. Stanchfield, chief attorney for the plaintiffs, opened the proceedings before Judge Davis with a brief history of the transaction and said the plaintiffs demanded the recission of an assignment of $667,000 par value of the plaintiff's debentures, return of stock of subsidiary corporations and the options and leases for the oil lands. In the event that any of the assets had been disposed of the plaintiffs wanted a full accounting.

With its only assets the properties acquired by Mr. Levering from the Delaware corporation, Mr. Stanchfield said the Island company was formed with a capital of approximately $30,000,000, of which Mr. Leach was allowed fifty-one per cent.

He said the Metropolitan company turned over to Mr. Levering what later turned out to be Terpetate No. 9, a gusher worth $30,000,000, receiving in return stock of an indefinite value. Evidence would be produced to show that fraud and deceit had been practised upon the stockholders of the Metropolitan corporation, he said.

James J. O'Gorman, for the defendants, ridiculed the suggestion of fraud, asserting that Mr. Levering had acted with propriety and justice in every particular and that his pride and sensibilities had been hurt by the first charge ever made against him in his numerous corporation dealings.

"Gusher Not Worth 20 Cents."

"This gusher they speak about as being worth $20,000,000 is merely a hole in the ground and not worth twenty cents," retorted Senator O'Gorman. "It went dry after nine months and the net profits derived from it do not exceed $400,000.

"Until Mr. Leach entered the enterprise it was absolutely paralyzed—dead, as there was no money to develop the properties and transport the oil eighteen miles from the interior. Only through Mr. Leach's aid did the enterprise flourish and now the stockholders say 'we didn't get enough.'"

Only one-third of the assets of the plaintiff company, aggregating 118,000 acres of land, was acquired by Mr. Levering and his associates, and in return for this the company received 240,000 shares of stock of the Island company having a market value today of $8 a share, said Mr. O'Gorman.

He denied that an effort was made to conceal from the stockholders the presence of oil by capping the well, asserting that it was done to prevent waste until a pipe line could be constructed. The trial, he declared, would vindicate every action of Mr. Levering.

The trial will take at least six weeks and has attracted an array of the most prominent lawyers seen in one case in a long time. Among them are Lindley M. Garrison, formerly Secretary of War.

MISS SEARS NEARLY LOSES THE BILTMORE CUP BY WRIT SUED OUT AGAINST HER HORSES

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Miss Eleanora R. Sears led her picture horse, Radiant, into the ring at the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden, her face slightly flushed by an incident which had taken place a few minutes before in the basement of the ampihtheatre, gave her customary clever exhibition of riding, and amid the plaudits of her friends in society and other spectators, held the tanbark as winner of the Biltmore Cup for pack saddle horses.

Just before the bugle announced entries for the Biltmore Cup, David Tepp, a lawyer, of White Plains, accompanied by Deputy Sheriffs Curtin and Murray, stepped up to the stall of Radiant and informed the attendant they had an attachment signed the previous afternoon by Judge Schmuck, of the City Court, against any horses owned by Miss Sears.

Those who are acquainted with Miss Sears' horsemanship were startled when she appeared in a side saddle, an innovation of hers, but whether she had adopted this style of riding because of her experience before entering the ring, or not, could not be ascertained. None but the management was aware of what had happened in the basement, as no particular attention was aroused by three men leaning over the rail intently watching Miss Sears put Radiant through his gallops.

Just as Miss Sears, dressed in riding habit, had ordered an attendant to get Radiant ready for the ring, the three men explained their mission and when it appeared that she would not be allowed to exhibit her champion, the young woman was dismayed.

Miss Sears asked Mr. Tepp and his companions to let her ride Radiant in the contest and when her appeal was rejected she sought the aid of the management. Then followed a discussion which terminated with Miss Sears leading Radiant from the stall, with the understanding that the attachment would prevent further exhibitions unless a bond was provided.

Miss Sears and the management were told that Alexander Gemmell, a dealer in thoroughbred horses, had begun an action against her for the boarding of four horses she had bought from him for $10,000. Under the agreement, said Mr. Tepp, the horses were left with Mr. Gemmell until instructions were to be forwarded to him for their delivery and no additional charge was to constitute a lien against them.

It is also provided in the agreement, according to Mr. Tepp, that any dispute arising over the horses was to be submitted to Reginald C. Vanderbilt as arbitrator. The horses were Rip, Mary Marlboro, Dreamland and The Scotchman. They remained in Mr. Gemmell's care for several months owing to a controversy which developed over their merits and it was said that the dealer, who had originally contracted to sell Miss Sears five horses for $20,000 consented to take one back and cut the price to $10,000.

Mr. Gemmell then said he was entitled to board for the horses and is suing Miss Sears for $900. The attachment obtained was the result of this claim.

After Miss Sears returned from her triumph, the management agreed to furnish a bond for $1,000 and the attachment against Radiant was released. On Monday night Radiant defeated Twilight, champion in the saddle class, and is looked upon as the new king of saddle horses.

LADY ASTOR ELECTED.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR WEEK

Nov. 30th, 1919.

Jesus Teaches Peter True Greatness. John 13:1-16; 36-38.

Golden Text: The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto but to minister and to give his life a ransom for many. Matt. 20:28.

1. Verse 1. When did the consciousness first come to Jesus that the Jews would crucify him?

2. Why is it possible or not through Divine grace for every believer to love with the strength and self sacrifice of Jesus?

3. Verse 2. Could Judas have rejected this temptation of the Devil to betray Jesus or was he foreordained of God to do it? Give your reasons.

4. Verse 3. In what sense or with what limitations if any has God put everything into the hands of Jesus?

5. What is the greatest thing in the world over which God gave Jesus complete control in which he is our example in this story and always?

6. Verses 4, 5. Why should every Christian so arrange his affairs and "gird himself," that he may do personal service for his fellows?

7. Verses 4, 5. What kind of service may Christians do now for their fellows, which will most nearly correspond with Jesus washing the feet of his disciples?

8. Why is it impossible to be a disciple of Jesus if we are not willing to do the most menial thing that God may command us?

9. Verses 6-8. Wholly from a human standpoint what can you say about Peter's objection to have Jesus wash his feet?

10. Would you say or not that it is ever right for us to do anything contrary to our own judgment?

11. Verses 6, 7. Why or not should we in thought give God the right to tell us to do what we think to be wrong?

12. Verses 6-8. Should our modesty our creed, or any other thing ever be a bar to our doing what we think God requires of us, whether it gives us pain or pleasure?

13. Verse 9. Did Peter sin in this thing and does God ever record sin against us for anything prompted by pure love, whatever may be its moral character in an abstract sense? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by the members of the club.)

14. Verses 10, 11. Does God or not and why blame all in the church because some members live in sin?

15. Verse 12. What did Jesus mean to teach by washing the disciples' feet?

16. Verses 13-16. Why is it that we get more hapiness out of what we do for others than we do from what they do for us?

17. Jesus states here that he is our example; why may we assume therefore that by God's grace we may become duplicates of Jesus?

18. Verses 36-38. Why was it that Peter did not understand his master seeing that he had before told them that he was to be rejected and put to death?

19. Should we praise or blame Peter in view of the after circumstances for his expressed devotion to his master and why?

20. To what extent in view of all the circumstances, should we blame Peter for being so frightened that he after denied his Lord?

Lesson for Sunday, Dec. 7, 1919. — Peter and John asleep in Gethsemane. Mark 1:32-54.

Twelve Booths

The hall presents the appearance of a gay kalvidoscope scene with the dazzling array of colors, with which the twelve booths are covered. The "birthday" idea is caried out in the booths each of which represents a month and at each of which refreshments suitable to the month and booth represents may be obtained. January, the season of tobogganing, is a brilliant affair; the booth being literally covered with "make believe snow and ever greens while tiny toboggans are cleverly arranged at intervals. Here hot tomato soup, cinnamon toast aple pie and coffee are served by Mrs. G. B. King and Mrs. French.

Valentine's Day is the prevailing note in the February booth which is dainty with its pink and white heart decorations. Here Mrs. K. Laidley Mrs. Wm. Connell and Mrs. Hankison serve heart shaped sandwiches and cakes.

Month of March

March with its gay St. Patrick decorations is a charming booth, bespeaking the Emerald isle with the harps and shamrocks festooned about the tables and walls. Here Mrs. A. Seaton, Mrs. Will. Lytle and Miss Joseph serve Irish stew, scalloped potatoes and other Irish dainties.

Easter prevails in the April booth of which Mrs. Edgar Burnham and Miss Pearl Burnham are in charge. The decorations of this are particularly attractive carrying out the color scheme of yellow and white. Even a canary does his best to carry out the joyous Easter sentiment. Here sandwiches, cake, ice cream and coffee are served.

May is a riot of pretty coloring carried out in the Canadian beauty may pole which has been erected for the occasion. Here Mrs. Walkes, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. F. Neal sell tempting home made cooking.

June, the month of weddings, is a most unique booth. Not only are bridal decorations cleverly arranged to suit the month but the bride herself is present to assist. Here a regulation bridal breakfast is served by Mrs. F. E. Malott, Mrs. McBride, and Mrs. Armstrong.

July is represented in Dominion Day decorations of Canadian flags nd emblems. Here Mrs. J. Greene, Mrs. McClelland and Mrs. McCoy serve tempting afternoon tea.

August is suggested by a porch scene and the refreshments are delightfully suited to the month. Miss Leone Walsh, Miss Pethick, and Miss T. Taylor serve fruit punch and have a large variety of candy and gum on sale.

Thanksgiving is the unmistakable suggestion of the September booth with its profusion of tall wheat, apple and vegetable decorations and here Mrs. Park and Mrs. Walch and Mrs. Carver have a splendid repost of Boston baked ebans and brown bread and butter for the person who was lucky enough to have been born in the month.

Autumn Scenes

The mystery of Hallowe'ne is emphasized in the bewitching decorations in the October boom at which Mrs. Huycke, Miss E. Morrow and Mrs. Duncan Walker serve from orange and black tables, pumpkin pie, doughnuts and other Hallowe'en dainties.

Nothing of the dreariness of November is suggester in the charming hunting lodge which Mrs. Neill and Miss Margaret Neill have arranged as a booth for the month. From a table suggestive of a real hunt with a background of a cheerful fire place, venison stew, mashed potatoes and coffee are served.

Evergreens snow and Christmas trees laden with toys and suitable decorations are employed to carry out the Christmas spirit of the December booth at which Mrs. G. N. Gordon, Mrs. Matthews and Miss A. Wood serve Christmas cake and mince pie.

Hot Supper

The ladies under the direction of Mrs. W. R. Widdess, Mrs. Seton and Mrs. George King have arranged to serve afternon tea to-day and to-morrow afternoon, a hot supper this evening at 6 o'clock and refreshments during the entire evening when a splendid programme has been arranged for. The visitors are not limited to the offerings of any one booth but may visit each and procure what best suits them at each, in addition to wich ice cream and coffee are served at any and every booth. The proceeds will be devoted to Ladies Aid Society.

THE Y.M.C.A. MINSTRELS

With a chorus of capable fun makers headed by the inimitable George Wesley and Verne Morphet, a galaxy of accomplished soloists, a mixed chorus, strong in numbers and in ability, and a programme full of song hits, and clever specialties, the Y. M. C. A. Minstrels under the direction of Mr. Asa Huycke, scored a great success at the opera house last night. Mr. Huycke had chosen a wellbalanced the company, wrote half a dozen of the song numbers, directed the orchestra and chorus, and presided capably at the piano, but also found time to sing a solo as well, is to be congratulated upon the result of his efforts. The introduction into the chorus as well as among the soloists, of the fair sex, was an innovation that added greatly to the charm and success of the production.

The chorus singing was a feature that greatly pleased the audience. Mr. Huycke had chsoen a wellbalanced collection of fresh young voices which were heard to great advantage throughout the programme, the chorus proving accurate in attack and singing with smoothness and harmony, the female voices adding to the effect.

The Red Triangle Minstrels have a squad of eight end men who made things lively all the way with quips and gags, many of which were local in their allusions. The black faced comedians made merry with the names of many of well known citizens to the enjoyment of the audience. George Wesley and Verne Morphet were at opposite ends of the circle and were responsible for frequent laughs, while Harold Huff, George Logan, G. S. Rich, Morgan Cottingham, Norman Lang and Jerry McClelland were able assistants in the fun-making line.

Mr. F. D Lee carried out the responsible duties of interlocutor with smoothness and effect.

Altogether there were sixteen numbers in the first part of the programme, which opened with a chorus composed by Mr. Huycke that was a fitting introduction to the many good things that followed.

Walter Evans sang in splendid voice "When You Look in the Heart of a Rose," the chorus doing some fine work in this number.

Norman Lang's end song, "I Used Call Her Baby," was cleverly rendered and amusing, and Jock Renwick and Clifton Carruthers combined nicely in a rendition of "Girl of Mine," the two with Messrs. Irwin and Loescher, giving a mandolin quartette as an encore.

George Wesley scored a tremendous hit in Asa Huycke's song, "Referendum Blues," a rag-time lament over the dryness of the present times that proved most amusing.

George Logan contributed a clever saxaphone solo, "O What a Pal Was Mary," and had to respond to an encore, Mr. Huycke singing the chorus with fine effect.

Miss I. Allan, the first of the lady soloists to be heard, sang "Dear Heart" with charming effect, displaying a pleasing voice that was employed to good advantage.

Harold Huff and G. E. Rich provided an amusing number in a burlesque of the Toreador song from "Carmen," arranged by Mr. Huycke—a comedy bull fight being introduced.

Verne Morphet, who knows how to put over an end song, had a catchy number in "Anything Is Nice If It Comes From Dixieland," and made the most of it.

Miss Greta Lebar and Harold Snelgrove gave an artistic rendition of the duet, "One Day in June," the two voices blending most effectively, while histrionic as well as vocal ability was displayed in this number.

Mr Dave Quinlan, well known dancer, contributed an exhibition of buck and wing dancing that was warmly applauded.

Miss Florence Harrison's rendition of "Alabama Lullaby" was a most pleasing addition to the programme.

"Oh Lawdy," a comic duet by two of the end men, George Logan and Jerry McClelland, was an amusing number that got over well.

Miss Hazel Davidson and Miss E. McDonald sang an Italian novelty song, written by Mr. Huycke, in clever style, and the dance that followed was equally successful.

"By the Camp Fire" gave the Y.M. C.A. male chorus a chance to show their ability, Mr. John Carlisle taking the solo very effectively.

"Way Down in Caroline" by Morgan Cottingham and full chorus brought the first part to an end.

There were four numbers in the olio, the Y.W.C.A. girls, under the direction of Miss E. Price, giving two of these, a sailors' hornpipe and the interpreting dance, "Spring's Awakening," both of which were most effectively presented. Miss Isobel Baird was at the piano for the second number.

Mr. Arthur Graham introduced a clever monologue, "Something About Nothing," in which he paid his respects to local events and local people in a manner that was most amusing. The number was one laugh after another.

Verne Morphet and George Wesley combined to give a tramp sketch that was well received.

Altogether, Mr. Huycke's production surpassed his great success of last year. The introduction of the girls into the chorus has added much to the programme, and the whole performance is one that reflects credit upon Mr. Huycke and all who took part.

The Y Minstrels will hold the boards at the Grand again to-night, and a crowded house is assured.

HIGHER FINES FOR WHISKEY

Christmas "cheer" is provided for those who buy Canadian whiskey by means of a doctor's prescription from the Ontario Government dispensaries. The price is to take a jump as from Monday next, Dec. 1, according to an announcement made by J. D. Flavelle, chairman of the Ontario License Board.

It appears that on October 28 the Canadian distillers put up their prices of whiskey ten per cent., so that the Ontario authorities, following other human commercial examples, gently pass the increase to the consumer. They are, it is learned, further influenced in the step by the fact that as soon as peace is officially proclaimed, they will be in the whiskey competition with Montreal, and the business at the dispensaries is not likely then to be of much proportions as now obtain.

Do not let your keeness overshadow your kindness.

OTONABEE ROAD WILL BE TAKEN INTO NEW SYSTEM

BY-LAW AMENDED AT YESTERDAY'S SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL

At a session of the County Council held yesterday afternoon, a by-law was now introduced amending the present by-law relating to county roads. The amending by-law provides for the adoption of a new road in Otonabee by extending easterly the road now known as the "Block road." It is expected that this road will be adopted as a provincial county highway. This by-law was read and passed after the usual preliminaries.

During the reading and consequent discussion of the by-law, Mr. Clark of Chandos drew attraction to the repairing that was needed on the Salmon Creek bridge, and suggested that it would be best to do the work in the winter when lumber could be gotten out easily.

This suggestion was acted on, Mr Shaw moving that Mr. Clark be given power to see that the necessary repairing was done. This motion was seconded by C. J. Darling and was promptly carried.

At this period one of the councillors drew attention to the fact that Mr. Gripp represenging a manufacturer of road machinery, was present.

It was moved, seconded and carried that Mr. Gripp be asked to address the council.

Mr. Gripp said that he was pleased to be present and have the opportunity of speaking before the council. He had heard that this county was entering the Good Road System and was glad to hear it. The same from Prince Edward County and for the past 16 or 17 years had enjoyed the benefits of this system, an now his county has nearly 200 miles of excellent road.

He said that they were wise in adopting the system because the Provincial Government pays 40% on road construction beside the maintenance, and that Peterboro County had as good a right to this money as any other county. "Traffic he said is four times what it was 15 years ago and if we are to attract tourists and compete with the good American roads we must build good roads.

"Peterboro County" he said "is very fortunate in having gravel and rock and Prince Edward an other counties were hampered in this way."

MR. FAIERS ACQUITTED, ETC.

Chief Thompson — "He hasn't been working for a week except at this business."

Mr. Hatton —"Under the Act the accused is guilty until he proves himself innocent.

Gets the Benefit of a Doubt

Magistrate Dumble—"The Act be hanged. I'll give him the benefit of a doubt."

Magistrate Dumble—"I don't want to hear any remarks."

If Chief Thompson really expected a remand in order that he might produce two witnesses he was due for a disappointment.

Magistrate Dumble wrote the word "dismissed" across the information paper, and Mr. Gordon remarked that when the police got a "licking" they ought to take it cheerfully. He himself had experienced it, he said, and knew what it was like.

$40,000 GONE, CASHIER FLEES

Illinois Bank Official Gets Across Street When Examiners Appear.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The Illinois State Bank of Crete, Ill., has failed to open and it was announced a warrant charging embezzlement has been issued for the missing cashier, Otto Kracke, in connection with a shortage estimated at $400,000.

The bank was capitalized at $25,000 and had known assets of approximately $300,000. "The vault door and the janitor are left—that's about all," said a state bank examiner after the books, including a duplicate set in a valut to which none but Kracke was said to have access, had been found.

Speculation was blamed for Kracke's alleged shortage.

When the bank examiners went to Crete yesterday to examine the institution Kracke, according to the examiners, received them and turned over his books and keys and unlocked the vault. "I'm going across the street a minute—just make yourself at home," he told them.

An hour later the examiners found they were locked in the building and that Kracke had driven away in his automobile. He has not been heard from since, so far as is known.

REFLECTED REFLECTIONS, OR PRIME THOUGHTS ON THE TRANSFIGURATION.

By F. A. Conners,
Pastor, First Baptist Church,
Calumet, Michigan.

He Whose face shone brighter than the noonday sun, reflecting the Glory of God, was soon bathed in tears, reflecting man's sin.

He Whom God had honoured and confessed, was soon disowned and denied.

He Whose garments were white as snow, reflecting His purity of character were soon red with blood, the penalty of man's sin.

He Whom God had transfigured for saints to witness, was soon disfigured for men to mock.

He Whom God had placed between saints in life, men placed between thieves in death.

He Whom men brought down to death, God raised to life again.

He Who died that we might live, ever liveth that we might not die eternally.

Accountants Wanted

Because of our problems of reconstruction, expansion of domestic and foreign trade, income tax, and heavy Federal Government requirements, more Positions are open for Accountants, Auditors, and Cost Accountants than there are men qualified to fill them. Men qualified to do this kind of work are earning $3,000 a year and upwards. We want to get in touch with men with or without experience who wish to get into this kind of work through training. This training is conducted by Certified Public Accountants—no interference with your present position—and if you are ambitious for something better than just a job, state age, experience, nature of present duties, and telephone number where you can be reached to make appointment. All information confidential.

APARTMENT HOUSES MUST GIVE HEAT

To Compel Landlords to Keep Places Warm.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 27.—The city ordinance forcing persons renting rooms or apartments, with heat included, to provide heat from 6 o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock in the evening, the average temperature of which must not be lower than 65 degrees Fahrenheit in any room, has been submitted to the Common Council by officials of the Board of Health. A penalty of $25 to $100 or ten days to three months' imprisonment, or both, is proposed.

No action will be taken on the measure by the Council until the Corporation Counsel has approved of its form.

The request came as a result of many complaints which the board has received lately from tenants, who say insufficient heat has been supplied in their rooms or apartments. An average of 24 protests a day are now coming in to the Health Board.

BYE ELECTIONS DECEMBER 22ND

Writs have been issued for bye-elections in the constituencies represented by six Ministers of the Drury Cabinet who have seats. Nominations will be on Monday, Dec. 15, and the polling if necessary a week later. Those who will return to their constituents are:

Hon. Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer, South Perth, where his majority was 2,596. It was previously Conservative by 210.

Hon. Beniah Bowman, Minister of Crown Lands, Manitoulin, majority 884. His previous majority was 240.

Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, Carleton, majority 1,080. This was previously Conservative by 1,169.

May Be Interesting.

Hon H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary, North Brant, who had a plurality of 1,089 over the second man. His vote was 3,597, and that of his two opponents aggregated 4,686, or 942 more than was polled for the winner. This was previously Liberal by 41.

Hon. Walter Rollo (Labor), Minister of Labor, West Hamilton, who had a majority of 2,478 over his two opponents. This was won by Allan (Liberal) in 1914 by 36, defeating Rollo in the bye-election following the resignation of Hon. J. S. Hendrie (Conservative) to become Lieutenant-Governor.

Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works, North Wentworth, majority 2,851. This was previously Conservative by 21.

Others in January.

Hon. Mr. Mills and Col. Carmichael do not have to return to their constituents just now, as they are without portfolios.

Seats have yet to be found for Premier Drury, Hon. Mr. Doherty and Hon. Mr. Raney, but it is expected they will face the electors in January.

To Visit North.

Hon. Mr. Doherty is to visit New Ontario shortly to inspect the development of agriculture there. This morning's conference with respect to British immigration was not, he said, with a view to making any extra effort to bring British-born to Ontario farms.

MANAGER HUGH JENNINGS WOULD ALSO ABOLISH FREAK PITCHING DELIVERIES

DETROIT PILOT WOULD IMPOSE RIGID PENALTIES ON TWIRLERS WHO ARE CAUGHT TAMPERING WITH THE BALL—SAYS ALL PITCHERS USE FREAK DELIVERIES.

SCRANTON, Penn.— Abolishment of every freak delivery would be urged by Manager Hughey Jennings of the Detroit Tigers were he called before the rules committees of the two major leagues and asked to submit his views on the proposal to change pitching rules for next season. The Tiger boss said as much to-day when interviewed regarding the subject, when he discussed in detail the numerous freak stunts that are being employed by the pitchers, most of which he says, makes the old spitball very mild in comparison.

Wants Rigid Penalties.

It is the claim of Manager Jennings that the rules should be changed so that the spit ball, emery ball, shine ball, fingernail ball, and others would be made illegal, and things so fixed so that any pitcher, catcher or infielder caught tampering with the ball would be fined for the first offence and put out of the game for a second violation. He says all freak deliveries are menacing baseball and that some of them are dangerous and quite a few ball players who would be splendid hitters against regular pitching, are being spoiled by the numerous invented methods that are now being employed by the curve dispensers.

Mr. Jennings doesn't agree with the views expressed by some managers and baseball writers that if the leagues decide to banish freak deliveries the pitchers using these should be given a year's grace so that they could master the usual pitching problems and accordingly qualify themselves to retain their big league positions. It is his claim that any pitcher in the big leagues now using freak delivery and who is not able to hold on through the use of the ordinary curve ball, fast ball and good control deserves no consideration from the clubs and should be passed back to the minors. The Tiger boss says pretty nearly every big league pitcher now throwing freak balls is using ideas originated by other pitchers, and that he believes there are quite a few of them who when required to resort to the old pitching methods could easily do so. On the other hand, he claims there are some twirlers of nothing better than minor league calibre who are getting by in the majors through the use of deliveries that should never have been permitted to creep into professional baseball.

World Fine Pitcher.

"I don't agree with the suggestion that in changing the pitching rules the use of a glove by a pitcher should be declared illegal," Hughey said. "That would be pretty hard on the twirler, because quite frequently he is required to stop hard line drives. However, I would make the rules read in such a way that the moment the umpires discovered the pitcher acting in a way that bordered on doctoring the ball the pitcher would be fined. I would impose the same rules on catchers, infielders and others in the game. The rules should read so that the pitcher would be required to get into pitching position and deliver the ball as soon as possible after receiving it from the catcher or another player, and I believe stiff penalties on any attempt to place gasoline on the sphere, roughen the covering with emery or rip the stitches with fingernails or sharp instruments would soon wipe out the practice."

Manager Jennings is anxiously awaiting the coming annual meetings of the two major leagues. He looks for important baseball developments at these sessions. Important trades are sure to result, he says, and he also predicts that rules will be changed so that purchase of players by a major league club from another team in the big show after a certain date will be made impossible. Mr. Jennings also looks for an adjustment of the trouble in the American League, and believes it will come about in a way that will find Ban Johnson still very much in power when it comes to directing the destinies of the organization.

BORDEN AGAIN WITH CABINET BORDEN TO START ONCE MORE

IN ADDITION TO MINISTRY, PREMIER HAS, ACCORDING TO PROMISE, TO REORGANIZE THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—When Sir Robert Borden returns to the capital this week things political are expected to liven up a bit. For the past two years or thereabouts Sir Robert has been reorganizing his Cabinet every time the strain of Imperial affairs has allowed him to turn his attention to things around home. His object has been to give his native land a Government that was half Conservative and half Liberal, and consequently well constituted to form the foundation of a new Union Party. Up to the present it must be admitted the Premier hasn't been overwhelmed in the embarrassment of State-fed Co-operative Grits, a scarcity of broad-minded liberals of any stripe having joined the ranks of the Rowell school. Nor have his recent efforts helped matters. To be sure, he was made a couple of shifts, but while the neutral Grit to his combined colleagues may have been emphasized there is still lack of that good old Grit element that might cause followers of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier to forget the idols of their childhood.

For instance, Sir Thomas White gave place to Sir Henry Drayton, and while the change did not hurt the recent Victory Loan, there is still doubt as to whether Sir Harry should be marked a Conservative because of his appearance in Tory Toronto's City Hall or a Liberal because he got a job from the Ross Government. Then Hon. T. A. Crerar, who was a farmer by trade but a Grit by birth, threw up his job and was replaced by Hon. Dr. Tolmie, of Victoria. The latters' politics are still in doubt, so there's not much change there.

The only other change was caused by the pensioning of Hon. F. B. Carvell. He is a howling, snorting Grit of the type only New Brunswick can produce—that is, he was before he came under the softening influence of Union environment and graduated from that into $7,500 a year and the Railway Commission. There is none to fake Honest, Fearless Fighting Frank's place. Nor is there likely to be, for while Sir Robert still pondered over his problem thes farmer epidemic hit the country, and opening constituencies became a dangerous amusement.

Railway Directors

So Sir Robert will probably rest from his life work of making a fifty-fifty Cabinet and turn to things of lesser moment. Among these he may, with malice towards none, big charity to the country in general, give his attention to the Board of Directors of the Canadian National Railways. During the recent debate on the Grand Trunk deal Hon. Dr. Reid on more than one occasion promised that that Board of Directors should give place to a board made up of competent railway men. Even he seemed to realize that there was something about the direction of our national railway system that was not entirely satisfactory. This realization may have been emphasized by the fact that our national visitor, the Prince of Wales, did his travelling in a C.P.R. train over C.P.R. rails. Somebody may have broken it gently to the railway doctor that if public ownership of railways must be run in such a way that we won't be afraid to ask our visitors to ride on them. So Dr. Reid promised to reorganize that board. And as Sir Robert Borden has had so much experience at the reorganizing game, what more fitting than that he should give the Minister the benefit of his experience? Not that the present board do no trank high in the affections of a grateful country. Look them over and see if you do not love every one of them. Here is the line-up:

Board of Directors.

D. B. Hanna, Toronto, Ont., (president).

A. J. Mitchell, Toronto, Ont. (vice president and financial comptroller).

Major G. A. Bell, Ottawa, Ont.,

Mr. Robert Hobson, Hamilton, Ont., (president or general manager Steel Company of Canada).

Mr. R. T. Riley, Winnipeg, Man., (financial and insurance manager).

Mr. E. R. Wood, Toronto, Ont., (financial manager).

Mr. Thos. Cantley, New Glasgow, N.S. (president of N. S. Steel and Coal Company).

Sir Hormidas Laporte, Montreal, Que., (president Laporte and Martin, wholesale grocers, and president War Purchasing Commission).

A. P. Barnhill, K.C., St. John, N.B. (lawyer).

Of the lot, only D. B. Hanna and A. J. Mitchell can be accused of having ever [illegible] acquaintance with practical railroading.

As to the others, some of them being [illegible] may be interested in keeping freight rates rather than [illegible] but just how a Manitoba [illegible] or a New Brunswick [illegible] into the management of [illegible] owned railways is [illegible] beyond the conception [illegible] unskilled in statesmanship.

Anyway, it is agreed that Sir Robert Borden must start too soon or go too [illegible] with his new job of reorganizing efforts in regard to his Cabinet were restricted by the scarcity of constituencies. It was said to open. There are no strings on him when it comes to this Board of Directors. Let him hop to it and show [illegible] that kind of a reorganizer [illegible] is.

GREAT SCOTCH GAME STRONG IN FRANCE

GOLF WAS WELL KEPT UP THROUGHOUT THE WAR PERIOD—A COSMOPOLITAN CLUB.

If one were to be guided in a negative sense by the French newspapers, one would come surely to the conclusion that there is now no such thing as golf in France, and that it must have disappeared entirely at the first crash of war five years ago. But this is not the case. The game survived all throughout the struggle, here in Britain, the United States and [illegible] where it did its patriotic duty [illegible] as any other branch of sport, it received many valuable advertisements; and it is now stronger than ever, says the Paris correspondent of the C[illegible] Science Monitor.

Everybody knows how fast Britain has developed sports in [illegible] years, while [illegible] been wonderful [illegible] officials and [illegible] official [illegible] since the war [illegible] terminated. [illegible] interest [illegible] further [illegible] having [illegible] Meanwhile, [illegible] the two [illegible] golf. He does [illegible] other recreations; but there is nothing in the way of sports that he likes better than golf, and he has played much at La Boulie, the oldest of the Parisian courses, and the one which is still regarded as the headquarters of the game in France. He has a handicap of something like 12, and is therefore something of a half-way sort of player, while those who know him on the course tell us that he is a "reflective" sort of golfer, and that he is rather a wonder at searching for lost balls, for after a game in which one or more of his have gone astray, he has been known to saunter out alone in the gloaming and search for them and come back to the clubhouse not only with those but with others also! Great as a general, he is something of a wonder as a retriever in golf!

Politicians at Play.

Certain of the eminent political personages have been nibbling at the game in recent times. Go to La Boulie and the fine, flat, course at Chantilly, and you will find Frenchmen eminent in many walks of life giving themselves up to the enjoyment of the game and those various other little accompaniments of the play—the journey to the course, the lunch, the discussion of the prospects of the match ahead, the analysis of it afterwards and so forth—with a zest that is quite worthy of the Anglo-Saxon race. There is something not quite so robust about the French amateur golfer as his Anglo-Saxon associate, he has not yet reached that peculiar point of unconventionality or naturalness in his games that distinguishes the utter sportsman, and he is perhaps a little too fine in his manner of dress and appointments, but he is improving. Some time he may reach the great dignity of the best amateur player in Britain. But even as it is, the [illegible] there, and the game [illegible] advancing.

From a considerable experience of Continental golf, the writer is inclined to say that more persons of great political prestige have played on the La Boulie course at Versailles and the course of the Rome Golf Club, at Acque Santa on the Campagna, than on any other. Of the Rome course, in days not to be mind, it was an unusual thing not to see an ambassador playing, and it is a matter of common knowledge to the Roman golfers that a little before the [illegible] Ambassador in Rome, Mr. Page, was a very keen golfer, and [illegible] Ambassador, Mr. Peace, was also a golfer. Under the auspices of Mr. Deschamps, and the [illegible] membership at La Boulie is a very considerable thing—greater than the American membership of any golf club outside the United States. One is inclined to say that this club has a more cosmopolitan membership than any other.

President Wilson used to play on the new course at St. Cloud near Paris—one of the best of the courses near the capital—and the first thing noted about the German delegates to the peace conference on their arrival at Versailles was that they had brought their golf clubs with them!

Tobacco Habit Dangerous

says Doctor Cramer, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, "thousands of men suffering from fatal diseases would be in perfect health to-day were it not for the deadly drug, Nicotine. Stop the habit now before it's too late. It's a simple process to rid yourself of the tobacco habit in any form. Just go to any up-to-date drug store and get some Nicotol tablets; take them as directed, and the pernicious habit quickly vanishes. Druggists refund the money if they fail. He asks to read large and interesting announcement by Doctor Cramer soon to appear in this paper. It tells of the danger of nicotine poisoning, and how to avoid it. In the meantime try Nicotol tablets; you will be surprised at the result. 69

HOW C. P. R. ENGINEER WON VICTORIA CROSS

It fell to the lot of a C.P.R. engineer Pte. John Peter Robertson to win the much coveted Victoria Cross at Passchendaele. Robertson enlisted at Lethbridge with the 175th and was an engineer on that division. He was better known as "Pete" to his Lethbridge friends. He was born in Pictou, Nova Scotia, but lived most of his life in Medicine Hat with his mother, Mrs. Alex. Robertson.

Robertson was aged thirty-four, won his distinction in connection with operations at Passchendaele, November 6, 1917. Details came through authoritative channels that during his battalion's attack Robertson's platoon was held up by uncut wire two hundred yards from the final objective. Our guns were still busy cutting a way through the wire when a German machine gun opened fire and inflicted very heavy losses on the Canadians. Robertson, without waiting for orders acted entirely on his own initiative, rushed towards the German gun, defying the machine guns' withering fire. Moreover, our artillery barrage was so intense that death seemed almost certain. Working his way to the flank, he eventually found an opening in the wire, got through, and crawled until the end of the emplacement was reached. Rising suddenly to his feet he charged down on the astonished Germans, and killed four of the gun crew before they could recover from their surprise. The remainder fled in terror, but their flight was soon cut short when Robertson seized the abandoned gun, screwed it around and poured a hail of bullets upon the backs of the fast disappearing enemy. Several of them fell victims to their own weapon and others were caught by our shells. When the remainder of the platoon arrived Robertson was still firing the captured gun. It was entirely due to his heroic action that the whole line was enabled to advance and capture the final objective. Robertson went forward with the first wave, taking a gun with him. He used it very effectively to keep down the fire of German machine guns and snipers, while his platoon consolidated the new position. Later in the day when two or our snipers who ventured in front of our lines were wounded Robertson volunteered to bring them in. He went into the open, although exposed to a heavy enemy fire, lifted one man on his back and carried him safely to the trench and immediately returned to the second man, staggering back with his unconscious burden while the bullets whistled around him. But as if cruel fate were awaiting until the last possible moment to overtake him, he was killed on the very parapet of the trench, his mission almost accomplished. His splendidly heroic end, like his dashing work done earlier in the day, had a most inspiring effect.

WEDDING BELLS

FITZPATRICK—RICE
"Medicine Hat Daily News"

In St. Patrick's Church, Tuesday morning 18th at 8 o'clock, John Glen Rice and Kathleen Florence Fitzpatrick were united in marriage in the presence of the immediate friends of both families. Marie Fitzpatrick acted as bridesmaid while James Rice brother of the groom assumed the duties of best man. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. M. F. Fitzpatrick, uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. E. J. McCoy and Rev. Thos. Greene. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, then the young couple marched to the altar to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Agnes Soollard.

During the Holy Sacrifice several appropriate hymns were sung by Mr. [illegible] and Miss Clara Irwin.

The bride looked very charming in a suit of navy blue wool gabardine with hat to match, and wearing a dainty blouse of pink silk georgette.

A sumptuous banquet was served at the residence of the bride's father, 849 3rd street S. E. At the close of the wedding breakfast short appropriate addresses were made by Rev. Fathers Fitzpatrick, McCoy, Greene, the groom, J. O. Rice, R. J. Rice and James Rice, Mr. Jas. [illegible] and Thos. Daly.

The young couple left on the noon train for the Coast and will be absent for a few weeks. The gifts to the bride were handsome and valuable, among them being two "one hundred dollar checques, showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held by their large circle of friends.

Attempt to Re-open Soft Coal Mines to Be Made Monday

FEDERAL TROOPS WILL BE USED IF NECESSARY—COAL SHORTAGE ASSUMING SERIOUS PROPORTIONS.

MINERS RETURNING

(United Press.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—An attempt to re-open the Illinois' three hundred and seventy soft coal mines will be made by operators Monday, it was learned here to-day. If a sufficient number of miners return to work production will be resumed, even if the use of Federal troops is necessary, operators said. In the meantime, reports from mid-western points showed the coal shortage is assuming serious proportions. Another week is expected to bring a stoppage of many industries requiring coal, according to the operators.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Battle ground of conflict over the new wage scale in the bituminous coal industry which has centred here during two weeks of fruitless negotiations, to-day shifted to various fields in all sections of the country. Operators returning here to attempt to re-open their mines and ready to pay 14 per cent. wage advance as suggested by Fuel Administrator Garfield, received the assurance of the government that troops were ready to protect from violence any miners wishing to return to work. Federal district attorneys having been instructed relative to proceeding against either operators or miners restricting the ouput of coal, the Department of Justice simply awaited developments.

LOCAL DEMAND FOR DOMESTICS

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU WILL ENDEAVOR TO SECURE A NUMBER

In order to compete with the ever increasing demand for domestics coming from the householders of the city the Government Employment Bureau of Peterboro will endeavour to obtain a number of the domestics which have been promised to the country by England and word was sent to the Superintendent of the coming domestics in Toronto to-day asking for several. At present the Bureau is able only to place an odd domestic as any female applications for work received are for factory work. It was stated that at least twenty-five maids could be placed at a few hours notice.

Increased Applications.

In the male department of the Bureau the number of applications for work have been considerably increased from last week, 45 having been received. Of these 36 mostly skilled labor were placed and two sent to the lumber camps. Thirty-six applications for help were received during the week from the manufacturers.

PROTECT YOURSELF

The majority of people eat too much, and while they may do so occasionally with out any bad results it is very bad to continue this practice.

With a constant supply of food to look after, the kidneys are unable to carry away the inert material, and they become inflamed and irritated and a general feeling of depression throughout the whole system.

To correct this condition, go at once to Lynch's Drug Store, and get a box of Dr. Banta's K. & R. Pills.

FLOWERS SCARCE FOR CHRISTMAS

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—As a result of the great demand for cut flowers which has been brought about by the return of pre-war festivities, such as banquets, dances, teas, etc., there will be a scarcity for the Christmas trade, according to city florists. Holiday prices have already been reached and it is likely that four more advancements in price will be made before the festive season, which will put them beyond the reach of the average citizen.

MINSTRELS ADDED TO THEIR LAURELS

REPEAT PERFORMANCE LAST EVENING WAS A BIG SUCCESS.

Before a crowded house last evening the Y.M.C.A. Minstrels added to their laurels at the Grand in a repeat performance of the Y.M.C.A. Minstrels. The show went off with a smoothness which was lacking on the first night, and every number was a hit. The singing of the chorus was the feature of the show, and Mr George Wesley and his group of very blue black mourners scored the hit of the evening in their dirge for John Barleycorn, "The Referendum Blues."

The work of the artists, many of whom are making their debut, was evidently greatly appreciated if floral tributes are any sign of appreciation.

RESCINDED MOTION NAMING W. ANDERSON

AS COUNTY'S REPRESENTATIVE ON SUBURBAN ROAD COMMISSION

The resolution passed during the week by the County Council appointing Reeve Anderson a commissioner to supervise the good roads work in the suburban area with two other commissioners, one of them named by the city, was rescinded yesterday on motion by Reeve Brown, seconded by Reeve Darling. This later motion bequeathed the whole road improvement problem to next year's Council. It was pointed out in the discussion that the suburban road commissioner would continue in office for five years.

"Oh, I'm off to the Bazaar and Rummage Sale."

"Well, I'm going there myself; got up at 4 o'clock this morning; have my washing on the line, and now I'm out for bargains."

"Well, you'll get them there sure; come on, let's go together."

"Say, Mrs. Jones, you never saw such a pile of stuff as Mark Street Ladies' Aid have for sale in that store on George street opposite Barrie's, and it's all good."

"So I'm told; men's wear, ladies' wear, a millinery department, boots, shoes, rubbers, men's hats — Oh, well everything!"

"Yes; and I learn it is no cast off stuff either."

"Well, come on; look at the crowd; why, we will hardly get in if we don't get a move on."

"Yes; and the best of all is, the profit goes to the church."

"Of course it goes to the church, but you'll find that we'll profit by this move."

"Bargains? We'll seek no further, that's all."

FIGHTING IN MEXICO

NO REPORT OF HOSTILITIES—WILL ENFORCE DEMAND

SITUATION TENSE

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. — Although denial from Mexico City of reported fighting there between followers of President Carranza and General Alvaroobragon, Presidential candidate, served to ease the tenseness of relations between Mexico and the United States, the State Department to-day had not altered its determination to enforce demand for the prompt release of American Consular Agent Jenkins, imprisoned on the charge of conniving with his bandit captors.

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. — Reports that there had been fighting in Mexico City between forces led by General Obregon and Carranza troops, and that Carranza had fled, were discredited at the Mexican Embassy here to-day. Embassy has been in touch with the capital since the time when the fighting was supposed to have occurred, and its despatches did not mention any clash. The report was believed to be false.

ONLY ONE CASE IN THE SUPREME COURT

W. G. PATON CLAIMS $4,000 FROM CLIFFORD FILION IN PROPERTY DEAL.

In the only case before Mr. Justice Rose in the non-jury sessions of the Supreme Court here next Monday, William G. Paton claims $4,000 from Clifford Filion as an unpaid balance in a land exchange transaction.

An order for an injunction to restrain the defendant from remaining in possession of the land he obtained in the deal was dismissed by Mr. Justice Masten in Toronto, who directed that the case proceed to trial.

This action is upon a written agreement for sale and exchange by the plaintiff of lands in Belmont for the defendant's property in Saskatchewan under which a balance of $4,000 was claimed by Paton. He alleges default in the payment of instalments of $500 of the principal in April of 1918 and 1919, and that the defendant took possession of the Belmont property, removed trees, and received payment for them.

Paton claims possession, asked that the agreement be cancelled: also that he is entitled to retain the money paid by Filion and the latter's lands and goods in Saskatchewan. He further asked for an accounting of all the timber sales and for an injunction to restrain Filion from removing any more trees.

Mr. Justice Rose will hear this case.

RETURNED MEN GET GOLD WATCHES AT DOWNEYVILLE

A presentation to three returned soldiers, Copr. W. O'Neil, Pte. V. Callaghan, and Pte. Charles Gerard, took place at the Community Hall, Downeyville, on Wednesday evening and was attended by a large gathering. Rev. Father Galvin occupied the chair and read an address to the three heroes.

Accompanying the address was the gift of gold watches.

A splendid musical programme was also run off in connection with the presentation, and addresses were delivered by Reeve Wilson Councillor Carroll, and others.

The three soldiers have had splendid records. Corp. William O'Neill, it will be remembered, was officially reported dead, while Pte. Callaghan spent some time in a German prison.

GERMANY WILL REFUSE TO SIGN PROTOCOL TO PEACE TREATY

(United Press.)

BERLIN, November 29.—Statements believed to have been inspired by the government here to-day were to the effect that Germany will not sign the protocol to he Peace Treaty which provides for the delivery of certain docks and shipping.

Germany takes the ground, according to these statements, that since France failed to keep her "promise" for the return of war prisoners, Germany can break her word regarding the protocol. It was also pointed out that the delivery of the docks and shipping would cripple German industry and transportation.

Whether an attempt to get fresh promises from France for the return of prisoners and then sign the protocol will be made, was not known here.

THE GALLO COMIC OPERA COMPANY

"THE CHIMES OF NORMANDY" WILL BE PLAYED [illegible].

One of the most [illegible] offerings of the engagement of The Gallo Comic Opera Company at the [illegible] next week will be a splendid revival of Robert Planquette's romantic opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," which has [illegible] been seen here, if memory serves us, for some years. This charming story, laid in and around the haunted chateau of [illegible] and depicting the sweet, little [illegible] story of the waif who, supposed to [illegible] niece of Gaspard, the miser, [illegible] turns out to be the last Marquise de [illegible] and becomes the bride of the [illegible] Marquis de Corneville, while [illegible] Gaspard conveniently goes mad [illegible] green calcium light, is as fresh [illegible] as when it was first conceived by [illegible] master of libretto writing, H. B. Farnie. The opera will be cast to the full [illegible] strength of the Gallo forces, with Rosina [illegible] Whiteside as Serpolette, Ethel Mae [illegible] as Germaine, Albert Parr as [illegible] Marquis de Corneville, Jefferson De [illegible] as Gaspard and Louis [illegible] as the Bailli.

GRAND PASSES INTO NEW HANDS

The Grand Opera House passes into the hands of its new owners, the Trans-Canada Theatres Limited, the "All Red" theatrical concern which has acquired a chain of theatres throughout Canada and will give Canadian playgoers a chance to see the big English productions rather than so many of the American plays that are usually given. Trans-Canada Theatres Limited have purchased all the theatres owned by Mr. A. J. Small, of Toronto, the local house, of course, being included. Peterborough theatre-goers will learn with pleasure that Mr. Harry Dahn, who has been Mr. Small's representative here, will remain at the Grand as manager under the new regime. He has made a host of friends here and they will be glad to know that the change in ownership will not make any difference in the local management.

RICE LAKE IS FROZEN OVER

"Rice Lake is frozen over and the ducks are all gone." This is the message the Examiner has received from Harwood. That was on the night of the 25th, and it would seem to foretell an early winter, for Rice Lake is always the last of the lakes to freeze up. As for the ducks—well who wouldn't leave for the sunny south it all one had to do was to get mamma duck and all the little ducks off to a good start and make for the Mason-Dixie line.

EARLIER MAIL FOR PETERBORO FARMERS

An effort is being made by the farmers of Peterborough County to inaugurate an earlier system of rural delivery. The plan is to have the rural mail carriers leave Peterborough at eight o'clock in the morning instead of one o'clock in the afternoon. This would place the farmer in closer touch with Peterborough interests and give the farmer the benefit of some of its merchandising advantages.

FEWER DEATHS IN FOOTBALL WORLD

FIVE VICTIMS DURING THE 1919 SEASON.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. — Football claimed five victims during the 1919 season, which practically closed with Thanksgiving Day games, according to a report to the Associated Press to-day. The number of deaths, the lowest in years, was five less than in 1918, and seven under the toll of two years ago.

Development of open style of play to supplant dangerous smashing games, is mainly responsible for the decreasing number of fatalities in the opinion of experts.

COUNTY PREPARES TO MEET NEIGHBOURS

The County Council as a whole will be a committee to meet Victoria Council and the city's representatives in the proposal to urge upon the Government the rebuilding of the Pigeon Creek Bridge.

A bylaw was passed this morning providing for the opening of a new county road east of Burnham's, in Otonabee, across the 7th, 8th, and 9th concessions.

EGGS OFFERED AT $1.30 A DOZEN IN TORONTO TO-DAY

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO Nov. 29.—"How much are egs this morning?" asked a timid-looking buyer at the St. Lawrence Market this morning.

"They're $1.30 a dozen this morning, lady!" was the brusque reply from a prosperous-looking farmer.

"But I wanted to get three dozen, and I can't afford to pay $3.90 for thirty-six eggs. Can't I get them cheaper?" she asked. "My little boy is ill, and the doctor ordered fresh eggs for him every day."

"They shouldn't sell for less than $1.25," said the farmer, but softened a little and gave her the three dozen for $3.00!

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS OPEN NEXT WEEK.

The Soviet delegates, it is stated, will cross the frontier in the neighbourhood of Pskov.

MAYOR GRAY HAD A MAJORITY OF THREE THOUSAND—RESULTS IN THE VARIOUS WARDS.

A BITTER FIGHT

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29.— The final results of the municipal elections yesterday show that Mayor C. F. Gray was re-elected by a majority of 3,000 and that Labor aldermanic candidates captured three seats, giving them seven vote in a city council of fourteen. Here are the figures:

Mayor Gray (Citizens' Committee) 15,571; J. F. Farmer (Labor) 12,563.

The Citizens' candidates were successful in Wards 1, 2, 3 and 4, where J. G. Sullivan, Ald. F. O. Fowler, Ald. G. Fisher and Ex-Mayor F. H. Davidson were elected respectively with big majorities. Labor candidates were returned in Wards 5, 6 and 7, where Ald. John Queen, J. Blumberg and Herbert Jones were elected.

Complete aldermanic returns give the following results:

Ward 4—Davidson (Citizen), 2,587; Fyle (Labor) 1,960.

Ward 6—Blumberg (Labor) 2,150, Ald. Hamlin (Citizen) 2,000; Kaplanovitch (Ind.) 67.

Ward 7—B. Jones (Labor) 1,194; Ald. McLennan (Citizen) 984.

Two aldermen were defeated by Labor candidates Hamlin in Ward 6, and McLennan in Ward 7.

Alderman Queen, now on trial for seditious conspiracy, won by about 1,800 in Ward 5.

The by-law providing for the municipalization of the milk distribution was defeated.

May be recounts

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29.—Later reports indicate the Winnipeg New City Council will be evenly divided between citizens and labor members of the Council with Mayor Gray, Citizen's Candidate, in the unenviable position of having to give casting vote on important straight labor issues, which are sure to crop off in the Council this year.

The Aldermen stand [illegible] seven to seven for the second year. There may eb some recounts where the evote was close. Gray had majority of 1,116 and count of actual votes cast showed that Citizen's Candidates polled six thousand more votes than the Laborites.

Laborites carried one seat on the School Board.

In many respects it was a case of North Winnipeg versus South Winnipeg with the south having the better of the argument in the actual count, but the north won out in the pinches and thus gained two seats for the Laborites.

Another outstanding feature of the elections was that of 18 Labor candidates placed in the field only four were successful. The other three are members of the Council from last year. The vote was the heaviest on record, being nearly doube that of 1917 when fifteen thousand votes were polled.

A WAR-TIME TOWN.

B. C. Government Is Taking Over Model at Thurston Harbour.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 29.—Through the gift of the Imperial Munitions Board the Provincial Government assumes control of a model town at Thurston Harbour on the Queen Charlotte Island.

When the war was on and the need of spruce for aeroplane construction became so great, camps sprung up with surprising frequency and that at Thurston Harbour was one of them.

The Imperial Munitions Board built house accommodation for its employees, as well as a hospital, office and many other buildings.

The entire establishment has now been taken over by the Forestry Department of the Victoria administration.

ITALIAN SITUATION

ALARMING REPORTS TO SCARE OFF AMERICAN CAPITAL—CENSOR STILL ON JOB.

DENIES REPORTS

(United Press.)

ROME, Nov. 29. — The Corriere D'Italia to-day denied a report circulated abroad that King Victor Emmanuel will abdicate, declaring that the alarming reports of internal unrest in Italy are part of a "conspiracy aiming to discourage foreign capital, especially American capital, from investing in Italy."

The report originated according to this newspaper, from matter mailed from Rome to London, and sent out on cables from that city.

The Pope D'Romane had learned no message on which to base the assumption that the King would abdicate ever had been filed in Rome. The censorship would not permit this, the newspaper pointed out.

A. CHERNIKOFF AUCTIOEEER HAD JUST ONE SALE

From attending the market auction sales and listening to the persuasive eloquence of Mr. John Thornton and W. J. Hancock, Mr. A. Chernikoff, a local second-hand dealer, aspired to the seeming sinecure of auctioneering. However, when he essayed to forsake the counter for the more exposed and exacting salesmanship in the market place, after paying $25 for a license, he was rudely introduced to reality. He held just one sale since August 18 when he procured the city's permit, and surrendering to failure, besought the Finance committee last night to return a proportion of his license money corresponding to the interval from November to next August.

"We can't deviate from the rule we have established," said Mayor Duncan.

Ald. Morrison was inclined to favour leniency, but Ald. Edgar pointed out that these men take a chance when they obtain a license and should therefore take the consequences.

SHORT STORY

The Silent Sentinel

By ALVAH JORDAN GARTH

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

It was in the nature of Harold Lane to be patient and indulgent, and in the case of Wallie Marshall he exerted, besides these characteristics, a spirit of true helpfulness. Lane was star reporter on a leading daily newspaper. The one ambition of his boyish enthusiastic protege was to follow in his footsteps.

Wallie had haunted the office of the publication, vainly seeking an opportunity to display his journalistic ability, until Lane chanced to notice him. One day he got the novice an assignment to report a banquet. Wallie wrote two columns on the affair, which were cut down to 50 lines by the city editor, but Wallie was the proudest soul in the world when he saw his effusion in print, curtailed as it was.

"See here, Marshall," he was advised by Lane the following day, "feel your way slowly and study hard. In the first place, learn to condense. In the next place, cultivate the colloquial style, which I see is your forte. Hang around; you'll be full-fledged in due time."

Wallie adored his kind-hearted patron and model. He fell to studying him. He copied his neckties and even essayed the careless, easy swing of self-confidence of his gifted senior. More than once Lane observed this acolyte hanging around where he was reporting a trial or looking up a sensation. Twice Lane happened to need a messenger, and Wallie was wing-footed to carry out his instructions. "If I can ever be like Lane," he confidentially imparted to another reporter, "it will be the glory of my life!"

So Lane ran across Wallie at all kinds of odd places, and was more accurate than he thought in suspecting that Wallie was constantly on his trail. Somehow it got noised about the newspaper office on one occasion that Lane was working on a big case. It was so immense and promising that Lane, abstractedly starting out upon it, did not notice that Wallie was trailing his footsteps.

What Lane was after was to locate a woman noted in police circles as Clever Kate.

A traveling jewelry salesman had been deftly robbed of a sample case containing something like $50,000 in chains, watches and jewels, and from certain clews he had dug up himself, Lane fancied he recognized the expert handiwork of Clever Kate and her right-hand assistant, Dave Ware.

The police were all at sea on the case. There was a large reward offered, which Lane set himself to gain as well as a scoop for the newspaper employing him. At last Lane felt assured that he had located the woman in question. He believed he had traced her to a house in a block of stone-front residences, and set himself about making sure of it. At the moment of the culmination of his plans Wallie, all unsuspected, was diligently following him. Ware stepped within the vestibule and Wallie lurked in the doorway opposite. He remained there an hour or two, then he began to get anxious. Those morning hours hurrying on towards a first-edition publication were never wasted by the matured reporter, and Wallie realized that extreme urgency or some mishap must have intervened to have kept Lane so long off active duty. As he lingered, reflecting deeply, Wallie saw a man hurry along the street, glance keenly all about him to be sure that he was not noticed or followed, hasten up the stone steps of the house and disappear past the vestibule.

Wallie's mind was soon made up. He had not at all fancied the looks of the man; he had grown uneasy and anxious from his long, suspenseful waiting. Wallie crossed the road, went up the steps, entered the vestibule and, trying its inside door, found that it opened into a broad hallway. Wallie stood still and listened. The muffled sounds of human voices reached his hearing, a door crashed shut and footsteps echoed. He glanced about for some ready shelter. A suit of armor, with spear ascendant, stood in an alcove. Behind this and within it, Wallie secreted himself. The mask of steel provided a secure hiding place.

A sirenlike creature came down the hall—Clever Kate, Wallie believed. She was accompanied by the man whom Wallie had seen enter the house a short time before.

"You have done your work well," he spoke, audibly to the silent sentinel. "There is no doubt that the hue and cry will soon materialize."

"Then it is a quick disappearance?"

"Yes, I will go South. You start North, double your track and get to Jersey City. The stuff was shipped to our friend Metz last week—Barclay building is his address. As to that meddlesome newspaper man, let him wiggle and starve, for all I care."

"Oh, the landlady is sure to investigate by tomorrow and set him loose."

The devoted Wallie came across Lane imprisoned in an armchair. Clever Kate had suspected him the moment he began the pretense of renting the apartments. She had induced him to be seated, a pair of steel arms shot out and he was held as in a vise.

Then prompt action—the police set on the trail of the conspirators, Jersey City wired, the "fenced" jewelry recovered and the reward paid. Lane divided with his faithful assistant. But what Wallie cherished most was a regular appointment on the newspaper staff.

The Will and the Way.

It is a far cry from Belgium to Korea, but the methods adopted by both countries to defeat oppression are not so distant. When the Germans overran the little nation in their mad rush upon France, they did their utmost to cut the news connection between Belgium and the outside world. In defiance of such efforts, however, La Libre Belgique was printed, circulated and laid upon the table of the German military commander, much to his annoyance. Now Korea informs the world of its secret press. A newspaper, in the form of a small mimeographed bulletin, is published each morning in Seoul and circulated in the neighboring provinces. The attempts of the Japanese officials to suppress it so far have been fruitless. It comes out with the regularity of the tick of a clock and the daily sheets are headed: "Ninth Day Since the Stores Were Closed." "Tenth Day Since the Stores Were Closed," and so forth, much to the chagrin of the Japanese police authorities. It is through this bulletin that the Korean committee keeps the people informed of what is going on.

OKLAHOMA SCHOOLS PROSPER FROM OIL

Receive $8,000,000 a Year From Oil Land Bonuses.

OKLAHOMA CITY—Oklahoma schools receive $2,000,000 a year from bonuses, royalties and rentals of school lands leased for oil, gas and other mineral purposes according to figures recently made public.

Greater development of the fields now in operation or the addition of new ones will cause the annual income to mount upward until the permanent school funds will amount to many millions.

More than a million and a half barrels of oil were taken from the state school lands during the past fiscal year. Millions of feet of natural gas were also sold.

SATURDAY, NOV. 29TH, 1919.

A MERITED INCREASE

The action of the Property Committee in deciding upon a salary of $1200 for the medical officer of health, Dr. A. W. McPherson will be commended by the majority of the ratepayers who will hope that the committee's recommendation will be adopted by the council. The increase of $400 a year places Dr. McPherson's renumeration more nearly on a level with his services.

A HAPPY INNOVATION.

It was a happy thought on somebody's part to have Mr. E. N. McDonald and Mr. Thomas Tooms, members respectively of East and West Peterboro in the Ontario Legislature meet and address the County Council. The innovation gave the county legislators and the county representatives at Toronto a chance to get acquainted with each other, and as there are a number of matters in which they are mutually concerned, the conference will doubtless prove probable to both.

THE WINNIPEG RESULT.

The verdict in Winnipeg yesterday can be interpretd in various ways but the re-election of Mayor Gray and the election of practically all the members of the citizens' committee slate over Labour candidat s must be considered as a condemnation by the majority of Winnipeg rate payers at the revolutionary tendencies of the general strike of last Summer. The issues were sharply drawn by the leaders on both sides, the Labour element making it clear that they proposed to reinstate all civic employees who were dismissed through their connection with the strike while the citizens committee took the ground that an application of civic employees must the Trades and Labour Council could not in the interests of the people be permitted. That the majority of Winnipeg's citizens agree with the latter contention is evidenced by Mayor Gray's re-election by over 3000 majority. The result of yesterday's vote will be felt throughout the Dominion.

THE COAL STRIKE

The majority of Peterboro users of bituminous coal seem to be in a fortunate position, through having a winter's supply already laid in, so that the effects of the strike in the American mines may not be felt as severely locally as in other parts of Canada, yet it is evident that the supply that is available must be rigidly conserved. The situation is serious and there is but scant hope of any improvement for some time. The utmost care must be taken to see that there is no waste. The attempts to end the strike have come to an end with the rejection by both sides of the United States Government proposal of a 14 per cent increase. The representatives of the miners and operators have departed for their homes and no one seems to know what the next development may be. The effect of the strike on Canadians is already shown by the action of the Grand Trunk Railway in cancelling no fewer than ninety passenger trains in Ontario. Peterboro being affected by the cutting off of several of the trains operating between this city and Port Hope and Lindsay.

REORGANISING THE MILITIA.

Before the military authorities of Canada just now is the important problem of reorganising the Canadian Militia—a problem that presents manifest difficulties, especially as to a decision as to the best manner in which this task is to be carried out. The greatest obstacle seems to be a clash between the principle of reorganising the old units of the Canadian Militia and that of doing away with the former regiments and substituting in their place battalions of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

In Peterborough, for instance, there is the likelihood that the 57th Regiment will not be reorganised, but that instead the city will be the headquarters of the 2nd Battalion, perpetuating the fame that the Eastern Ontario Battalion won on many a hard-fought field in France.

There is, naturally, a sentimental conflict, for the 57th Regiment has its traditions as well as the 2nd Battalion. The Rangers furnished officers and men for nearly every unit that was recruited in this district. Hundreds of former members of the 57th Regiment went overseas, and with many of them there is an attachment to the old unit that they would hate to see severed.

There is a compromise plan that has been suggested—the reorganisation of the 57th Regiment, with companies representing different overseas units. There might be a 2nd Battalion Company, an 8th C. M. R. Company, a 21st Battalion Company, and a 93rd Battalion Company. In this way, men of these well-known units could preserve the comradeship established in the C. E. F.

The problem of hitting upon a plan that would please everybody is one that is almost impossible to handle.

THE POST OFFIC APPOINTMENT.

Mr. Burnham's comments on the question of appointing a successor to the late James Edgar as postmaster, are interesting, and the public will join with him in the hope "that tablished by the Act will be attempted by anyone in authority." However the question naturally arises as to whether in the event of the present Civil Service Act not being in existence. Mr. Corkney's name would have been received consideration in connection with the appointment or whether some faithful worker who had laboured on behalf of Mr. Burnham and would have been recommended. The member for West Peterboro was opposed to the introduction of the Act being a firm believer in the system that permitted a Government member or a defeated Government candidate to recommend the appointments in his particular riding. The people as a whole are likely to be inclined to give the new plan a chance as far as the local post office appointment is concerned, feeling that there is a much greater chance of Mr. Corkerny receiving the appointment, that he most undoubtedly deserves than there would be under the old method. Mr. Burnham should feel grateful that he has not to make a recommendation for there are enough greedy camp followers in the riding to render his life miserable if the "pork barrel" principle was still in operation.

THE COMMUNITY SPIRIT

The development of the community spirit in a number of Ontario cities and towns is a sign of the times that should be heartily received. From Midland comes the announcement of the formation of a Community Association based on a representative Committee system and with the object of proving a factor in dealing with civic problems. The Association is to be a non-partisan and non-sectarian organization which will bring together citizens of all ranks of life. Among the executive are leading manufacturing and business men and officers of the various labour unions. The Association is designed to be thoroughly representative of the people of Midland and gives promise of being a useful and successful organization that should do much for the town. There is room in many other Canadian municipalities for a similar Association. Communities are being retarded by class jealously and misunderstanding; there is lack of co-operation between the different sections of the citizenship. Movements that have the welfare of the community in view do not flourish as they should because of the falure of the people to find common ground. A community spirit is a great asset and it is pleasing to note that the greatest object the local Board of Trade has as an incentive is the development of that spirit in this city. The movement deserves the support of every loyal citizen. To paraphrase the well known question of Elbert Hubbard: "Why not make this a city of friends?"

AN UNWISE MOVEMENT

Some over-ardent Prohibitionists would extend the prohibition of the sale of liquor to include prohibition of the use of tobacco in all forms. A still larger number would apply the the principle to certain forms of tobacco, especially cigarettes.

For prohibition of the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage sound argument can be advanced. The use of ardent spirits, in excess at least, is an injury not only to the individual but to the community. The family of the drinker is denied the support to which it is entitled and in a score of ways the safety of the community may be endangered by men in a state of partial or total intoxication. The same is not true of tobacco. Brains are not muddled by smoking in a way that involves danger in driving a motor, a railway engine or even a horse. The excessive use of tea, unwise eating, lying too long in bed in the morning, staying up too late at night or lack of exercise. Foolishness in dress and the wearing of thin shoes in wet weather are not conducive to health. But no one proposes to regulate, by law, personal conduct in all these things. There is no more reason for legal regulations in regard to the use of tobacco, by adults at least.

There is, however, a still stronger argument against anything looking to prohibition of the use of tobacco. The battle for a dry Ontario has not yet been won. That battle will not be won until the importation and manufacure of liquor in the Province, as well as the sale of liquor within the Province, have been made illegal. Nothing could well be designed to make more difficult the achievement of final victory in this matter than the inauguration of a campaign to abolish tobacco. That would put real life into the Personal Liberty League an organization that would otherwise die a natural death.—Farmers' Sun.

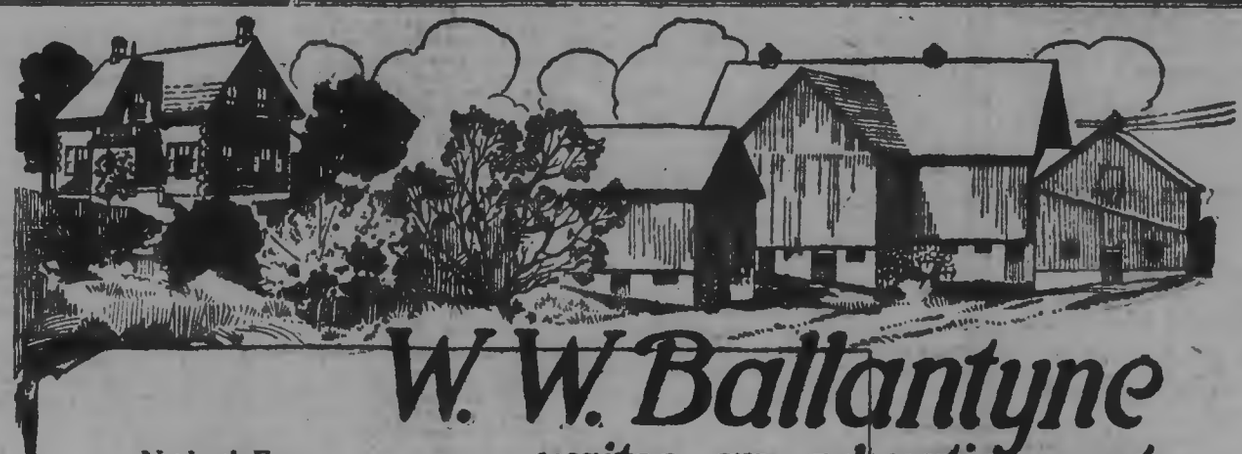
A LITTLE NONSENSE

IN DOUBT.

The daughter of a former United States Senator says that women won't wear short skirts here because the men don't like them. This seems to be a subject which ought to be decided by a referendum to the male voters with a secret ballot.— New York Herald.

If the Farmers' Government decides to dispose of Government House, the new Lieutenant-Governor may be a possible applicant for the assistance of the Housing Commission.

The three "Socialists" at Ellis Island, who refused to participate in the hunger strike, and instead dined lavishly on Thanksgiving turkey, have too much wisdom to be Radicals.



W. W. Ballantyne writes an advertisement

Neidpath Farm
Near Stratford, Ont.

Dear Sir:—

The Delco-Light Plant you sold me to light my farm has not only given us the pleasure and convenience of electric light in all our buildings, but it is rapidly paying for itself in the work it does.

It would be a good investment for us aside from the lighting altogether. So far, we have found 16 jobs for Delco on our farm, and we are constantly finding new jobs for it. We are using power from Delco-Light to run:—

(1) 3-unit milking machine.
(2) Cream separator.
(3) The pump in the dairy.
(4) Root pulper.
(5) Emery stone.
(6) Horse clippers.
(7) Sheep-shearing machine.
(8) Fanning mill.
(9) Washing machine.
(10) Vacuum cleaner.
(11) Electric iron.
(12) Toaster.
(13) Charging batteries on our motor car.
(14) Pumping water for household use.
(15) Lighting our home, stable, outbuildings and yard.
(16) Violet ray generator.

We have never figured this work down to so many hours per day, but we do know that we can operate the farm with one less man than we used to. Figure out the wages and board of a farm hand and you can see what the Delco-Light plant saves us.

We used to run a gas engine on the milker and cream separator, at a cost of 10 cents a day. Our Delco-Light plant supplying light and power for the whole farm costs only 7 cents a day.

It would not only be a harder proposition to run our farm without Delco-Light, but it would cost us a lot more money. We have no hesitation in recommending any farmer to harness up his farm to Delco-Light.

Yours truly,

(Signed) W W Ballantyne

The man who considers Delco-Light something that he will buy —when he can afford it—should heed this strong letter from Mr. Ballantyne. It costs more money to farm without Delco-Light. Can you afford, then, to delay equipping your farm with light and power?

Exclusive Delco-Light Features

Where there is a boy on the farm, he can look after this simple plant. These features insure care-free, long-lasting service for you.

It is direct-connected. There are no belts to slip, break or be replaced.

It is self-cranking. Pressing down on a lever starts the engine and it stops automatically when the batteries are charged.

It is air-cooled. There is no water to carry, to freeze or to boil away.

There is only one place to put oil. There are no grease-cups.

A simple mixing valve regulates the fuel supply. There is no complicated carburetor.

Ball and roller bearings cut down friction and increase efficiency.

Thick-plate batteries are long lasting.

75,000 Delco-Light plants are operating in Canada and the United States. This in itself proves the practical nature of the plant. Let us put you in touch with some of these people.

You owe it to yourself and your family to learn what Delco-Light will do for you. As a start toward greater comfort and larger profit, ask us to send you the Book "Pays for Itself," written by practical farmers.

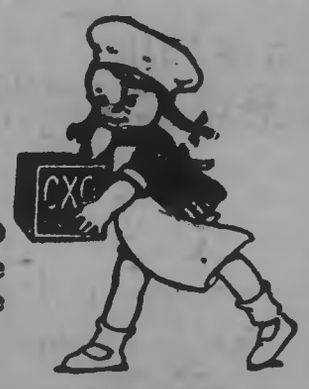
Now Meat is so expensive—

OXO Cubes should be more used than ever!



Think what OXO Cubes can save you in the course of a year!

For soups, sauces, gravies, savoury dishes and meat-jellies they do all that meat can do, and do it quicker and with less trouble.

Nothing need be wasted—
Nothing thrown away.

With OXO Cubes oddments and "left-overs" need not be put aside. They can be created into ideas for the menu—delicious, inviting, and quite inexpensive.

Another point to remember—

OXO Cubes not only add their own goodness and flavour, but possess the peculiar property of making other foods yield more nourishment than they otherwise would — hence, food goes further when OXO Cubes are one of the ingredients of the dish.

OXO HOT POT.

Peel and slice sufficient potatoes to half fill a large pie-dish, add few small onions, also sliced. Put into cold water, bring quickly to a boil, boil one minute, then drain. Put back in pie-dish with few slices of tomato, season with pepper and salt and flavour with herbs. Dissolve one OXO Cube in ½-pint of hot milk and pour over mixture. Put few bits of butter on top and bake for two hours in moderate oven.

OXO SUCCOTASH.

Take four-fifths of a breakfast cup of dried lima beans, soak one hour or more in cold water; drain, add one quart hot water in which two OXO Cubes have been dissolved. Cook until almost tender. Add little salt and finish cooking. Allow liquid to evaporate before removing from the stove. Add one cup canned corn and a tablespoonful of butter. Reheat and serve.

The little money-savers!

OXO CUBES

Prices same as before the war: 10c., 25c., $1.15, $2.25.

Economy of Ford Service

WEAR is unavoidable even in the best car, but certain parts wear out more quickly than others. There is no need of scrapping your car because the piston rings have seen their day, because the platinum points of the vibrators are worn out. Probably the rest of the car is as good as new.

Medical men agree that the human body is renewed, cell by cell, every seven years. You can do the same with your Ford Car and prolong its life at minimum cost by replacing worn parts from time to time.

Ford service has been the means of doubling the lives of hundreds of Ford Cars, and cutting down the cost of motoring. The fact that a Ford Touring Car, which costs $690, f.o.b. Ford, Ont., can be purchased part by part separately for $917 is ample proof of the economy of driving a Ford Car.

It will pay you to have your car overhauled during the winter months. 700 Canadian Dealers and over 2,000 Service Garages supply genuine Ford parts and prompt repair service.

When buying, choose a Ford, and take advantage of the economy of Ford service.

LUMBER PRICES GO UP.

Third Raise This Month, and Others Expected.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 27.—The Market Committee of the British Columbia Lumber Manufacturers' Association met here and made a decided upward jump in the lumber prices for rail and domestic trade. Timbers were raised $2 per 1,000, bringing the base price to about $28 Dimensions and boards went up $3, giving a base price of approximately $32.50, with $34 for eight and ten-inch shiplap. The most marked advance, however, was in clears, which jumped a straight $5, making No. 1 flooring now $70, V-joint $55, and drop siding $56. This is the third raise to be made in the price of lumber since November 1, and others are expected as the spring trade takes on new proportions.

SEAGRAM ESTATE A BIG ONE
REPORTED AS $4,500,000

UNDERSTOOD FOUR SONS SHARE UNDER THE WILL—RACE HORSES TO BE SOLD - DISTILLERY TO BECOME LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANY.

KITCHENER, Ont., Nov. 28.—Although the will has not yet been filed in the local Surrogate Court for probate, it is reported on good information that the late Joseph Seagram, prominent distiller and patron of the turf, left an estate approximating $4,800,000. The principal beneficiaries are said to be his four sons, Edward, Thomas, Joseph and Norman. The latter is a member of the firm of Buchanan, Seagram & Co., stock brokers, and resides at 217 St. George street, Toronto. It is understood that under the terms of the will the four sons of the late Mr. Seagram are to share as follows—Edward Seagram to receive the family home in Waterloo, and $1,500,000, and Thomas, Joseph and Norman Seagram to have $1,000,000 each.

The will, it is said, provides that the large Seagram farm, situated near Waterloo, and where the late owner's race horses were bred and trained, shall be sold. Not long before Mr. Seagram'se death a lot of his choice animals were disposed of. It is understood that the remainder of the stud will be sold, and that the distillery will be organized into a limited liability company.

Laborites in British Parliament Seek Bigger Indemnity

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Labor members of Parliament here are agitating for an increase in their parliamentary salaries, which now are about $2,000 per annum. The present salary which represents a pre-war purchasing value of approximately eight hundred dollars, is regarded as hopelessly inadequate for the maintenance of a legislator in London.

It is understood that a proposal is to be put forward for the modified plan of payment by attendance. The demand which is being canvassed is that every member of Parliament living out of London should be entitled to travelling expenses and a subsistence allowance of $5 for every day on which he attends Parliament.

BRITAIN'S INFLUENCE PROMISED JUGO-SLAVIA

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Great Britain has given Jugo Slavia assurances that the Adriatic question will soon be taken up by the Supreme Council and that Great Britain's influence will be used to secure a just and equitable settlement in accordance with the life and interests of Jugo-Slavia, according to private despatches.

Sahara Not All Desert.

Even Sahara is not all level desert. It consists of a vast series of plateaux with a few groups of mountains. There are numerous pastures and some pieces of woodland, even outside the oases. In the oases are found the fig-tree, the apricot, the peach, and the grape. Agriculture succeeds well in the oases of the north, as at Biskra. The cultivated cereals are barley, wheat, sorghum, and millet; lucerne is the forage-plant of the oasis. This vast region would have been developed long ago but for the anarchy and lack of safety that prevail. Oases may be enlarged, and even created, advantage may be taken of underground streams, and when there is no longer fear of spoliation by nomadic robbers, the most favorable places will become settled, as has already happened in some localities protected by the French.

International Switzerland.

It is the peculiar characteristic of Switzerland that, after crossing its frontiers, one never appears to have wholly left the neighboring countries behind. The northern "gates" seem to introduce one to a modified Germany; at Geneva one is still in a French-speaking country; while the impression one receives upon entering from the south of still being upon Italian soil is at first difficult to shake off. The character of the scenery serves only to heighten the illusion. Ethnographically, as well as physically, the soil of Switzerland seems to invite the various peoples of the earth to make of the country a place of rendezvous where international differences can be forgotten. —Family Herald.

Russian Law.

The Czar's Government withheld from Russian workmen the right to strike by requiring them to give their employer two weeks' notice before quitting his employ. On the other hand, the law required the employer likewise to give them a two weeks' notice, or, if he dismissed him abruptly, to pay the dismissed employe for two weeks beyond the term of employment.

STEINWAY FORTUNE PUT AT $5,000,000

SON'S INCOME LIMITED TO $100 A WEEK BECAUSE, WILL SAYS, HE LACKS "BUSINESS ABILITY."

WIDOW TO GET ONE-THIRD

NEW YORK,—The will of Charles H. Steinway, President of Steinway & Sons, piano manufacturers, which was filed for probate here, disposes of an estate estimated at upward of $5,000,000. The will cuts off Mr. Steinway's brother, Henry W. T. Steinway, from any participation in the estate, but gives no reason.

Although Charles F. M. Steinway, son, of Mountain Lakes, N.J., receives a trust fund of one-third of the residuary estate and shares a third left to his mother, Mrs. Marie A. Steinway, upon her death, his father directs that te income to be paid to him be limited to $100 a week and says:

"I make this provision for my son because I am of the opinion that he is lacking in business ability, and is not competent to take charge of and prudently use, manage, and dispose of money and property."

The testator provides that out of the sons' income $50 a wek is to be paid to his wife, Florence Garland Steinway, and $50 weekly for the support and maintenance of their son, Frederick Steinway, with an equal allowance for any other child that may be born.

Mrs. Marie L. M. Batchelor, the daughter, of 116 West Seventy-second Street, gets the income from a third of the residuary estate until she is 21 years old, when she gets half the principal of her share, and the remainder is to go to her next of kin. She also gets half of her mother's share. It was said yesterday that upon the death of the widow it may be necessary to apply to the Surrogate Court for a construction of the will in respect to the income tha tis to go to the son from his mother's share.

Mrs. Marie A. Steinway, the widow, who lives at Pasadena, Cal., gets her husband's furniture and household effects, in addition to a third of the residuary estate. Mr. Steinway gives his scarfpin to his daughter and his gold watch and chain and other jewelry to his son. A bequest of $2,000 goes to Anna Allenspach of 14 West Ninety-eighth street, if she is now in the testator's employ.

The will provides that in case either the son or daughter do not have children surviving to inherit a share of the trust funds left to them such share is to go to the testator's next of kin, excluding his broher, Henry W. T. Steinway. Mr. Steinway, who made his home in this city at the Sherman Square Hotel, died on Oct. 30 last.

SMALL GIRL NOT FORGOTTEN

Frocks for Little Maid's Adornment Are More Than Usually Charming and Practical.

Frocks for the small girl are both quaint and practical. The ginghams are attractively combined with plain one-tone material, or have collars, cuffs and chemisettes of sheer white materials. Plain pink, blue, green, yellow or lavender chambrays are also made dainty and becoming by collar and cuff sets of white organdie, dimity, batiste or linen lawn.

One Chicago house which makes a specialty of children's clothes shows numbers of quaintly charming frocks made from imported dimities, chambrays and swisses.

Two of the models in an exhibit were made of chambray, one being in a clear apple-green tone. There is a plain short-waisted bodice belted with a two-inch band piped with black. The belt is embroidered with colored posies and green leaves. The sleeves and neck are piped with black. Another frock is of pale-pink chambray, with the sheerest of scalloped white collars and cuffs. The frock also has a short-waisted bodice and a very full skirt is attached to the plain little bodice, the joining line being defined by a piping of color. Embroidered posies, uneven in height, rise from the piping and embroidered lines to about one-third the bodice length. The skirt is also trimmed with embroidered lines.

Our Agent In Bucharest.

Col. Joe Boyle, well known to Canadians for the leading part he has played in Roumanian affairs during the past two years, has gone to Bucharest as the Canadian agent in Roumania. Col. Boyle will supervise the distribution of Canadian exports to that country and protect Canadian interests generally under the terms of our agreement with that country. Canada, it will be remembered, is supplying $35,000,000 worth of manufactured articles, raw materials and foodstuffs to Roumania, and has advanced a credit to that amount. Col. Boyle, who is acknowledged to possess a remarkable influence in Roumanian affairs, was accompanied by Capt. J. C. Baillargeon, former manager of a branch of the Bank of Hochelaga; F. P. Douglas, formerly of the Klondyke, secretary; and Capt. H. E. Webb, who will superintend the erection of agricultural machinery.

Representatives of various British firms are seeking business, such as a supply of railway rolling stock, structural steel, etc., and accompanied the Canadian party.

Col. Boyle, speaking from his intimate knowledge of the country, said conditions in Roumania were settled, and the people loyal to their rulers. If they were fed and clothed they would be a solid bulwark against Bolshevism, one-third of the line against which Roumania now holds. It was a wealthy country, having exported over £27,000,000 worth of production in 1911. Lacking seed, the crops would not be normal until next year, but there were enormous undeveloped resources, including waterpower, which were now to be taken in hand. Roumania was a perfectly safe investment for Canada. Apropos the title abolition in Canada, Col. Boyle denied that he was a Roumanian prince. "That title," he said, "was fastened on to me by an American newspaperman with enterprising imagination."

The Property Committee of the Council last night recommended that the contract for the collection of garbage next year be awarded to Patrick Anglesey and C. W. Johnston at their tender of $9,900.

The tenders for the work were as follows:—

G. Mitchell and F. Turner....$10,950

A soiled cuff attracts the eye

YOUR cuff is the most exposed portion of your shirt. It soils the quickest. And everyone knows how PROMINENT a soiled cuff is. It seems a magnet that draws all eyes.

A soiled cuff irritates a particular man. He keeps pushing or pulling up his shirt sleeve to hide it. It causes him to change his shirt when the body of it is still fresh and clean.

The Double Wear Cuff is a boon to the particular dresser. When the cuff gets soiled just turn it. It folds easily and lies perfectly flat whether turned in or turned out. And just think of the comfortable feeling it gives you to know that you can turn your cuff, if you should happen to get it soiled unexpectedly when down town, and it's inconvenient to go home and change your shirt.

If Your Wardrobe Requires a Dress to Complete Its Assortment Our Wardrobes on Second Floor Will Supply the Need

THESE SERGE DRESSES came from a maker who puts both style and quality into his garments and we always know before his goods arrive. that every stitch will be in its proper place and every edge will be properly turned and finished. If you desire something less weighty for afternoon functions, you will find either the silk crepe or georgette mentioned below ideal for your purpose.

A heavy quality Navy Serge was chosen and cut on the straight line silhouette order. The Tuxedo collar is Moose colour, and is embroidered with Navy and Henna coloured Silk. The bodice is also embroidered in Blue. The skirt is trimmed with two groups of tucks, five in each group, and nine inches between each cluster. Price $39.00.

The Costume Dress greatly resembles a Suit. In this instance the material is a Navy Serge, and the Coatee, which is ¾ length, is elaborately braided with a flat military braid twisted tight, making it almost tubular. The Vestee that peeps from under the Coatee is of Grey Georgette, pin-tucked, and embroidered in Grey. The Skirt has the fashionable amount of fulness. Price $65.00.

An afternoon Frock of Platinum Grey Crepe Meteor. The deep Overskirt is draped on the left side and bordered with Grey Silk Embroidery, intermingled with Jet. The sleeves are a novelty design and trimmed with buttons. The round collarless neck is outlined with a row of buttons, and a shoe string girdle ties at the waist. Price $75.00.

Georgette, in a Smoke Grey shade, is effectively and entirely used in this Gown. The loose bodice is much on the Bolero style, and is handsomely embroidered with Silk, worked into a grape pattern; the colours employed are Brown, Gold, and Smoke. The sleeves are three-cornered and trimmed with long rows of narrow buttons. Price $65.00.

Whether you must wear Black or wear it by choice, you will find many interesting features in this Dress of Serge. A pocket at either side gapes conspicuously and is a pleasant relief from the straight line order. The centre of the back is described by a row of large black bone buttons. A shoe string girdle encircles the waist, and directly beneath is a group of pin tucks. Price $39.75.

A Blouse Is Often the Answer to "What Shall I Give?"

NEW BLOUSES.

The well-dressed woman knows the secret of selecting her Blouse with great care —for through the Blouse the tailleur may adapt itself to the many daytime occasions from business to social affairs.

There are new tailored Shirts with collars, fitting snugly at the neck, that look well over the Suit collar. Some have mannish cuffs and tucked Vest fronts.

Dainty Blouses of Batiste and Voiles are adorned with frills or beautiful hand work. Many have the round collarless neck.

Novelty Blouses are a feature of this season's fashions. The short Overblouse converts the Suit Skirt into an effective Costume that is not only practical, but very smart.

FINANCE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS SALARY OF $1,200 FOR DR. M'PHERSON

INCREASE OF $500 TO MR. S. R. ARMSTRONG FOR HIS WORK AS CITY CLERK ARRANGE METHOD FOR REFUNDING SOLDIERS' POLL TAX

An increase in the salary of Dr. A. W. McPherson, Medical Officer of Health, from $800 to $1200 was recommended to the Council by the Finance Committee last night. In his application, Dr. McPherson mentioned that his salary had remained stationary practically throughout the war, while the cost of living had nearly doubled.

The Committee also approved an addition of $500 to City Clerk Armstrong's present salary of $2,000. The increase becomes effective on January 1st, 1920.

To Refund Poll Tax.

S. Whatley, secretary of the G.W.V.A. asked what procedure would have to be followed for returned soldiers to receive a refund of the poll tax they had paid.

Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan that the city treasurer be authorized to refund the poll tax for 1919 to returned soldiers as provided by a recent by-law and that the tax collector be instructed to accept the men's discharge papers as proof of their war service. This resolution also applies to all soldiers liable for the poll tax.

Peter Pays Paul.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Turner that the city treasurer issue a cheque to the tax collector for $732.00 for the balance of the Stickney Motors Limited and assessed to the Renfrew Manufacturing Co., also that the treasurer issue a cheque to the tax collector for $1:4.57 for the balance of the taxes on the property purchased by the city from the Dickson company.

Selected Jurors.

For selecting jurors, Mayor Duncan, S. R. Armstrong and W. J. Henry were paid the usual $45 each.

No Fixing of Assessment.

After discussing the request of the William Hamilton Co., for a fixed assessment, Mayor Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Edgar that no action be taken.

It was always my idea that no exemption from taxes or fixed assessment should exceed a period of ten years.

City Solicitor Widdifield reported that the city was not liable for an account of $199 presented by Mr. D. W. Dumble, and it was accordingly decided not to pay the bill.

"NOT VERY SERIOUS" IS COMMENT ON REPORT OF PLUMBING WORK

W. H. MEADOWS, OF TORONTO, SUGGESTED THAT PETERBOROGH'S PLUMBING BY-LAW BE REVISED — PROPERTY COMMITTEE REFERS THE REPORT TO NEXT YEAR'S COUNCIL.

In submitting to the Property Committee an itemized report of his investigation of the alleged faulty plumbing in nineteen local buildings, Mr. W. H. Meadows, chief of the division of plumbing and drainage of the Toronto Council advised that Peterboro's by-law be revised. In this connection he stated that the present by-law does not permit the use of brass waste and vent piping. Mr. Meadows considered this material satisfactory and said that it was generally accepted. Otherwise he would have had to condemn work he considered satisfactory.

The Committee deemed it inadvisable to publish the report because of a possible liability for damage claims from citizens whose plumbing had been approved by the city's Plumbing Inspector. The chairman Ald. Hamilton suggested that City Solicitor Widdifield be asked for his opinion as to whether the municipality in view of its responsibility for the local Inspector could be compelled make or pay for the alterations to certain plumbing which Mr. Meadows reported as not fulfilling the specifications of the city's Plumbing by-law.

Ald. Edgar proposed that Mr. Peter Thompson the Inspector be asked to explain the faulty work underlined in Mr. Meadow's summary of his inspection.

The Committee declined to delve into the question because of the lateness in the year, and Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Ald. Hamilton that the report be referred to next year's Council with a recommendation that the administration of the Plumbing by-law be placed under the control of the Board of Health instead of under the Property Committee.

Ald. Hamilton remarked that there was nothing very serious in Mr. Meadow's report. Lack of vents and the provision of only one trap for three and more basins were the faults that recurred rather frequently in Mr. Meadow's enumeration.

POOR THIN BLOOD BRINGS INDIGESTION

Make the Blood Rich and Red by Using Dr. William's Pink Pills.

Thin blooded people generally have stomach trouble. They seldom recognize the fact that thin blood is the cause of indigestion, but it is. Thin blood, weak, watery blood, is one of the most common causes of stomach trouble. The glands that furnish the digestive fluids are diminished in their activity, the stomach muscles are weakened and there is a loss of nerve force. In this state nothing will more quickly restore appetite, digestion and a normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich and red, and this enriched blood strengthens the weak nerves, stimulates tired muscles and awakens to normal activity the glands that supply the digestive fluids. The first sign of returning health is an improved appetite, and soon the effect of these blood improving pills is felt throughout the whole system. You find that what you eat does not distress you and that you are daily growing stronger and more vigorous. Mr. J. J. Murray, Regent street, bears testimony to the value of Dr. Williams Pink Pills in cases of this kind. He says: "During the latter part of 1918 I was a sick man. My stomach seemed simply down and out. I had no desire for food and when I ate it distressed me. I was pale, did not sleep well, naturally got up in morning feeling grouchy. My wife was worried over my condition and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, reminding me of the good they had done our eldest daughter when she was in a similar condition. I decided to follow her advice and got a supply and here is the story in a nutshell; I have got my appetite back, sleep soundly at night, enjoy my meals and am so gratified with what the pills have done for me that I strongly advise their use for all pale, sick people."

You can get Dr Williams Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PETERBORO FACTORIES AND PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS HAVE COAL SUPPLY SUFFICIENT FOR COMING WINTER

A CENSUS OF A FEW OF THEM REVEAL A VERY SATISFACTORY CONDITION —THE MAJORITY OF THEM HEEDED THE WARNING ISSUED MONTHS AGO AND EMULATED ONE OF THE CHIEF CHARACTERISTICS OF THE CHIPMUNK.

The coal situation in Peterborough, while far from being serious, is sufficiently serious to cause some anxiety to the average householder. One gratifying phase of the local situation is that the factories and public institutions are well supplied and there is little if any prospects of any of them having to close down during the winter for lack of fuel. This means that the wage earner will have a chance to remain on the payroll even though he may not have an opportunity to buy fuel as freely as he would like. A census of some of the local factories and public institutions reveal the following conditions.

Canadian General Electric Co.

The Canadian General Electric Company has a sufficient supply of coal to run through the season. Coal is mainly used for heating purposes in this plan, as the company maintains an electric generating station of its own.

William Hamilton Company.

Mr. Gladman of the Wm. Hamilton Co., when questioned, stated that they were fairly well supplied with coal and did not think there was any immediate danger of having to close down.

The De Laval.

"Is there any real shortage of coal at the De Laval?" the Examiner asked Mr. J. G. Campazzi. "We are well fixed for the winter and then some," he replied.

Peter Hamilton Co.

The Peter Hamilton Co. stated that they were not worrying much over the fuel situation for they did not use a great deal and could get what little they wanted.

Canadian Woollens.

Mr. Wm. Tinker, of the Canadian Woollens Ltd., when asked as to their fuel troubles, stated that they had plenty of coal—that is, soft coal (which they use in their plant) and did not fear any shortage.

The Public Schools.

Mr. Harry Thompson, Secretary of the Board of Education, was interviewed, and he said that the schools were in a good position as regards fuel and that there was not the least danger of them closing up.

The City Hall.

Mr. S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk, echoed the optimistic reports of the other business men, stating that the City Hall would be as well heated as ever this winter and would-be-candidates in the coming elections need not have to sit in the Council Chamber with their overcoats on.

Public Library.

Mr. F. M. Dela Fosse, Librarian at the Public Library, stated that they have enough coal for the winter, and consequently were not worried by the fuel shortage.

The Y.M.C.A.

The local Y.M.C.A., which uses a considerable amount of fuel, has in as much coal as is generally used and no shortage is expected. This is assuring to the young men of Peterborough who will find a refuge in the "Y" when the "house" is as cold as a barn.

Grand Opera House.

Mr. Harry Dahn, of the Opera House, when questioned by the Examiner as to whether there was any danger of its being forced to close its doors due to lack of fuel, said that there was not and that they had enough to carry them till the end of the year at least.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth); then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

POPULAR MANAGER.

Lynden People Want to Keep F. W. Simpson.

Hamilton Times:— The citizens of Lynden, who have been extremely fortunate ever since a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada was opened in the village, in having courteous and painstaking managers at the head of that institution, have never been more so than during the past two years, while F. W. Simpson has had charge.

So well have the public been served by Mr. Simpson and his able staff that when they heard that he was about to be transferred they felt that they could not afford to lose one who had done so much for their accommodation, and a petition to have him remain was at once put in circulation, with the result that nearly four hundred signatures were obtained.

Aside from his business abilities, Mr. Simpson possesses in no small degree a keen insight into the needs of the public in other ways besides their finances. He has always taken an active part in all that pertains to the social side of life, and has been ever ready and willing to assist in anything that would tend to promote the welfare of the community. He has not only given largely of his time, but those who were gathering funds for carrying on the work of the church found in him a ready response.

His removal will be a distinct loss to the village and surrounding district, and all earnestly hope that the bank may see fit to allow him to remain.

The parents of Mr. F. W. Simpson reside at 7 Conger street.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

"Little Red Riding Hood" the fourth of the F. Stuart-Whyte pantomimes will be the offering at the Grand for two days commencing Monday with a special matinee Tuesday.

It will be presented here with a carefully chosen cast of English musical comedy stars with pantomime artists, together with a chorus of those wonderful girls that have always been a feature of the Stuart-Whyte shows. Not only will "Little Red Riding Hood" be presented by a superior cast and bigger chorus than any former pantomime importation, but, the production itself, scenery costumes and lighting effects, surpasses in every way either "Aladdin" "Robinson Crusoe" or "Cinderella", and that is saying much.

Miss Zara Clinton and Mr. John V. Barrett-Lennard, the two great favorites of former years are still with the company, while the role of Little Red Riding Hood will be played by Miss Dorothy Mackay, a little Scotch Lassie, who, although but eleven years of age has been the featured member of the cast in two Christmas pantomimes on the other side, as well as the "Wee Macktays", sexette of juvenile entertainers of music hall fame. The principal comedian this season will be Mr. Johnny Osborne, late of the Follies Bergere, wheer he was seen by thousands of Canadian soldiers on leave in Paris.

"THE WESTERNERS," POWERFUL DRAMA OF BLACK HILLS

"All the world loves American western pictures," says Benjamin B. Hampton, the well-known producer. "From thedays of Broncho Billy's one-reelers to the time of Wm. S. Hart. Audiences love the story of out-doors, and English audiences like them just as well. So do the Scandinavians and the South Americans and all the folks in between.

STEWART EDWARD WHITE
author of "THE WESTERNERS"

"The Westerners" which will be shown at the Allen Theatre on Monday and Tuesday is from the novel that made the fame of Stewart Edward White, now known everywhere as a novelist, a sportsman and an explorer.

The locale of the picture as the readers of the novel will recall, is the Black Hills, in the days of the Gold rush, when the white man broke his treaties and forced his way into Pahsseppah, the valhalla of the Sioux. The Custor massacre followed and the white man drove the Sioux from the Dakotas. The picture is historically correct in every detail. It is beautiful in scenic effects, swift as lightning in drama, with a charming romance and abounding in little touches of pathos and comedy. It has been produced without regard to expense, with an all star cast, among whom are Roy Stewart, Robert McKim, Mildred Manning and Wilfred Lucas.

CHILDRENS OPPORTUNITY TO SEE CHARLIE CHAPLIN

When the management of the Allen Theatre heard that the Charlie Chaplin feature "The Floor-Walker" had been released in a new form, he immediately went into the market to procure this picture for Peterboro. It is a first run picture having only ben shown once in Toronto. Knowing that Charlie was the child's favorite comedian above any other star the local manager Mr. Rosenthal has made preparations so that every child in Peterboro may see this picture on Monday.

When the House staff of the Allen Theatre was approached by the manager and asked whether they would be willing to work overtime on Monday so that the children could have a treat they immediately voiced their pleasure at being given the opportunity. Under the arrangements the Allen will operate continuously on Monday from two o'clock until closing time, so that the children can see this picture immediately after school is closed, and yet be home in time for supper.

Arrangements have also been made for special children's matinee to be held under the auspices of the Women's Council, but as this picture was booked in a hurry, it was impossible to get the members of the Council together. Announcement will be made later when the next matinee will be held and it is understood that some of the members of the Council will be present to chaperone the children.

"THE LUCK OF THE NAVY"

Percy Hutchison, the star of "The Luck of the Navy," which P. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest will present at the Grand Friday and Saturday, with special matinee Saturday, is one of the leading London actor-managers of to-day. He is the nephew of the late Sir Charles Wyndham, and for the past twenty years has been one of the most prolific producers in London theatricals, in addition to acting personal manager and representative of his distinguished actor-uncle. For a period of ten years, when he was exclusively with the late Sir Charles Wyndham, he controlled all of the productions at the three London theatres managed by Sir Charles, and also acted in a number of other productions. He appeared in "David Garrick" with Sir Charles and Lady Wyndham at Windsor Castle at the notable state performance, given by command, before the late King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

"The Luck of the Navy" has been the most successful production Mr. Hutchison has ever made in London. It has broken all records of any play ever produced under his management, and yet it is a notable fact that during the past few years Mr. Hutchison personally produced in London, and acted the leading roles of the following successes: "Brewster's Millions," in which he played Monty Brewster; "Arsene Lupin," in which he played the title role; "Capt. Kidd, Jr.," "Officer 666," "Stop Thief," "A Pair of Sixes" and "The Off Chance," which was originally produced and acted in London by Mr. Hutchison. During his management in the last twenty years Mr. Hutchison has been the lessee and manager of the following London theatres: the Criterion Theatre, the New Theatre, Queen's Theatre, Haymarket Theatre, Prince of Wales' Theatre, the Garrick Theatre and Wyndham Theatre, the last two being under his management at the present time. In addition, he is the lessee and manager of theatres in York and Southport, and is the owner and director of seven touring companies playing in the English provinces. In his twenty years of management he has produced by actual count 78 plays, most of them by eminent English authors, including Sir James Barrie, Sir Arthur Pinero, Henry Arthur Jones, Hadden Chambers, R. C. Carton, Harold Terry and Clifford Mills. Mr. Hutchison's biggest production was "Cyrano de Bergerac" for his uncle, the late Sir Charles Wyndham.

Although a London producing manager for twenty years, Mr. Hutchison is a comparatively young man, being exactly forty years of age, but seems very much younger in the role of the Naval Lieutenant in "The Luck of the Navy."

BAD COLD LEFT HIM WITH BRONCHITIS

However slight a cold you have you should never neglect it; if you do it can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected.

Bronchitis is one of the most common affections of a neglected cold, and neglected bronchitis the most general cause of consumption.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is just the remedy you require to cure the bronchitis. It does this by loosening the phlegm and mucous, and stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and subdues inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts and thus prevents it becoming chronic.

Mr. R. P. Sundblad, Francis, Sask., writes:—"I had a very bad cold which left me with bronchitis. I tried several cough remedies and oils of all kinds, but they all failed. At last I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and after using two bottles I have never had a sign of bronchitis since. I therefore can honestly recommend it for coughs and colds."

Don't accept a substitute for Dr. Wood's. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE EVENING EXAMINER, PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1919

MR ROBERT BORDEN

Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Limited

St. John, September 3, 1919.

Sales Department.

Several days ago the writer had an opportunity to discuss a certain matter with Brigadier-General McLean, and while doing so made some inquiries concerning the condition of his car, as this is the fifth closed car he has purchased.

While discussing this matter with him he made the statement that he was greatly satisfied with the Ford Sedan, particularly since the Prince of Wales' recent visit; this for the reason that Premier Borden of Canada, while here attending the state-function, had the opportunity to ride from Rothesay to St. John in the Ford Sedan in order to discuss several matters with the Brigadier-General. After the luncheon tendered the Prince of Wales, the committee in charge of the programme sent the official car to the Union Club for Premier Borden, but he refused to accept of their kindness, stating that he was delighted with the riding ease of the Ford Sedan owned by Brigadier-General McLean, and preferred making the return trip from St. John to Rothesay in the Ford Sedan to attend the Garden Party at Government House, remarking that the Sedan was entirely good enough for him. He furthermore stated to Brigadier-General McLean that his car was the easiest riding closed job he ever travelled in.

Brigadier-General McLean is considered one of the wealthiest men in this section, and is inclined to believe that Premier Borden was sincere in his remarks insofar as Ford Sedans are concerned. Furthermore, the Brigadier-General will stake the Ford Sedan against anything on the market to-day.

PIGEON CREEK FARMERS ISOLATED FROM PETERBORO

OLD FLOATING BRIDGE IS FALLING TO PIECES AND MAIN HIGHWAY IS PRACTICALLY USELESS AS A RESULT---PROPOSE TO ASK GOVERNMENT TO REBUILD IT.

WOULD MARKET HERE

The rebuilding of the Pigeon Creek bridge will be urged upon the Dominion Government by a deputation representing the County and City of Peterborough and Victoria County providing the two latter municipalities follow the lead of Peterborough in agreeing to carrying their demands to Ottawa.

This question was casually discussed by the County Council this week but at yesterday afternoon's meeting they decided to lay before the Dominion Government their appeal for a new bridge, after hearing the arguments of the following farmers from the Pigeon Creek district: R. W. Wilson, D. O'Neill, and Vincent Perdue, of Emily Township, and Thomas Cavanagh, of Ennismore.

Mr. O'Neill recalled that in the old days Pigeon Creek was only a narrow stream, across which a man could push a canoe. When the Government built the dam at Buckhorn, the stream spread out to width of a mile. The bridge was now dilapidated beyond repair, and having made it necessary in the beginning, the Government should now restore the floating bridge, making it safe for the traffic on this main road between Peterborough and a wide area of the townships to the north and west.

"There seems to be lots of money in the country," said Mr. O'Neill. "It comes easy and there's lots of style. Surely these counties don't intend to let this bridge fall to pieces. With all our improvements the rising generation should be able to do as much as our forefathers, who built the bridge fifty years ago. The country ought to be in that strength that they can give us a bridge for easy communication with our market and our friends. Like an old binder, the bridge is hard to keep in repair. You take a big risk to travel on it. I hope that we can have a new bridge built for present needs and for the generations to come after us."

Reeve Holland.

Reeve Holland, of Ennismore, said he concurred with this request. The bridge was so far gone that there was actually nothing to repair. It was falling to pieces. He recommended that a deputation from the two counties and the city wait on the Government.

"I think we have very good grounds for asking that this bridge be replaced by a new one," said Mr. Holland.

Could Fill in a Part.

Mr. Wilson believed that about one-third of the bridge could be filled in with gravel. The material was close by. This would shorten the floating section. Victoria County Council, he was certain, would co-operate by sending delegates.

Mr. Cavanagh and Mr Perdue and Reeves Shaw, Anderson, and Nicholls advocated that pressure be brought to bear upon the Government, setting forth their liability to meet the needs of the farmers of the townships of Verulam and Ennismore, and also their duty to provide good roads for the tourist and other traffic that used the main highway now practically closed by the dangerous condition of the bridge.

For Peterborough Market.

It was also emphasized the farmers were prevented from travelling to Peterborough for market and other purposes. They wanted to come here, but couldn't think of taking the long detours by Omemee on the west and Buckhorn on the east.

The resolution to assemble a deputation and go to Ottawa was moved by Reeve Holland and seconded by Reeve Moore, of Lakefield.

BLUE ON WHITE NEW LICENSE EFFECT.

The automobile license plates for Ontario for 1920 will be a combination of blue and white colors, both letters and figures being printed on a field of white. At least this was the plan of the Department of Public Highways before the change of government, and it is quite possible that the new plates were ordered some time ago.

The Ontario Motor Vehicles Act requires that the new tags be fixed on January 1. Motorists are advised to do their license shopping early as soon as the merry application blanks are issued.

GOES BACK TO FRANCE, WHERE CAN KEEP MOIST

DANIELSON, Conn., Nov. 27.—When a man gets so that he is actually drying up, as proved by his loss of forty-five pounds since July 1, it is best for him to find some place where he can find some moisture. So says Louis Gamin, who has lived here for years, but who is to sail from New York next Saturday on La France for the land of the same name.

Gamin, who is about fifty-eight, has no relatives and has accumulated enough money to live in comfort, but he can't get his comfort in this land of prohibition.

He cites his loss of flesh as an argument that unless he wants to dry up and blow away he must get back to his native land, where he can get a drink of something stronger than water when he wants it.

MONTHLY MEETING OF OF LOCAL I.O.D.E.

INTERESTING PAPERS ON "CANADIANS ALL."

The monthly meeting of the 57th Chapter, I.O.D.E was held Thursday afternoon with a large attendance of members and an addition of three new members.

Final arrangements for the bazaar were completed, and an interesting paper on "Canadians All" by J. Russel Harris was read by the Regent, Mrs. J. C. Davidson, relating to the duties of Canadians towards all foreigners, concluding with the words, "We want a country in which the people are unified by a common national spirit. Whatever may be our attitude towards future immigration let us try to make every one now residing in Canada a good Canadian.

It was announced that the net proceeds of the recent dance and card party were $150.

The meeting then adjourned until the fourth Thursday in January, 1920.

REV. SALEM BLAND NOT GETTING SALARY

The Quarterly Board Has Not Paid Him For Months—Finances are Bad.

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—The Quarterly Board of Broadway Methodist church has not paid the salary of Rev. Dr. Bland for several months. The soloists and choirmaster are said to be in the same position as Dr. Bland. The church finances are not in a particularly good shape, but the difference between Dr. Bland and the majority of the members of the board over his advanced economic views is supposed to be responsible for the non-arrival of his salary checks.

It is understood that the leaders of the Methodist church are indisposed to sanction any move to expel Dr. Bland from Broadway church. They believe that to do so would create the impression in some quarters that Methodism was hostile to Labor and to the welfare of the industrial workers.

One reason for Broadway church being short of funds is that the usual Easter offering, which sometimes brought in $1,500, was not taken up this year.

The latest industrial census of Belgium shows that 700,000 women, representing about one-fourth of the entire female population of the country, are now engaged in industrial and commercial occupations.

MERCHANTS BANK CONTINUES TO GAIN

Statement for Half Year Gives Total Assets of $198,506,572, A New Record

DEPOSITS GAIN $30,117,802

The Balance Sheet of the Merchants Bank of Canada as at the end of the half-year period, 31st October last, received from the Bank's headquarters here on Saturday, shows continued gains and growth on the part of this well-known financial institution.

The Total Assets have now reached the commanding figure of $198,506,572, an increase of $32,582,136 over the corresponding date last year. The readily available portion of the Assets amounts to $84,014,965, an increase of $11,566,688, by which is shown that the liquid position of the Bank has been well maintained.

That the Bank has continued to do its full share, both to the Government and the Commercial Community is shown by an increase of $4,682,244 in securities held of the Dominion and Provincial Governments, while Current Loans and Discounts in Canada have increased by $19,435,478 during the 12 months' period.

Note Circulation at $15,827,373 is $647,130 higher than a year ago with the issue in excess of Paid-Up Capital more than covered by a Deposit of $8,000,000 in the Central Gold Reserve.

The Deposits amount to $166,006,015, against $135,888,213 on October 31st, 1918, being an increase for the period of $30,117,802, of which gain $10,368,746 was in Savings or Time Deposits and $10,749,056 in Deposits payable on Demand—a basis of progress which cannot but be considered satisfactory.

The statement altogether makes very good reading for those who realize the important part that our Chartered Banks play in the well-being of the whole country, industrial as well as agricultural, and the figures are especially interesting, as the period covered, with the exception of 11 days, has been after the date of the Armistice and clearly demonstrates that our large and well-managed financial Institutions are continuing their progress and growth on a solid basis with the war a thing of the past.

The main feature of the figures of October 31st, 1919, and October 31st, 1918, compare as follows:

FEWER STONES ON THE FARM THAN IN GOVERNMENT FURROW

PREMIER DRURY ADDRESSES CANADIAN PRESS ASSOCIATION—WILL ABOLISH PATRONAGE.

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—"There have been many occasions lately," said the Hon. E. C. Drury addressing the Canadian Press Association at the King Edward Hotel yesterday morning, "when I have wished that I was back at the farm at Crown Hill plowing a furrow. There are no stones there, but there are rocks ahead of the furrow in Queen's Park."

The Premier was introduced by the president of the Association in a short speech which eulogized Mr. Drury as an earnest and energetic man "and so far honest," he added humorously. "While he made an excellent farmer, he might have made a better journalist," said the chairman, speaking of the Premier's press articles, "and now he is not only a farmer's son, but the Farmers' sun."

Mr. Drury stated that he had felt an inherent fear of the press since his boyhood's reminiscence of the famous Potts of Pickwickian fame, who headed a village election parade with a queer symbol of his editorial function, namely, a whip. However, latterly his relationship with the press had been most candid and he counted many newspaper editors among his personal friends.

Admires Press' Fairness.

He thanked the press for their fairness and unfailing kindness to himself and to his party, reiterating the fact that he and his colleagues had found themselves in a position which they themselves had least expected. "I have heard and read much of sleepless nights," said the Premier, "but I assure you that I did not fully realize the literal meaning of the phrase, until the night of October 20th."

The material he had gathered together for his Cabinet was of good calibre, Mr. Drury affirmed, and he was not ashamed of it. It was material which was not ambitious for itself, but for public service. He was also very pleased to announce that the U.F.O. body had not commenced asking for offices, and in this connection he stated that the new order at Queen's Park was evolving a scheme whereby the old system of patronage would be eliminated entirely.

Barnacles on Ship of State.

While he was very far from criticizing the old Government, the Premier drily pointed out that barnacles were bound to accumulate around an old ship, and though the new Government was as yet clean, it was possible that the same indications of stagnancy might later be applicable to them. "If this condition arises," said Mr. Drury, "we will launch a new ship and keep on launching them from time to time as occasion demands."

Thanking the press of the country for their support, the Premier appealed to it not to condone any mistakes of the Government, but to criticize either gently or urgently in accordance with the urgency of the situation. "But," urged Mr. Drury, "make your criticism constructive and not obstructive."

The Premier refused to make any statement in connection with the policy of the new Government. They were as yet getting their feet under them, but he was able to say than any policy they adopted would be reformatory but not revolutionary, a combination, if possible, of economy and efficiency.

The movement responsible for the change of Government may have been a class one in its initial stages, but now there was no class distinction in evidence at all, and he wanted to state that he and his colleagues were not asking for any special privileges, but were united in their endeavors to govern the Province honestly and efficiently with a minimum of legislation.

In conclusion the Premier expressed his pleasure at meeting the representatives of the voice of the people, as in his opinion they had a right to know him personally.

A vote of thanks was unanimously passed by the meeting for the Premier's kindness in consenting to address the association.

"Safety First" To Be Enforced.

People Taking Matters Into Their Own Hands.

Public safety does not alone concern the operation of railways, street cars and motors. It lies deeper. It lies in the health of the people.

One of the greatest enemies to health is kidney trouble. If the kidneys don't filter from the blood the uric acid and other poisons, the general health declines, and all manner of ills appear—rheumatic, sciatic, and neuralgic pains, lumbago, stone in the bladder, headaches, constipation, lassitude. There is certain relief for these ailments. Gin Pills help where other remedies fail. They build up the debilitated system, bring the kidneys and bladder back to normal action, and, by removing the cause, make impossible the evil results. Gin Pills do not contain any alcohol, but all the valuable diuretic properties of the Gin together with other diuretics and antiseptics which have a signal effect on the bladder and kidneys.

All druggists and dealers sell Gin Pills under a guarantee to return your money if they do not bring relief. If you have backache, constant headaches or pain in the sides, begin treatment at once with Gin Pills. 50c a box. Free sample on request.

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Soothe-Salve' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Soothe-Salve' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Soothe-Salve' completed the cure."

MR. G. N. GORDON - AN ADDRESS TO THE CALEDONIAN MEMBERS

A BIG GATHERING CELEBRATED ST. ANDREW'S NIGHT—A MUSICAL PROGRAMME.

At the meeting of the Caledonia Club in the Woodmen of the World Hall last evening, Mr. G. N. Gordon gave a very interesting and much appreciated address on the meaning of St. Andrew's night and its benefit to Scotchmen throughout the world. He dwelt upon the characteristics of the Scot which had brought him into prominence throughout the civilized world and stated that the majority of the successful men in politics, business, finance, the professions, and trades could trace their ancestry back to Scotland, for example, Hon. Arthur Balfour and Mr. Bonar Law.

As an example of Scottish loyalty he cited the case of the Scottish Clubs of the United States, who when asked why Scotland did not appeal for Home Rule, replied that Scotland did not need Home Rule as it was only the British Empire anyway.

DEPUTATION TO GO TO TORONTO

This morning Ald. John Edgar, chairman of the Railway committee of the City Council, received a telegram from Mr. P. J. Hannigan, of Guelph, secretary of the Hydro-Electric Railway Association, stating that Premier E. C. Drury would receive a deputation on Friday, December 12th, at eleven o'clock. This deputation will consist of representatives of the Hydro-Electric Railway Association and the Municipal Railway Board and will urge that these two bodies be represented on the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario.

THE PEOPLE TAKING TO THE NEW SHOEMAN

UNIQUE DEVICES TO ASSIST IN DRAWING TRADE, AS WELL AS CLOSE PRICES.

Mr. H. G. White the new hustling promoter of the Walk-Easy and Peterborough Shoe stores, is making a big drive for a share of the boot and shoe business of Peterborough. In order to keep his two stores bright and attractive he has added about $3000 worth of new high grade models of ladies and gentlemen's boots for Winter, to fill the gaps made by the large sales of the past month. The people have taken to these sales in a manner that has been gratifying to Mr. White so much so that he has shown unusual enterprise in unique ways of directing attention to his special offerings. The offer of a Victory Bond recently to the person who made the nearest correct estimate of the total amount subscribed by both city and county to the Victory Loan Fund, created considerable attention. Now another attraction is being offered, namely: free tickets to Allen's Theatre to every purchaser at his two stores, beginning on Monday.

Mr. White was very fortunate in securing the stocks in these two stores just at a time when foot-wear was soaring and hard to get. His offers of a fraction on the dollar was promptly accepted by the ladies who wanted the ready cash, thus enabling Mr. White to offer prices so low, just at a time when it looked as if prices didn't know where to stop. Greater savings than ever are now offered for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, to help Christmas shoppers.

COLD CHARITY FOR THE SICK AND POOR

A reminder that the grim figure of poverty with its sometimes satellite sickness stalks the city finding entry in a few of the homes here and there was conveyed in a number of recommendations from Relief Officer Miller to the Property Committee last night that free hospital relief be given to indigents who need medical care and attention.

Such appeals for charity occur from time to time, and from last nights three or four was one in behalf of a woman who is suffering from a broken leg. Her husband is in the asylum and she has three children to support. The city has been helping her with a weekly allowance. Another was from a man who had been ill three years with cancer. The note on the requisition form said that he would repay his hospital bill to the city if he ever got well.

WOMAN SHOOTS HER HUSBAND ON WAY TO SIGN SEPARATION

(Canadian Press.)

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 29.—While the two were on their way to a lawyer's office to sign a bill of separation, quarrelling as they walked, Mrs. Fred Shirley pulled a .30 calibre revolver and placing it under her husband's left arm, pulled the trigger. The bullet struck a rib and glanced off, leaving only a flesh wound. She then gave herself up to the police and the man was taken to the hospital. The affair marks the culmination of a long series of family quarrels. The couple have two children, one aged seventeen and and one thirteen.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

From every point the social gathering held last evening in St. George's Sunday School-room was a splendid success and thoroughly enjoyed by the large number of young and old people who attended. The feature of the evening's entertainment was the scene from "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which was organized and splendidly put on by Mr. Kingdon. Each of the young people taking part went into the production with that whole-hearted enthusiasm which assures the success of any amateur production. The balance of the evening was spent in musical selections, which proved most entertaining. A large amount of the success of the evening is due to the efforts of Mr. A. Kingdon.

A STIRRING RECEPTION

KING AND QUEEN OF ITALY PARTICIPATED IN OPENING SESSION OF PARLIAMENT

SPEECH FROM THRONE

(Canadian Press.)

ROME, Dec. 1.—King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena were given an enthusiastic reception while proceeding from the Quirinal to the Parliament Buildings this morning to participate in the opening session of the Italian parliament. Bells were ringing, there were salutes from the guns and thunderous cheers from the crowds. Houses along the streets were decorated with flags.

The King, in the speech from the Throne, said the confidence and sympathy of the nation were indispensable to Parliament, as was national collaboration in all movements for the good of the people. Italy, after her great victory, must direct all her efforts to the works of peace.

When King Victor Emmanuel entered Parliament to deliver a speech from the throne he was received with loud cheers. Premier Nitti requested the audience to be seated.

Upon this the extreme Socialists shouted "Viva Socialism," and left the chamber. Their seats were immediately taken by other deputies.

SOLDIER GETS A WARM RECEPTION

SAPPER TAYLOR WAS ONCE SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR LIFE

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Dec. 1—"Thank God," said Sapper Clinton M. Taylor, M.M., as he rushed into arms of his father on his arrival at the station at 5.40 yesterday afternoon. Sapper Taylor's homecoming was one of the happiest ever witnessed during the whole of the demobilisation.

Away from home more than four years, during that time given a life sentence (or his part in the mutiny in a military prison in France, pardoned, and permitted to return to Canada with his pretty little wife, Doris, is no wonder that the welcome given to him yesterday was an unusually cordial one.

At the station to meet him, in addition to his own family, were J. W. Curry, M.P.P., Controller Maguire, and a large deputation from the United Veterans' League, headed by J. Harry Flynn.

The crowd greeted him with three hearty cheers as he entered the station. With his arms around his mother and sister, he acknowledged the welcome with a good-natured smile. He then shook hands with the Provincial and civic representatives, and was whisked off to his home in a motor.

It will be recalled that it was after the Armistice, and a brilliant career with the 9th Engineers, that Sapper Taylor took part in the mutiny, and was sentenced to two years in prison. It was for escaping from the military prison that the young soldier received the sentence for life.

NO POLITICS FOR THE LOCAL G.W.V.A.

PETERBORO BRANCH VOTES AGAINST ENTRANCE OF ASSOCIATION INTO POLITICS AND ALSO AGAINST RELAXING MEMBERSHIP RULES

The Peterboro branch of the Great War Veterans' Association have voted against the entrance of the G. W. V. A. into politics and also against relaxing the membership regulations. A referendum of the local members was taken on Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday afternoon and evening on the two questions and the "no's" predominated in both cases.

Secretary Whatley informed the Examiner this morning of the result of the vote but declined to give the exact figures which will be announced at the regular meeting of the Peterboro branch to-night.

LABOUR CHURCH HEARS STORY OF CIVIC ELECTIONS

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Dec. 1.—The lesson of Winnipeg's municipal elections was discussed by J. S. Woodsworth at the Central Labour Church last night to a great crowd of people.

Woodsworth is one of the labour leaders facing trial. He expressed complete satisfaction over the results in general. In spite of the success of labour not being complete, the returns can be held to contain promise for the future, and the speaker thought they were very gratifying.

THE WEATHER

The terrific wind storm which prevailed on Saturday evening and continued till late on Sunday night did some damage locally, but apparently was worse in the western section of the province than in the east. At Toronto the wind registered sixty miles an hour. Buffalo eighty miles, while at Detroit and the lower end of Lake Huron even higher mileage was recorded. While not the heaviest wind storms recorded it was well up among the big fellows.—W. P.

LIGHT RAILWAYS TO DEVELOPE ROCKY AREAS OF N. ONTARIO

A SIMILAR PLAN COULD BE USED FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF ROCKY AND UNDEVELOPED AREAS IN PETERBORO COUNTY.

(Special to The Examiner.)

COBALT, December 1.—The wonderful success of the Canadian Army in solving the transportation problems of the Allies in France are to have their effect on the development of Northern Ontarios mining and lumbering area. The father of the scheme to solve the transportation problems of these intricate and rocky areas by the use of light narrow-gauge railways is Captain I. W. Solloway, a Toronto engineer, who spent thirty-eight months in France with the Canadian Engineers, and for a considerable time was engaged in supervising light railway constructon behind the lines. It is the lesson learned during these trying times that he now proposes to adopt to Northern Ontario in an effort to provide outlets to the various large mining camps and lumber areas, now greatly retarded because of their distance from railway facilities.

This plan of Captain Solloway's is not a dream. It has been removed from the "may or may not materialise" class of proposals. Over half the necessary money has been raised, the necessary rails for the first line have been arranged for, the route of the first line has been surveyed, and arrangements concluded with the late Minister of Mines, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, with the approval of the Cabinet, for Mr. Solloway to get a charter.

He was granted a franchise by the late Government, and is to get other franchises when he fills the complete details of his railway over other routes. To this end he meets the Drury Government this week.

COAL SHORTAGE GETTING WORSE

SHORTAGE IS NOW BEING FELT BY DOMESTIC USERS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.—While every effort is being made to relieve the coal shortage and to avert the spread of trouble among the Canadian mine workers, authorities here are none too cheerful as to the outlook.

So far, the strike situation in the United States has affected only the industrial life of Canada. It now threatens to be felt by domestic users.

It is obvious that acute shortage of bituminous coal in the United States must cause that country to look toward a conservation of the supply of anthracite, and it would not be at all surprising if supplies of the latter variety were very much curtailed, if not entirely cut off, in the near future.

SUMMER TOWNSHIP FARMER KILLED

SHORT CIRCUIT PROMPTLY HANDLED

DAMAGE IN CITY DUE TO THE GALE

POWER WIRES WERE AFFECTED—TREES BLOWN DOWN.

The high wind on Saturday evening and all day on Sunday was responsible for considerable damage throughout Peterborough city and district. Trees were blown down in many localities, and the light, power, and telephone and telegraph services were similarly affected. Repair gangs spent all day Sunday out on the lines in an effort to keep the services in complete operation.

POWER TROUBLE.

Mr. H. O. Fisk, manager of the Utilities Commission when interviewed by The Examiner this morning, stated that the high wind and rain on Saturday night had caused a great deal of damage and ... power. Only two of their poles were down, but the main trouble came from the service wires (that is the wires leading into the houses) being cut loose by the high wind. This was the cause of the lights going out in the Grand Opera House, and also accounts for the fact that one house was lighted and the next one in total darkness.

Mr. Fisk stated that their whole staff were working on Saturday night and all day yesterday. Some of the wires are still down to-day, but they expect to have everything repaired by to-night, and the public may look for the usual efficient service.

Mr. Fisk hinted that it would be a great help to them if householders would promptly report any trouble in the lighting system to the Commission and not wait until evening to 'phone down "that their lights would not go on."

About 11.30 on Saturday night the Fire Department received a call to Park and Sherbrooke Streets, but found that they were called by mistake. An electric wire was down on Monoghan Road, and the Utilities Commission should have been called, but by some mistake the Fire Department were notified.

CHIMNEY FIRE.

At 10.30 on Sunday morning, the firemen were again called to Stockdale's, 465 King Street, to put out a chimney fire. The conflagration was quickly put out by chemicals, and there was no damage. The house is owned by Walter Evans.

LOW PRESSURE.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—It was, according to the local Meteorological Bureau an area of low pressure in the Lower Mississippi Valley on Friday last which opened the door and let in the draught experienced throughout Ontario on Saturday night.

The movement, after once being noticed, moved north-eastward rapidly, gathering strength as it came, and by the time it struck Toronto and its environs it was raging at almost top speed.

Buffalo suffered more severely than did this city, for the wind attained a velocity of 80 miles an hour—20 miles more than that recorded here.

Sault Ste. Marie, according to the Observatory, was in the centre of the storm which passed over Lake Michigan and Georgian Bay.

The storm is still believed to be playing havoc in the East. It was reported last night in the Lower St. Lawrence Valley, and a heavy storm in the Gulf is predicted.

The weather is expected to remain cold for some days following the disturbance, but will probably be fair.

SHOOTING MATCH FOLLOWS RIOTING IN STEEL DISTRICT—TEXTILE WORKERS STRIKE.

STRIKE NEWS

(United Press.)

WHEELING, W. V., December 1.—A demand for troops was made by Prosecutor Parriott, Marshall County, following rioting in Benwood early to-day, when one man was killed, another fatally hurt and several slightly wounded in a revolver battle between steel strike sympathisers and deputy sheriffs.

Officers said the strikers precipitated the battle when they tried to stop other steel workers from returning to their jobs in the National Tube Co's plant.

Armed officers and citizens are patroling the town.

TEXTILE WORKERS.

(Associated Press.)

FALL RIVER, Mass., December 1.—The strike of textile workers called by the Textile Council of the National Amalgamation of Textile Workers, in 112 cotton mills here, became effective to-day.

Early reports indicated that out of a total of nearly 35,000 employees, 30,000 obeyed the strike order.

The workers demand twenty-five per cent. increase in wages.

LABOUR CLAIMS THE VICTORY IN CIVIC ELECTIONS

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Dec. 1.—Friday's civic election was a victory for the Labor party party; both John Blumberg and Herbert Jones, Alderman-elect and returned soldier, declared Saturday. They are labor candidates who triumphed over Citizens' League nominees for re-election. Blumberg is the new representative of Ward six and Jones of Ward seven. If it had not been for the property vote the entire labor ticket would have been elected, they said. They forecast that by the next election the law will have been amended so no person will be entitled to more than one vote.

RANEY IS STILL ON WAITING LIST

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—Hon. W. E. Raney, Attorney-General, to-day denied that he had been making overtures with the idea of securing a seat in the Legislature for the constituency of Dundas.

He added that the matter of a seat is not giving him the least anxiety, and that as soon as he knows where he will be a candidate, the public will be duly informed.

TORONTO, Dec. 1. — The new Lieutenant-Governor, Mr. Lionel H. Clarke, was sworn in at two o'clock this afternoon by the Assistant Clerk of the Privy Council, Mr. F. K. Bennett, who came from Ottawa for the ceremony.

The event took place in the Cabinet Council Chambers at Queen's Park, and was witnessed by members of the Government, Sir William Meredith, and two or three members of the Judiciary.

The public and the press were not admitted.

The ceremony was a brief one, the new Governor merely taking the oath of office. There was no fuss or feathers.

"OUR NANCY" WILL TO HER SEAT TO-DAY

(United Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Lady Nancy Astor, the first woman member of Parliament, was to take her seat in the House of Commons this afternoon amid an impressive welcome from her future co-workers and high government officials. "The noble lady, the member from Plymouth," officials have decided to address her. Premier Lloyd George and Arthur Balfour, former Premier, were to act as her sponsors. There was an unprecedented demand for the meagre seating capacity in the House. Huge crowds, which had gathered to welcome the Prince of Wales home from the United States, planned to proceed from this jubilation to the Parliament Building to welcome "Our Nancy" to her seat among the law-makers.

BODY OF MAN WAS FOUND IN A LANE

WILLIAM JACKSON MET SUDDEN DEATH SOME TIME THROUGH THE NIGHT.

Showing evidence of having laid there for several hours, the body of William Jackson was found this morning at 6.30 o'clock, in the lane back of Hooper's store, 414 George street, by Mr. Charles Coleman. Police investigation failed to find any marks of violence.

Deceased, who boarded at the Montgomery House, Simcoe street, since returning last summer from overseas, left the hotel at 8 o'clock the previous evening with no word of where he was going and evidently in perfect health, and was not again seen until found dead this morning.

Before enlisting he took in the 93rd Battalion he had been employed in the Boston Cafe and had also cooked down the river for the Belmont Club. For some time he was employed at the old Crystal Theatre, the present site of the Strand. He was a man of about 35 years of age. No relatives reside in this country. An inquest is being held this afternoon.

"IF NECESSARY HE WILL REMAIN IN PRISON AND FIGHT IT OUT"

—INSIDE STORY OF MEXICAN SQUABBLE.

DID NOT NEED MONEY

By Ralph S. Turner.
(Copyright by United Press.)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—International developments to-day intensify the importance of the complete declaration of innocence made by William O. Jenkins, American Consular Agent, in an exclusive statement given the United Press in Puebla on Friday.

"My innocence will be proved," said Jenkins. "My friends know it, and Washington knows it. The books of my business show that I was prosperous and did not need the ransom money."

Jenkins stated that his attorney was seeking to transfer the case to the Federal courts, where, he said, it belonged.

"If necessary I will remain in prison and fight it out," declared the Consular Agent. "I hope that I will not be the cause of International complications, but I am determined to establish my innocence as quickly as possible.

"I understand the charge or false declaration made against me, is based upon my denial of testimony by peons that I was seen on a ranch with bandits during the period of my abduction. I have evidence to disprove my presence there, but have not been given an opportunity to present it in court. Some peons said later that they gave their testimony through fear."

(United Press.)

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 1.—A report that William O. Jenkins had been released from Puebla Jail was given currency here to-day by Mexican Consul Garci and Vice-Consul Sandoval, but was not vouched for by them.

They said they heard it in Juarez and traced it back to a Guadalajara city newspaper, but were unable to confirm it.

At United States Army headquarters here the report was not believed.

REQUEST FOR RELEASE

(Canadian Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Renewing request for the immediate release of consular agent Jenkins, imprisoned at Puebla, the latest American note to Mexico made public to-day, arraigns the Mexican Government's conduct in severe terms and characterizes it as studied attempt to ensnare the American Consular Agent in the intricacies of legal proceedings. No ultimatum was served and no invocation was given of what the American Government's course ... Jenkins is not immediately released.

DAMAGE IN CITY DUE TO THE GALE

with moderate winds, which after Saturday night will seem but the balmiest of spring zephyrs.

It is a long time since Peterborough has been visited by such a high wind as that of Saturday night, and as it tore around the city at about 50 or 60 miles an hour, it executed a few little pranks all by its lonesome.

A long strip of roofing was torn completely off the main building of the C.G.E. Much the same feat was executed at Belleghem's, where a large piece of roofing was also removed from the furniture factory.

Several trees were blown down by the high wind, not to mention billboards and fences. One very large tree was blown down on Crescent street, near Harry Winch's home.

House Demolished.

A small wooden house in the north end was badly damaged by a large tree falling on it, but luckily no one was hurt.

A tree on King street fell on the electric wires about 9.30 Saturday evening and tied up the Street Railway for a few minutes.

In Jackson Park a few large pines were blown down by the wind.

The storm, however, displayed itself in less violent but more mischievous ways. Late theatre-goers were considerably surprised when emerging from the warmth and shelter of the theatres into a cold and gusty world. The wind taking advantage of their momentary inactivity, succeeded in lifting their hats and christies some feet in the air and carrying them madly up the street, to alight in some well-chosen spot such, as for example, a mud puddle.

Telephone Service.

The Bell Telephone stated that although they had had quite a lot of trouble because of the high wind, that they could not complain.

Mr. A. A. Smith, the plant chief, said that in the country the damage was greater than in the city and that many long distance and municipal lines were blown down. Three poles were blown over in the city and some in the country.

Situation in Toronto.

In Toronto the wind snapped trees like matches, blowing dead on from the south, and blew the rain before it in sheets. It tore the roofs off houses and factories; it left line upon line of fallen fences; telegraph and telephone wires, caught by the falling trees, came down in the direst confusion. In homes near the lake the inhabitants felt their abodes rock like a ship upon a stormy sea. Away out on the lake the water leaped in mountains, and the well-sheltered bay was too rough for navigation. Above all, in the dark clouds a mysterious blue-green sheet of light came and went, fast and yet too slow for lightning, and added to the terrors of a fearful night.

One death resulted from the storm, George Dowson being killed on Ontario street by a falling tree. Miss Mary Duffy, 92 Roslin-avenue, was hurt by a falling sign on Queen street.

Wind Blew 78 Miles an Hour.

At half-past 8 the machine for ascertaining the velocity of the wind at the storm signal station, showed the gale raging at the rate of 78 miles an hour. This is a record for Toronto. Later in the evening the wind veered round to the west, and in the opinion of some the change of direction saved Toronto from a still worse storm.

HEAVY DAMAGE.

Canadian Press:

WINDSOR, Dec. 1.—In the general destruction caused in this district by the gale on Saturday night, the electric light and power services were disrupted for hours, and local and interurban street railways have been at a standstill since the storm. The ferry boat "Promise," plying between Detroit and Windsor, careened back and forth in the teeth of a gale, shipping water until the deck was covered to a depth of several feet. The boat finally run aground some distance from the dock on the Canadian side and the passengers carried safely ashore. Sandwich suffered badly, many houses being demolished.

GRADUALLY RECOVERING.

Canadian Press:

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—South-western Ontario was to-day gradually recovering from the effects of Saturday's gale which swept from the Great Lakes to Ottawa Valley, causing damage estimated to total up in millions. Many points on Lake Huron are still cut off from telegraphic communication with Toronto, and damage ensuing from the storm in that district cannot yet be accurately estimated. Thousands of workmen, including many telegraphic linemen, are busy to-day repairing damage. Churches and other buildings were unroofed, trees and poles carried down by the hundred. During the progress of the storm the streets of some villages and towns were left impassable. Brantford, Sarnia and Toronto seem to have suffered particularly severely. So far there has been no definite reports of loss to shipping on the great lakes. The storm seems to have been less severe in Lake Superior and the northern part of Lake Huron. One fatality has been reported in Ontario, that of George Dowson, of Toronto, who was killed by a falling tree.

STORM DEMOLISHED LAST APPLE TREE

(Special to the Examiner)

TORONTO., Dec. 1.— Colonel George Taylor Denison's grandfather planted an apple orchard 80 or 90 years ago.

The last survivor perished in the Saturday night cyclone, and with it there succumbed an elderly cherry tree.

"Why worry?" asked the Veteran Magistrate to-day. "The apple tree had to go. If the storm had spared it the woodman must have cut it down very soon."

To Have Smooth, White, Soft Skin All Winter

Does your skin chap or roughen easily in this weather, or become unduly red or blotchy? Here is a quick, easy way to overcome the trouble and keep your complexion beautifully white, smooth and soft the winter long. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at the nearest drug store and use a little before retiring, as you would apply cold cream. Upon arising, remove the coating with suday water. The wax, through some peculiar attribute, flecks off the rough, discolored or blemished skin. The worn-out cuticle comes off just like dandruff, only in almost invisible particles. Mercolized wax simply hastens Nature's work. Used as required, it keeps the face constantly free form devitalized scarf skin and only the healty, young-looking skin is in evidence. It's the best treatment known for weather-beaten, aged, muddy, freckled, pimpled and all unbeautiful complexions.

PREMIER REDUCES HIS OWN SALARY

CHOPPED THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS A YEAR OFF STIPEND

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—Premier Ernest Drury's stipend is no longer $12000.00—that was enjoyed by his predecessar in office, Sir William Hearst. By a voluntary act on the part of the U. F. O Prime Minister, his annual income as Prime Minister has sustained a considerable reduction

A rumour has been current in official circles for some time that Mr. Drury has reduced his salary as Premier by three thousand dollars, making the figure $9000.00, which was the salary during the time of Sir James Whitney, instead of $12,000.00, which was the figure established a couple of years ago.

While no official announcement has been made, The Examiner can state that the report is true, and that the reduction has been in actual effect since the moment Mr. Drury assumed office.

POLICE COURT IN LAKEFIELD

LAKEFIELD, December 1. — A police court was held here on Friday forenoon before Police Magistrate O. A. Langley, when Constable Joseph Watson had Thomas and Peter Spencer arraigned for being drunk in a public place.

They both pleaded guilty. The father, Thomas Spencer, was fined $10 and costs, and the son, Peter Spencer, was fined $20 and costs, he having been convicted of a previous offence.

They were asked where they had procured the liquor. They stated they were only there on one charge, but Magistrate Langley insisted that they should tell. They then said they had got it from Bill Sullivan.

Mr. Joseph Stewart, License Inspector of Peterboro, was present at the trial.

THE TEACHERS' COMPLAINT.

The communication from the Peterboro Male Teachers' Association, which appears elsewhere in to-day's issue, should be read by every ratepayer, for it deals with a matter that should concern them as well as their representatives, the Board of Education. Much has been said here and elsewhere on this question of teachers' salaries; this statement from the local teachers covers the ground thoroughly, and the comparison drawn between the remuneration paid the pedagogues and the wages received by those engaged in other occupations are illuminative and striking. The teachers touch the principal angle of the problem, however, in the concluding paragraph of the communication for it is undoubtedly true that the situation is in the hands of the people, and that the Board of Education can only move so far as public opinion supports them. The local teachers are therefore making no mistake in laying their case before the public.

CANADA'S MILITIA.

The article in these columns on Saturday on the reorganization of the militia, especially the statement that the 57th Regiment is likely to be abolished, seems to have aroused considerable interest among citizens generally and former members of the Rangers in particular, many of whom express regret that it should be thought necessary to do away with the old regiment to make Peterboro the headquarters of the 2nd Battalion. The desire on the part of those who fought with the Iron Seconds overseas to perpetuate its memory by continuing its name and its association here at home, is easy to understand, yet at the same time it is not difficult to realize that the many former members of the 57th Regiment who went overseas in other units than the 2nd Battalion, have a deep-rooted objection to the passing of the Peterboro regiment. It is a difficult problem to settle, and because of the sentimental conflict between the two factions and because of the doubt as to which plan would be productive of the most recruits. In the minds of the military authorities naturally that scheme would be favoured which would give the best results from a recruiting viewpoint. The success or failure of the re-organization of Canada's militia after all depends almost entirely upon the returned soldiers. If enough of them can be induced to join the militia units, the Canadian home forces will be infinitely superior in efficiency and training than at any other period in their history. But if they decide they have done enough soldiering and refuse to "join up," then none of the suggested schemes would be of avail.

For that reason the whole subject might form a topic for discussion by the Great War Veterans with a view of considering the different plans that have been mentioned, and also of arriving at an approximation of the number of returned soldiers who would be counted upon to offer their services. A decision reached by the G.W.V.A. on these points would be of great value to the military authorities.

THE ALL-RED ROUTE.

The passing of the Grand Opera House to-day into the hands of the newly-formed Trans-Canada Theatres Limited is much more significant event than the majority of people perhaps realize. This transaction, with similar transfers all over the Dominions, does not mean a simple changing of hands of property, although viewed in that light the immensity of the deal makes it a notable one. It is a far bigger thing than that; it means through the substitution of British companies, and British plays for American companies and American plays, a better understanding among the Dominions of the Empire.

This point is well brought out by Mr. Percy Hutchinson, the well-known English actor-manager, who visits Peterboro at the end of the present week, in "The Luck of the Navy."

"After all, what are actors and actresses touring the Empire but messengers of the Empire," asked Mr. Hutchinson in an interview in Montreal. "We come here to see Canada as much as for any other purpose. British companies presenting British plays through the various Dominions must of necessity be virtual messengers of Empire, and they learn the ideas and ideals and ways of the Dominions they visit. The mutual exchange cannot but lead to a strengthening of mutual sympathy, to a stronger mutual regard, to a more comprehensive mutual understanding. Thus are the bonds of Empire ever forged anew, growing stronger and stronger."

Peterboro playgoers realizing that the securing of the grand by the new Trans-Canada Theatres enterprise means that this city is now on the All-Red Route in the theatres, of which will be seen a series of British plays by companies sent out from England, instead of having to depend upon the United States for amusement features, will undoubtedly hail the change with deep satisfaction, realizing that there are possibilities of great value in the new arrangement.

THE LESSON OF WINNIPEG.

Municipal elections conducted along the lines of last week's contest in Winnipeg are not the kind that lead to a happy and united community or to an efficient civic government. When the election of Mayor, Aledrmen and Board of Education narows down to a fight between classes, instead of being a general effort to select the best available men for the positions, the result is not likely to be a municipal government capable of administering affairs for the benefit of the whole community. Winnipeg cannot expect to obtain progressive and enlightened administration from a council in which seven members are chiefly animated by a desire to legislate for the benefit of organized labour and the other seven aldermen and the mayor are equally determined to block every move on the part of Labour's representatives. It is an unhappy situation in which the welfare of the city is bound to suffer. No municipal body can function properly under such conditions and the people of Winnipeg are justified in viewing the future with a good deal of apprehension, realizing that in the clash of class hatred there is little opportunity for a business-like conduct of the city's affairs.

The election of municipal officers on a class basis is fundamentally illogical and wrong. All sections in a community should have an equal interest and an equal responsibility in the carrying on of the civic administration, and that interest can best be shown and that responsibility most thoroughly discharged by an earnest and sincere effort on the part of the ratepayers to select from the field of candidates those who are the most fitted for the positions. It should not matter if they are all Labour candidates, if Labour's represenatives are the pick of those offering themselves; it should not matter if none of them are Labour representatives if there are other candidates who are clearly better equipped to transact the city's business. The interest of the labour organizations in municipal affairs should be welcomed; it is an evidence that they have a deep concern in the government of their home city. A similar interest on the part of other local associations should also be accepted as a proof of an awakening desire to see that Peterborough has an efficient administration. But when people are asked to vote for this candidate because he is a Labour man and that candidate because he is endorsed by the Board of Trade, and still another because he is a member of the G.W.V.A. the all important principle of selecting the best available men is departed from in favour of a class contest, and the interests of the community as a whole are lost sight of in the struggle between one faction and another to gain control of the municipal government.

From the standpoint of Peterborough there is only one test that should be made, only one open sesame to office, only one factor that should be considered by the ratepayers, namely, ability, coupled of course with sincerity of purpose and honesty of motive. All other considerations must be swept to one side—unless we want to create in Peterborough the situation that will exist in Winnipeg next year.

FOCH CLANGS THE ALARM.

With Eastern Europe seething, war threatened in the Balkans and the German people openly and boastfully acclaiming their war leaders, Marshal Foch properly recalls the allied nations and the United States back to unity which produced the victory. By doing so, he speaks for civilization as a whole no less than for France.

In an hour of desperate trial, the great Frenchman, by common consent, exercised unity of command in the field. No other has so good a right, at this time, to urge the peoples who willingly placed their armies under his leadership, to demonstrate the same clear understanding and common sympathy in international affairs as that which, applied in battle, won the war.

Foch sees the military spirit of Germany still a living force, panting for expression in fierce deeds of outrage. The danger is not immediate, but it is there. Doubt it as men will, the unchastened Hun crouches prepared to spring. To every strange twist of abnormal events, he applies the test of his passion for revenge.

A show of democracy masks the face of Berlin, and yet, with masses of people still given over to the passions of militarism, with preachers and teachers sowing the seeds of wrath to come, Germany lacks only the form of Kaiserism. The defeated country is being sown with the bayonets and cannon of another war.

Merrily boils the witches' cauldron of world strife in Europe. The Bolshevists stir Russia, while the mad d'Annunzio strives to set the Mediterranean on fire. The situation threatens openly a Great War anti-climax with the German alert to profit by further world necessities. What a background for the lack of unity which burdens the Allied nations and the United States! Civilization's danger was seldom if ever so gerat, civilization's defence surely never so weak!

The trained and trusted vision of Marshal Foch pierces through the coursing elements of discord to the menace that waits back of them.

Can those who lately felt the thrill of idealism and the joy of service shut their ears to the appeal of Marshal Foch? Will public men in office anywhere refuse to pool their interests and ambitions in a united effort to which, when war raged, they cheerfully trusted the lives of the people's soldiers?

The genius and deeds of Marshal Foch merit a world-wide response to his timely call for a re-birth of Allied sanity—Montreal Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The fact that Peterborough is now on the All-Red theatrical route need not alarm anyone. There is no Bolsheviatic connection.

The wind on Saturday night stirred Peterborough as much as the election of T. Tooms to the Legislature.

Mr. Hartley Dewart is qualifying as leader of the Opposition—the historic duty of which has always been to oppose.

"I'd rather be a booster
Than a knocker any day;
I'd rather tinge with hope than doubt
The words I have to say;
I'd rather miss my guess
Of another man's success
Than to view his bitter struggle
And prophesy his fall.
I would rather say 'He's coming'
Than 'He's going' when I'm summing
Up the labors of my brothers.
I would rather boost them all."

The Board of Commerce's rulings seem to work with reversed English. When they fix the profits on ham and bacon the price starts to climb.

With eggs at the present prices, even the worst theatrical attraction is fairly immune from attack.

"The Vaccination Blues" is Toronto's latest jazz number.

There is one redeeming feature about $1.00 eggs. The cost of using them in the pies that are used as ammunition by and against Charlie Chaplain is so great that pie-throwing is to be minimized in the film productions.

A STATEMENT ON THE TIMES BY JOHN S. CAPPER, PRESIDENT CAPPER & CAPPER, DETROIT.

THE WORLD IS HUNGRY for the things we eat wear and use. Stark Hungry! The cupboard is bare as a bone. Prices mount to staggering figures and the cry of our worker is—MORE PAY; SHORTER HOURS—and then a shortage shoots the price of things up another notch; again the cry—MORE PAY LESS HOURS.

Ye Gods! Must the vicious circle continue? Shall we never see that it is MORE HOURS we need, that to reduce the cost of the things we use, we must produce not LESS but MORE?

I just received a cablegram from my brother in London, reading, "Market bare, prices awful, hopeless, sailing home. Oh! if Americans would grasp their opportunity."

Prices had gotten so high in this country and merchandise so scarce, we sent two of our firm abroad, hoping to find what we needed and at lower prices. The cable message is the answer! Merchandise is even shorter on the other side than here. They have nothing to sell and their shelves are bare. They want to buy—to buy from America—to buy the things that Americans and Canadians make—and the answer of our workers is—REDUCE THE HOURS—44 hours a week instead of 60—a cut in production of 25 per cent.

The writer sympathizes with those who work. He understands what hard work, privation and the struggle of life is—he has lived it. He has walked eight miles a day to earn fifty cents, carrying water for the workers who built the town of Pullman. He has gotten out of bed at 3.00 o'clock to milk 15 cows on a winter's morning. He has put in 15 hours a day in a store. He is not a natural born plutocrat; rather — he is the son of a steel worker. He feels that he knows the needs of those who struggle, but anyone would be indeed foolish who failed to see that the waste of time by carpenter, plumber or other worker in turn raised the price of rent, raised the price of the very clothes that he himself wore, and everything used by him or his fellow worker.

Short hours in the city has made the farm worker restless; he, too, wants short hours and increased pay. May kind Providence preserve us if the farm laborers ever insist on 44 hours per week, or an eight hour day. You and I, my friend, will go hungry. I farm 800 acres and I know what short hours in the city is doing for the farm.

We may keep high wages, we may keep our present scale, and still reduce the cost of living by a simple remedy — WORK—good, hard, honest, faithful service — not 8 hours, rather 10—and then some. Let us for one year at least, resolve to work, and work like H——!

JOHN S. CAPPER, Detroit.

PETERBORO TEACHERS' SALARY

So much has ben said and written on the subject of teachers' salaries that it might be worth while to look into the matter and endeavour to determine what ground for complaint actually exists. Every few days one reads of some body of teachers petitioning for an increase of salary. There must surely be some discoverable reason for this transformation of the patient pedagogue, who has hitherto taken what was given without complaint, and managed to live in spite of his salary when he found he could not live on it.

At first thought, one might be inclined to conclude that the teacher has ben taking seriously, all the fine talk he has been hearing about the value of his work, the great part he has in laying the foundations of the future, and the increasing value of education in these times of unrest. There has been so much of it that it would not be surprising if he had made the mistake of accepting platform oratory at face value, and begun to think that a calling which was universally acknowledged to be of such vital importance, should be rewarded— not proportionately — but sufficiently. But, after all, the teacher is not quite so simple. He has been hearing that kind of talk for some time now and has long since learned that, like other very admirable sentiments, it is brought out for parade occasionally but is carefully packed away when it comes to arranging the practical details of salary. Like the fly who tried to swim the molasses jug, he has been getting a nice taste in his mouth but he hasn't been getting anywhere.

Let us turn for a moment to more solid matters. It is too bad to bring the cost of living into this but it can't be helped. We will dispose of it as briefly as posible. The Labour Gazette for November gives the weekly budget for October 1919, as $14.21 as compared with $71.99 for October 1914—an increase of approximately 78%. The index number for wholesale prices is 299.6 as compared with 138.7 in 1914—an increase of 116%. Rent, fuel and clothing are not included in these estimates; we can figure the percentage of increase on these items without the assistance of the Department of Labour. It is worth noting however, that the National Industrial Conference Board estimates the increase in clothing prices in the United States as 100% and we have not heard that many Americans have found it cheaper to replenish their wardrobe in Peterborough than at home.

How have the employers of Peterborough met this situation? While there are, no doubt, cases where the increase in wages has ben inadequate on the whole they have met it very well. The average wage of one of Peterborough's largest industries has increased 60% with a shorter day. Carpenters' wages were thirty to thirty-five cents an hour and are now sixty-five cents. Moulders who were receiving 35 cents in 1914, are now receiving 75 cents an hour. Mill labourers have gone from 17 1-2 to 38 1-2 cents an hour— an increase of 120%. Commercial travellers' have increased 60 to 75%. Draughtsmen are getting 70 to 75% more than before the war. Barbers' wages are almost doubled and tailors are paying their employees 50% more than in 1014. Bricklayers are being offered a dollar an hour with double time and a half for overtime; so that a bricklayer may earn in one hour of overtime as much as was paid for a day's wage in many occupations five years ago. The wages of railway employees has increased in many cases 100%. It is safe to conclude that in most occupations the increase in wages has varied from 50% to more than 100%.

Compare the increases received by teachers with the above figures. In the year ending June 1914 Public School Principals were receiving an average salary of $1333.33 and Vice-Principals an average of $1100.00 In January 1919 the average salary paid to Principls was $1550.00, and that to Vice Principals $1141.67. A bonus of 10% was granted for 1919 however, which brought the increase for Principals to 28% above the average for the greater 1914, and the increase for Vice-Principals to 14%. It must be remembered that, in the case of men who have been on the staff for the whole period, the greater part of this increase represents pay for longer services and has no relation to the increased cost of living. Further provision for salary increases has been made by a new schedule which comes into effect in January 1920. This is however, a substitute for the bonus of 1919, and not an addition to it so that the average salary for Principals will not be much higher than in 1919, and that of Vice-Principals will be actually lower. Principals will receive an average of 28.6 per cent. above the 1914 figure and Vice-Principals 13 per cent.

A comparison of these figures with those quoted above for mechanics, labourers, etc., would seem to answer the question why teachers are persisting is their attempts to secure better salaries. From 14% to 28.6% is plainly an inadequate provision for meeting increased prices ranging from 78% to over 100%. If a 50% to 100% increase has been necessary for the men in other occupations, the teachers are justified in asking for better treatment then they have received.

It may be urged that increased wages in other occupations have been made possible by the higher prices which employers have been able to secure for their products; and that, since in the case of teaching the only product is an intangible thing, valued differently by different persons and quite impossible of valuation in dollars and cents, it does not follow that they should receive the same increases in salary. While this line of argument contains a very evident fallacy we accept it for the moment and see where it leaves us. It applies of course equally to all employees of the City since in no case does the City receive the value of their labour in dollars and cents. The average wage paid by the City for general street labour was $1.86 in 1913; in 1919 it is $3.54—an increase of 90%. Fifty per cent more is paid for teams than in 1913. Wages for sewer work have increased in varying proportions but run from 50% up. In all these cases the day is one hour shorted. We find similar changes in the salaries of the more permanent employees. In 1913 the average salary of police constables was $671.66; in 1919 it is $1028.57, an increase of 53%. The average wage for the whole force has increased from $744.50 in 1913 to $1193.40 in 1919. The total for salaries in 1913 was $7445.00 as compared with $15511.42 for the present year. Part of this increase is of course, due to the growth of the City. The same growth has taken place in the schools, however, and we do not find a porportionate increase in the amount paid for teachers' salaries. he average paid to firemen in 1913 was $647.72; in 1919 it is $1121.25. The average for the whole force is $1132.65 this year; as compared with $671.07 for 1913, while the total salary bill has increased from $9395.00 to $27183.75. The Medical Health Officer has recently received an increase of 50%. There is no question that the increases were just and necessary, but they entirely dispose of the argument that the City is unable to treat its employees as well as private employers have treated theirs.

The statement is sometimes made that it is unnecessary to increase teachers' salaries further as there is no difficulty in filling vacancies at present rates. Such an attitude brushes aside all arguments based on the justice of the case and entirely disregards years of faithful service when weighed against a few additional dollars—surely not a very admirable position for any City to take. In any case, the number of applications for any vacancy proves very little. It may be asserted that the City can secure plenty of applications for any position it may choose to advertise. The vital point is not the number of applicants but the number who are suitable for the position. Further, a large number of applications for positions on the teaching staff is not by any means an indication of a surplus of teachers. The contrary is true, not only in Canada, but in the United States as well. Owing to the conditions which prevail in the teaching profession teachers who are dissatisfied with their positions do not limit their applications to a single case, but apply wherever a promising vacancy appears. Thus, while a Board of Education in any City may receive fifty applications for a position it does not follow that fifty teachers are available to fill it. Those same fifty teacher may,adna ipSip ojakaod fifty teachers may, and probably have, applied to a dozen other Boards and represent the number available to fill, not one position, but all similar positions vacant at the time. Yet so long as vacancies are few in number, the Board of Education will probably have no difficulty in filling the— Teachers who are getting smaller salaries elsewhere are apt to ignore the question of living conditions and be attracted by a slightly higher salary. This is particularly true of teachers in small towns and rural districts where expenses are considerably lighter. A short experience in the City shows them their mistake and they too move on to make place for their unlisted brethern. Such a process continued for any length of time can have but one result—a slow but none the less steady deterioration of the schools of the City.

In the last analysis the situation is in the hands of the public. Boards of Education can only move so far as public opinion supports them. If the public wants good schools it must realize that it cannot have them much longer, under present conditions. The question is not confined to any one City or any one Province. The number of men and women who are entering the teaching profession is growing less every year, and there is a steady drain of teachers into other occupations. If the public is content to intrust the education of its children to teachers without training and experience, it will be able no doubt, to secure them. If on the other hand it believes that present standards should be retained and raised, it must act before it is too late Teachers are not trained in a day, and if the standard of education is allowed to depreciate, it will take years to recover the last ground.

The Peterborough Male Teachers' Association

The following is from the London Advertiser:

The effort of London school teachers to place their profession upon a self-respecting basis through the organization of a teachers' union has already served one good purpose in awakening the community to the fact that this body of its employees whom it intrusts with the care of its children for a longer period of each day than they as parents usually spend with them, have been subjected to hardships and positive suffering in some cases, which they as members of the community have no right to inflict. While wages in every known trade have been rising in sky rocket style, while other professions have raised their regular charges and so increased their income, the teacher has been left in about the same condition as before the war, though the high cost of living is as pressing in his case as anywhere else. A good many people appear to regard school teachers as living in a state where ordinary laws of economics do not apply, since the pre-war salary has been expected to buy clothes, foods, shelter, and warmth at the new and vastly increased prices that now prevail. It must be admitted that the teachers have put up with this state of things much longer than those engaged in other lines of work would have tolerated at insufficient wages, but even in the case of the teacher ,there is a limit, and that limit seems to have been arrived it. In the feeling that only by united front will they obtain their demands we have to-day in this city a teachers 'union.

It is not to the credit of this city that recourse to this means of securing justice should be necesary on the part of its teachers. There are perhaps other city employes who are receiving far less than their due and continue to give earnest and honest service to the municipality, but in general there has been steady increase granted by other chief boards to their staffs and such action has been generally approved. The board of education has received from the city greatly increased appropriations in recent years, but only in a small degree have the teachers benefitted. We have built school buildings in London that we are proud of and that competent critics have declared to be of the most modern type, but is it a question if we have not been reducing the working efficiency of those fine plants year after year by driving out the most energetic and ambitious teachers by refusing them an adequate wage. What possible reason is there why an educated and trained teacher should sacrifice his or her life for the sake of people who ask that their children receive the best training and then refuse to pay for it. It has come to a point where the young person ambitious to enter teaching might as well begin by taking a vow of poverty. Such a thing ought not to be.

The dean of arts of the University of Michigan recently wired a young history teacher, a Ph.D., equipped with a knowledge of several languages and well recommended, offering him a place on the staff at Ann Arbor at $1,200 a year. The reply of the Ph.D., sent from Boston, was: "Thanks for your offer, but I have a job in a feed store and think I'll stick." Here is an indication that it is not alone elementary education but higher education as well that is feeling the loss of teachers due to in adequate salaries. The professorial staff at the University of Illinois has recently organized a union and it is interesting to note that the American Federation of Teachers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, increased its membership from 3,000 in September, 1918, to 10,000 in June, 1919, and now has the teachers in more than 100 American cities organized into unions. The movement is one that is spreading in the United States and that is likewise bound to spread in Canada. London is not a lone sinner among Canadian cities. for the conditions here are those prevailing generally, and the remedy that London teachers are applying very generally until as a class these people are placed on basis where the have at least their own self-respect.—London Advertiser.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

PETERBORO CENTRE FOR FORWARD MOVEMENT BOYS' WORK LEADERSHIP

THIS IS BRANCH OF THE FORWARD MOVEMENT OF THE CHURCH PLAN OF THE INSTITUTE.

Peterborough has been selected as the district centre for the Forward Movement Boys' Work Leadership Institute, a branch of the Forward Movement of the churches. Sixty such Institutes will be held in Canada this fall with the purpose of presenting to the men of the country interested in work among boys the plan of the churches for developing Canadian Christian citizenship through the building of Christian character in the lives of older boys. The Institute is promoted by the Anglican, Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, the Y.M.C.A., the Evangelical Association, and the Ontario Sunday School Association.

Local Institute.

The local Institute will be held in Murray street Baptist church on Thursday and Friday of next week and is for the counties of Northumberland, South Ontario, Victoria, Haliburton, Peterborough and Durham, for ministers, boys' workers, leaders of boys' classes and Sunday school superintendents.

The Plan.

The Institute plan centres about the Canadian standard efficiency training which aims at a four-fold development, spiritual, mental, physical and social. It divides the boys into two classes, the Trail Rangers (12 to 14 years) and Tuxis Boys (15 and over). Its operation centres about the Sunday school class and links up in a complete way all the activities of boy life in the one purpose of developing Canadian Christian citizens.

The Institute Programme.

The Institute programme is very practical and the men in attendance will become as a group of boys themselves under trained leaders, and in this way "learn by doing" instead of listening to a series of inspirational rather than practical addresses.

Leaders and Speakers.

There will be five well known and capable men in charge of the local Institute, representing the various organizations behind the movement as follows:

Rev. C. P. Muirhead, Bowmanville, representing the Anglican church.

Rev. Manson Doyle, Toronto, representing the Methodist church.

Dr. J. C. Robertson, Toronto, representing the Presbyterian church.

Rev. W. P. Fletcher, representing the Ontario Sunday School Association.

Taylor Statten, Toronto, representing the Young Men's Christian Association.

"Broaden."

The keynote of the Institute is "Broaden." To quote the pamphlet, announcing the Institute, "Broaden through fellowship with others. Grow through inspiration. Become effective through knowledge."

Those Eligible.

All men eighteen years of age or over who are actual or prospective leaders of boys are eligible to register. The registration fee is $2.00 and application may be made to F. G. McNeeley, secretary, care of the local Y.M.C.A.

Considerable interest has already been aroused in the city and a large attendance is expected. This institute reeplaces the Boys' Conferences of former years.

Schedule of Events.

The Instiute will open Thursday afternoon at 5.30 o'clock and the following programme will be carried out:

Thursday Evening:

5.30—Organization into Tuxis Squares.

6.30—Supper in conclave.

7.00—Sing song.

7.15—Explanation and mutual demonstration of the charting interview.

8.00—Joint session with mass meeting of older boys. Theme: "The Tux. is Boy in the New Era."

Friday Morning—

9.00—Service of worship in conclave.

9.15—"The Church Programme for Boys' Work"; 'The Organization Needed."

9.45—Tuix Squares in Sunday session.

11.15—Denominational conferences.

11.45—Group games.

Afternoon—

2.00—Service of worship in conclave.

2.15—Practical talk in conclave"; "Community Responsibility."

2.40—Tuix Squares in mid-week session. Opening ceremony, initiation, etc. 4.45—Group games.

.30—Supper in conclave. "Principles of Leadership"; "Mentor's Training."

Should Prove Helpful.

The Institute should prove a great help to men interested in boys' work, both from an inspirational and practical standpoint and should give a new impetus to the movement for developing the young manhood of the nation into practical Christian citizenship.

At times he was bound hand and foot by the grip of Rheumatic pains. On the advice of a friend he stood for a new trial and used T.R.C.'s.

Read what he has to say:—

"I have been a sufferer from Rheumatism for ten years. Have been so bad at times I could not move hand or foot for months. A friend advised me to try Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules, and I have been thankful ever since. They worked wonders for me, and I have never felt any return of the disease."

It's practically impossible to obtain evidence stronger than this testimonial, and a word to the wise is always sufficient. If you suffer, have a new trial—use T.R.C.'s.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.50.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water— you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

GERMANY TO REFUSE DEMAND OF ENTENTE.

Not Expected to Make Reparation for Scapa Flow Sinking.

BERLIN, November 29. — It is stated in authoritative quarters here that Germany will not comply with the demand of the entente for 400,000 tons of docks, dredges and tugs as an off-set to the German warships sunk at Scapa Flow. It was indicated that Germany would stand pat on her proposition to refer the dispute to the Hague tribunal. It is claimed that Germany should not be held responsible for the acts of the marine forces at Scapa Flow.

HAD ECZEMA For Over 28 Years

Eczema or Salt Rheum manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust is formed, and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat is almost unbearable.

The success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in skin diseases of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties, and we know of no other remedy that has done or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Mr. James Walker, 182 Niagara St., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I have been using Burdock Blood Bitters for some months past, and find it an excellent remedy for skin eruptions. I have suffered with eczema for over 28 years, and have tried almost everything you could think of. I was recommended to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and I am now clear of my skin trouble. It is certainly a good remedy and I shall recommend it to all my friends."

FRENCH PLAN FOR TOURISTS.

Seek Private Capital to Erect "Barrack Hotels" on Battlefields.

PARIS, December 1st. — Hotel men, seeking fortunes in the expected flood of American and other tourists next year, are planning to erect "barrack hotels" along the battle front. The National Chamber of Hotelkeepers, cooperating with the Government, is seeking private capital to put up such temporary buildings during the winter.

Officers of the association said most of the hostelleries now operating at town on the front, have patrons "sleeping in halls and even on billiard tables." The first efforts are being directed toward making habitable hotels that were damaged during the war and inducing owners of places destroyed to rebuild them.

Canaries, in the mating season, seem to vie with each other in the production of brilliant melody; and it is observed that the female birds always select the best singers for their mates.

JACK PRIMEAU, PROPRIETOR, FASHION CRAFT SHOP.

THE REWARD OF SERVICE

JACK PRIMEAU, OF FASHION-CRAFT, REACHES HIS FIRST BUSINESS ANNIVERSARY.

From the full ranks of diligent salesmen to become the owner of an up-to-date "Fashion-Craft" store, is an achievement seldom recorded in these days of stress and strain in business experiences. It becomes, therefore, a pleasing duty to record the fact that to-day Mr. Jack Primeau, proprietor, is celebrating his first business anniversary, having just one year ago, stepped up from the position of clerk to become the responsible proprietor of Peterborough's popular "Fashion Craft" store.

Mr. Primeau entered the "Fashion Craft" store under the management of Mr. Andrew Laidlaw in August, 1913, so that his connection with this business dates back only about six years ago.

It can be said of this store, that it draws business purely as a result of its high-grade gentlemen's garments, such as has won for "Fashion-Craft", the popularity they enjoy to-day. These, together with the smart up-to-the-minute lines of gentlemen's haberdashery and a select stock of hats, have influenced a high-class trade from well-dressed gentlemen who demand individuality in every article that enters their wardrobes.

During this the first year under Mr. Primeau's personal management, it is gratifying to learn that it has proved to be the most successful business year in "Fashion-Craft's" twelve year's history in Peterborough.

It will thus be seen that Mr. Primeau has established himself with a host of friends and patrons who will learn with pleasure that his plucky venture in business on his own account has met with his most sanguine expectations.

It seems scarcely necessary to refer to Mr. Primeau's active personality in the conduct of this store as contributing so much to his first year's success in business. His policy has been a high class service, uniform courteous treatment to all, skilfully displayed goods, and clever window dressing. These have dominated the store methods with satisfactory results; and Mr. Primeau has good reason to look forward with confidence to a retention of the large clientele he has so successfully catered to. It may be taken for guarantee too, that he is likely to continue to pursue a vigorous watch over business and the same alterness which has been characteristic of his business methods.

The announcement of the opening of "Fashion-Craft's" Christmas goods is sure to meet with a generous response from men who discriminate in the selection of their holiday wear, as well as from the ladies who desire to select practical gifts to their gentlemen friends.

TANK CLAIMANTS ALL GET SOMETHING.

But Committee Says That Churchill Is Entitled to All the Credit.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—"It was primarily due to th receptivity, courage and driving force of Winston Spencer Churchill that the general idea to use such an instrument of warfare as the tank was converted into practical shape," was the statement made in the report issued to-day by the committee which investigated at great length the numerous rival claims to credit for inventing the tank.

But it was said in the report that, as the War Minister is considered a servant of the state, he is not entitled to any award.

The report then deals with a number of men who made valuable contributions toward perfecting the tank, awarding some of them sums of five hundred pounds or one thousand pounds each, the principal award, amounting to fourteen thousand pounds, being divided.

BE SUSPICIOUS OF TENDER GUMS

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines health.

Gradually the gums become spongy, inflame, then recede, thus exposing the unprotected tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for these germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many diseases to these infecting germs in the gums caused by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's for the Gums. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

LIKE CANADIAN GAME.

Tiger Officials Not Impressed With American Rugby.

Sam Manson, Harry Glassford, Wally Barron and Bob Isbister, of the Hamilton Tigers, attended the Syracuse-Colgate football game at Syracuse and have seen other American games this year. While they were impressed with certain features of the American play, they still think that the Canadian game is much better for the players and spectators, as it permits of more open play. They figure that the forward pass is similar to an onside kick in the Canadian game, and that it offers the same opportunities for fluke plays, and the side using it always takes desperate chances. They saw more open play in a game played between Buffalo and Cleveland teams at Buffalo than in any American game they have yet witnessed. The reason for the open play in the game was that it was a light team against a heavy one, and the only chance the smaller boys had was to try end runs and punt.

ANNUAL STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES FOR PETERBORO INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION BOARD ASSETS ARE SIX TIMES GREATER THAN LIABILITIES – BOARD IS GREATLY PLEASED WITH THE SUPPORT FROM BOTH CITY AND COUNTY—THE AUDITORS' REPORT.

The following is a copy of the Auditor's report by Mr. W. R. Morris, Chartered Accountant, for the Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, of the receipts and expenses for the current year as well as a statement showing the Assets and Liabilities of the Peterborough Exhibition, up to the 15th of November, 1919.

From the statement of the operations of the Board for the year 1919, it will be seen that a profit of $2,372.00 was made. This included the features which the Board conducted on the Holidays as well as the receipts from two Summer Carnivals and the Fair itself. This surplus, together with subscriptions to the Permanent Improvement Fund, City and County Grants, were put into Permanent Improvements amounting to $9,870 in 1919. In 1918, the money spent for Permanent Improvements amounted to $6,104. The Grand Stand when erected, cost $3200, and in all, during the past few years, $19,174 has been expended on this account.

The Board has been very ambitious during the past few years, and has been building for the future, so that now there is outstanding a debit of $4,919.15, which is guaranteed by the members of the Board against which the recent permanent improvements amount to $19,574.54. In this amount is not included the value of the Sheep Pens, Hog Pens, Cattle and Horse Barns, Fences, etc., which have been there for some time, and which would cost a very great deal to replace.

While the Directors of the Exhibition have a deficit from the building account, their total assets are approximately six times greater than their liabilities.

The Board is greatly pleased with the support that has been given them by residents of the City and County, and believe that both the City and Country appreciate the efforts and the improvements that have been made.

In a few days a list of contributions to the building fund will be given. The Board is giving publicity to every item of receipts and expenses and further information can be had from the Secretary by anyone desirous of obtaining further details.

LIFE OF THE HUMBLE FARMER

Walt Mason, who needs no introduction to the reading public has thefollowing to say regarding the farmer:

The farmer milks the lowing kine and carries grape juice to the swine, the kind of dope they like; he starts to work at break of day and plugs along till dusk is gray, and hasn't time to strike. He stands in need of shorter hours, more time to sleep in cozy bowers, more time to rest and read; but he can hear the horses neigh for bundles of refreshing hay, the mules for fodder plead. The old gray mare is beastly sick, the colic makes her roll and kick, and stand upon her head; and so he nurses her all night, until she's feeling well and free instead of being dead. He has to hunt a missing sow, or saw the antler from a cow, so she won't hook again; he has to crawl beneath a crib and spoil his tucker and his bib, to find a setting hen. The farmer has more [illegible] than [illegible] and Pete and Jane, who in the cities live; but he has many chores in view, and walk-out stunts would never do — no profit would they give. But if the farmer struck, ah, me! Oh, where in blitzen would we be, and where would we get off? There'd be no bacon and no beans, no flour or meal or helpful greens, no skim milk in the trough. If e'er the farmers organize, and strike as strike the other guys, there'll be a frightful dearth; and we'll fold up our weary limbs, and heave a sigh and close our glims, and just fall off the earth.

WOMAN IN NEW YORK BREAK SLEEPING RECORD

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—A new sleeping record was established here by Mrs. Dora Mintz, whose long periods of unconsciousness now numbers 51 days. Dr. Robert J. Wilson superintendent of the hospital where her case has puzzled the medical authorities, stated that her minutes of wakefulness are increasing and the patient appears to thrive on a diet of milk and ginger snaps. Violin music may be restorted to in an attempt to arouse the sleeping woman. Dr. E. Gidding, one of the doctors interested in the case, said to-day that in a similar instance last year a woman who had been sleep for six weeks had been rescued from her lethargy by a violinist who played to her for several hours.

DR. O. C. S. WALLACE ADDRESSED MEN'S MEETING SUNDAY AFTERNOON

MR. JOSEPH WEARING PRESIDED – MEETING WAS WELL ATTENDED.

Despite the inclement weather, a large number of men heard Rev. Dr. O. S. Wallace, M.A., B.D., LL.D., pastor of Westmount Baptist church, Montreal, at the Y.M.C.A. meeting in the Allen Theatre yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Joseph Wearing acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced Dr. Wallace as the leading Baptist of Canada, who had formerly served as Chancellor of McMaster University, and during the war was the Baptist representative at the front and was now pastor of the Westmount Baptist church, Montreal.

Rev. Dr. O. C. S. Wallace.

In opening Dr. Wallace quoted, "I am a friendly man and live by the side of the road." He believed that men liked ideas. To-day we were turning about for new ideas and were quite in danger of over-valuing some of our ideas and specialities. In doing this we were likely to disturb the balance of our lives.

A Night in France.

Dr. Wallace then went on to describe the night on which he had been present at a concert of the "Dumbells," the famous entertainers of the Third Division in France, when the audience had been composed of men about to go into the front line trenches. At the time he had asked himself, "What are the ideas which move these men?" The answer to the question was that they had been brought up in Canadian homes filled with the idea of duty.

"Over-valuation of a Kid."

Dr. Wallace then explained the meaning of his subject, "The Over-valuation of a Kid." This was based on the parable of the Prodigal Son, as given in the 15th Chapter of St. Luke's Gospel. This chapter, Dr. Wallace thought, was one of the most marvellous in literature. Its parables were often used by ministers as texts, but generally the attitude of the elder brother in the parable of the Prodigal was overlooked, and upon this he had based his talk.

The Fatted Calf.

This man who was not prodigal and who was as respectable as we, failed to come into sympathy with his father, and when the father killed the fatted calf in honor of the return of the Prodigal, cried: "Father, thou never gavest me a kid that I might make merry with my friends." Yet his father had given him a decent home and all of the estate except the younger son's wasted portion. The grotesqueness of the contrast was great.

Dr. Wallace thought that there was a tendency on the part of many people to overvalue the "roasted kid." We should say to see what is a good idea or a great principle and follow it.

Forward Movement.

Dr. Wallace thought that the Forward Movement of the thirty-seven churches of the United States and Canada which [illegible] was one that every right thinking man would agree with him. He believed that, contrary to general belief, the average man was not indifferent to religion.

"I refuse to sit in council with those who think that the average man is indifferent to God," Dr. Wallace stated.

Follow True Ideas.

In closing Dr. Wallace exhorted the men to watch closely for the great organizing ideas of the present and when they found ideas that were true to fight for them, sacrifice for them, do anything for them, but to reject all unworthy ideas.

Mr. Walter Evans' solo and Miss Isabel Baird's piano accompaniments were greatly appreciated.

MISS BROWNE HAD TO GIVE UP POSITION

WAS IN A BADLY RUN DOWN CONDITION FOR SIX MONTHS— TANLAC RESTORES HER.

"Tanlac has helped me so much that it is a great pleasure to recommend it," said Miss Doris C. Browne of 87 Glen Lake Ave., Toronto, Ont.

"I suffered from a nervous breakdown," she continued, "and for six months I was in a dreadful condition. My appetite failed, strength and energy left me and I was so nervous I could hardly keep still. I would have dizzy spells when I would almost faint. My condition was such that I had to give up my position and for several months I couldn't do any work, at all. I could hardly sleep, lost several pounds in weight and became very despondent, for nothing helped me and I was getting worse all the time.

"Hearing so much about Tanlac I decided to try it and before I had finished my second bottle I was feeling so much better, that I kept right on taking it and have recovered entirely from the nervous breakdown. My appetite is fine, I sleep like a child and am in better health than I have been in years. I have regained all my lost weight and really feel as well as if I had never been sick at all."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Danike, in Lakefield by Tanlac Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners, by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Voice Of The People

The Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The time is near at hand when every public spirited elector should give close attention to the coming Municipal election and to his or her choice of those who will guide Peterborough's destiny for the coming year.

The question is—shall we or shall we not develop our latent possibilities and strengthen our present sturdy position? Do we want to go forward in commercial and industrial development or are we prepared to stand pat and be content with what we are and what we have accomplished. I think I voice a vehement protest against Peterborough remaining what she is under the present conditions.

We have, I understand, among the possibilities for Mayoralty nominations a mail, an honest man, who, so far as his own business is concerned, a success. But this man is to be nominated simply as a Labour representative and made their Magistrate of the City for the sole benefit of the interests of the class of the community. We want the best men obtainable for Mayor, a man who will act in the interests not merely of Labour, but of the public. We want no class rule for Peterborough, a kind of rule that would inevitably scare off new industries.

I would suggest that a strong endeavour be made to induce Mr. G. N. Gordon to consent to run for Mayor. Mr. Gordon's past history in his various civic positions is his best recommendation to our civic franchise. It is an open secret that whilst City Solicitor his action in connection with securing the rebuilding of the Quaker Oats plant saved the city enough to pay a City Solicitor's salary for three hundred years. We all know Mr. Gordon's position in regard to returned soldiers, and that he is an advocate for a square deal for Labour. We want no weak man in the Mayor's chair after this. Peterborough has outgrown her small town clothes and needs a Mayor of intelligence, business ability, and one able to represent her abroad.—Yours party is concerned and by the workers whose very existence depends upon industry and progress.

The time is at hand when we must select the captain and crew of our Municipal Ship of State. In making this choice we should totally ignore politics, creeds, and everything but the best material for our Mayor and Aldermen. We all know, and our present and past Aldermen will admit, that Peterborough's Council has too often contained men, good, honest, well-meaning men, but whose business experience and knowledge of how to practically deal with a growing city's needs, makes them undesirable as municipal legislators. We should not elect our aldermen because they happen to belong to any particular Church or union. Labour, of course, should be represented in the Council Chamber by men able and prepared to see that Labour gets a square deal. Still our Council should not be controlled by Labour representatives solely in the interests of Labour. Our Aldermen should represent the public as a whole. We should have men in the Council sufficiently broadminded not to pander to pockets after class legislation and men intelligent enough to carry out what they promise when [illegible] the city's welfare.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE ROCKY ROAD TO DUBLIN

With a fair voice and possible latent talents as an actor, Barney Gilmore, kept a fairly large audience from going to sleep at the Grand on Saturday evening. "The Rocky Road to Dublin" is a pleasing Irish play combining humour and pathos. Mr. Gilmore was supported by a fairly efficient cast. His leading lady was Miss Helen Evily in the role of Bernadine Ferguson. Miss Evily played the part of an Irish girl in an acceptable manner. The play was flat in spots but a number of specialties introduced by Barney Gilmore, Anita Bondino, Charles Edwards and Dan Barrett covered up the weak spots.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKETS

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Prices were irregular at the Stock Market opening to-day.

U. S. Steel ex div. opened at 102 up 3-4, American Woollen at 118 1-8 off 3-4, Marine Pref. at 101 1-8 off 1-8, Central Leather at 92 1-8 up 1-8, U. R. Stores at 87 unchanged, Lackawanna at 83 up 1, Marine at 46 off 1-4, Southern Pacific at 93 1-4 up 3-8, Bethlehem B. at 90 3-8 up 3-8, Crucible at 192 off 3, Republic at 101-12 unchanged, and Mexican Petroleum at 189 up 3-4.

Toward the end of the second hour a fair sized rally set in, which included Motors, Equipments and Steels. Shortly before that time Steel Common had been forced down 10, 101 and there were indications the main bear pressure was being centred on that stock.

After the initial rally new short loans were again put out but industrial stocks in general appeared to be oversold.

There was evidance around noon that the bear crowd was centering its attack on the better class of rails, acting on the assumption that if they could cause a real break in these issues it might lead to further liquidation in industrials. Deleware and Hudson sold off 9 1-2 to 91 1-2.

Voice Of The People

Peterborough, Dec. 1st, 1919.

To the Editor, Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Appearing in your issue of Friday, Nov. 28th was an article stating that letter carriers were circulating a petition asking that Mr. John Corkery, Deputy Postmaster, be appointed Postmaster to succeed the late James Edgar. May I state that this part is correct, but when you state that only majority of post office employees signed it you are mistaken. As a matter of fact 90 per cent. of the staff have affixed their signatures, believing as we do that the only honest way of making appointments is by promotion, according to merit. May I go further and state that 98 per cent. of citizens so far approached have also signed the petition, believing as we do that Mr. Corkery is qualified and is the man who is entitled to said appointment. Thanking you for past favors and hoping that this will clear up the misunderstanding created by previous article as to signatures of the P. O. staff.

A. MOSCROP, Sec.

Editor.— According to Webster's dictionary and other equally authoritative sources, ninety-nine per cent. constitutes a majority.

GEORGEOUS DISPLAY AT TO-NIGHT'S SHOW

COSTUMES RUNNING INTO THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WILL BE SHOWN.

Those of the city who have been fortunate enough to have seen the Stuart Whyte production in former years will warmly welcome the latest extravanganza, "Little Red Riding Hood," which will be shown at the Grand Opera House this evening and to-morrow.

In Cinderella and in all former productions, Mr. Stuart Whyte has brought to the city, the scenic effects have been elaborate but this year's vehicle surpasses anything he has yet brought or that has been shown in the city by any company. Mr. Whyte has made a close study of detail and has with supreme disregard to the expense incurred, worked out every detail necessary for emphasizing the meaning of the play and for making the background to the action realistic.

The story of the pantomime is in reality a medley of all the nursery rhymes linked together and enlarged upon in Mr. Whyte's inimitable manner. As in [illegible] an extravaganza the originals of the nursery rhymes, upon which the pantomime is based, are made to assume new roles and new duties. For instance Mother Hubbard of cupboard fame, is Red Riding Hood's grandmother, and Little Boy Blue, the Prince of Hearts, travelling incognito in Nursery Rhyme Land, in search of love. But while she assumes the new duties of a grandmother, she still retains her faithful dog "Trusty," which part is taken by Willie Hallet of Drury Lane fame, and still searches a bone for him. Miss Muffet, Jack Horner, King Cole and a host of other Nursery Rhyme folk each contribute their parts to the play.

Elaborate Scenery.

The opening scene of the eleven shown, is "Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree," which scene is charming, but the scene dearest to the heart of the producer, as he himself admitted this morning, is the Mother Hubbard Bed Chamber. True to the part she plays that of a lady in reduced circumstances, the room retains the unmistakable mark of a gentlewoman with its four poster bed, oak chest, grandfather clock and portraits of ancestors, which last are real works of art, hanging about the walls. The feature scene of the play is, however, Palace Scene. Gorgeous in all other scenes, the costumes in this are remarkably beautiful and surpass anything ever seen in the city before. In the one scene, Mr. Whyte stated that $4,000 has been spent upon the costumes, all of which are up-to-date enough to be a fashion revue. One creation is composed of a wonderful piece of gold and blue material which cost the producer $36 a yard. The modern costumes and most of the antique costumes, are the finished products of master hands in London, Paris and New York.

The scenery was brought, to a great extent, from London, England, and the finishing touches put on in Mr. Whyte's studio in Toronto.

"THE LUCK OF THE NAVY"

"The Luck of the Navy," one of the biggest of recent London successes, after running nearly, two years in London, will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at the Grand Opera House, on Friday and Saturday matinee Saturday.) The London Queen's Theatre company, headed by Percy Hutchison, has been brought from London for its presentation. The play was written by Mrs. Clifford Mills, and deals with naval incidents in the closing days of the great war. It is not, however, a war play in the general acceptance of the term, for not a single shot is fired, and except for the prologue all of the scenes take place in the polite atmosphere of an English drawing-room. The central characters are British officers, who find themselves surrounded by German spies in disguise.

Mr. Hutchison appears as the British commander of a submarine, who is in the special object of attention on the part of the spies, while his company includes Miss Muriel Martin-Harvey, daughter of the well-known English actor; Miss Kate Carew, Miss Elsie Stranach, Mr. J. H. Croker-King, Mr. A. P. Kaye, Mr. Patrick Ludlow, Mr Aubrey Mather, Mr. Geoffrey Webb, and a number of others.

"The Luck of the Navy," presented by this same company, was originally done in London, at the Queen's Theatre, and subsequently was transferred to three other London theatres to continue its run of 22 months. It will be given here exactly as it was presented at a special command performance before Her Majesty Queen Mary and the Royal Family, for the British Royal Naval Fund for Prisoners of War, last October. Subsequent to this performance, the Queen sent to Mr. Hutchison, through her private secretary, a letter expressing her pleasure at witnessing a performance of "The Luck of the Navy."

THRILLS OF BLACK HILLS SEEN IN "THE WESTERNERS"

"The Westerners," which is being shown at the Allen Theatre to-day and to-morow, is a picturization of Stewart Edward White's famous novel of the same name. The story is laid in the Black Hills in the days of the gold rush and tells in an absorbing manner of the implacable revenge of Michael Lafond, a half-breed Indian, against Jim Buckley, scout, who caused Lafond to be driven from a wagon train for insulting one of the white women. Lafond flees to power in the hills, murders the white woman, kidnaps her daughter, later using the girl as part of his scheme of revenge against Buckley.

STEWART EDWARD WHITE

Lafond plans to ruin Buckley to his ruin and to force his will, Molly, into the life of a dance hall woman.

Here he finds Buckley, now a leading citizen of the settlement. The former spent his recollection of the half-breed and the latter lays his plans to ruin Buckley without interruption. Molly, the only woman in the camp, enjoys the adoration of the male population. Among them is Cheyenne Harry, a reckless young miner, who becomes her chief suitor. Meanwhile Lafond has succeeded in his scheme to disgrace Buckley in the eyes of his fellow men. He is forced to fight his way out of the settlement. Lafond, however, is recognized before leaving camp in pursuit of Buckley. How Lafond's plans are frustrated and Molly is saved by the man she loves while the half-breed meets his just deserts in a plunge down a steep embankment in a buckboard, brings a smashing climax to an enthralling narrative.

GALLO ENGLISH OPERA COMPANY

For the first time in several years we are to have a revival of the works of William S. Gilbert and Sir Arthur Sullivan; this time at the hands of The Gallo English Opera Company, whose sensational Toronto engagement closed at the Royal Alexander Theatre in that city a few weeks ago. It is to be doubted if a finer allotment of principals has ever been secured for comic opera, and when it is stated that the list includes such names as Jefferson De Angelis, Albert Parr, Daniel Denton, Louis Casavant, Karl Stoll, Frank Risdale, Rosamond Whiteside, Greta Risley, and Ethel Mae Bagnall, it can readily be seen that a treat is in store. In addition to this list, Mr. Gallo is introducing for the first time in America the noted Japanese prima donna, Hana Shimozumi, whose interpretations of Yum-Yum in "The Mikado," and O Mimosa San in "The Geisha," have created little short of a furore. A finely trained chorus and a splendid concert orchestra under the skilled baton of Max Bendix, will aid in giving what is believed to be a well-nigh perfect ensemble.

It has been decided to render "The Mikado" on Wednesday evening with Hana Shimozumi as Yum-Yum, and Jefferson de Angelis as Ko-Ko, while the "Chimes of Normandy" will be rendered on Thursday evening, with De Angelis as Gaspard and Rosamond Whiteside as Sergolette. The immortal "H.M.S. Pinafore" will be offered at the Thursday matinee, with De Angelis as Sir Joseph Porter and Ethel Mae Bagnall as Josephine.

No effort will be spared to make the offerings absolutely true to tradition in every way and opera lovers of this city can look forward to the event in happy anticipation.

NO EXPLANATION OF BIG INCREASE IN THE VALUATION

HON. MR. JUSTICE ROSE MAKES FIRST OFFICIAL VISIT TO PETERBORO.

Mr. Justice Rose appearing in his official capacity for the first time in Peterboro opened the non- jury sittings of the Supreme Court this afternoon. Only one action was set down for trial. The plaintiff William G. Paton claimed $4,000 from Clifford Filion of Belmont township for alleged default of an agreement covering an exchange of properties. Mr. Paton gave certain timber lots in Belmont for land owned by Filion in Saskatchewan, the latter to make an additional cash paymnet. Two installments of this sum due in Aoril, 1018 and 1919 were not paid. Plaintiff therefore asks that the agreement be cancelled and that the rights and interest of the defendant be declared at an end.

Filion makes a counterclaim of $8,000 alleging miarepresentation.

Paton asks not only for the cancellation of the agreement, but also for the payment of the $4,000 ballance.

Mr. T. R. J. Wray and Mr. MacKenzie of Toronto, apeared for the plaintiff and Mr. F. D. Kerr assisted by Mr. O. A. Langley for the defendant.

In cross-examination by Mr. Kerr the plaintiff said he had bought the Belmont timber lots from Chas. Munro for $1,100. There was an encumbrance of $900 on the property.

Paton obtained an estimate of $10,000 as the value of lots.

This figure was quoted to Filion.

Mr. Kerr.—"Was that an honest estimate."

Mr. Paton—"That was for him to find out."

Mr. Kerr—"Answer the question, was it an honest estimate."

"I wouldn' give $10,000 for it."

"What was the lowest figure offered by you to any person before you met Filion?"

"I guess I offered it for $2,000."

Paton said he had quoted the $2,000 to a Mr. Curtis in February 1917.

Mr. Kerr: "What happened, if anything, between February and April, 1917, to cause any appreciation in the value of the timber lots?"

Mr Paton: This was a trade, altogether different from a cash sale."

Mr. Kerr repeated his question several times.

"Did anything happen to increase the value of the property?"

Mr Paton: "No."

It was elicited that the lots were three miles from Stoney Lake.

Paton admitted that he knew Filion was not familiar with the property, and was a stranger in Ontario. Nor did he tell him that Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., was cutting pine on the lots under a Crown license. Paton saw the Filion farm in Saskatchewan in 1917, but not until after the agreement was drawn up.

Paton said he had cut 60,000 feet of lumber, 2,000 ties, and 50 cords of wood after getting the lots from Munro.

INQUEST OPENED THIS AFTERNOON

The inquest into the death of Wm. Jackson, who was found dead in the lane behind Hooper's store this morning, opened this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Comstock's undertaking parlors, Coroner Greer presiding.

The following jury were sworn in: Wm. Meredith, Joseph Pecard, Duncan Drummond, Edward Wright, Fred Stabler, Adjutant Buntin, T. C. Elliot, M. J. Maher, George Evans, D. Minicolo and John Savigny.

After the jury were sworn in, T. C. Elliot was elected foreman.

The body was then viewed by the jurors, being identified by many of the jurors who remembered him.

Police Constable Arthur Thomas, who summoned the jury, identified the body.

Coroner Dr. Greer then adjourned the inquest for a week in order to give the police time to go on with their investigation, and in order to have a post mortem examination made. The post-mortem examination will be made immediately by Dr. E. Wood and Dr. A. W. McPherson.

The jury will meet on Monday evening, Dec. 8th, in the police court to carry on with the investigation.

VOL. XLIII NO. 128 — PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1919 — PRICE TWO CENTS.

WESTERN CLOCK CO'Y ASK PRICE ON ADJOINING LOT

NEW INDUSTRY HAS SOUGHT ON CONCESSION--ALREADY REALIZE THAT THEY WILL NEED ADDITIONAL ROOM FOR FUTURE GROWTH—THE COUNCIL WOULD ELECT POLICE COMMISSION.

MAYOR BREAKS TIE VOTE

Having bought the Peterboro Chicle company's building on George street, south, the Western Clock company desire more round room and in a letter to the Council last night they asked for a lease on the property owned by the city immediately south of their factory near the corner of Romaine street.

Mayor Duncan pointed out that this company had asked for no concessions. They were a first-rate company and had every likelihood of expanding. Hence he urged that only a small sum should be asked for the property needed by the manufacturers of "Big Ben."

"We offered that land to the Lundy people some years ago" said His Worship. "It is only a small strip and is of little use to the city. I think we should be as generous as possible with them."

Ald. Phelan moved seconded by Ald. Edgar that thise request be referred to the Manufacturers' committee for the purpose of earning full information and reporting at a special meeting next Monday.

WOULD ELECT POLICE COMMISSION

Ald. Crowe's motion, of which he had given notice, seconded by Ald. Morrison that the Legislature be petitioned to amend the law so as to make the Police Commission an elective body, was adopted. this change the Commission would be composed of the Mayor and two other members to be elected by the people.

The Police Commission now is a family gathering, said Ald. Crowe. I'm in favor of a democratic and not bureaucratic administration. There is a close connection between the police and two members of the Commission who hold their positions for life and are directly connected with the police."

NEW LEASE FOR GIRLS

Ald Crowe's other motion of which he also had given notice proposing to apply the poll tax to unmarried women of twenty-one years and over was withdrawn.

"Not under the present conditions" he rearmked.

MAYOR BREAKS A TIE

Ald. Gainey's motion seconded by Ald. McIntyre that the Ontario Legislature be requested to rescind the law that permits the bonusing of industries. He said he did not wish to see this province placed at a disadvantage. Hence it was the intention to ask the other provinces to pass silar legislation.

Ald. Hamilton asked Ald. Gainey to set this question over until next year in order that it could be fully considered.

Other members agreed with the principle but were reluctant to take the leadership in urging the provincial Government to transform it into legislation.

Ald. Gainey: "Let us see what the Council thinks of it.

On the first vote only Aldermen Gainey and McIntyre voted in the affirmative, but on a second call Ald. Morrison and Ald. Crowe joined them against Aldermen Phelan, Taylor, Edgar and Hamilton. Mayor Duncan broke the tie by supporting the latter negative group and the motion was lost.

James F. Garvey, a returned soldier requested the refund of the five dollar poll tax he paid. Referred to Finance Committee.

City Engineer Parsons estimated the cost of a sewer on Monaghan Road to Patterson street at $554.35; and another sewer on Park street from Cedar street to the creek at $1147.21. The estimated total for the two sewers is $1701.56.

THE VILLAGE JOKER STILL ON THE JOB

DAWN OF NEW AGE HAS NOT ELIMINATED THIS DISEASE.

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 2. — Through the courtesy of the authorities of St. John's Church, the church bell has been used by the village as a fire bell for many years past. The bell has been used on all occasions even when church services have been in progress and no special complaint has been made though it has proved very annoying when services have been interrupted by chimney fires which have been extinguished before the bell ceased ringing. The limit was reached on Saturday night last when the bell was rung about 11 o'clock by some apparently as a joke. As a result, it has been intimated that another false alarm will be followed immediately by refusal to allow the bell to be used as a fire alarm. Steps will be taken to enforce this. As the village possesses no other firm alarm, it is hoped that the municipal authorities will take steps to prevent a recurrence.

ROOM IN G.W.V.A. HALL FOR CLINIC

At last night's meeting of the G. W.V.A. a request was read from the Committee on charge of the Baby Clinic requesting the use of a room in the G.W.V.A. Hall for the purposes of the clinic. They asked the Veterans to fix the rental as low as possible.

The G.W.V.A. decided to go further than that for they passed a resolution offering the Clinic the use of the room free of charge.

COMRADE R. H. MUIR THE NEW PRESIDENT OF G.W.V.A.

WAS ELECTED TO HOLD CHIEF OFFICE IN LOCAL ASSOCIATION FOR 1920 AT ANNUAL ELECTION OF OFFICERS LAST NIGHT.

THE REFERENDUM RESULTS

Comrade R. H. Muir was elected President of the Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans for 1920 at a largely attended regular meeting of the Association last night, defeating Comrades C. R. Ackerman, T. R. Cooper and this year's president, Comrade H. J. Staunton. Comrade Cooper is very ill at home, and the doubt as to whether he wanted his name to go on the ballot or not accounts for the lack of support given him.

The vote was as follows:

R. H. Muir	92
H. J. Staunton	42
C. R. Ackerman	78
T. R. Cooper	1

On motion of Comrades Staunton and Ackerman the election of Comrade Muir was made unanimous.

Before the balloting, Comrades Muir, Staunton and Ackerman were given the opportunity of addressing the meeting and all three were given a good reception. Comrade Muir's statement of his record from the beginning of the local Association practically won for him the honour of being elected President.

The result of the election for the other offices were as follows:

First Vice-President.

Comrade M. J. Clancy (elected) 56.
Comrade F. Oxley 47.
Comrade T. Williams 30.

Second Vice-President.

Comrade R. E. Layfield (elected) 109.
Comrade J. Allen 11.
Comrade A. White 11.
Comrade C. R. Widdifield 10.

Treasurer.

Comrade Geo. Coleman (acclamation.)

Executive Committee.

The members elected to the executive committee were as follows:
Comrade Dr. A. W. McPherson 27.
Comrade W. Batley 24.
Comrade W. A. Primeau 24.
Comrade L. Lebarr 23.
Comrade W. Perks 10.

The other candidates for the executive were: Comrades T. R. Cooper, J. Davis, H. Graham, H. Johnston and T. Williams. Comrade Perks and Comrade Graham were tied for fifth place and the former won out when Comrade Johnston, who occupied the chair during the election of officers, decided the matter by the lottery route.

The new officers will not take over their duties until January.

Comrade R. H. Muir, the new President, was one of the first members of the G.W.V.A. in Peterborough, in fact helped to form the Returned Soldiers' Club, which afterwards beacme the G.W.V.A. He attended the inaugural meeting of the G.W.V.A. in the spring of 1917 and has represented the G.W.V.A. at practically ever Provincial and Dominion convention that has been held since that time. He has served as first and second vice-president of the local branch and also as sergeant-at-arms. The President-elect went overseas as a member of the 21st Battalion.

The Referendum.

As announced yesterday, the Peterborough branch of the G.W.V.A. voted against going into politics and against widening the membership. The figures were given out last night and were as follows:

On the Question of Going Into Politics—Yes 61, no 80—a majority of 28 against political action.

On Relaxing the Membership Regulations—Yes 64, no 82—a majority of 18 in favour of retaining the present constitution.

The Social committee, through Chairman Primeau, reported that a series of informal dances are to be held, the first on Thursday night. An instructor will be present to teach the members who cannot dance.

Comrade R. E. Layfield, for the Building committee, reported that a deputation had wanted upon the County Council to ask for a grant and had been given a favourable reception.

Comrade W. Dyer, band secretary, reminded the meeting of the concert and draw to be held by the band on Friday night.

WAR VETERANS WANT G. N. GORDON FOR MAYOR

The Peterboro Branch of the Great War Veterans' Association at the regular meeting last night, unanimously passed a resolution requesting Mr. George N. Gordon to be a candidate for the Mayoralty at the coming municipal elections. There was not a dissenting voice in regard to this motion.

In introducing the matter, President Staunton referred to the great services rendered by Mr. Gordon to the returned soldiers of the city and to the splendid qualities possessed by him that fitted him to be Chief Magistrate. He was thoroughly acquainted with civic matters and was energetic and able, and men of his calibre were needed in Peterborough's civic administration.

Comrade R. E. Layfield in seconding the resolution also paid a tribute to what Mr. Gordon had done on behalf of the returned soldiers. Only those who had been closely connected with the work knew to how much Mr. Gordon had assisted the Association.

The resolution was enthusiastically passed and a copy will be forwarded to Mr. Gordon.

PREMIER BACK AGAIN

SIR ROBERT BORDEN IS PREPARING TO MOVE INTO MORE PERMANENT QUARTERS

SEVERAL VERSIONS

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Dec. 2. — Sir Robert Borden is again at the helm, but by none is it expected that Sir Robert will long remain there. His health is much improved, but he is far from being in a robust condition nevertheless, and the strenuous burdens of the past five years have left a mark which neither rest nor recreation can entirely eradicate. It is no disrespect to Sir Robert to say that the question of his successor is being frankly discussed, for it is believed that he would gladly retire were such a successor found.

In unofficial but well confirmed circles here, it is believed that Sir Robert Borden may be given a high post in connection with the League of Nations.

Another story is that Sir Robert will be Canada's first representative upon the Imperial Cabinet in London, which next year's Imperial Conference is expected to bring into being.

WILL BE A WIDE, OPEN ENQUIRY

TRIAL OF THE STRIKE LEADERS IN WINNIPEG.

Special to the Examiner:

WINNIPEG, Dec. 2.—When J. B. Coyne, K.C. for the Crown, during the trial of R. B. Russell, asked that letters written by the accused as well as the replies, there to be accepted as exhibits, J. Edward Bird, for the accused, made his first important pronouncement. "The Crown," he said, "has alleged specific conspiracy. My instructions are to throw this matter wide open and endorse the widest investigation. There is nothing we are afraid of."

ALDERMEN WERE DUCKED IN LAKE

KITCHENER COUNCIL DECIDES TO RETAIN PRESENT NAME.

KITCHENER, Dec. 2. — Kitchener will not change its present name. A suggestion to take another vote on "Berlin" and the present designation was definitely discarded last evening by the City Council on a unanimous vote.

The recommendation to grant the petition to hold a plebiscite had been embodied as Clause 6 of the Finance Committee report, following a petition circulated during the past month to have another vote taken. This was signed by about 700 citizens. During the last few days a counter-petition had been circulated which was signed by 5,431 citizens.

The matter aroused great excitement in the city, and the City Hall was crowded with several hundred people. Delegations from the G. W. V. A., the Daughters of the Empire, the Women's Canadian Club, the Trades and Labour Council, the Board of Trade, and the Manufacturers' Association were present.

The decision of the Council to throw out Clause 6 was met with great acclaim. All the aldermen present voted for it. Three were absent. They included Alderman L. O. Breithaupt, who is on his honeymoon trip, but who is a stanch supporter of the retention of the present name; Alderman H. M. Bowman and Alderman D. L. Bitzer, who were among those who had strongly advocated the holding of a plebiscite. They, however, had attended an informal conference of the aldermen before the Council meeting, when the line of procedure of the Council was discussed.

Ducked in Pond.

A demonstration, featured by mob rule, which will be as historic as the meeting of the City Council last evening, followed the preliminary business of the Council, whose meeting was broken up as a result of the noise later. Alderman Bitzer and Alderman H. M. Bowman were brought to the Council Chamber by a mob which demanded that they kiss the flag. Later Alderman Bitzer was taken down the street. After being taken in charge by P. C. Blessins, he was again torn away and taken to Victoria Park Lake where he was ducked several times, after he had been compelled to kiss the flag at the G. W. V. A.

During the melee in the City Hall the two Aldermen were dared to vote for the amendment which had been carried. Alderman Bowman was wrested from the mob by the police and given protection in the police cells.

Newspaper Looted.

Another incident was the return of the mob to King Street when the glass front of the News-Record window was smashed and a section of the mechanical department damaged. The big Hoe printing press, however, was left intact.

The animosity towards the Record is supposed to have been the result of a recent reference to the Prince of Wales, which was resented as an insult to His Royal Highness. The Record has taken no part in the present name-changing issue.

M.P.P. Also Hooked.

Later in the evening Ald. Asmusden, M.P.P., was put through a similar stunt, being taken down to the G.W.V.A. Hall after being accompanied down the street by the mob. The Alderman voted for the amendment to strike out the name-changing clause. The Alderman was considered as having been among those who up until last night had given his passive endorsation to the move to again change the name, it being alleged that he had promised to use his influence in the Legislature, if elected, to put the machinery into motion to have the name changed. Individuals of the crowd which gathered at Alderman Asmusden's home and asked him to accompany them to the G. W. V. A. Hall, allege that Alderman Asmusden brandished a weapon, declaring he wished to protect his wife. The mob

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—President Carranza of Mexico is expected to reply within a week to the last American note requesting immediate release of William O. This would mean that negotiations for Jenkins' freedom would continue.

A Lecture on Man and His Capital

REV. F. ASHTON, OF LAKEFIELD, WAS THE SPEAKER—THE VALUE OF EDUCATION.

LOSS OF MONEY

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 2.—Last evening the Rev. F. Ashton, pastor of the Baptist Church gave a lecture in his church on "Man and His Capital".

Rev. P. L. Jull of the Presbyterian church was chairman.

The Programme

The following is the programme:
Hymn—"Crown Him Lord of All".
Prayer—Rev. P. L. Jull.
Solo—Rev. F. Ashton.
Address — Chairman.
Address —Rev. S. F. Dixon.
Solo—Miss Galvin.
Lecture— Rev. F. Ashton.
Solo—Mrs. Osborne.
Cornet Solo—Mr. Riddle.
Doxology.

Rev. P. L. Jull in his address touched briefly on the matter of church union now so prominent in all our minds. He finds the inter Church relations in Lakefield very pleasant and enjoys the pleasant way in which all work together in unity and accord. He personally, finds himself quite at home in any Protestant church, on his mother's side he is descended from a line of very strict Baptists, on his father's side they were of good old Methodist stock. His father and mother, after several years of wedded life became Presbyterian so he was brought up in that faith.

Things are rapidly going ahead now and the old order is passing and with it the bigot. This is a good thing as the bigot is always the enemy to progress and advancement but we must avoid the other extreme of being too broad. The "too broad" man is so broad he can reach over a whole township but he is thin. He wants Church union because its easier and cheaper but he lacks the devotion, the zeal, the energy and the spirit of sacrifice of the bigot.

Mr. Jull extended the good wishes of himself and his congregation to Mr. Ashton and his people and expressed his pleasure at being present.

The Moving Spirit.

Mr. Dixon spoke a few words also It was his privilege to be present at the meeting held in Massey Hall last week at which were gathered together representatives of the Anglicans, Baptists, Congregationalists, Methodists and Presbyterians. The moving spirit of the meeting was prayer. They all felt that only by a united endeavour could they accomplish the enormous task they have undertaken.

This week has been set apart by the Peterboro District of the Methodist church as cottage prayer meeting week and a meeting will be held every night. The results of these meetings are wide spread and a bene-

FIGHT IN THE ITALIAN HOUSE

Canadian Press:

ROME, Dec. 2.—The struggle for the domination of the Italian Chamber of Deputies developed into a fight in which the Socialists and Catholics have been definitely aligned. The Socialists yesterday wore red carnations, while a hundred members of the Catholic party appeared in the Chamber with white carnations. The first real test of strength will come to-day when the Chamber elects the President and other officers. The Socialists will attend the session, take oath of office, and offer a resolution that the oath be expunged from the constitution. They will also nominate Deputy Lazzari for the President of the Chamber. Former Premier Orlando, who will be the Government candidate, strangely enough, had Lazzari imprisoned some time ago for conducting an agitation against war.

NO DANGER OF A LOCAL GAS FAMINE

Gas consumers in the city have little to fear from the fuel shortage for at least six weeks, as the Hydro Commission has enough anthracite on hand for that time. Asked whether there would be any danger of the discontinuation of making gas when the present supply runs out, an official of the company stated that it is not known locally as the Peterborough plant is supplied by the Toronto office.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD" PROVES A GREAT SPECTACLE

MR. STEWART WHYTE'S FOURTH PANTOMIME MAKES ITS DEBUT IN PETERBORO AND SCORES A SPLENDID SUCCESS—BEAUTY, MUSIC, WONDERFUL SETTINGS.

IS REPEATED TO-NIGHT

Peterborough theatre-goers not only had an opportunity last night of witnessing Mr. F .Stuart Whyte's fourth annual pantomime, "Little Red Riding Hood," but they had the unique experience as well as being present at the first public presentation of the production, last night's being the first performance on any stage of Mr. Whyte's spectacular extravaganza, which surpasses in merit and magnitude the three preceding pantomimes staged under the same auspices. A large audience saw the debut of "Little Red Riding Hood," and were enthusiastic in their praises of the wonderful spectacle which Mr. Whyte has prepared for the present season. "Little Red Riding Hood" is a feast for both eye and ear. It is a series of beautiful stage pictures, glowing in rich colours and with lighting effects skilfully used in bringing out the beauty of the settings. No more charming investitures have been seen in any production in Peterborough than are offered by this attraction.

The story of Red Riding Hood is developed along the usual pantomime lines. There are all the characters of nursery days, Mother Hubbard, Little Bo Peep, Boy Blue, Old King Cole and all the other celebrities of the story books, clevery worked into an extravaganza that is full of melody and mirth Variety is a feature of the performance. There are songs, dances, specialties in rapid succession amid beautiful settings, and with costumes that are the last word in richness and charm .Lavish as were "Aladdin," "Robinson Crusoe" and "Cinderella," under Mr. Whyte's direction, the present production far outshines these three successes.

Mr. Whyte has given "Little Red Riding Hood" a splendid caste of British artists. Miss Zara Clinton, charming as ever, is again the principal boy and she makes "Boy Blue" an outstanding feature of the production, both by her singing and her histrionic ability. A new comedian is Mr. Johnny Osborne, late of London and the Folies Bergere, Paris, who invests the part of "Mother Hubbard" with a rich vein of humour and who is sure to be a pronounced favourite. The favourite J .V. Barrett-Lennard, long an able assistant of Mr. Whyte's, is "Old King Cole," and is as amusing in this part as in the others in which he has been seen here. Two old members of Mr. Whyte's earlier productions, who have been absentees during the past few years, are in this year's cast, in Miss Harriet Dawn and Mr. Charles Cardle, who are, respectively, Jack and Jill, and who will be heartily welcomed back. Miss Madge Locke as "Bo-Peep," sings with her old time charm, as does Mr. Ian Hunter, while Mr. Will Hallett, who comes to Canada from Drury Lane to play the part of "Dog Trusty," gives a fine performance. A special mention is merited by eleven year old Dorothy McKay, who is capital in the title role and who sings and dances cleverly as well.

There are thirty musical numbers and specialties, the majority of them excellent. A feature is the scene, "Melodies of Yesterday," in which the song hits of "The Geisha," "San Toy," "The Belle of New York," "The Greek Slave" and other old time comic operas are introduced. Another number that makes a hit is the clever dancing of the MacKay troupe, who are a decided acquisition to the company.

"Little Red Riding Hood" will be seen at the Grand again to-night and should draw a capacity audience. It is Mr. Whyte's masterpiece—than which no higher praise can be given.

G.W.V.A. OPPOSED TO CHANGING THE NAME OF THE PETERBORO RANGERS

"We the members of the Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans' Association in general session assembled, do hereby place ourselves on record as being utterly opposed to any change in the name of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, and we also strongly protest against the appointment of an officer outside of the city of Peterborough to be made C. O. of the city corps.

"Therefore, in the best interests of the 57th Regiment and for the success of the Peterborough city regiment, we strongly recommend that the commanding officer of the 57th Regiment be a returned officer who left Peterborough for overseas and is at present living in the city of Peterborough."

The above resolution, passed unanimously at the regular meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans' Association, is another factor in the question of reorganizing the militia.

Some time previous to the submitting of this resolution the meeting heard Lieut.-Col. McLaughlin, who commanded the 2nd Battalion in France and won the D.S.O. and two bars, plead for the assistance of the veterans in organizing a 2nd Battalion with headquarters at Peterborough, and Lieut.-Col. T. W. H. Young, who was in France with the 3rd Canadian Division, argue for the retention of the name of the 57th Regiment.

Lieut.-Col. McLaughlin, after paying a tribute to the Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans, referred to the desirability of perpetuating the splendid deeds of the battalions of the Canadian expeditionary force. In his opinion the best way that this could be done was to re-organize those battalions at home, and he had been asked to re-organize the 2nd Battalion. There was no better place, he thought, than in Peterborough. The 21st Battalion, it was proposed, would be re-organized in Kingston and the 38th in Ottawa. He urged the returned men to join some unit of the militia, reminding them that their work was not yet done.

Lieut.-Col. Young said that the discussion was premature because it involved matters that were to be taken up at a conference at Kingston in the near future. He strongly objected, however, to any movement that meant doing away with the 57th Regiment, the command of which he had been asked to take. The 57th had its traditions and history dating back to 1867; it had sent men overseas to many other units than to the 2nd Battalion, and was proud of its record and of its affiliation with the 57th Middlesex Regiment, the old "Die-Hards." If the 57th Regiment was done away with and the 2nd Battalion substituted, the headquarters would be at Bowmanville and not at Peterborough, and he objected to any such change.

Later on in the evening the resolution given at the beginning of this article, was unanimously carried.

HEALTH OFFICIALS ON THE WARPATH

CRUSADE IS BEING STARTED AGAINST VIOLENT SNEEZING IN PUBLIC.

The epidemic of colds which is now sweeping the country has led health officials to start an educational campaign showing the dangerous effects of violent sneezing in public "Check your Sneezes"—"Every public sneeze is a public danger"—"Think twice before sneezing once"—are slogans which are being emphasized in the effort to check the epidemic and the result it threatens.

A prominent feature of the campaign is the education of the public to the necessity of treating every case of cold in the head promptly. If taken at once it is declared that simple treatment will give relief in a single night, and the patient can remain steadily at work.

The treatment recommended for colds is a compound of Aspirin, Phenacetine, Quinine, Salol, Caffein Citrate, Cascara and Camphor Monobromate. This is now offered the public under the name of Reid's Grip Fix. Every home should have a box on hand while the epidemic of colds prevails. It comes in capsule form and acts quickly. Two capsules, taken two hours apart, over a period of six hours gives effective results with one capsule at a time thereafter to complete the work.

Grip Fix is not a patent medicine, but when getting it be sure to ask for Reid's Grip Fix as there is no home treatment for colds which equals it. On sale at 35 cents per box at all druggists.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Getting "Hep" to the Good Eats

A Host of Dyspeptics Can Get Back to the Old Days of Freedom by the Simple Expedient of a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals.

"Gosh! I never knew before how good these little pork sausages were." Thus says the man who thought his stomach was gone for ally time but who tried the simple expedient of a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after eating. And with this for a starter, he goes in for a cheese sandwich, a piece of hot mince pie, eats ham and eggs—in fact he forgets his stomach and thinks only of the energy and good feeling that follow eating the foods that make most people ravenously hungry even to think of them. And all of this without sour risings, no gas, no belching and none of that drowsy heaviness that so often follows indigestion. Try these tablets after eating. They are used extensively wherever good eaters are found and are on sale almost everywhere in the United States and Canada.

SPANISH CABINET HAS RESIGNED

(United Press.)

PARIS, Dec. 2.— Despatches from Madrid to-day said the Spanish cabinet had resigned. The Military Juntas, which recently have been under fire, were threatening to ask dismissal of all infantry officers should the government approve the War and Navy Council's decision on the dismissal of students in the war school from the army, the despatches said.

The Spanish Cabinet, reported to have resigned, was headed by Sanchez Toca.

SUPREME COURT HEARS LAST CASE FOR TERM.

MEHARRY V. AUBURN WOOLLEN CO. ARGUED, AND JUDGMENT RESERVED.

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—In the Supreme Court to-day Meharry v. Auburn Woollen Company, an Ontario case, was heard.

The appellant agreed to purchase land from the company, paying $700 down, and agreeing to pay the balance by instalments at specified dates. He did not make the payments as agreed, and was given notice of cancellation of the contract.

More than a year later appellant tendered the whole amount due on the proposed purchase, which was refused, and he brought action for specific performance.

Appellant claimed that after the notice to cancel was given he had several interviews with the president of the company, who it was claimed, stated that the contract was still open. This was denied.

The Appellate Division dismissed the action and ordered the $700 paid by appellant to be returned, but respondent to have a lien on it for costs, reversing the judgment on the trial decreeing specific performance.

Judgment was reserved. R. H. Hall appeared for the appellant, and E. L. Goodwill for the respondents.

This being the last case to be heard the Court adjourned to Monday, 22nd December, 1919, for delivery of judgments.

TREES AND HEALTH

LONDON, Eng.—Twelve of the leading medical men of Woking have written to the Urban District Council calling attention to the overgrowth of forest trees in the district. "As is well known," the letter proceeds, "trees absorb the oxygen and emit carbon dioxide during the night hours and hence it is detrimental to health to have an excess of trees close to dwelling-houses."

SHILOH 30 MIN. COUGH

OXO

Voice Of The People

(From "Daily Times-Journal" Fort William).

To the Editor: All over the British empire and the United States today we hear a great deal about the demand of teachers for more considerate treatment. Dr. Cody in a recent address spoke of the "keen sense of injustice" now felt by Canadian teachers because the public in general, and boards of education in particular, have failed to recognize the value of their services to the state. A sense of fairness, however, is beginning to assert itself, and men of keen vision and sound judgment realize the supreme importance of education to the future welfare of our country. There are, unfortunately, many persons who seem to regard the work of the teacher as of less importance than that of other professional men, and that therefore their remuneration should be correspondingly lower.

Perhaps the most glaring example of this, and one which has been the cause of much adverse criticism was the employment by the boards of education of both Fort William and Port Arthur of a school dentist at an initial salary of $3,000.00 per annum. On the staffs of our collegiate institutes are men and women who are honor graduates of our universities and specialists in one or two departments, teachers of long and varied experience whose salaries range from $500.00 to $1,000.00 less than that paid to a dentist of little experience. Not only is this the case, but the academic and professional training of these teachers extends over a greater number of years. Why, then, should experienced university graduates, who are specialists and heads of departments receive a smaller remuneration than that paid the dentist? Is their work of training future citizens of less importance and value than the examination and care of teeth. Do they require less intelligence or skill.

We do not claim that the salary of the school dentist is too large, but we do believe that we will receive the support of the public in our contention that teachers of the highest qualifications should at least receive equal remuneration for their work.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 2ND, 1919.

A WISE DECISION

The majority of citizens will congratulate the Peterboro branch of the Great War Veterans Association on the result of the referendum in regard to entering politics. The Peterboro Veterans have shown good judgment in voting against direct political action and whatever may be the general verdict throughout the Dominion the local branch has at least proved to the people who have supported them in their various campaigns that so far as they are concerned they prefer to keep the faith. The complete result of Provincial referendum has not yet been announced but from the figures given out there is a considerable variance in opinion among the branches. Dunnville for iinstance voted unanimously against going into politics while several other branches were almost equally emphatic in voting in favour of making the plunge. "Going into politics", has a magic sound to those who do not stop to weigh the consequences thoroughly and the vote in some of the branches does not indicate a very serious consideration of the subject.

THE 57th REGIMENT.

The Examiner's contention that many of Peterboro's returned soldiers are opposed to the proposed abolishing of the 57th Regiment in favour of the re-organization of the 2nd Battalion C.E.F. here was borne out by the action of the G.W.V.A. last night in unanimously passing a resolution to be forwarded to General Williams, G.O.C., asking that the name of the local regiment be not changed. This action which will doubtless do much to clear up the local situation will be well received in Peterboro, but on one side of the ranks of the veterans themselves there are many citizens who would hate to see the 57th Regiment disappear for good. The Rangers supplied hundreds of men for Canada's overseas forces and the regiment has a splendid record which it is well to preserve. The Veterans having taken a decided stand in this matter should now be prepared to go ahead and assist Lieut.-Col. Young in the reorganization of the old regiment which he proposes to undertake at once. Resolutions are good enough in their place, but they do not fill battalions and that is the problem that Col. Young and those who are associated with him will have to grapple with. Much will depend upon the returned soldiers in this important task.

EXPERIMENTING IN DEMOCRACY.

The citizens of Cincinnati are experimenting in democracy. The past three years in that city have become devoted to the promotion of neighborliness.

In an area of opportunity thirty-one city clerks with a population of 12,000, the plan is being worked out.

Thirty-one women have been chosen as leaders of their respective blocks and it is stated they are doing many really astounding things.

Mere acquaintance is not accepted as proof of neighborliness in this section of Cincinnati.

There has to be something more. Co-operation, sympathy, understanding and less of selfishness are all parts of this democratic movement.

The spirit of fellowship is being revived. In these organized neighborhoods, the people really know one another.

It may be that the lack of a little old fashioned neighborliness is at the bottom of a lot of our social unrest to-day in the cities of this country.

Perhaps we have been growing a little too selfish. Perhaps there has been too much isolation. Perhaps, in the multiplicity of demands made upon our time, we have forgotten our neighbors.

The interesting and commendable experiment will be watched with interest. The effort to bring people of all classes together on a common footing commends itself, and is worthy of emulation in most of the cities on this continent, as the Kitchener Telegraphs remarks.

PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION

In view of the present agitation in Peterboro and elsewhere over the question of teachers' salaries, a communication received by the Examiner yesterday is peculiarly timely. The writer who is greatly interested in the subject of education has set forth the necessity of a greater amount of provincial assistance for our public school system. The burden of school taxes is year year falling more heavily upon the shoulders of the rate-payers, especially upon the residents of the towns and cities. The Provincial grants are utterly inadequate to relieve the situation. The letter is as follows:

The Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Premier Drury in his speech at Brantford the other evening, is reported to have said that the Government intended to do much for the betterment of the Public Schools of the Province.

It is to be hoped that he will follow the plan being adopted by many of the American States. The Legislative bodies of these states recognize that, since Public School education is compulsory the cost should be largely met by a state-wide tax, and not by city, town or section taxes. This equalizes the burden and enables Boards of Trustees to pay adequate salaries to their teachers.

In 1918 seven states raised more than 40 per cent of their total school funds by means of the state wide system of taxation. This would mean that about 75 per cent of the teachers' salaries is met by the state grants.

If Premier Drury would increase the Government grant to the different Boards, so that it would cover from 50 to 75 per cent of the teachers' salaries there would be little difficulty in solving the problems of the Public School since they are largely due to economic conditions

An increased Government grant would entitle the Education Department to fix a minimum salary for teachers which would have a beneficial effect upon our schools.

At the same time the Government should reduce the pension term from forty to thirty years.

The increase of State Grants has done much for the American schools, and similar good results could certainly follow in Ontario, if the same policy be adopted.

One interested in Education.

THE POWER OF ADVERTISING.
(Kingston Whig).

The average newspaper publisher or manager is daily reminded of the power of advertising. Occasionally he passes on the facts to his readers, but for the most part he prefers not to blow his own horn. His reticence or modesty—call it what you will—prompts him to put the soft pedal on his own accomplishments. Still, once in a while, a great occasion demands great efforts, and if the newspaper of Canada at such a time have risen above party and private interests, why should he hide his light under a bushel? When the last Victory Loan was announced the entire press of the dominion was appealed to. It was pointed out that its success depended, in a large measure, upon the support it received from the newspapers of the country. The press, we are proud to say, rose to the occasion, and gave every possible assistance to the campaign. The Victory Loan, just concluded, was a magnificent success, and will do a great deal to advertise Canada throughout the world.

The part played by the press is strikingly set forth in a letter of thanks written by F. D. L. Smith, chairman of the Ontario Press News and Feature Committee. Mr. Smith writes:

"When the Canadian government requires money the people do not respond with a stone. In this year's Victory Loan campaign, the finance minister asked for $300,000,000, and the public has subscribed $673,000,000. When the returns are complete the total will probably exceed $700,000,000. Of this sum Toronto has raised $146,000,000, and Ontario $354,000,000, or more than one dollar for every dollar subscribed by all the rest of Canada. Every one of the units into which the province was divided has exceeded the objective assigned to it. Some of them have subscribed thir objective many times over.

"The character of this achievement is best realized when it is compared with what has been accomplished in other countries. The last Liberty Loan in the United States was a comparative failure. The last British loan was far from successful. The last two loans issued in Australia were forced floatations. That is to say, the people were compelled to purchase according to their ability.

"In more than doubly subscribing the Victory Loan, 1919, our people have once more demonstrated the economic soundness and potential wealth of the nation. They have advertised the dominion throughout the world as a country which readily raises great sum of money even under difficult post-war conditions.

"The press has had a great part in this year's overwhelming success. Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, places it first amongst the factors which made the campaign such a complete triumph. Without the cordial co-operation of the newspapers throughout the length and the breadth of the land the public could not have been aroused to the need and virtues of the loan.

"The editors of Ontario have done particularly well. The sales organization is of the opinion that the service rendered by the press this year has been more general and more effective than that given in connection with any previous loan. For this we have to thank the newspaper proprietors and editors all over the province. Not once during the campaign have they fallen short of the demands made upon them. They have responded to every fresh call from headquarters.

"Our belief is that the work done by the press in supporting this and previous war loans will prove to be bread cast upon the waters. It will return to them in the shape of new advertising. The financial world has at least learned the value of newspaper publicity. In the future as never before, brokers will resort to press publicity in the sale of government, municipal and company securities."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Veterans propose to conscript Mr. G. N. Gordon for the Mayoralty.

Premier Drury's action in cutting down his salary sets an example that could not very well be carried out by some of the Government employees.

When the gale hit Toronto on Saturday night many people telephoned the newspapers to ask what was the matter with Controller Sam McBride.

Dr. McPherson is to be doubly congratulattd today on heading the polls in the election of the G.W.V.A. executive and on getting an increase in his salary as Medical Officer of Health.

CLEANLINESS IS HEALTH

By the use of Gillett's Lye, house cleaning is made a pleasure instead of a drudgery. It softens the water and cleans thoroughly whether the dirt is visible or invisible. Destroys all bacteria and infectious germs, removes obstructions from drain pipes, closets, sinks, etc. Refrigerators are made delightfully fresh and clean by using one teaspoonful of Gillett's Lye dissolved in two gallons of water.

CITY DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION HAS COUNCIL SUPPORT

BOARD OF TRADE'S SPECIAL COMMITTEE SKETCHED THE WORK OF ORGANIZATION FOR CITY PLANNING.

The proferred assistance of the City Plan commitee of the Board of Trade was accepted by the Council last night when, on motion by Ald. Taylor, seconded by Ald. Phelan, it was decided to form a City Plan and Development Commission, the members to be appointed by the Mayor.

The idea has been developed by the special committee of the Board of Trade, whose members outlined to the Council last night the objects and scope of the proposed Commission. Dr. Harvey, the chairman, and Messrs. J. W. Worth, C. E. Sisson, Russel V. Copping and Ryerson Ritchie, composed the deputation.

Dr. Harvey said that the committee was interested in the development of Peterborough. The Commission would not entail any cost to the city in the form of salaries, but it would have official standing, would act as an advisory body to the Council, and would secure the advantage and benefits of the advice and co-opération of Mr. Thomas Adams, the Government's official in city planning, housing and developing schemes. The committee merely asked the Council to appoint the Commission with the hope that citizens who were deeply interested in this effort to improve conditions in Peterborough would be chosen.

Mr. Ritchie stated that the attractiveness of the city was not only a delight to the people, but it had a commercial value. Every improvement idea would be carefully investigated and analyzed before it was recommended to the Council.

Mr. Worth, speaking as a manufacturer, believed that the Commission would be useful from the standpoint of employees and manufacturers. It would engage itself with improvements that had been too long neglected. If new manufacturers were to be attracted it was important that the city should be in a position to offer those facilities for recreation and enjoyment and the evidence of beauty that were desired by workmen.

Mr. Sisson spoke particularly of the desirability of obtaining the services of Mr. Thomas Adams, an acknowledged expert in the planning of cities.

Mayor Duncan, replying, assured the deputation that their offer was fully appreciated. He thought it a splendid thing that a body of citizens wished to give their services free in a scheme that had for its object the beautifying of the city upon a carefully prepared plan. The personnel of the Commission was not named last night.

IVORY TOILET GOODS.

In buying Christmas goods of Ivory, the public should be warned of the dangers of buying goods stamped "French Ivory" as the name means nothing. French Ivory may be made in Japan, Canada or United States for that matter, as any person can label his goods "French Ivory." The best Ivory is labelled ORIENTAL IVORY; each piece is absolutely guaranteed not to turn yellow or tarnish. ORIENTAL IVORY may cost a little more, but you are sure to get the best kind of Ivory in asking for this brand.

HOT WATER FOR SICK HEADACHES

Tells Why Everyone Should Drink Hot Water With Phosphate In It Before Breakfast.

Headaches are caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the had, producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilid, aspirin or the bromides, which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank before breakfast will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

WARDEN'S DINNER FOR POOR NOT FOR THE POLITICIANS.

BRANTFORD, Dec. 1.—Warden A. J. McCann will this year hold the annual Warden's dinner at the House of Refuge, and the inmates there will be the guests at the banquet, and afterwards will receive gifts from a Christmas tree.

HOUSING COMMISSION PROJECT DEFEATED BY THE CITY COUNCIL

BY-LAW HELD UP IN ITS SECOND READING BY A VOTE OF 5 TO 4 —VARIOUS OBJECTIONS TO IT— MAYOR URGED MORE HOUSES FOR INCOMING RESIDENTS.

A Housing Commission is not for Peterborough, at least not yet. A by-law to bring the city under the Housing Act and to appoint a Commission was blocked at last night's Council meeting, after Ald. Edgar, who urged the action, which so many of the municipalities of Ontario have adopted, on the grounds of necessity, and with an outlook to the increasing demands that may be expected next year.

Ald. Phelan suggested that this problem be bequeathed to the 1920 Council, and Ald. Gainey said that the local Building and Loan Society had been spoken of as an improvement on the Government's plan.

"This has been sprung on us suddenly," he continued, "and there is the likelihood of new salaries."

Mayor Duncan touched upon the requirement of ample housing for the employees of new industies.

Many Houses For Sale.

"I have one hundred houses for sale," said Ald. Morrison, "and other real estate men have another hundred. I'm not going to see any commission slipped over for any two men. I read Mr. Dobbin's plan, but I thought Mr. George Leader's was far better. I am in favour of a housing scheme, but not this Commission."

In his motion, seconded by Ald. Hamilton, Ald. Edgar had proposed that Mr. James Finnie be appointed for two years and Mr. F. H. Dobbin for one year.

During the second reading of the by-law, Ald. Gainey moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the committee rise, thereby deciding not to proceed further with the project.

The vote on the amendment resulted in a tie. Those who voted in the affirmative were: Aldermen Gainey, Morrison, Crowe and Phelan; and negative Mayor Duncan, Aldermen Taylor, Hamilton and Edgar. Ald. McIntyre threw his support for the amendment and the Housing Commission was set away on the shelf, possibly for some future consideration if the special Housing committee of the Council ever screws up the courage to bring it back into the light.

Committee's Report.

The special committee's report was as follows:

Your committee held a meeting, at which those interested in the Ontario Housing Scheme were asked to be present and the following gave in their names as desiring to make application for the erection of houses:

A. C. Sigmonds, 461 Rogers street. (Lot on Concession street opposite the school.)
Rowland Hill, 558 Patterson street.
Fred Read, 475 Bolivar street. (Lot on Babb's Lane.)
Albert Cripps, 49 Crescent street.
P. Morris, 648 Aylmer street.
V. R. Henry, 694 Water street.
L. H. Ingram, 80 Robinson street.
J. Marshall, 525 Rogers street.
H. E. Elphick, 519 King street.
N. King, 140 1-2 Park street north. (Lot on Chamberlen street.)
G. B. Richardson, 680 Aylmer street.
P. Loescher, 185 Hunter street east.
Geo. Worboy, 485 Bolivar street.
F. H. Dobbin, 622 George street.
J. J. Turner & Sons, 5 houses for employees.

We recommend the adoption of the Ontario Housing Scheme by the Council and the appointment of a Housing Commission.

No Prohibited Areas

Canadian Express Company's Lawyers Raise Novel Point.

OTTAWA, Nov. 29. — When the Canadian Express Company was charged in the Police Court with bringing liquor into the city, consigned to the Country Club, Hull, company lawyers said, they would base their defence on the argument that the city of Ottawa is not a prohibited area, under the Dominion order-in-Council passed last February.

"In fact there is no such thing as a prohibited area, within the meaning of the order-in-Council," said Norman Guthrie. "I am willing to admit there is partial prohibition of the use of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, but as liquor is allowed to be sold by Government vendors for medicinal, sacramental or other purposes, I contend that Ottawa, and for that matter Hull, are not prohibited areas within the meaning of the order-in-Council."

The case was adjourned till Thursday.

There are five simple ways to tell good tea.

ARM WAS CAUGHT IN A THRESHER

YOUNG FARMER AT CAMERON MET WITH PAINFU. ACCIDENT.

As stated a few days ago a young man named D. Moore was painfully injured at a threshing near Cameron. More particulars concerning the accident are to hand.

It appears that the young man is a nephew of Mr. Alex. McFadyen's and was in his employ on the farm near Cameron. A threshing was being held at Mr. Jamieson's farm at which Mr. Moore was assisting. It was quite dark in the barn, as the threshers started early, and a young man named Kennedy was forking the clover to the machine, Moore doing the feeding. A large frozen piece was forked to the feeder, which refused to go through and Moore fed it in by shoving with his hand. His mitten got caught and in a twinkling the hand was caught also. The young fellow braced himself and pulled with all his might and nerve, but before he machinery could be stopped the arm was mangled almost to the elbow.

At the time the young fellow bravely made light of the accident, and holding the bruised and bleeding arm up to the view of the threshers he exclaimed: "Look at that, boys, look at what I got."

Doctors were summoned, but it was some time before they arrived from Lindsay, and on their arrival they thought it wise to rush the young fellow to the Ross Hospital. Later on in the day the arm was amputated above the elbow.

BOGUS CHEQUE PRESENTED IN PAYMENT FOR FUR COAT

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 29.—The police are looking for a man about thirty years of age who perpetrated a bold fraud on a local business man. Giving his name as G. A. Ladue he said his wife was in the Welland-so Hospital, and that she had taken a fancy to neutra bever coat which was for sale in the establishment. He took the coat and proffered a cheque for two hundred and thirty-five dollars on the Royal Bank in payment. When the cheque was presented at the bank it was found tha the had no account.

Chief Greene when notified, made inquiries in other cities, and found that Ladue had passed several bogus cheques in Hamilton.

The description given of Ladue is as follows:—Age, about 30 years, height five feet eight inches, medium stout build dark complexion, brown eives, clean shaven, red full face. He dark suit.

SNOW AT LOS ANGELES. ORANGE CROP DAMAGED

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. Nov. 28.—A gale which reached eighty-four miles an hour on Mount Tamalpais and which was accompanied by low temperture and snow, raged along the Pacific Coast to day. Snow fell in Los Angeles while at the army aviation field near Riverside two inches of precipitation were reported. In Central California trees were uprooted by the wind and the orange crop was damaged.

Dr. Chase's Ointment
Keeps the Skin Soft and Smooth

Almost every man who shaves suffers, at one time or another, from irritation of the skin.

In many cases this develops into a form of eczema and becomes very annoying and difficult to overcome.

Some have the misfortune to contract barber's itch, which is similar to eczema.

Because Dr. Chase's Ointment has conquered eczema it is the most effective treatment available for these skin troubles.

But the best way, after all, is to avoid skin disease by keeping the skin in a soft, healthful condition, and this can best be done by applying Dr. Chase's Ointment after shaving.

DETAILS OF CITY OVERDRAFT; ALD. GAINEY RECALLS MOTION

CITY TREASURER ADAMS PRESENTED STATEMENT TO COUNCIL AND ASKED FOR FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS—ALD. GAINEY RAISED A POINT ON SALARY INCREASES.

Provision for the payment of the overdrafts incurred by the committees of the Council was made last night in a resolution by Ald. Taylor, seconded by Ald. Phelan.

City Treasurer Adams presented a report detailing the expenditures by the various committees of which the following is a summary:

Assessments and taxes, $250.00; Elections and by-laws, $40.00; Fire department, $4000.00; Law and legislation, $400.00; Queen Mary Hospital, $1000.00; Special grants, $259.00; Streets and bridges, $3000.00; Street watering and oiling, $450.00; total, $9,400.00.

Mayor Duncan explained that the Fire, Water and Light committee's appropriation had been overrun by the instalation of a new electric equipment and the two o'clock system. In the Board of Works department there was also an unexpected increase for oiling the streets.

Mr. Adams in his communication asked for direction as to future payments in the following paragraphs:

The average monthly payments from January 1st to October 31st, has been $29,411. At the same rate to the end of the year, the total would be $352,932.00, or $10,000 more than the appropriation made when the estimates were passed.

Clause 5 of by-law 2151, passed on March 21st, 1919, reads in part, as follows:

The Treasurer is expressly forbidden, on any pretence whatever to pay or cause to be paid, any money for any purpose in excess of the appropriations made for such purpose."

I assume that the Council inpassing this clause, intended it to be observed, and when the total expenditure on current accounts reaches the limit of $342,877.21, as provided in the by-law, payments should cease for the present year.

Will you be good enough to take this matter into consideration, and, if it is the desire of the Council to set aside the clause in the by-law referred to, I would like to be advised.

Ald. Gainey's Point.

Referring to the clauses in the Finance Committee's report recommending salary increases for Dr. McPherson, Medical Officer of Health and City Clerk Armstrong, Ald. Gainey objected that the procedure was contrary to a resolution passed early in the year requiring all applications for money grants and requests for higher salaries to be dealt with by the Committee of the whole.

Mayor Duncan said he couldn't recall the motion and Ald. Edgar believed Ald. Gainey had confused it with another which he mentioned.

City Clerk Armstrong turned back the pages and discovered the clause that proved the correctness of Ald. Gainey's contention. Because of this resolution moved by himself and Ald. Garside it was obvious that the Council should either erase the resolution or refer the proposed salary increases to the Committee of the Whole.

In the Council's silent seeking for a solution, Mayor Duncan spoke of sending this clause to the Committee of the whole.

"We have a motion here", he added "that the report be adopted. All in favour."

It would be difficult to tell who voted or how.

"Carried", announced the Mayor.

Ald. Gainey made a gesture of dissent, started to his feet and then sat back.

When the salary question reappeared in bylaw form Ald. Gainey pressed his interrogation.

Ald. Phelon, presiding, said he interpreted the resolution of last March as applying to that particular time.

Mayor Duncan agreed with this opinion and tht was the last word.

MISS MURIEL HARVEY FOUND NOT GUILTY

MOCK TRIAL PUT ON BY LITERARY SOCIETY HAD HAPPY ENDING.

The first meeting of the Literary Society of the Collegiate Institute for the year was held in the Institute Assembly Hall yesterday afternoon. A Charade consisting of four scenes each of the first three containing a word representing a syllable of the phrase "Esprit de corps" used in the fourth scene was presented.

In the first scene, a mock trial, Miss Muriel Harvey was charged before His Honour, Judge Allan Lewis, with having on October 13th, attempted the life of Miss Josephine McGill, by presenting her a piece of custard pie, baked by the accused with grievious effects, upon the anatomy of Miss McGill.

Despite the arguments of Miss Marjorie Ingall, the prosecutor, the jury, influenced by the eloquence of Mr. Jack Porteons, counsel for the defence, brought in a verdict of "Not guilty."

Second Scene

In the second scene, Mr. Harold Huff delivered a negro monologue, concerned chiefly with Southern [illegible], water-melons, while the third scene depicted the crisis of a hockey match between the Nassau team, captained by Jack Porteons and the Peterborough septette led by Reds. Dixon.

The fourth scene was a model session of the Literary Society Executive at which a resolution was adopted unanimously to support all efforts for a school gymasium and rink.

Miss Agnes Logan gave a much appreciated piano solo, after which the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

MISS MURIEL HARVEY FOUND NOT GUILTY

MOCK TRIAL PUT ON BY LITERARY SOCIETY HAD HAPPY ENDING.

The first meeting of the Literary Society of the Collegiate Institute for the year was held in the Institute Assembly Hall yesterday afternoon. A Charade consisting of four scenes each of the first three containing a word representing a syllable of the phrase "Esprit de corps" used in the fourth scene was presented.

In the first scene, a mock trial, Miss Muriel Harvey was charged before His Honour, Judge Allan Lewis, with having on October 13th, attempted the life of Miss Josephine McGill, by presenting her a piece of custard pie, baked by the accused with grievious effects, upon the anatomy of Miss McGill.

Despite the arguments of Miss Marjorie Ingall, the prosecutor, the jury, influenced by the eloquence of Mr. Jack Porteons, counsel for the defence, brought in a verdict of "Not guilty."

Second Scene

In the second scene, Mr. Harold Huff delivered a negro monologue, concerned chiefly with Southern [illegible], water-melons, while the third scene depicted the crisis of a hockey match between the Nassau team, captained by Jack Porteons and the Peterborough septette led by Reds. Dixon.

The fourth scene was a model session of the Literary Society Executive at which a resolution was adopted unanimously to support all efforts for a school gynasium and rink.

Miss Agnes Logan gave a much appreciated piano solo, after which the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

CONTRACT FOR THE COLLECTION OF GARBAGE HELD UP

ALD. EDGAR TRIED TO CHANGE SYSTEM OF SECURING GUARANTORS.

Acting on a report that P. Anglesey and C. W. Johnston had not secured sureties for their contract as garbage collectors, the recommendation that their tender be accepted was sent back to the Property committee.

Ald. Edgar said that Mr. Kernaghan would not be bondsman for them nor could he understand why they had mentioned his name in this connection.

Ald. Edgar urged that, in future, only personal bonds or those obtained from guaranty companies be accepted on all city contracts. In the past guarantees have been put up by friends of the contractors, thus leaving them liable for any default that might occur.

Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Ald. Crowe, that only personal or guaranty company bonds be accepted hereafter, but the rest of the members voted contrary as follows: Aldermen Taylor, McIntyre, Hamilton, Morrison, Gainey and Mayor Duncan. Aldermen Garside and Turner were absent.

Announcing the Installation in This Store of The Measuregraph.

THIS IS THE LATEST INVENTION OF SCIENCE FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF STORE SERVICE.

THE MEASUREGRAPH measures yard goods accurately even to the fraction of an inch, and computes the cost before the eyes of the customer. This wonderful instrument has been installed in each of the following departments:

DRESS GOODS AND SILKS
LINENS AND WASH FABRICS
RIBBONS, STAPLES

WE INVITE you to inspect and inquire about these labor, time and money-saving devices in the departments mentioned. Our salespeople will be pleased to explain their operation at any time you find convenient.

THE MEASUREGRAPH is a mail black enameled instrument, with two open spaces at the top—one of the spaces looks like a clock and the other a multiplication table. The "Clock face" tells the quantity of the goods you have purchased; the "multiplication table" shows the exact amount of your purchase.

THERE WILL BE NO ERRORS on the part of the salespeople, due to interruptions, inexperience or the uncertainty of thumb and yard stick measurement, and you will be absolutely sure of getting full measurement and full value.

THE SALESPEOPLE will always be able to devote their entire attention to you — there will be no figuring and rechecking with pencil. And our sales service will thus be infinitely more efficient.

BY "SERVING" OUR BEST AND BY AVAILING OURSELVES OF EVERY OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE OUR BEST BETTER—SO IS THIS STORE GROWING.

ficial effect is looked for in Lakefield. The great national campaign must be undertaken in the s irit of prayer if it is to meet any success.

Mr. Dixon also expressed his pleasure at being present at the Baptist anniversary.

Speaker of the Evening.

Rev. Mr. Ashton gave his splendid address on "Man and His Capital", which has been aptly described as "elevating, entertaining and educative." Mr. Ashton was handicapped by a severe cold which he had contracted while away from home.

He spoke of the fact that to nations, to individuals are given opportunities which if grasped will make them great. Take for example the opportunity given to the Hebrew race when Christ came to earth. If they had accepted Him they would have become the greatest race in the world and Jerusalem would have been the world capital but they rejected Him and missed the opportunity for greatness. So also Rome missed her opportunity of being the world centre. We are born with nothing in our hands but there is plenty waiting in this world to fill them. The only person to-day who can say that he has no capital is the blind, deaf and dumb, idiot. We all have talent which can be turned to account and according to our application can be made to earn for us. Money is great power in the world but only in the way it is spent can it do any good. Earn all you can but no do not can it. "Money is a passport to every place but heaven and will buy anything in the world except happiness."

There is a saying that "Canada has her maple, England has the rose, Ireland has the Shamrock, in every vale it grows, Scotland as the thistle which grows on every hill, but the Yankees pride and glory is the twenty dollar bill."

Question of Education

Education is also part of a man's capital. Some young people were asked to notice a gang of men shovelling cinders at the railway track. These men earned $65 per month. Over them was a time keeper earning $90. At the engine was an engineer earning $200 per month and over all was the superintendent earning $300 per month. Why the distinction? —Education.

We should educate ourselves along broad lines and not learn a great deal of one thing and nothing of anything else. Education not only helps us to accomplish great things but it gives us apreciation.

Energy is part of man's capital also. Energy is the electric force that pushes us on to achievement. Livingstone the great Scotch man was a poor boy who, with boundless energy educated himself and became a power for good in the heart of Africa. Carey, a cobbler, by dint of energy and application educated himself and became the pioneer Baptist missionary in India. John Wesley, the poor son of a poor clergyman, by his energy wrote books which produced large sums which he gave away for the betterment of mankind.

Loss of Money.

Lastly, there is character. Loss of money is nothing lost, loss of health is something lost, loss of character is everything lost.

We have it in our power to make ourselves like unto Christ, the Redeemer of the World by moulding our character by the great exampole.

In closing Mr. Ashton thanked the people for their attendance and expressed his pleasure at the interchurch spirit displayed as Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians took part in the programme.

An offering was taken up which will be devoted to local church needs which are urgent at present. Rev. S. F. Dixon pronounced the Benediction.

ALDERMEN WERE DUCKED IN LAKE

replied that it was not her they wanted but him, and finally the Alderman consented to accompany them to the hall. Here the uproar finally ended, it is said, by the Alderman explaining his actions on the Municipal Council since he was elected three years ago, and by him claiming that he acted conscientiously all the way through. If he had in any way offended the G. W. V. A. he was sorry. It is also said that he apologized for anything he may have done conscientiously but which is considered detrimental to the G. W. V. A. or any patriotic enterprise.

W. D. Euler, M.P., president of the News-Record, was located, and was accompanied by the crowd to the hall, where the request was made for an explanation of the editorial on the Prince of Wales. He denied any intention of disloyalty in the article. Kissing the flag was also requested of him. The member said he was willing to kiss the flag, but not if forced and resolutely maintained that he was as loyal as those to whom he was speaking. The climax came when after a prolonged clamor and uproar, he was knocked down apparently senseless. He later walked away under escort.

At 11.20 o'clock quiet again prevailed on the streets, and the most sensational episode in Kitchen's history was considered as closed.

AMERICANS AT SCENE OF "A SOLDIER'S OATH"

FAMOUS PLAY LAID IN FRANCE WHERE PERSHING'S MEN FIGHT DOGHE.

American boys to-day are fighting over the very fields and hills where Pierre Duval, hero of "A Soldier's Sacrifice," fought with the French troops when Germany's hordes swept over France.

Soicheprey, the Chemin des Dames, Amiens, Toul, Luneville—all these are names that will live forever in the annals of American bravery, for it was at these places, that Pershing's men met the Hun and showed him the mettle of freemen.

So with Pierre Duval, whose bravery in action won him the adoration of his comrades and the respect of his officers.

"A Soldiers's Oath," which was chosen by exhibitors of the country as one of the six greatest plays produced by William Fox, has been revised, re-titled and strengthened, until to-day, it stands at the forefroat of all photodramas which have come out of the war.

And, as played by William Farnum, the master of screen acting, Pierre Duval, the soldier of France, who was sent to prison for another's crime, ranks next to that other great Farnum character, Jean Valjean, as the epitome of the victims of man's inhumanity to man. The new 1918 version of "A Soldiers' Oath" will be seen at the Grand Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

ONE BUSY GENTLEMAN

He was an undertaker, a butcher, a real estate man and a blacksmith, and he kept each establishment open for business all the time. He was also a member of the village council and held the post of watchman in various lodges. This is one of the characters who support Dorothy Gish in "I'll Get Him Yet," in which she will appear at the Allen Theatre to-morrow.

GALLO ENGLISH OPERA COMPANY

The present tour of The Gallo English Opera Company, which is scheduled at The Grand Opera House Wednesday and Thursday and Thursday matinee, Dec. 10 and 11, has proven conclusively that the names of William S. Gilbert and Sir Arthur Sullivan are still tremendously potent in this country. A fine score will never age, and the genius of the brilliant Sir Arthur never seemed stronger or more lasting than it does to-day. Sir Arthur Sullivan was unquestionably the most flutist composer of his time, running the gamut from gay to grave in an almost unbelievable manner—in fact, it seems hardly credible that the same brain could have conceived "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Then, too, the scores of "The Mikado" and "H. M. S. Pinafore" are totally dissimilar, the former opera in many passages almost rivalling such light grand operas as "Faust" and "Carmen." The Gallo English Opera Company will present two Gilbert and Sullivan operas during its stay here, "The Mikado" being the offering on Wednesday evening and "H. M. S. Pinafore" on Thursday matinee.

On Thursday evening the company will make a brief revival of Robert Planquette's masterpiece, "The Chimes of Normandy," which has not been heard in this city for some years. What "The Mikado" and "Pinafore" are to the English operatic school, "The Chimes" has been to the school of French opera comique. Entirely dissimilar from the opera bouffe of Offenbach and Audran, "The Chimes of Normandy" tells a serious story, the book being of sufficient strength to play without music, while the score follows a romantic motive which has been strictly adhered to by the composer throughout. For half a century it has been accepted as the ideal French opera, and its traditions are fine ones.

INDIANS AND ESKIMO

At the present time the attention of Anglicans in Canada, is being strongly drawn towards Christian work among the Indian and Eskimo tribes. Quite recently entire responsibility has been accepted for this work. It was a resolve to carry it through effectively that gave rise to the Whole Forward Movement. The Rev. W. G. Watson, who is personally familiar with the far north, will address the W. A. of St. John's church to-morrow afternoon. In the evening at 7.30 he will be the speaker at the first of the Special Advent services to be held in St. Luke's Church.

THRILLS OF "THE WESTERNERS" BASED ON ACTUAL OCCURRENCES

Much of the material in Stewart Edward White's famous novel, "The Westerners," which was shown for the first time at the Allen Theatre yesterday, is taken from life, as is the case with all of Major White's novels. He tells an interesting little anecdote about one of the characters he knew when, as a young man he himself took part in the Black Hills gold rush, with which "The Westerners" deals. This man served as a prototype of one of the important characters in the film and novel.

"We were riding by a cabin one morning when a dog ran out and attacked his horse," Major White relates. "The horse was badly frightened, and for a while gave all sorts of trouble, while the dog took fright and into the open door of the cabin. As soon as rearing horse permitted, my friend left him and followed dog. He came to the open cabin door leaned inside, and shot with his revolver once. Then he came out, put back his revolver, and we rode on.

"After a while I thought it time to inquire whether or not he got the dog.

"I don't just know," he drawled. "The folks inside were at breakfast and he ran in among their laigs! But I think I got him!"

"The Westerners" will be shown again to-day for the last time in conjunction with Charlie Chaplin's screamingly funny farce "The Floor Walker."

"THE LUCK OF THE NAVY"

"The Luck of the Navy", one of the biggest of recent successes in London transported three thousand miles across the seas, will be the attraction at Grand, on Friday and Saturday, matinee on Saturday.

The complete English cast, headed by Percy Hutchison, has been brought over by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest. Mr. Hutchison is one of England's leading actor-managers, the lessee of three theatres in London, and the nephew of the late Sir Charles Wyndham. He has been playing "The Luck of the Navy" for nearly two years in London. The play is described as a thrilling and dramatic offering, acted in flawless style by a splendid company of English players, among them Miss Muriel Martin-Harvey, daughter of the eminent actor; Miss Kate Carew, Miss Elsie Stranach, Mr. H. Croker-King, Mr. Patrick Ludlow and many others

WILL AGAIN URGE EXTENSIONS TO THE STREET RAILWAY

When a deputation from the Council visits Toronto next week to attend the meeting of the Hydro-Electric Municipal Association, they will again press their request to Sir Adam Beck for an extension of the street railway on Park street south to the De Laval factory, looping with George street.

Mayor Duncan said last night that Mr. Everitt had expressed disappointment that the city had been unable to arrange for this additional mileage. Such a service would be a decided advantage to the employees of the De Laval Company and would also be appreciated by the residents of the south end.

Mr. T. F. Matthews' resignation as chairman of the Utilities Commission, of which he has been a member for nineteen years, was not accepted last night for the reason that the Council wished him to hold his efficient position until Monday night when the Commission will explain in detail the project of a filtration plant.

This is plain arithmetic, as well as plain economy. This is the last word in Slashed Prices.

ALDERMEN LOCKED ARMS IN DISPUTE

ALD. McINTYRE AND ALD. EDGAR CLASHED IN A BOUT THAT WAS APPARENTLY A DRAW.

A discussion on salaries and wages paid to civic employees at the Council meeting last night terminated with an unexpected encounter between Aldermen McIntyre and Edgar that was the nearest approach to hostilities that has been witnessed in a generation at the city hall.

Ald. Crowe quite innocently referred to the increase in the salaries of Dr. McPherson and the City Clerk, and stated that all the employees should be paid double what they had received previous to the war.

Ald. Causey added that all the men had been given increases last spring. The street employees were paid $3.70, which, on the reduced value of the dollar amounted to $1.85 a day.

The comments continued in the ordinary conversational tone and temper until Ald. Edgar routed harmony with a statement that he liked men to be consistent.

Sitting right here last spring, Ald. McIntyre told me that he didn't have to pay union wages. He said he could get all the carpenters he wanted for sixty and sixty-two cents an hour. I expect, of course, that Ald. McIntyre will deny this, but it is exactly what he said," was Ald. Edgar's charge, that provoked the clash.

"I deny what Ald. Edgar has said," retorted Ald. McIntyre. "I say that it is an untruth, that not a word of it is true.

Ald. Morrison had risen to a point of order, but was scarcely noticed.

From his chair Ald. Edgar replied that he had stated the truth.

"You're a liar," Ald. Edgar shot back.

"Yes you are," Ald. McIntyre persisted, and in a moment the two aldermen, who share the one desk, clinched and were locked in each other's arms.

A chair shot away in one direction, Ald. Edgar's desk was overturned, the other chair was swept to one side, and the brass rail was shaken like the ropes of the padded square.

Mayor Duncan rushed forward and caught hold of Ald. McIntyre and Ald. Hamilton grabbed Ald. Edgar. They quickly parted the two belligerents and Ald. Crowe looking both of them over, exclaimed, "I'll dang soon put both of you out."

The meeting proceeded with a covert smile here and there showing the only ripple on the calm of the chamber.

Before the meeting to adjourn Ald. McIntyre asked the members of the Manufacturers' Association to meet for a few moments and discuss matters in the Council and Ald. Edgar for the incident, which he said he regretted exceedingly. "I am very sorry this has happened, and I hope it will make no difference in our relations between Ald. Edgar and me. I wish that Ald. Edgar will overlook it and we will be as friendly as before."

Ald. Edgar replied that he thought as much of Ald. McIntyre as before and had already forgotten the affair.

"That's the right spirit," said Ald. Crowe, "we have our little fights let's settle them."

SMASHED, BUT NOT KNOCKED OUT

The shipshape appearance of my store front, caused by the recent smash-up, might lead people to think that I was closed up. This is not so—business is going on as usual, as the people CAN'T be stopped by the storm from coming for the big bargains during my sale that is going on. P. Black, King and George Streets. 50-1-29

LIVER TROUBLE AND HEARTBURN

The liver is the largest and one of the most important organs of the body. Its duty is to prepare and secrete bile, and serve as one of the filters of the body, cleansing it from all impurities and poisons. Therefore when the liver gets out of order it is the starting of trouble in nearly every part of the body.

Keep the liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no heartburn, constipation, biliousness, sick or bilious headaches, dull, yellow eyes, brown blotches, sallow complexion, coated tongue, jaundice, catarrh of the stomach, or the painful protruding, internal or bleeding piles.

Mrs. John Kadey, Chipman, N. B., writes: "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for some time and can recommend them to anyone suffering from heartburn and liver trouble. I tried other remedies but they only relieved me for a short time. I always recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to all sufferers as I think that they are a valuable remedy."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

EVANGELIST KENNEDY AT BEAMSVILLE, ONT.

For the past few weeks Evangelist M. D. Kennedy of Peterboro, has been conducting a revival campaign at Beamsville Ont. As the meetings progressed crowds came in increasing numbers, until the whole community was stirred and nightly the altar was crowded with seekers. The oldest citizens of the town claimed they had not seen such a revival in the place for over thirty years, one great feature of the meeting was the way the people came out in the afternoons. Each day at 2.30 Bible reading were held at from 1.00 to 1.30 people were in attendance.

The closing night service ran till after eleven o'clock and the church was greatly encouraged to hear the testimony of over 100 new converts present, telling of the Saviour they had wound.

Mr. Kennedy began a three week's campaign Wednesday night at Bailieboro with Rev. M. W. Leish.

HOT SHOT FLIES AT PROBE INTO PRICES OF CHATHAM MILK

THREATS OF FAMINE AND OATH SHOUTING AT MEETING.

CHATHAM, Dec. 1.—An exchange of pointed personlities, and a casual intimation that the city of Chatham can expect to pay at least sixteen cents a quart for milk this winter, an effort to prove that milk producers are entitled to nine cents a quart from the vendors and the vendors entitled to about a seven-cent spread if both are to continue to engage in the milk business at a reasonable profit sums up four hours occupied, the adjourned meeting of the fair price committee appointed for the purpose of probing the milk, cream and ice cream supply.

A week ago the committee got as far as the production question. So stormy was today's session that the main purpose, that of hearing the vendors' argument, was almost ignored. The meeting concluded after it had been moved that the committee send in the reporters' verbatim notes to the board of commerce and leave it to that body to solve the problem as well as it can.

Amendment Was Made.

An amendment was made that the meeting adjourn until next week. Three voted for the amendment, and three for against. The committee now awaits the call of the chairman. Present this afternoon were E. S. Maynard, secretary of the Kent milk producers; W. L. McGeachy, milk vendor representing the distributors; Ald. Brisco, W. Murdock, A Moir representing the consumers; Mayor Hammond, chairman.

A. S. Maynard accused Ald. Brisco of starting a controversy on the milk question at this time to create capital for municipal election purposes, it being generally known he might run for mayor. Ald. Brisco stated his object was to find the reason why the local milk dealers had raised the price of milk from 12 cents to 14 cents a quart when they were only paying 5½ cents to the farmers.

Must Live Up to Laws.

He accused the dealers of being profiteers, and said he was taking the stand that they must continue to live up to the city bylaws. The quality of the milk was questioned which led to bitter exchanges, during which an oath was shouted, and a milk famine was threatened in Chatham, despite bangs of the chairman's gravel.

After a lengthy heated discussion Ald. Brisco accused Chairman Mayor Hammond of being one-sided in the discussion. Hot shot between the two followed, during which Ald. Brisco challenged the chairman to run against him for mayor on the "milk ticket."

A. S. Maynard charged that the milk question was Ald. Brisco's pet election cry, and accused him of making an offer to the effect that if he (Maynard) would open a milk business in the city, in competition with present dealers, Ald. Brisco would see to it that he would not have to pay license fees.

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

DEER CAUGHT ON LAST DAY

EXCITEMENT RAN HIGH AT GOODERHAM WHEN A DEER WALKED INTO THE VILLAGE.

The hunting season made Gooderham very lively, says the Minden Echo. As the various parties returned from the woods with their trophies for shipment to distant places in Canada, one would conclude that every fleet-footed traveller of the wilds had been captured. But on the last day of the hunt, as the village was shroulded in darkness, a lone deer, that had been overlooked, swam across Burnt River, leaped over Francis Raby's fence near the railway track, crossed his lot within a few feet of the house, where he was caught by the horns in the barbed wire fence. The uproar created by the frantic efforts of the deer to get free and the furious barking of "Bob" drew the attention of Will Dovell, Bill and Norman Johnston, Francis Raby and Bill Hall. It was a furious battle. With Bill Johnston's trusty jack-knife, Will Dovell's great muscular strength, help from the others named, and light from the preacher's lantern, the erstwhile runner and kicker lay dead at their feet. The strange thing about this circumstance is that Bill Dovell, county constable and crack shot of the north country, had travelled 30 miles into the bush in the first week of hunting, to get a shot at one of these animals, but they made themselves scarece, and now, in the last hours of grace, one of them defies him by coming right into the yard. He had not time to run back into the house for his precious rifle, but must engage in the conflict with his hands, and take severe punishment from the hind foot of the horn caught prisoner, e'er he could secure his haunch of venison.

Ernest Charles Drury, the new Ontario premier, is a practical farmer. His 250-acre farm near the town of Barrie is the same plot that was first tilled by his grandfather a century ago.

NIGHT COUGHS PREVENT SLEEP WEAR OUT THE SYSTEM

The dry, hacking cough, cough, day and night is very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy without an equal for curing coughs and colds, soothing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening and healing the breathing organs, and fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mrs. Fred. Fairburn, Copper Cliff, Ont., writes:—"I caught a heavy cold, got a sore throat and had a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I had tried quite a few remedies, but they did not seem to do me much good until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles my cough was all gone.

"It seemed to loosen the cough right away so that I could spit up the phlegm that gathered in my throat, and also took that hot, raw, burning fever out of my bronchial tubes. I feel that Dr. Wood's has no equal."

Price 25c and 50c at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

IVENS' DEFINITION OF A BOLSHEVIST

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 1.—In evidence given at the trial of R. B. Russell, charged with seditious conspiracy this morning, A. E. Reams, Intelligence Officer of the R.N.W.M.P, gave the following definitions as given by William Ivens of Bolshevism:

(1) "Sacredness of human life."
(2) "Right to work for every one."
(3) "Production to belong to producer."

"I am, therefore, a Bolshevist in every sense of the word," said Wm. Ivens. This evidence was given by Mr. Reams in connection with the meeting of the Labor Conference held in the Labor Temple.

Mr. Reams also gave evidence of the search conducted in the Labor Temple on July 1 between 12.30 a.m. and 4.30 a.m., when documents and pamphlets were seized. A large number of these were introduced and filed for identification. None of them were read.

WORLD HAPPENINGS

KOLCHAK IN FULL RETREAT.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The forces of Admiral Kolchak, head of the All-Russian Government, are retreating with such rapidity that they are unable to construct defensive works, of which there are none west of Irkutsk, says a wireless despatch from the Soviet Government at Moscow today.

Partisan bands continually harass Kilchak, who has formed a bodyguard of three thousand to protect himself, the despatch adds.

FUEL REGULATIONS.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Further stringent regulations for fuel conservation are in effect to-day over virtually the entire country.

Regional Fuel Committees took control of the coal stocks in many States, and non-essential industries continued to close down owing to lack of fuel.

The hours for operating stores, theatres, and office buildings were curtailed.

WAS DELIGHTED.

(Canadian Press)

PORTSMOUTH, Dec. 1. — The Prince of Wales landed from H.M.S. Renown during the forenoon, and motored through the streets of Portsmouth, cheered by thousands.

Replying to an address of welcome the Prince said his tour had been for him delightful and a most valuable experience, which would influence his whole life.

He hoped often to be in Canada, he said, and would try another visit to the United States at the first opportunity.

ALL WERE SAVED

The boy stood on the burning deck
Eating peanuts by the peck.
Out on the ocean he saw a speck
Lo, 'twas Jimmy's typewriter, by heck;
Where, oh where, could it have come from
With Jimmy so far away from hum?
They all agreed if the deck were brighter
Each one should buy a Nelson typewriter.

IN MEMORIAM.

GANNON.— In loving memory of Irene Gannon, who departed this life on November 30th, 1918:

We miss thee from our home,
We miss thee from this place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss thy smiling face.

Our hearts are filled with sorrow now,
We see thy vacant chair;
Our home is dark without thee—
We miss thee everywhere.

Our family circle has been broken,
A link gone from our chain;
But though we're parted for awhile,
We know we'll meet again.

'Tis hard to break the slender cord
When love has bound the heart,
'Tis hard, so hard to speak the words:
"We must forever part."
Father, Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

THE PRESENT COAL SHORTAGE MAY REVIVE THE STEEL STRIKE

United Press.

PITTSBURG, December 3rd. — The nation wide steel strike, now in its eleventh week, has practically petered out, according to the reports received here, where the headquarters of the National Organizing Committee is located.

Although the strike headquarters will not admit that the fight is lost, a statement issued recently showed that about 75 per cent. of the men had returned to work.

A survey of the Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia regions taken a week ago by a local newspaper, showed that 84% of the men had returned to work.

However, the present coal strike situation is being watched closely as it is thought that all the plants will be forced to shut down within a short time, unless the coal supply increases. This, it is thought, would prove beneficial to the steel strike leaders, who, with the men practically all idle, might be able to rally their forces and prolong the strike.

INSTRUMENTS FOR MEASURING GOODS

AN INNOVATION AT THE TURNBULL STORE—CLERKS LIKE NEW SYSTEM.

Typical of the progressive spirit which actuates the workings of the J. C. Turnbull and Co. Limited store, is the installation of a Measuregraph. This latest invention of science is a small apparatus which, attached to the counter of each of the departments in which dress goods, silks, wash fabrics, linens, ribbons and staples are sold, measures the goods to the last fraction of an inch and calculates the price for the largest or smallest piece of material to be sold. The instrument insures both the customer and salesman against any error due either to inexperience, interruptions or the uncertainty of thumb and yard stick measurement, and absolutely assures the purchaser of full measurement and value. Interviewed this morning about the innovation, the clerks in the store stated that to a man they are enthusiastic over the installation of the measuregraph and feel sure that while they are the first firm in the city to instal them, they cannot see how the other stores can fail to follow in their lead and place them in their stores sooner or later. They are particularly pleased that the instruments have been installed in time to catch the Christmas trade, when especially expensive goods are being sold and accuracy in handling them is of such vital importance.

SPECIAL MEETING GEORGE STREET

That the spirit of Christmas is already with us was evidenced yesterday afternoon when the women of the George street Methodist church Ladies' Aid assembled for the regular monthly meeting in the parlour of the church, which had been tastefully decorated by the young women of Mrs. Stubbs' class.

It being the Christmas meeting the tone of the addresses, reports of the committees, etc., impressed those present with the greatness of the theme, "Peace on earth, good-will to men."

Since our last report the society held an old fashioned tea meeting and concert in the church, a detailed report of which was given by Mrs. S. R. Armstrong.

Considering the counter attractions of the evening the ladies are to be congratulated on the decided success, financially and otherwise, that attended the occasion, and the support they received from all branches and societies in the church encourages them to even greater efforts for future events of the kind.

The "Travelling Baskets" referred to in our last report having reached their destination, considerable curiosity was shown as to the effect their return would produce on the treasury.

Latest reports have shown that the idea has produced very satisfactory results.

During the evening Mrs. Renwick sang very acceptably "The Gift."

Talks on timely topics by Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Armstrong were listened to with much interest. The former gave a very helpful reading and talk on one phase of the national campaign work, while Mrs. Armstrong gave a talk on the subject of Christmas, which should make the season mean more to those present.

This concluded the general meeting after which the Social Committee served light refreshments and a social half hour was spent.

CASE BEFORE THE COURTS

FIND IF FEDERAL AUTHORITY CAN ENFORCE EIGHT-HOUR LAW IN PROVINCES.

LABOUR CONFERENCES

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—The question of power of the Federal authority to enforce upon the Dominion the eight-hour day as agreed upon at the International Labour Congress held recently at Washington, will be submitted to the Supreme Court of Canada for adjudication. The Department of Justice has held that, under the British North America Act, the Federal authority has no jurisdiction over hours of labour, which, under property and civil rights, are wholly in the jurisdiction of the provinces. On the other hand, the late Hearst administration of Ontario gave it as its opinion that the Federal authorities had the power to fix hours and that without the general application of the eight-hour day throughout the Dominion any single province which did enforce it would be handicapped industrially.

So far as Canada is concerned, probably the most important result of the recent international conference was the adoption of the principle of the eight-hour day and the 48-hour week proposal. In securing the adoption of the principle several concessions were made — seasonal occupations were exempted from its application as well as certain industries to which the application of the principle would at present be impracticable. Japan was not included in the application of the 48-hour week.

MR. TOOMS' ELECTION APPROXIMATELY $300

The Independent Labour Party's election expense in behalf of their successful support of Mr. Thomas Tooms M.P.P. were slightly in excess of $300. This is said to be least expensive electioneering account in the history of West Peterboro. An itemized statement was presented at the I.L.P. meeting last night, and Mr. Tooms told of his visits to Hamilton and Toronto, attending the Labour convention and also the meetings of the Labour group with the U.F.O. members of the Government. An effort is being made to bring Ald. McBride, M.P.P. of Brantford to Peterboro for an address but nothing definite has yet been decided.

PAINTER FELL THIRTY FEET

While engaged in painting the old Cordage Works, Harry Sowden, a returned soldier, working for Coleman Bros., had the misfortune to fall about 30 feet from a high ladder about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was immediately rushed to Nicholl's Hospital in Comstock's Ambulance and the extent of his injuries have not yet been ascertained. The doctors state that he will likely have to remain about 10 days at the hospital.

HAS COMPLETED PROMISE TO RETAIN POSITION UNTIL END OF PRESENT YEAR—SCHOOL TEACHERS WANT SALARY INCREASE.

THE PRIZEWINNERS

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education held last evening, Mr. Vincent Eastwood resigned from the position of trustee which he has held since the resignation of Mr. G. N. Gordon. In tendering his resignation, Mr. Eastwood said that he had come on the Board with the understanding that he would remain until the end of the year, and he thought it only fit and proper now to let the people have their own choice of who should fill the vacancy. While appreciating the confidence placed in him by the Board in appointing him to the seat, he felt that civic matters needed strong men who could give their very best attention to the matters concerned, and he felt that he could not devote the necessary time.

Mr. E. G. Patterson said that Mr. Eastwood had given a good reason why he should stay with the Board, in stating that civic matters needed strong men and strong minds, but that if he could not be persuaded to stay, his resignation must be accepted, and moved that it should be.

Mr. J. W. Worth, in seconding Mr. Patterson's motion, also paid a warm tribute to Mr. Eastwood's efficiency as a trustee.

Ask For An Increase.

Falling in line with every other branch of service, the principals and vice-principals of the city last evening sent in a communication asking for a new schedule of salary. They stated in the letter, which was signed by all of them, that they considered it unfair to grant the extra room bonus unless the principle of seniority of service be recognized in placing them. While they appreciated that there were other requirements to be considered than seniority in allocating the schools, they thought long and faithful service should be considered in placing them. They asked that a 25 per cent. advance, exclusive of bonus, should be given to them, dating from January 1st, 1920, and suggested that each principal and vice-principal receive an additional $100 in September, 1920, and each September thereafter until the principals had reached a maximum of $2,500 and the vice-principals a maximum of $2,000.

Continue Bonus.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner asked that the 10 per cent. bonus to the staff of the Collegiate Institute be continued during 1920 in view of the fact that the cost of living had increased. This matter was also left to the Committee of Appointments. Mr. Kenner alho asked that the grant of $100 to the Science laboratory to be used for apparatus, be increased at least to $300 for the coming year.

Appointed Representatives.

Messrs. R. Denne, A. A. Fowler and Vincent Eastwood were appointed representatives of the Board to attend the meeting of the Urban Trustees Association to be held at Ottawa on January the 6th and 7th. It is expected that leading educationalists of the province will be present and it is the desire of the Association that a strong representation be present to discuss matters of education for the province.

Won Scholarships.

Mr. Kenner presented the list of scholarships won by the pupils of the Collegiate Institute at the present examinations:

Honor Matriculation $80, Helen Sluggett; Faculty Entrance Part 1, $80, Kathleen Thorndyke; Middle School Normal Entrance, $15, Madeline Stinson; Lower School Normal Entrance, $10, Douglas Shortly; Junior Matriculation, $15, Jean Elliott; Faculty Entrance, Part 2, $20, Isabel Baird. The secretary was instructed to issue the cheques with a letter of congratulation.

LADY ASTOR HAD NEW EXPERIENCE

A LITTLE LESSON ON PARTY DISCIPLINE IN THE COMMONS.

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Lady Astor had her first experience of party discipline in the Commons last night. Attempting to go home during the Scottish Land Bill debate she was stopped by the Whip, Mr. Lowyn Jones, who told her she could not leave as there might be a division. She argued to no avail, being told that she could only go provided a pair was found. T. P. O'Connor watching the comedy across the lobby finally offered to release the new member by pairing with her

NO MILITARY FUNERALS?

Effort May Be Made to Continue Them Through the Units.

Considerable discussion is taking place in veteran circles over the question of military funerals for veterans, the Department of Militia and Defence having announced that with the end of demobilization, no more military funerals can be arranged.

Secretary L'Estrange, of the Veterans' League of Toronto, pointed out that before the war South African veterans and others were given military funerals through the permanent forces. He saw no reason why the regulars could not continue to do their share in this connection and be given a hand by the different militia units.

Another suggestion is that veteran organizations should form some sort of organization which would see that every veteran of the great war would be buried with military honors.

UNSAFENESS OF RAW MILK

Important Informatinn to Milk Consumers

Because the dairy cow is susceptible to a peculiar form of contamination, investigation has proved that the udder is constructed like a sponge. There is a constant shedding of waste tissues from the lining of the udder. This udder waste often includes the products of udder inflammation. Such inflammations are so common they are present in some form in practically every dairy herd. Even when there is no external evidence there is often internal inflammation discharging its product with the milk.

The fact that these impurities are present in all milk and cannot be removed by the ordinary strainer, is being pointed out to the milk consuming public by the pure milk authorities everywhere. Epidemic of various diseases have been frequently traced to the presence of udder waste in the summer time, with it swarms of flies and mosquitoes, increase the dangers.

What is the Safeguard? Answer—All are Protected From Milk Impurities Who Use

PERSIAN BANDIT CHIEF HUNG.

Head of Notorious Band and Son Strung up in Centre of Teheran.

CONSTANTINOPLE. — Advices received here from Teheran, Persia, report the hanging in the centre of the city of the bandit chief, Machallas Kahn, and his son, and also the placing under arrest of several hundred of Machallas's tribesmen, who for many years had formed Persia's most notorious band of outlaws.

The advices also assert that five politicians have been deported from Teheran because of their objections

A Stubborn Cough Should Right Up

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cent worth), into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

For the Sick.

Place One Level Teaspoonful of GROVE'S O-PENTRATE SALVE in a hot saucer in the sick room. The Antiseptic Vapor rising from theheated salve circulates in the air and makes breathing easy for the patient. It induces sleep and is a great comfort to anyone suffering with Spasmodic Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Diphtheria or Pneumonia. The Healing Effect of the Vapor relieves the patient and is very comforting. Price 35c per box. If your Druggist hasn't any, send 35c in postage stamps to Paris Medicine Co., 193 Spadina Ave., Toronto, and a full-size box will be mailed to you promptly.

place the utmost importance upon one half day at school," Mr. E. G. Patterson remarked, when Mr. A. On motion of Mr. G. O. Cameron it was, however, decided to close the schools on the 19th.

WORK PROGRESSES ON THE NEW BRIDGE

CEMENT IS HEATED BEFORE BEING POURED INTO FORMS.

"Are you well satisfied with the way the new bridge is progressing?" The Examiner asked Mr. C. J. Townsend, of the Russell-Townsend Company.

"I am well pleased with the way the work is going forward and with the work that we have done this fall," Mr. Townsend replied.

He also stated that as much work as possible would be carried on in the winter so that they could go right ahead without any delay in the spring.

Outlining some of the work that they expected to do in the winter, Mr. Townsend pointed out that the old bridge would have to be moved or pulled down and replaced with a pile bridge, considerably higher above the water. This bridge would be used as a support for the falsework for the long single arch across the river, and will be built very strongly and securely because of the great weight it will have to support when the cement is ured in for the arch.

The abutments must also be constructed and the cement poured in the arches on the eastern side.

Within Time Limit.

When asked when it would be completed Mr. Townsend frankly admitted that the work was going ahead faster than was looked for and that the bridge will be built within the 18 months, which was the time specified.

Most of the men now engaged on the bridge are carpenters and cement workers. Many people no doubt wonder how the cement is laid in such cold weather, but it is simply heated before being laid and it retains this heat sufficiently long to allow it to set. The greater part of the cement in the arches at the eastern side has been poured, and by the heating of the cement operations can be carried on even in cold weather.

Work has commenced on the eastern abutment and a large number of laborers are excavating here.

Women enlisted in the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard of any other branch of the military service of the country during the recent war will be eligible for the Victory Medal proposed by Representative Herbert C. Pell of New York, in his bill introduced in the House recently.

How Much Tobacco Will My Heart Stand

A Question Vital to Every Man Who Smokes or Chews

IT MAY COST A PRECIOUS LIFE TO FIND OUT BY EXPERIMENT.

The heart of every user of tobacco bears a double burden. It does its allotted task and then fights nicotine for supremacy. As long as the heart wins he lives; when he loses he dies, but before the final victory of nicotine you pass through many stages of decline and decay and suffer many pangs. Hearts are like human beings—some are stronger than others; therefore, some hearts will stand more tobacco than others, but there is a limit to what any heart can stand. The man who puts this additional strain on his heart a dozen times a day by smoking cigarettes, a pipe or cigars—or chewing tobacco—is taking a needless chance with health and life to lose and nothing to win but the chance that he may not lose them. He is indulging in a costly habit at the expense of precious health. Ask any doctor anywhere, and he will tell you that using tobacco is injurious and the right is far better to quit the habit than to experiment to find how much tobacco your heart will stand without serious results.

But the thought of quitting is unpleasant to most men—even to those who know that tobacco injures them and in habit makes it easy for yourself by getting Nicotol tablets and taking them as directed. The habit really quits you, and its departure is a pleasure equal to its indulgence.

If you want to know how much easier it is to quit the habit with Nicotol than without it, go twenty-four hours without tobacco and note what an effort it costs you; then begin using it as usual and take Nicotol tablets. At the end of a week discontinue smoking or chewing for a day, and it is probable you will have no desire to overcome. At least your desire will be greatly diminished, and another week or two should make it not only possible, but a pleasure, to quit.

Note.—Dr. Conner, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, under whose advice Nicotol has often been used, said when this statement was shown to him: "I have known Nicotol to conquer the tobacco habit in less than ten days' time and I can therefore recommend it highly." When the doctor's statement was shown to one of our leading druggists he said: "Nicotol is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit, way ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy was

REV. LEWIS SPERRY CHAFER, D.D., COMING TO ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

St. Paul's Church is to be favoured by having the Rev. Lewis Sperry Chafer, well known Bible teacher, writer and evangelist, to conduct a week of meetiengs beginning next Lord's Day. The session found that Dr Chafer had a week to spare before taking up his next engagement, and they invited him to conduct a week of pre-communion services. He conducted such a mission two years ago in St. Paul's, and in the afternoon gave a series of addresses on the spiritual life, which have since been put into book form. A reviewer in the Sunday School Times has recently spoken of this book as the fullest and most satisfactory scriptural study of the victories life that he knows, making crystal clear what holiness is according to God's word. It is a masterful study of a life lived in the fullness of the spirit. Dr Chafer will conduct two meetings each day, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening. His evening messages will be evangelistic. The session have invited him to conduct these meetings as part of the programme of the great "Forward Movement," and hence they give a cordial invitation to the public generally to attend. The [illegible] prayer, and to be conducted by the Rev. R. J. M. Glassford, of Winchester.

SUGAR POISONED ON TRAIN.

LONDON—A ton and a half of sugar, in the course of railway transit to Brecon, became poisoned when a quantity of weed-killer poison in the same car escaped from drums and saturated the sugar. NEWSPAPER RESPONSIBILITY

A contemporary points out that much of the advice that is given by newspapers in regard to municipal elections is ignored by the ratepayers. The contention is of course that articles along this line are wasted because the people pay no attention to them. There is unfortunately much truth in that statement but admitting that to be the case, the newspapers are not relieved of the responsibility of endeavouring to awaken the public to a realization of its duty. Nothing at least can be accomplished in this respect by keeping silent in the face of an indifference that is disheartening and wyhile newspaper articles may not succeed in their purpose to an extent that the papers would like they at least show a sense of their responsibility in doing their part to bring about a better condition of affairs. The problem is not merely a local one, newspapers, individuals and organizations throughout the country are endeavouring to accomplish a deeper interest in municipal affairs. It is like butting against a stone wall but still the attempt must be made if there is to be improvement in civic government.

AN IMPORTANT PROBLEM

There is much in the contention that the fame won by Canada's overseas battalions should be commemorated and perpetuated. The desire of those woh fought with one or other of these famous units that the traditions of the battalions should not be lost is one with which there will be much sympathy. Throughout the country there is considerable difference of opinion as how best to carry out this desire and at the same time to organize the militia of Canada on an effective basis. It is a matter in which the public as well as military men should be deeply interested So far the one solution that has been offered is the abolishing of the old militia units and the substitution of overseas units in their place. Here there is a conflict of opinion at once. It has already been manifested in Peterboro in the opposition to any scheme that means doing away with the 57th Regiment. But is such a step necessary? Would it be feasible to reorganize both units in this city? These are points that might well be calmly and carefully considered. The matter is important and no doubt the Militia Authorities are perplexed as to the best course to be adopted.

THE HOUSING SCHEME.

The local city council has shelved the Housing Commission idea and apparently permanently so far as the present council is concerned, so that Peterboro people who want to take advantage of the Government Housing plan are prevented from doing so. There is a shortage of desirable houses in Peterboro, a condition that is not helpful in securing new industries, and the civic decision not to participate in the Housing scheme will be regretted on that account as well as because of those who wish to secure homes for themselves under the provisions of the Act. Peterboro has shown little enterprise in considering this problem. Our neighbors in Oshawa are setting a pace in this respect that is leaving us far behind.

The progressive automobile town not satisfied with having secured a loan of $600,000 for housing purposes, calmly comes back to the Provincial Government and asks for another million dollars to be devoted to the same work. Already Oshawa has expended $300,000 and much additional building is planned, while here in Peterboro our civic rulers have finally decided against the scheme. The whole problem deserves more consideration than it has been given here.

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM.

During the war, Peterboro people learned to recognize "God Save the King" when it was played in public at theatres and other amusement places and to pay proper respect to the National Anthem, by standing at attention. It was one of the lessons the war taught and one that it was hoped would be permanent but unfortunately there has been a tendency recently to slump back into the habits of pre-war days when the National Anthem was regarded only as a signal that the entertainment was over and the air was played to the accompaniment of shuffling feet and the rustle of overcoats and wraps with half the audience bolting for the exits as if it had suddenly been discovered that the theatre was on fire. However, if all the companies which visited Peterboro, especially the musical organizations, would follow the excellent example se tby Mr. Stuart Whyte's Pantomine Company, local audiences would perforce have to pay proper honours to the National Anthem. After the closing chorus of "Little Red Riding Hood" and after the curtain had dropped it was quickly raised again and the whole company swung into the strains of "God Save the King" singing the words with a whole-hearted fervour that held the audience at attention until the end of the anthem. There was a bond of kinship between performers and audience, the common heritage belonging to fellow members of the British Empire that made the incident a noteworthy occasion. Mr. Stuart-Whyte deserves thanks for this little lesson in patriotism.

A RAP AT THE PREMIER.

The Hamilton Herald takes Premier Drury to task for some of his recent utterances, accusing him of being arrogant and pharisaical in his attitude since assuming office. Those charges are open to argument, but we quote our Hamilton contemporary in order that its view point may be understood:

"We would like to think well of Premier Drury" says the Herald. He has a hard task ahead of him, and he will require all the aid and support that he can get, not alone from his political followers but from the people of all parties and classes, if he is to succeed, and this support he is entitled to so long as he shows that he is worthy of it. But the new premier does not approach his new duties in the spirit which is likely to attract support from outside his immediate following. In some of his public addresses since he was sworn into office he has manifested a spirit of arrogance and pharisaism which is rather repellent."

"Mr. Drury claims for himself and his fellow-supporters the virtues of sincerity. This can readily be conceded. But in making that claim Mr. Drury has seen fit to attack the characters of all Canadian party leaders who don't belong to the farmers' party. He has said that the vice of the old-party leaders is insincerity. He makes no exception. The leaders of the old political parties, he says have been and are insincere.

It is a very serious accusation to come from a man occupying the chief political position in this province. It is a sweeping condemnation of all the Liberal and Conservative leaders who have stamped their personalities upon the political life of Canada and have left monuments to their memory in the form of great and good works for the public weal."

"We shall not speak of Conservative statesmen. Let us consider the noted Liberals whom Mr. Drury has defamed. He was himself a Liberal until a very recent period, having, as a candidate for parliament in 1917, accepted the endorsation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier; and his father was a Liberal leader in this province, minister of agriculture in Sir Oliver Mowat's cabinet. One wonders whether Mr. Drury would convict his own father of insincerity, and his father's chieftain—Mowat, "the Christain statesman," as his followers used to love to call him. Was George Brown insincere? and Alexander Mackenzie—was he insincere when he fought the N.P.; the chief object of Mr. Drury's aversion? Would Mr. Drury deny to his late chief, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the virtue of insincerity?"

"One cannot help wondering what possible ground there can be for so strange a theory—that Liberal and Conservative politicans must necessarily be insincere, but that the merit of sincerity must be conceded to the politicians of the farmers' party. In the name of common sense, why should this be so? Is a farmer, as such, more sincere than other people? Experience on the Hamilton market does not encourage one to believe so. And if farmers are not naturally more sincere than others, why should farmer-politicians be peculiarly distinguished for that virtue?"

"The truth is, we fear, that Mr. Drury's head is just a little bit turned by his amazing and unexpected rise to power and place, and his arrogant, injudicious talk reflects his state of mind. Perhaps after he has been tackling his new work for a while he will become more modest and less pharisaical. We hope so. He should abandon the "holier than thou" attitude and try to cultivate the spirit of tolerance of the views and appreciation of thework of others, else he will draw upon himself he hostility as well as the derision of many who are now inclined to give him a fair measure of support."

EDITORIAL NOTES

With wrestling bouts in the Peterboro council and Kitchener Aldermen being ducked in the lake it may be remarked that there is "a certain liveliness" in municipal politics.

"The Back to Berlin" movement in Kitchener does not seem to be progressing any more favourably than the "Back to Berlin" aspirations of the ex-Kaiser.

The Sing Sing prisoner who refuses to leave until his full term has expired has a pretty accurate idea of the high cost of living.

Premier Drury's action in cutting down his salary must have given his associates a few awkward thoughts. Will they be expected to follow his example?

JUDGE SEVERELY SCORES BETRAYER

LONDON—In granting a divorce to Major Thomas Summerfield Hetherington, formerly of the Canadian military reserve, on account of his wife's relations with Lieut. Berkeley Maxse Benson of the Patricia's regiment, the president of the divorce court said the co-respandent was one of many Canadian officers received by Major Hetherington into his home in fulfillment of the public duty incumbent upon him to do what he could to help his fellow-Canadians and fellow-officers.

The president of the divorce court said he need not comment on the way Benson rewarded this, and any person of a sober judgment could form an opinion of the censure that any man guilty of such conduct deserved. There was an indication that Benson had an idea of entering the learned profession of the law, and he hoped the facts now disclosed would be considered by those whose duty it was to decide whether he was a fit and proper person to enter that profession.

Events leading to the divorce occurred a tWhite Knights, near Weybridge, Major Hetherington's residence, which had been offered to the Canadian red cross as a convalescent home for Canadian officers.

No defence was offered.

BOY "MADE OVER" BY SURGEONS IN MANY OPERATIONS

IN INFIRMARY ELEVENTH TIME—EXPECTED TO RECOVER FROM FRACTURED SKULL.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—With the exception of undergoing eleven major surgical operations the sixteen years Herbert Frederick has spent in this world have been quite uneventful. Herbert has lived all his life in sawmill communities, his father having followed the timber game for nearly thirty years. The lad knows the business from start to finish, despite his youth, and when he suffered his last injury he was employed as utility man by the Fourche River Lumber Company at Bigelow. According to the father, Herbert has "just been made over by the surgeons."

Herber and a negro, C. A. Porter, were working together in the engine room of the lumber plant, when a piston in the "gun" which operates the carriage pulled loose struck a pile of lumber and scattered it with great force. Porter was instantly killed. The boy, however, thus far has survived his injury.

Immediately after the accident the youth was taken to St. Vincent's Infirmary for treatment. Dr. Carle E. Bently, the company's chief surgeon, found that his skull was fractured. How he escaped instant death is a puzzle to the physician.

The skull was fractured from the front to near the base, with four other fractures extending downward from the point where the timber struck the boy.

At that point Dr. Bently removed a piece of the skull two inches long and seven-eighths inch wide, which he said was partly buried in the brain. The top of the skull was crushed in, and it was necessary to elevate it to its normal position.

For six days Herbert remained unconscious, and until yesterday afternoon he was unable to speak. When he regained consciousness he said only three words in response to a question by his nurse, and again lapsed into a state of comma. It is believed, however, that his condition is improving, and Dr. Bently says he has a fair chance for recovery.

This operation was only the eleventh that Herbert has undergone at the infirmary. Since he was two years old the boy has had "hard luck," his father, T. J. Frederick, said. At that early age Herbert fell into a pan of boiling water, and his right arm was badly scalded. At four he started to school. He was sort of a pet among the boys, and they delighted in forming a circle, with Herbert in the middle, and tossing him from one to another. One boy let him fall with the result that he broke his left collarbone.

Seven years ago Herbert and another boy were staging a horse race. Herbert's horse had been well trained and all the youngsters of the community delighted in playing with it. The animal appeared to be very careful with the children. With the race well under way, a woman pushing a baby carriage started to cross the road. The horse stopped suddenly and Herbert fell off. The animal stepped upon the boy's right ankle and badly crushed it.

From then until about eighteen months ago Herbert pursued his studies five days a week and worked at the mill on Saturday. He also found employment at the mill during vacation. About a year and a half ago the boy was gathering pecans from a tree, when he fell to the ground, sustaining a badly fractured arm. It is said that the bone was not properly set and it was necessary for him to undergo an operation.

A short time later Herbert was stricken with appendicitis. Two operations were necessary to restore him to normal health. He had barely recovered when he wagered a friend that he could "beat him up a tree." Herbert was the first up.

Then his friend said he could "beat him down." Herbert started dropping from limb to limb until he was within about twelve feet of the ground, when a limb broke and he fell. His left collar bone was broken by the fall and again he was brought to the hospital for an operation.

Herbert was with a party of youngsters one night staging a charivari, when the bride became angry at the crowd and with considerable force threw a tea cup into the crowd. Herbert happened to be in the path of the cup. The crockery broke when it struck him just above the ear and cut him considerably. Sixteen stitches were required to close the wound.

Herbert's father was unable to recall the other operations, but said he remembers distinctly that his boy had been taken to the hospital eight times and that he had been under the knife eleven times.

Mr. Frederick himself is just recovering from an operation. On September 15 he was standing near a cable which was pulled in two. He saw a piece of the wire rope being hurled toward him. Just as it would have struck him he jumped. His right foot, however, was not elevated high enough, and both bones near the ankle were broken. When he alighted the injured member struck the ground first. As a result the broken end of the larger bone was driven between the other two ends. Dr. Bently removed several pieces of the fractured bones. The leg has been in a plaster of Paris casing five weeks.

SUDBURY TRAGEDY PUZZLING POLICE

MAN FOUND DEAD, WOMAN BADLY WOUNDED AND HOUSE ROBBED.

SUDBURY. — The town police are investigating the circumstances surrounding the finding of the lifeless body of a Pole in a rooming house here, the wife of the proprietor in bed with a bad knife gash in her head, and the robbery of the house of a quantity of apparel, including a fur coat, a fur lined coat and a small quantity of jewelry. Coroner Dr. H. M. Torrington was called and he has turned the body over for an autopsy.

Chief Brown and his squad started an investigation which revealed the fact that at about 11 o'clock at night three men entered the house of Mrs. Pawlow while she was busy in the kitchen and that one of the men struck her in the face knocking her to the floor. He then attacked her with a large knife which was on the table and the next that the woman remembers was waking in her bed at 7 o'clock the next morning.

She claims that when she was attacked, the deceased who has been in town only two days, and who was known only by his Christian name, Onfuri, was sitting in a chair near by. How he came to his death is unknown to the police and there is considerable mystery about the whole affair, owing to the fact that there was not so far as the police know, any mark on the body of the deceased. The result of the autopsy will not be made known till the inquest is opened.

While the police admit that the affair may be the outcome of a drinking bout, they point out that they had searched the premises for liquor only the day before.

Both Pawlow and his wife are old and rather respected foreigners, and their house has not been under observation by the police any more than other dwellers in the foreign quarter.

Why So Many Americans Are Physical Wrecks at 50—

Physician Explains How Signs of Age Creep Into Your System When The Iron In Your Blood Runs Low—Says: Weak, Nervous, Run-Down People Should Take Nuxated Iron To Steady the Nerves, Restore Wasted Tissue and Aid in Giving Renewed Force and Power to the Body.

Are you slipping at 50?

Can you actually stand what you could twenty years ago when your strength and energy are put to the test? Or do you merely THINK you are "just as good?" Is your heart pumping pure red blood—rich in iron—through your veins? Or is it merely a passage for thin, pale, watery blood without enough red corpuscles to keep your body strong and well?

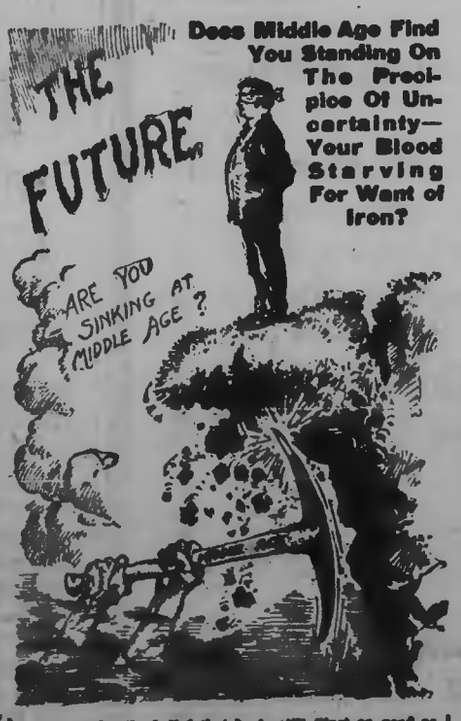
These are the questions put by Dr. H. B. Vail, formerly Physician to the Baltimore Hospital and a Medical Examiner, who contends that a man's age can no longer be measured by the number of his years but by the condition of his blood. Dr. Vail believes that the greatest problem of modern life is to ward off the tragedy of middle age, which begins to show its signs the moment the iron in the blood runs low.

Continuing, Dr. Vail says: "There are thousands whose bodies are ageing and breaking down at a time when they should be suffering that perfect bodily health which cries defiance to disease simply because they are not awake to the condition of their blood. By allowing it to remain thin, pale and watery they are not giving the natural life forces of the body a chance to do their work. Yet others go through life apparently possessing, year after year, the elasticity, the strength and the energy of earlier days, for through their bodies courses the energy and power that comes from plenty of red blood—filled with strength-giving iron. Iron in red blood food and in my experience I have found no better means for building up the red blood corpuscles and helping to give increased power to the blood than organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which I have prescribed with surprising success for my patients who are approaching middle life."

Dr. John J. Van Horne, formerly Medical Inspector and Clinical Physician on the Board of Health of the City of New York, says: "It is surprising how many people who do not get along in life are in reality suffering from iron deficiency and do not know it. To supply this lack of iron and help build stronger, healthier men and women, better able physically to meet the problems of everyday life, I believe that physicians should, as every opportunity, prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for in my experience it is one of the best tonic and red blood builders known to medical science."

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.



Does Middle Age Find You Standing On The Precipice Of Uncertainty—Your Blood Starving For Want of Iron?

Blinded by the belief that he is still "just as good as ever," many a man reaches that point of his forties 40 and 50 where the future looks bright and rewarded only to find that the grim relentless forces of middle age have undermined his health and energy. In the rush and hurry of modern day life he has neglected to keep his blood filled with strength-giving iron, and as a result is on the verge of a physical and nervous breakdown, at a time when he should be enjoying his best years.

Physicians explain here why such men need the rebuilding health-building power of organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to help make rich red blood, restore wasted tissue and increase their physical strength and endurance.

Approached No One For Seats For Cabinet

Premier Drury Denies Various Reports of Efforts to Obtain Seats

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—"I have not approached any one with regard to securing seats for myself, Hon. Manning Doherty or Hon. W. E. Raney, stated Premier Drury, with reference to various reports that offers had been made to Liberal and Conservative M.P.P.'s in order to have them withdraw from the Legislature in favor of Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture. "No advances have been made, either to Mr. Ecclestone of Muskoka or Mr. Bragg of West Durham by me, with my authority or on behalf of the Government."

The Premier added that Mr. Doherty was not put to the necessity of such negotiations as had been reported in order to secure a seat.

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—Having just completed a tour of Canada as far as the Pacific coast, which included 27 cities, Harrison Watson, Canadian Trade Commissioner, in London, and senior of the commissioners in England was in Montreal, Monday, on the eve of embarking on the Empress of France.

Mr. Watson, who has been revisiting Canada after eight years absence, said he was greatly struck with the abounding prosperity of the country as a whole. He had visited France, Belgium, and Holland since the war, and none of the European countries could show anything like Canada in the amount of food and other comforts.

In fact this very prosperity, said Mr. Watson, rather hindered the promotion of Canadian export trade to Great Britain, for he had come across manufacturers in the course of his tour who had been eager to get orders from Britain a year ago, who today were regretting having accepted them, as they found they could command higher prices here.

The same applied to orders for such countries as Greece and Roumania. He had, however, impressed upon Canadian manufacturers that they could not hope to hold the British market unless they catered for it in a regular and systematic manner.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH ENTERTAINED THE RETURNED MEN LAST EVENING

BANQUET PROVIDED FOLLOWED BY SEVERAL ADDRESSES AND A MUSICAL PROGRAMME - THE SPEAKERS.

The safe return of over seventy of St. Paul's congregation from overseas duty was celebrated last night in St. Paul's Sunday school room in a fitting manner. The Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's church, served supper in the school room. During the evening, from 6.30 to 8.30, nearly 400 sat down to a bountiful repast provided through the kindness of the ladies of the church.

Not only was St. Paul's congregation represented at the banquet, but people from nearly all the other churches in town gathered together to bid welcome to the returned soldiers of t. Paul's.

After the supper a programme, consisting of addresses and musical selections was given in the church.

Rev. Robert Pogue was chairman of the evening and carried out his duties in a highly satisfactory manner.

The Programme.

The following programme was given:

Tenor solo—Mr. Hambridge.
Address—Rev. Robert Pogue.
Selection—Mr. Tattersall.
Address—Rev. Capt. Rollins.
Soprano solo—Miss Florence Scott.
Address—Mr. R. R. Hall.
Violin solo— Miss Mignon Telgmann.
Reply on behalf of soldiers—John McNab. oprano solo—Miss Scott.
Reading—Miss Muriel Harvey.
Tenor—Mr. Herbert Rush.

Mr. Pogue's Address.

Rev. Pogue, in his opening address, stated that it gave him great pleasure to welcome back the men of the congregation from overseas and that he and the congregation had looked forward for years to this day.

At this, their first opportunity, he extended to them on behalf of the congregation, a hearty and most cordial welcome.

"At first," Rev. Pogue said, "I decided not to touch on the war, but we cannot forget it, nor can we ever forget how God called the young men of our land to fight for freedom and all they held dear, and how they, without exhortation, sprang to arms."

The speaker said that at the first of the war he wondered if Christianity was a failure or not because of its obvious failing in Germany, but later all doubt left his mind, for Germany had not given it a chance, and in other countries it vindicated itself during the war.

"It was for Christianity we worked, and it is for Christianity we are here to-night. The church welcomes the men and we open our hearts and doors to them," Rev. Pogue went on to say. "Now that you are back we are looking for great things from you. Christianity stands for every thing you fought for and the church is engaged in a greater warfare than any international troubles.

Welcome Back.

Rev. Pogue welcomed the men not only because of the love the congregation holds for them, but because of the need of young men in the church. Notonly does the church need you, but the world needs you, said Rev. Pogue.

We are living in awful times and Christianity is the only cure for the world. Men of heroic mood are needed in the church to serve and work and if need be die for the great work of the Master, said Rev. Pogue.

Preceding the address by Capt. Rollins, Rev. Pogue dwelt for a minute on the patriotic work carried out by Rev. James Rollins before he went overseas and how, finally, he himself went overseas to serve his God and King.

"I am greatly privileged to be present to-night and am especially privileged in partaking the good things provided by the ladies," said Mr. Rollins. The speaker brought forth hearty laughter when he said that the banquet reminded him of the banquet he served the men with when he was quarter-master. He said that they found the way of living "out there" interesting, and they learned to make the best of everything and to be always happy. Happiness was in their heart and happiness was a stock-in-trade of the returned men. He said that he personally learned to be happy, not to worry and not to hurry.. He said that a friend had made him an honory member of the "never hurry never worry" society. The emblem of this society is a turtle in a wreath of century plants and the motto is "Never put off till to-morrow what you can do 60 days later." Rev. Rollins created much merriment when he read the rules and regulations of the society.

Present-day Problems.

Mr. Rollins touched on the troubles facing the returned man when he returned home. In three and a half months spent with the infantry in the last days of the war, and in being attached to infantry until his return home last May, Rev. Rollins said that he found out the good will existing between the men and those at home, and also how good the church was to the men. However, when the soldiers come home discontent begins to enter their minds and from one discontented man we may hear a great deal, but do not judge all returned men by this one, warned Rev. Rollins. The speaker said we must learn to get together and appreciate one another He dwelt on how temptations came to those overseas and how temptations of a different kind came to those at home. Many had fell down in both cases, but the price will be paid all around.

Must Cut Down.

We must work together for our country. Capital must cut down profits, workmen must not ask exorbitant pay, but all must work together. We must put more good nature, perseverance and unselfishness into our future work. Rev. Rollins said that we could not get along without the church and Christianity, but that there is one outstanding thing; that is, the church hadn't produced a man strong enough to resist any kind of temptation that he might be faced with.

More Religion.

Mr. Rollins struck the keynote of his address when he called for more religion and less theology, for the strengthening of men's lives so that they could resist temptations, and concluded by saying that he had never worried about the boys who had fell in battle for he believed that they were in their heavenly homes.

Mr. R. R. Hall.

Rev. Pogue introduced Mr. R. R. Hall as one of the foremost war workers of Peterborough.

Mr. Hall, in his address, touched on the great sacrifices made by the boys in the trenches. We at home had made our sacrifices, too, but what were ours compared with theirs? Mr. Hall said that the vast majority of the men who left Canada were the finest life blood of the country, and these men now home were proving to be good citizens.

Dwelling on the work of the ladies in the churches he said that they had carried on a noble work and deserved the highest praise. Mr. Hall touched on the subject of profiteering. There was, he said, sacrifice on one side and profiteering on the other. A great reaction is going on. Strikes are carried on to get a higher wage, but the effects are far more widespread. For example the coal strike, said Mr. Hall. The workers do not realize not only the effects on industry, but the distress brought to millions of homes. The community must become interested and see justice carried out against the profiteer and the returned soldiers' grievances righted. Mr. Hall said he saw more evidences of Christianity during the war than any other time, and it is the only thing that will save the country from anarchy, he said.

Mr. John McNab, in replying on behalf of the soldiers, said that it was a great honour to him to have to reply to the warm welcome given to the officers, non-commissioned officers and men who had returned to St. Paul's from overseas. He said that they were very grateful to the ladies for the bountiful repast provided, but that Rev. Rollins must have a wonderful imagination when he compared it to an army meal. He thanked Rev. Pogue on behalf of the boys for the prayers of the congregation when they were away. He asked them never to forget the unreturning brave—the boys who had "pegged out," so that we may live in freedom in a free land. Mr. McNab thanked them for the socks, comforts and boxes of joy and how they were welcomed and looked for by the boys.

In conclusion Mr. McNab pledged the returned men to do all they could to carry on the good work of the church.

Rev. Pogue replied that the returned soldiers of St. Paul's were attending church regularly and doing all in their power to further the work.

The Musical Programme.

The musical numbers were well received. Miss Scott was heard in two well rendered solos, and Miss Telgmann favored her audience with the Gypsy Dance by Sarsate, playing it in her usual masterful manner. Miss Telgmann was forced to respond to an encore .Two tenor solos, one by Mr. Hanbridge of St. Paul's choir, and another by Herbert Rush, were thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. Tatersall's number showed his fine technique, and Miss Muriel Harvey was heartily encored in her reading.

IS NOW ABLE TO STRAIGHTEN UP

NORMAN HAD RHEUMATISM SO BAD HE WAS ALMOST HELPLESS.

"Tanlac has done me more good than all the other medicines I have ever taken put together," said James H. Norman, living at 1008 Virginia Place, C.E., Canton, O. Mr. Norman is an expert machinist formerly with the John Inglis Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont., where he lived before removing to Canton.

"For three years," he continued, "I had rheumatism so bad that I was obliged to give up a job I had held for ten years. My back would feel so sore and stiff when I woke up in the morning that I could hardly raise up to get out of bed. I was all drawn over and if I tried to bend over to tie my shoe or try to straighten up I would feel like a knife was sticking in my back. After going to bed at night I would often be in so much misery it was impossible for me to sleep.

"I tried all kinds of medicines and treatments but could get no relief. Then I decided to try Tanlac and I began to improve with my first bottle. I never have a bit of trouble now with my back, all pain and stiffness are gone, I never feel an rheumatism and am supple as I ever was. It is no trouble for me to bend over or straighten up and I feel fine in every way."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

FRENCH FAITH IN FUTURE IS STRONG

TARDIEU SAYS WORK OF RECONSTRUCTION IN NORTH AMAZING.

PARIS—M. Tardieu in an interview given to a representative of "La Presse de Paris" on his return from Northern France, said:

"In the north every one is at work. The population shows great faith in the future and is working in splendidly. The inhabitants are beginning to recognize the Government's effort on their behalf. The question of transportation is the only one which has to be given serious thought. Transportation has not been as well managed in the north for the last few months as it has been in other departments. However, there is already an improvement in this branch of the work.

"The financial problem, we confidently expect, will shortly be solved. Nineteen-nineteen, said Mr. Tardieu, in the year of temporary dwellings, but nineteen-twenty must be the year of homes rebuilt. We need many skilled workers, as many as we can get must be hired at once. We must open vocational and technical schools for the training of unskilled laborers and making them nto skilled workers, so as to fill the complement of skill men required. It is possible that we shall have to have recourse to the employment of foreign workers, but they also will have to be skilled. Otherwise they will be useless. canals, and roads is almost completed in the two departments I just have visited. Agricultural reconstruction has been equally rapid. The area under cultivation will be next year equal to, that of 1914. Indeed, the situation of the north and in the east of France is rapidly, more rapidly than we expected returning to normal.

SWEEP-OUT SALE

THE CLIMAX OF THE ZACK'S SALE—A BIG EVENT FOR THRIFTY BUYERS—PROFITS SWEEZED OUT UNMERCIFULLY.

Since Mr. Chesler took over the H. J. Zacks' store at 488 George street, there has been a sensational upheaval of prices all over the store, and profits seem now to have been scattered to the winds. Mr. Chesler took over the balance of the goods at a fraction on the dollar, and thus was able to make additional sacrifices that could not be expected under Mr. Zacks' management.

Starting with the lowest priced article in the store and stopping at no sacrifice on the most expensive goods, Mr. Chesler has re-marked everything at startling reductions. This big Sweep-out Sale is now sweeping through the store, bringing a flood of wonderful economies to thrifty buyers. Sale goes on all this week, and there are many extra specials where the quantity is limited. Many lines are being picked up by early shoppers that will richly reward the alert buyers.

Let it be distinctly remembered that everything in the stock, without a single exception, is marked far below to-day's regular values. Nothing is reserved or held back, so that in whatever department the shopper is interested, similar cut-to-the-core prices prevail.

There is a big lot of goods yet to be turned over, and as the selling is daily growing keener and keener there is great need for prompt action. Economical buyers within a radius of fifty miles of the city should see the finish of this big Sweep-Out Sale. Many lines of goods are offered at almost give-away prices. Think it over. It will pay every woman to read every announcement they see for this Zacks—Chesler Sale for some time.

HAGAR KINS ON TRIAL.

Commander of "Lenin Boys" Puts Blame in Bela Kun.

BUDAPEST, Dec. 1.—The trial of Commissaries charged with crimes during the Bela Kun dictatorship has begun here. Czerny, commander of the "Lenin Boys," being the first of 50,000 to be arraigned.

Czerny pleaded that he had only performed his duty. He denied many charges of executions, and recited several instances in which he claimed Bela Kun gave direct and explicit orders for murders.

As the Hungarian Bar Association refused to defend the accused the court ordered lawyers present in the court room to defend them.

Warne's XMAS CLUB Pathé

You already know that the Pathephone is entirely different to the ordinary Phonograph—how it plays all records—how it plays the wonderful Pathe records with a round, sapphire ball, instead of sharp, record-destroying steel needles—and how marked is the beauty of Pathe Cabinets in comparison with other Talking Machines. We have also told you that the

ADDRESSES RETURNED MEN

At a recent meeting held to honor the returned men of a certain district of Otonabee the following addresses were read:

To Returned Soldiers.

To You, Our Returned Heroes:

We, your friends and neighbors have gathered together this evening to formally welcome you home again.

We knew well your high ideals and splendid courage even in pre-war days, and we were doubly proud of you when you bravely sacrificed the pleasures of your homes to answer the urgent call of your country and to take your stand for truth and freedom, for the protection of our homes and our liberty. You have nobly upheld the honor and sustained the reputation of our beloved Canada and you have merited our deepest admiration and gratitude. For when in the history of the world was such heroism and indomitable courage shown, as when you and your friends checked the advance of numerically superior forces at Ypres and Chappelle. Vimy Ridge and Passchendaele and made that last glorious advance into Mons.

Now, after all these trials and dangers, you have returned to us as victors, wearing the same cheery smile as when you went away. You have caught the vision of a greater world and new social reforms.

You are prepared with your broadened viewpoint, to lead the community and the world into a greater, fuller and nobler life.

We welcome you back with proud and glad hearts, acknowledging God's gracious hand in sparing your life. We wish you every blessing that God may bestow upon you and all the good our country may be able to give you.

We earnestly pray that you and we may be worthy of the heroic sacrifice you and your comrades have made for us and for all humanity.

As slight token of our appreciation of your sacrifice and our esteem for you, we ask you to accept these rings, presented to you on behalf of the community.

Signed—Thos. Sargent, T. Chamberlain, Thos. Petrie, Wm. Brown.

To Next-of-Kin.

To the Mothers and Sisters of the Unreturning Brave:

We wish to express our sympathy to you who have been denied the privilege of welcoming your sons and brothers home again.

We are proud of you, dear mothers and sisters, who, in spite of your aching hearts and hidden tears, have so bravely rejoiced with us in the home-coming of our loved ones. Grievious has been the pain of your sacrifice, but take comfort for your noble sons died in the cause of honor, truth and liberty for the world. Never before was shown such indomitable courage, nor were such tremendous tasks accomplished. Though your loved ones are now numbered among the glorious dead, they shall live forever in our memories as the men who gave their lives that we might live in freedom and peace.

May we quote with Habberton Lulham:

"Christ-like they died that we might live;
And our redeemed lives would we bring
With aught that gratitude may give
To serve you in your sorrowing.
And never a pathway shall ye tread
No foot of seashore, hill or lea,
But ye may think 'The dead, My dead'
Gave this a sacred gift to me."

You the mothers and sisters of such gallant boys, have merited our deepest gratitude, love and respect.

As but a small token of our esteem for you and your loved ones, we beg you to accept these lockets which are presented to you on behalf of the locality.

Signed—T. Sargent, T. Petrie, T. Chamberlain, Wm. Brown.

Voice Of The People

REV. MR. POGUE WAS RIGHT

To the Editor:

Rev. Robt. Pogue of St. Paul's Church never made a truer statement from his pulpit than he did on Sunday morning last, when he declared that the spiritual health of the church was being dwarfed and hindered by too many brands of Socities and organizations grafted on as so-called church workers.

The reverend gentleman may have thought of this before, and hesitated to speak his mind to his congregation; but it has been known by many who have seen the growing danger to the real spiritual activities of the church,—not of St. Paul's particularly, any more than other churches.

"We are too busy," declared Mr. Pogue, devoting sacred time to the interests of our varied organizations to find time to become evangelists and witnesses for Christ." Scores of religious church workers can be found willing to assist in behalf of some allied function of a church who know nothing about the duty of giving personal testimony for the benefit of some dear friend or needy stranger. There are enthusiasts of all kinds who keep dreaming of making the church over into pet promoters of all their schemes and ideas. One wants this, and the other wants that. They are like the little forces that destroy the tender vines.

It may be a daring statement to make but it is nevertheless true that a lot of the social functions in the name of the church of to-day are proving to be only materialistic methods with a tending to mesmerise a lot of good people into supporting attractions for laying up treasurers for themselves. "Except Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it."

No one wishes to detract from the good resulting from Bible stories and practical missionary and Dorcas work. Church workers could hardly be engaged in better work, unless it would be in supplementing their minister's preaching by that "Second Touch" coming in personal contact with a friend or brother eagerly longing for spiritual help.

A Voice from the Pew.

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:

Whilst reading the minutes of the last Council meeting of the North Monaghan Council, I noticed a resident of Chamberlain St. applied to have the approach to his property fixed up. The consideration it got was they had never fixed the approach to any man's property and so passed it over. This is the point if things are left undone because we have never previously done similar work, where is the progress and initiative. I think it is very much wanting. In this particular instance a sidewalk was laid down and raised considerably higher than the property, the material to raise this sidewalk was taken from the side of the road, leaving a trench from four to five feet deep and nothing was done to make approaches to the tenants of the houses affected, even when good drive-ways existed before this sidewalk was laid. Any farmer would be quite justified in asking for a driveway if his had been removed and left in the same state as now exist on this street. As this trench retains the drainage from the street it is absolutely essential in the interest of sanitation that is be filled in. If North Monaghan is to become a thriving suburb, which in my opinion it certainly should, we must couple Progress and initiative to our Council.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valuable space.

Yours truly,
JOHN BARNES

From Out the Night You Hear the Cry:

"Oh! Why Can't I Get to Sleep?"

Thousands of people all over the country ask this question, but still continue to toss, night after night, on sleepless beds, or walk the bedroom floor until near dawn. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system that it cannot be quietened. Or, again, there is palpitation of the heart, the sleep is broken by terrible dreams, you wake up with smothering spells, sinking sensations and a fear of impending death.

To be able to lie down at night and in a few minutes fall asleep—to know no dream or waking until morning—then to bound out of bed full of vigor, freshness and good spirits, ready for each and every duty the day may demand, is a blessing that can be easily achieved by using

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They soon induce healthful, refreshing sleep, not by deadening the nerves, but by restoring them to healthy action, and removing all symptoms of heart trouble, which is often the cause of nervousness and sleeplessness.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Hana Shimozumi as Yum-Yum in "The Mikado"—Gallo English Opera Co.

Hana Shimozumi, the young Japanese prima donna of The Gallo English Opera Company which comes to the Grand Opera House on Wednesday and Thursday evenings and Thursday matinee, 10th and 11th December, has been the subject of great curiosity on the part of the women patrons in her audiences. They all marvel at her wonderful command of the English language, overlooking the fact that twenty of her twenty-three years have been passed in what we once termed "the land of the free." One enthusiastic young miss who found her way back to the dainty singer's dressing-room at a recent matinee performance, voiced this wonder.

"Why, bless your heart," laughed Miss Shimozumi, "if my race were not so indelibly imprinted on my features, I would pass for an American anywhere. I am Yankee in thought and ideas, and the only real Japanese thing about me, I am ashamed to confess, is my inordinate love for rice, which I could eat three times a day, year in and year out, were it not (let me whisper it!) that I am terribly afraid of growing fat."

Miss Shimozumi rather runs to athletics, having held the California amateur tennis championship three years in succession.

"I would dearly love to sing Germaine in 'The Chimes of Normandy,' she says, "but I am afraid that no artifice of make-up could ever convince the public that I was a French girl. It is very hard to be compelled to simply play Japanese characters, although I am greatly in love with the part of O Mimosa San in 'The Geisha,' the latest addition to our repertoire."

DOROTHY GISH HAS DELIGHTFUL COMEDY IN "I'LL GET HIM YET"

After the production of a straight drama and a melodrama, Dorothy Gish has again returned to the field of pure comedy. In "I'll Get Him Yet," her current picture which is being shown at the Allen Theatre today and to-morrow, there will be no difficulty on the part of the audience to work out the problems of the play.

The picture deals with a girl who has in her own right an entire street railway and interurban system. She marries a newspaper reporter who is in love with her, but almost insane on the "marrying money" subject. In order to complete the ceremony she tells him she will never accept another penny from her father but does not inform him that she is worth several millions in her own name.

The complications that arise when she has to meet the persons who are in charge of her estates, give her the best opportunity for comedy of any picture she has appeared in.

Miss Gish is supported by Richard Barthelmess as her leading man, while George Fawcett, the famous actor, appears as her crusty father.

GALLO ENGLISH OPERA COMPANY

So popular was the week's visit of the Gallo English Opera Co., in Toronto that there have been many requests to Manager Solman to bring it back. It is booked almost solidly for the season, but there is a probability that a week will be found for Toronto and the operas to be sung will be "The Geisha Girl," "The Pirates of Penzance," "San Toy," and one performance of "The Mikado." So keen is the demand for the English opera that the company is playing on a guarantee wherever it goes. It did capacity business in Toronto.

"THE LUCK OF THE NAVY"

"The Luck of the Navy," one of the biggest of recent London successes, and presented by the complete original London cast from the Queen's Theatre, will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at The Grand Friday and Saturday, matinee Saturday.

"The Luck of the Navy" is a British Naval play which has enjoyed remarkable popularity in London for almost two years, during which time it moved to four different theatres to continue its London run. The cast is headed by Percy Hutchison, one of London's best known actor-managers, and the nephew of the late Sir Charles Wyndham. The supporting company includes Miss Muriel Martin-Harvey, Miss Kate Carew, Miss Elsie Stranach, Mr. Crocker-King, and other eminent English players. It is worthy of note that this will be the first time a complete English company and production has crossed the Atlantic in more than five years, or since the outbreak of the war.

"The Luck of the Navy" is a thrilling story of the navy, dealing with submarines, and it enjoys the distinction of having been highly praised by Her Majesty, the Queen of England, who with the Royal Family attended a command performance given by Mr. Hutchison and his company at the Queen's Theatre last October. The Queen after wards sent a letter highly complimenting Mr. Hutchison and the members of his company on the performance, and stating that she was highly pleased with the play. This original letter from Buckingham Palace is now on exhibition in the lobby of the theatre.

LONDON, December 3. — Everything is set here for the Beckett-Carpentier fight to-morrow night.

The two heavies, champions of Britain and France, are ready. The house is sold out; the confidence of the Britishers that Beckett will win remains unabated, but it is singular that they will offer nothing better than 5 to 4.

No official announcement of the division of the purse has been mad public but it is said at Beckett will get $25,000 and Carpentier $15,000.

"Sight Unseen" Trade Is Gamble

Consumer Takes Long Chance When He Buys From the Mail Order House

Generally Is Losing Game

Method of Doing Business is very Different when You Purchase Goods From Your Home Merchant

When you were a youngster, did you ever make a trade, "sight unseen?" Of course you did. What boy has not risked his jackknife or his choicest marble on such a proposition and how often has he repented of his rash deed when he discovered what he got in trade. He generally found that the deal turned out to the advantages of the one who made the proposition.

There is a little of the gambling instinct in the blood of nearly every man, woman and child, but even the hardened gambler likes to get a run for his money. The "sight unseen" proposition doesn't appeal to him in the least. There are thousands of people, however, who would be properly indignant if they were accused of being gamblers, who every day take a chance on the greatest gambling game in the world. And worse than that they are risking their money on a "sight unseen" proposition.

When one of the thousands of persons who build up and keep up the great mail order houses of the country sends his money away to pay for some article that he has selected from the mail order catalogue, he is taking a chance on getting what he expects to get. The mail order house may be perfectly honest and still the purchaser stands a good chance of not getting what he expects to get. The mail order catalogues are filled with pictures that catch the eye. The descriptions are brief, as they must be when thousands of articles are to be described within the confines of one book. No matter how hard the mail order house might try to tell the truth the whole truth and nothing but The buyer is simply taking a chance.

Buying "Sight Unseen."

How much more satisfactory it is to walk into a store in your home town and ask to see an article which you may have seen advertised in your home paper. What would anyone think of your business ability or your common sense if you walked into a store at home and said: "I saw a picture in the paper to-day of a suit which I liked very much. Please wrap up one for me. Here's the money." The merchant would think that you were crazy, but that is exactly what you do every time you send an order to a mail order house. You buy "sight unseen" and you haven't a ghost of a chance of getting your money back if the article is unsatisfactory when it reaches you.

How different is the proceeding when you go into the store in your own home town to buy a suit of clothes, or a stove or a yard of ribbon You may have seen a picture of it in the merchant's advertisement in the home paper and you know that, as the merchant is reliable, you can count on the goods being as he represents them in his advertisement. But does he ask you to take his word for everything? Does he hide the article behind the counter and tell you that you can't even see it until you buy it and pay over the money for it? Hardly. If the article is not already in plain sight on the counter, the merchants produces it for your inspection. If it does not exactly suit you, he has others that are a little different and that he is glad to have you inspect.

Get Merchant's Guarantee

Then, if it is a suit of clothes you are buying, or a piece of dress goods or a pair of socks, you may ask if the merchant will guarantee that it will wear as long as an article of that kind could be expected to wear and he will tell you either that he will guarantee it or that he will not. If he tells you that he will guarantee it you will know that you will get your money back or another suit or another pair of socks in its place if it doesn't wear like it should, for the merchant, besides being an honest man in most cases, cannot afford not to make his word good. He is dependent upon your usiness and that of others in his community and he cannot afford to misrepresent his goods.

After having all this opportunity to see what you are buying, you take your suit or your stove or whatever it is you buy home or it is sent home for you without any delivery charges and after you get home and take another look at it and decide you don't want it after all, you send it back.

You are not buying something "sight unseen" when you buy from your home merchant. You don't look at a picture of an article in a newspaper, read a short description of it, go to the post office and buy a money order and send it to the merchant with the instructions, "Send me a suit of clothes"—or a stove or whatever it may be—"and I'll pay your delivery man 50 cents for delivering it to me."

There's a world of difference in the two methods of doing business and its not hard to figure out which is the best for the man who is doing the buying.

THE IDEAL LOCAL TOWN

The "Get-Together" Spirit

An Excellent Article on the Subject by Mr G.L. Bastian, Manager Advertising Department, Chicago Office DeLaval Company, Limited

Every farmer and every farm family in the country would rather live in the vicinity of a real live town than be compelled to consider a "dead one" as their local trading point.

And it is hardly fair to think of the town as simply a place to buy and sell. The ideal town is really part of the community.

Live, wide-awake towns which have commercial clubs or other community enterprises, should include the business men on the farms as well as the business men who happen to live in town. For the most important, and we might say the most intricate business to-day is the business of farming right. It involves analysis, study, planning, and executive ability and judgment, fully equal to that required to run the local store or bank.

Where Town and Country Co-operate Everyone Is Benefited.

We say this because the town of the right sort is of much importance to people living near it. It is important because it increases the value of land, furnishes a market for your produce, gives church, school, and entertainment advantages that would be impossible without it.

"Man was not made to live by bread alone." The social instinct, the getting together in an exchange of ideas—real co-operation if you please—is more necessary and more important than ever before. Human contact and human sympathy are worth more than any dollars-and-cents success ever can be without them.

We have often heard of the problem of "keeping the boys and girls on the farm." There is no problem at all along this line if we realise that boys and girls are just human beings.

They crave society, the intermingling with congenial people who can take an interest in the things that interest them. They want exactly what the live, "get-together" community can offer them. Boys and girls leave the farm because they think they will find elsewhere the companionship and sympathy which they need.

War Conditions Have Encouraged the "Get-Together" Spirit.

The women on the farms came into their own during the war as never before. Countless thousands went into the towns and villages to rub elbows with their sisters in the common labour of the Red Cross and other war relief work.

In the old days the family lived practically by itself. They spun and wove their own cloth, cobbled their own shoes, and children were educated at the mother's knee.

All of these things have changed. The community has taken the place of the family. The community spirit, if it exists as it should, is the most wonderful influence in building big, broad-gauged citizenship.

The "Get-Together" Spirit Makes Life Worth Living.

So the people on the farms are joining hands with the people in town to build the "get-together" spirit that makes them all better and stronger. The merchants who support local institutions are worthy of the support of farmers, and in turn these dealers are ready to support county institutes, calf clubs, cooking schools, and other community activities.

If the real co-operative spirit has not started in your locality, why not make plans to get up a big dinner and meeting at some convenient centre? Invite the farmers and the merchants and their families in; join hands, get together, and make the town and community better.

You Can Make Your Farm Better By Making Your Town Better.

Do not wait for someone else to take the lead. Go ahead yourself and make your town the kind of a town you would like to have it. There are places where merchants and farmers get together several times each year; where the commercial club includes all of the farmers and farmers' wives; where good, wholesome lectures and entertainments are held for everyone in the vicinity. And the value of property has advanced so much that no one would think of going back to the old policy of "everybody for himself."

"Sight Unseen" Buying Not Always What It's Painted.

There are communities where the people have realised that the big city concerns who sell from pictures and rosy descriptions do not always give what it seems on the surface. They have found out either through an epidemic of sickness, a cyclone, or flood, that the far-distanst "giants" have no interest in them except to get their money, while the local dealers are always ready to support local institutions and promote the welfare of the community.

On the other hand, there are instances where long-range buying and lack of co-operation have practically killed a town, with the result that there is nothing worth while for farmers or merchants to take an interest in. The young folks are leaving. There is a spirit of petty selfishness that seems to rule. You have it in your power to prevent such a condition in your community, and we hope that every thinking reader of this article will give this question careful and serious consideration.

It is natural to buy to the best advantage. Goods without service, at half the price, may be dear in the end. Cheap goods of low quality for certain uses may be twice as expensive as a high-grade article. These are facts that are well worth thoughtful consideration and discussion.

But the real thought which we would leave with you is not the dollar saved or wasted to-day. What we want to convey is the great waste of wasted lives in communities where there is nothing worth while and where things are going backward instead of forward. Get to know your home town, make it your town, and you will reap the benefit as surely as night follows the day.

A Simple Way to Reduce Wrinkles

Remember that wrinkles and bagginess of the cheek or chin are due to the muscular tissue losing its strength and shrinking. The skin is then too large in area to fit such tissue smoothly, ill wrinkles or sags.

To remedy this condition there's nothing so effective, so quick acting, as a simple wash lotion easily made at home. Just get an ounce of pure powdered saxolite from your druggist and a half pint of witch hazel, mix the two and bathe your skin in the mixture. This at once tightens the skin and solidifies the underlying tissues—which of course smooths out the lines and draws in the sagging skin. It also stimulates capillary circulation, bringing natural color to faded cheeks.

MATERIAL FOR INTERMEDIATE O.H.A. TEAM

Lindsay will be represented in the O.H.A. by a fast junior team, but many of the fans art anxious to see the Intermediates in line as well.

On looking over the list of available players for Intermediate rank, it will be noticed that there is real good material, if the players would only take the time and trouble to get themselves into condition, and would stick together and abide by the rulings of a manager and trainer.

The following players would make a formidable team on the ice:

Goal—O'Loughlin and Dennis.

Defence—G. Elavelle and Garnett.

Forwards—Coombe, Lipsett, Sandercock, C. Carew, Richman and McElroy.

If tht players are anxious to get into harness and make a name for themselves, no person would be more delighted than the fans.—Lindsay Warder.

LINDSAY AMATEURS HAVE ORGANIZED

At a meeting of a number of citizens held here, the Lindsay Amateur Athletic Association was formed, in accordance withe the regulation as set forth by the Athletic Union of Canada, the following officers being lected:

Hon. Pres.—Mr. John Carew.

President—Mr. C. M. Sadler.

Vice-Pres.—Mr. F. J. Carew.

2nd. Vice-Pres.—Rev. Fr. O'Leary.

Sec.-Treas.—Ford W. Moynes.

Considerable discussion took place and it was decided to leave the formation of the Executive Committee over until a future meeting, when more information will be on hand regarding the aims and objects of the Athletic Union in requesting and authorizing such a move.

The Association in Lindsay is but one of many similar organizations beformed all over the Province with the chief object of promoting clean, amateur sports and eliminating professionalism.

It is expected that the Executive will also comprise representative managers of the various lines of sport including hockey, baseball, basketball, boxing, and other sports.

FORMER PETERBOROUGH MAN REINSTATED.

The sensational action of the Alberta branch of the A. A. U. of C. in reinstating sundry out and out professionals to amateur is still the talk of official athletic circles down this way.

The first application for reinstatement to be considered was from Bill Crowley, the ex-Peterborough hockey player. He was overseas four years, and played professional hockey in Edmonton three years.

BOWLING AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Green starred for the winners in the first game, while A. McIlmoyle bowled high man for the losers. In the second game—which went to the Centrals by a few points—four players chalked over 200, while in the last Walton led the way to the tune of 232 for the winners, with no close second. Scores:

Stomach Disorder

ONLY 6 MONTHS TO LIVE

READ WHAT B.B.B. DID FOR HIM

Mr. Hanz Kehki, Magholia, Alta., writes:— "Some time ago I became very sick from stomach disorder, which the doctor told me had started from drinking bad water. I tried local doctors, but finding I got worse from day to day I went to a doctor in Edmonton. He told me that I must have an operation, and that if I didn't I couldn't live any longer than six months. I told him I had better die after six months than be cut to pieces. I did not have the operation, but returned hom. No one was there to meet me at the station, because they did not know I was coming. I felt so bad I couldn't walk further than 10 yards without resting. It took me 6 hours to walk 2 miles; the distance from the station to my home.

Some weeks later I read an advertisement about your Burdock Blood Bitters. After I had used one bottle I felt much better, and after I had used three bottles I was completely cured; therefore you see your B.B.B. has saved my life, and I cannot praise it too highly."

Burdock Blood Bitters puts the stomach into shape by promoting perfect digestion, and restoring health and strength to the sysem. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

By almost unanimous majorities the citizens of Woodstock carried two by-laws bonusing two industries, one the Brunswick Phonograph Company and the other the Warren Pipe Organ Company. THE SUPREME TEST

Probably it isn't right to criticize a boy because he does not succeed when the odds are against him. And probably it is. But the real test of a regular college athlete is to put him up against him and have him come through. That's what makes any champion. If Charley Brickley did not come through with his drop kicking when it was expected of him, if Eddie Mahan did not play his game when the big test was at hand, what kind of reputation would they have in the pigskin game? It is the same in every branch of sport. Yes, give me the college athlete who can come through when all the odds are against him. He is the regular athlete after all.

YOUNG WOMEN HELD BAZAAR

The Young Women's Christian Association held a very successful bazaar and concert yesterday afternoon and evening in their local club rooms.

A very tastefully displayed tea room was also among the attractions provided by the young ladies. Miss A. Myers and Miss R. Langford being in charge. The tables and rooms were decorated in red and a very harmonious color scheme was the result.

Behind the tea room were the booths. The business girls' class were in charge of the candy booth, the three fancy work booths being in charge of the house girls, the advance gymnasium class and the Athena Club. The junior school girls had a very attractive handkerchief booth, while the senior school girls, with their booth of dolls and the home-made candy booth of the married ladies' class were also much to be admired.

The pantomime reproduced by the Campers' League, entitled, "Wild Nell the Pet of the Plains," met with great success.

Miss Pryce, the physical director of the Y.W.C.A., gave two exhibitions of brilliant classic dancing, which were received with much applause by the large audience.

CHRISTMAS TREAT FOR THE CHILDREN

The Peterborough Branch of the Great War Veterans are making preparations for the annual Christmas treat for the children of returned soldiers and of those who failed to return. The Veterans have between fifty and one hundred dollars in the treasury, and an effort is being made to create a much larger fund as the demands will be heavy, due to the heavy enlistment in Peterborough.

WEDDING BELLS

STEPHANY—McDONALD.

(From the Democrat and Chronicle, Rochester, N.Y.)

A pretty rainbow wedding took place at St. Joseph's Church on Wednesday, 19th November, at three o'clock in the afternoon, when Miss Florence G. McDonald, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, of 1752 St. Paul Street, and Mr. Florentine J. Stephany, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stephany, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. Jos. J. Strauss, C.S.S.R., performed the ceremony in the presence of about 300 relatives and friends of the bride and groom

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George McDonald, and was attended by her little niece, Marie E. McDonald, as flower girl. She was attended by six bridesmaids, Misses Lorene McDonald, sister of the bride, E. Marie Vogler, Agnes Stephany, sister of the groom, Ruth Vogler, Florence McDonald, and Helen Boyle. They were dressed in rainbow effect, the gowns being pink, blue, yellow, green, orchid, and peach, made in petal effect, with taffeta hats trimmed with maline to match. They carried arm bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums, with yellow streamers. The bride's gown was of white satin, trimmed with silver. Her veil, worn in Spanish comb effect, was trimmed with silver and caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The little flower girl wore an aquamarine ring set in platinum and carried a basket of yellow roses.

Mrs. McDonald, mother of the bride, wore black satin and Georgette, and Mrs. Stephany, the groom's mother, wore purple satin with black lace. Santa Claus is a wise old man, and it is safe to say that if he needs Glasses, he wears them; also, that they are "PEBLO" quality, because he wouldn't have anything but the best that's made.

He would advise Dr. Fowler's "PEBLO" Glasses in handsome gold mounts as Christmas Gifts to your elderly friends, to whom a more modern Pair of Glasses would be highly acceptable. See Dr. Fowler about it.

THE TRIAL PROGRESSES

R. B. RUSSELL TAKES VOLUMINOUS NOTES OF THE PROCEEDINGS —HAS FILLED ONE BOOK.

THE EVIDENCE

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 4.—R. B. Russell, the strike leader, whose case is now being heard, is attracting considerable attention by his close attention to the proceedings. He is steadily occupied in taking voluminous notes on the proceedings and has already filled one large book. He is being assisted by a number of his fellow accused, especially W. E. Pritchard and Ald. A. A. Heaps, who are constantly in attendance at the trial.

Canadian Press:

WINNIPEG, Dec. 4. — Reports of speeches made by George Armstrong, R. J. Johns, R. B. Russell and Blumenberg at a meeting in the Majestic Theatre featured the evidence at the trial yesterday of R. B. Russell for alleged seditious conspiracy.

The reports were presented by Mr. Fepperley, a detective, who had attended the meeting at the instance of the city police authorities and taken shorthand notes of what he called "starling statements," and was brought to the attention of the court by counsel for the Crown with the object of showing that the necessity for a revolution, bloodless if possible, and preferably in Canada, had been urged at the meeting.

In the report of Russell's speech, the accused was stated to have said labour had never done anything by legislation, and that there must be a revolution. Russell was also said to have declared with a snap of his fingers: "We don't care that much for the city, Provincial and Dominion Governments of Canada." Russell also asserted, according to Fepperley, that the only places in Russia where anarchy prevailed were the places where the Allies were in control and that the Bolsheviki were giving good order and government in that country.

Nothing Startling.

Armstrong did not say "anything startling," according to witness, but Johns, who "seemed kind of excited," asserted that revolution was coming, and that he was present for the purpose of educating labour to seek control of everything throughout the country, "with or without bloodshed."

Blumenberg, whom witness characterized as the most vigorous speaker at the meeting, took occasion to correct previous speakers, who were not advocating revolution. "If they were not advocating revolution they would not be here," was another remark attributed to Blumenberg.

The witness was put through a sharp cross-examination by Robert Cassidy, K.C., senior counsel for the defence, and to test the ability of the witness as a shorthand writer, Mr. Cassidy dictated a passage from a document. The lawyer read the passage at the rate of 200 words a minute, and the witness soon gave up the task of taking notes, and protested that he was not supposed to write shorthand at such a speed. He enpained that he did not profess to be an expert shorthand writer, and only claimed that he could write shorthand faster than he could write long hand, and found it useful for his own purposes on that account. He maintained that his report was a true report of portions of the speeches of which he had taken notes.

Most of the time of the court was taken up with evidence of the Royal North-West Mounted Police in different parts of Canada. More than a dozen "mounties" were called in this connection.

STRIKE IS CANCELLED

ALL WORKERS [illegible] TO REPORT TO [illegible] EMPLOYERS TO-MORROW.

FOUR KILLED

(United Press.)

ROME, Dec. 4.—Socialist party and the Confederation of Labour has called off the general strike, it was announced late last night. All workers will be ordered to report to their employers to-morrow, it was understood.

A despatch from Milan said four persons were killed in clashes between strikers and carabineers. Disorders marked the day throughout Northern Italy. Several Socialist law-makers were attacked by crowds of Loyalist administrators after they had refused to remain in the Chamber when King Victor Emmanuel addressed that body Monday with opening meeting. Rioting strikers entered the railway station in Rome and tried to prevent departure of trains. A railway man was among the wounded when carabineers fired upon a crowd of demonstrators.

COULD NOT HAPPEN IN LOCAL BASTILE

HANGMAN ELLIS IS CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE OF CHIEF EXECUTIONER.

Sheriff Hall stated this morning that a repetition of the Kalowski episode in Hamilton would be absolutely impossible in the city in the case of the five Russians who are awaiting execution in the local gaol. In his opinion he said the affair in Hamilton was the result of carelessness on the part of the Turnkey. While in Hamilton the prisoner was enabled to use the shoe-string weight on the first man he attacked and the knife from his pocket on the second man. Neither such articles would be available or allowed in the County Gaol. The prisoners are each confined in separate cells and the present death watch of two men will doubtless be augmented as the day of execution draws nearer. Each prisoner is allowed to take exercise in the corridor separately during the day.

To minister to the spiritual comfort of the five Russians to be hanged on January the 14th., a Russian priest of the Greek Church arrived in the city a short time ago and turned the duties involved over to Canon J. C. Davidson who visits the men periodically. The Greek priest will return to the city in a short time, and probably be on hand for the execution.

Several applications are on file for the job of carrying out the penalty imposed by law but Hangman Ellis will be given the preference unless something intervenes to prevent him from being on hand. Ellis has communicated with the local authorities in regard to the matter and has signified his desire to undertake the task.

Industries Close Down Due to the Soft Coal Shortage

BRITISH AVIATOR IS STILL LAP AHEAD OF NEAREST RIVAL

(United Press.)

LONDON, December 4.—The race between Captain Ross Smith British aviator, and Etienne Poulet, French aviator, in their attempted flights to Australia, had narrowed down to a 45minute margin in favour of the British flyer, according to the latest reports received by the Air Ministry here to-day.

Smith overtook the Frenchman before Poulet reached Rangoon, and arrived in that city 45 minutes ahead.

A despatch to the Air Ministry said the aviators both reached Rangoon on 30th November, and planned to leave on 1st December for Bangkok, according to the despatch.

EXTRAORDINARY MEASURES TO SECURE TRANSPORTATION IN THE EAST—FEELING THAT U. S. AUTHORITIES HAVE DONE EVERYTHING POSSIBLE—NO SOFT COAL RECEIVED IN CANADA IN NOVEMBER.

THE SITUATION IS VERY SERIOUS

OTTAWA, Dec. 4. — "The fuel situation in Canada was never as grave as any time during the war as it is at the present moment," declared Mr. C. A. Magrath, Dominion Fuel Controller, in an appeal to the public for fuel conservation, issued last evening.

He draws attention to the fact that Canada has received practically no soft coal during the month of November, and that the allotment of 150 cars a day which has been made, is extremely small as compared with normal imports.

From present appearances, he says, all that can be expected is to keep the public utilities and institutions supplied with fuel, in addition to meeting the domestic needs. Many industries may have to close down before we are well into the winter.

Mr. Magrath draws attention to the fact that he could call upon the Government to pass regulations limiting the use of fuel, as was done during the war. He believes, however, that an appeal to the public, setting forth the gravity of the situation, will result in the fullest possible response, and he therefore resorts to this means.

May Rush Soft Coal From Nova Scotia Mines

As the authorities are now convinced that the fight between the bituminous mine operators and the miners will go on to the bitter end, serious consideration is being given to the proposal to rush soft coal supplies from the Maritime Provinces to Quebec and Ontario. So far all efforts to avert the threatened famine in fuel have been directed toward Washington, with indifferent success.

Extraordinary Remedy.

Promises have been secured, but performance has lagged far behind. It was agreed that Canada would receive a ration allowance of 150 carloads of coal daily from November 24, and as the Fuel Administration has been unable to send any of it, or even meet quotas promised in their own land, Canadian officialdom is beginning to realize that extraordinary exertions must be made in this country in order to partially meet the crisis. The crisis is all the more acute in that only 150 cars of foundry coke have come over the border since the embargo, in spite of promises. So far no coal has come in cars from Nova Scotia, but the matter is being considered, and, in the opinion of some officials, it is thought that the

M.P., HALF DAZED FROM BLOWS, CARRIED OVER BACK BENCHES

W. D. EULER REFUSED TO BE FORCED TO KISS THE FLAG ALD. ASMUSSEN, M.P.P., SIGNED APOLOGY —ANOTHER ALDERMAN COULD NOT BE FOUND.

KITCHENER, Dec. 4.—W. B. Euler M. P., was around the streets the morning after the riot wearing two black eeys, a result of last night's encounter with the war veterans. Asked if he had anything to say, he said he had not. Euler, Ald. Asmussen, M.P.P., and Mayor Gross had a conference at the City Hall. Asmussen complained of lack of police protection and a special meeting of the commissioners is being held.

Asked if the revolver that he flourished at the veterans when they came to his house, was loaded, Ald. Asmussen said emphatically that it was.

Ald. Bowman, who got away from the soldiers, and who was reported to have left town, was located at his home by a reporter. At the Police Department it was learned that when Bowman broke away from the man removing him from the City Hall, he fled into the police office, and was then locked up in the chief's room. The soldiers searched the hall, but overlooked his hiding place. After the demonstration, he unlocked the door and went home.

Like Old Associations.

Bowman was asked why he wanted to submit a by-law to change the name back to Berlin. "Because the people like that to which they have been accustomed," he said. "The name has old associations to them. I do not see any connection betwen the name Berlin and Berlin in Germany." Asked why he did not come into council meeting, he explained that the mayor took a vote in caucus as to ruling the by-law out entirely and referring it back for further consideration, and had wanted the members, including the minority, to be bound by the result and take their stand in council. "My idea," he said, "was to adjourn the meeting until such time as the authorities were in control of the hall. The majority of the us was for throwing out the by-law by 6 to 3."

Objected to Humiliation

"Why did you not kiss the flag?"

"Because I objected to force and the attempt to humiliate me." He had always been an Imperialist, and was opposed to separation of Canada from the Empire.

How Did He Get out?

Capt. G. Mackintosh, president of the G.W.V.A., was questioned by the reporter as to his method of getting W. D. Euler, M.P., out of the G. W. V. A. meeting when the veterans were about to take him down to the lake for a ducking.

"I got him out by the side door and down the back way," he replied.

"Why did you want him to get away?"

"Because he did not have a chance after the blows he had received and because 400 to 1 was not fair."

When Euler was first knocked down in the G. W. V. A. hall he fell part way through t window and was only saved from falling three storeys to the pavement by the prompt efforts of Capt. Mackintosh.

Editorial in Paper.

The editorial in his paper, the Kitchener News Record, which Mr. Euler was asked by the returned soldiers to explain, was published just after that Prince of Wales' visit to the city, and was headed, "Overdoing the Welcome." It read in part as follows:—

"What democrats we are, to be sure. The Prince of Wales is a nice, pleasing youn man, and so long as we must have Kings and Emperors (I almost said Kaisers) I suppose it is all right to have the Prince visit a country whose King he is to be some day, but it is amusing and a bit disgusting how silly and humble people will be in the presence of a person of flesh and blood like ourselves if only he has a title. Toronto, which is the most 'English' city in the Empire, and which calls itself the most loyal, is as usual the worst offender. A city that elects a demagogue like Tommy Church as Mayor and does it five times in succession, cannot be expected to be anything but hysterical when it tries to be patriotic."

Would Have Voted Against

During his questioning by the G. W. V. A. Ald. Asmussen was asked re[illegible]s attitude for the name-changing "I always thought no two cities of any size should have the same name. If a by-law had been submitted I would have voted for the present name." (Laughter.)

Asmussen began talking about the water supply for the sanitarium.

"We are not discussing water," he was told.

Asmussen said he didn't know who started the name-changing agitation, but thought it was Ald. Bowman.

Is With Boys.

"He's a Heinie. He is as bad as the other one," said a veteran.

"Are you with the boys?" Asmussen was asked.

"Yes. Anything you think I have done against you I apologize for."

"I am glad I came down here," he continued. "I always thought if I came down and talked to you, we would see things differently."

Hisses an boos and cries of "Throw him in the lake!"

"Are you satisfied with what he said?"

Cries of "Yes!" and "No!"

Signs Written Apology.

A written apology was then presented to Asmussen to sign, which he did. This read: "I, the undersigned, for anything said or done by me which has been consiered unfair to British loyalty, I hereby apologize for. (Signed) N. A. Asmussen.

With this Asmussen was allowed to go, and cries went up immediately "Euler" and "Bowman."

A deputation had proceeded across the street in the meantime to get W. D. Euler, M.P., who was elected in 1917 as a Laurier Liberal on the anti-conscription platform. He recently aroused the hostility of the veterans by publishing in the Kitchener News-Record, of which he is editor, an editorial attack on the Prince of Wales.

Went Without Protest

When the body of veterans went after him at the Lancaster Club, they were told that he wasn't in. Pushing past the steward they found Euler seated in at a game of cards. They advised him of their admission, and he came without protest, arriving just as Asmussen was being ushered out. He was brought up to the front of the room and stood where Betzer and Asmussen had been placed.

The veterans began singing "God Save the King," and demanded that he join in the singing. Instead, he stood with his lips tightly closed, and several demands that he sing went unheeded.

Struck on Face

When the third demand was ignored, one of the veterans struck him a terrific blow on the nose and knocked him backward against a window, and he came within an ace of going right on through to the street below.

He was set upon his feet again, his face bloody, as the result of the blow A request that he kiss the flag was made, but he paid no attention to it

Factory Prices Prevail on Nearly All Merchandise From Now Until Christmas

We are going to double our Christmas Sales from now until Christmas. We realized that to do this big business, we must have close priced Christmas desirables at the moment when you need them. The plan for this big event was prepared in October and now every section is aglow with the spirit of Xmas. Prices are lower than they were a year ago, quite unusual in these days of very high prices, some of them even lower than present Factory Prices---and we delight to tell you they wont assume their normal height again until after Christmas. It will be one great grand month of Christmas selling and be sure you take full advantage of it.

A WAIL FOR THE TEUTONS

EULER, M.P., PROTESTS AT DELAY IN GRANTING NATURALIZATION.

KITCHENER, Ont., Dec. 4.— W. D. Euler, M.P., who was beaten up by war veterans on Monday night because he refused to kiss the flag and sing the National Anthem, got out a special edition of his paper early next morning.

The "extra" is notable for two features. One is the off-hand way in which he dismisses the pummelling he received, and the other is the fact that on the editorial page he publishes a two-column leaded protest against the delay to which Germans must submit before they can get Canadian naturalization.

Fewer Fighting Men.

Mr. Euler is president and editor of the News-Record. The office of the paper was badly smashed by the veterans before they dealt with its editor. But the very next morning after the raid he takes up the cause of Germans and Austrians in the district of Kitchener who cannot get naturalization papers, winding up with several paragraphs against what he considers to be a growing military spirit in Canada, and in referring to the standing army says we ought to have fewer fighting men rather than more.

An Off-Hand Description.

It is not likely that Mr. Euler intended to be funny in telling of his appearance before the war veterans, but the description contained in his paper is amusing. After telling of having spoken at some length, and saying that he was quite willing to salute the flag, but not when forced to do so, he adds: "He carried out this declaration. He received a few blows in the face, after which he departed from the hall." Receiving a few blows in the face would seem to be almost on a par with receiving a few bouquets or a few rounds of applause. The reader might almost imagine, to read the report, that this was becoming the customary method of expressing thanks to public speakers.

MUST CONSERVE COAL TO PREVENT DISTRESS

ONTARIO MAYORS AND OFFICIALS WILL BE ASKED TO PROMOTE FUEL ECONOMY.

Without there being any cause for panic the coal situation is serious. A vigorous campaign for the conservation of coal in Ontario is to be begun at once and the mayors and other officials of all important places in the Province have been notified to assist in this campaign by every means in their power and to curtail the unnecessary use of coal wherever possible, saving the supply for public utilities.

An officer of the Canadian Railways War Board was quoted today as saying that there would probably be a reduction in freight and passenger service in Canada. The offices of no railway in Toronto had been advised of any such reduction today, but they could not say how soon they might receive word of it.

The G.T.R., which has already made a considerable reduction in its passenger service, had heard of no further reduction. No coal was coming into the country, and they would have to act as the situation warranted it.

The C.P.R. offices in Toronto had heard of no reduction in any of their services.

The C.N.R. would not reduce their service until they were forced to do so, and knew of no reduction at the present time. They pointed out that Canadian railways as a whole were in a better position that United States railways, since U.S.A. railways being close to the source of supply, did not stock heavily, while Canadian railways, being distant and having a hard winter with storms and delays to face, did accumulate large supplies of coal, especially in those parts of the country distant from the source of supply. In Southern Ontario, near to the United States mines, there were not as large stocks of coal on hand as there were in Northern Ontario. The situation was undoubtedly serious and was being discussed by the Canadian Railways Association.

ABOUT JOHN O'GROAT

"John O'Groat's" was for a long time a landmark in Britain, and even to this day is one of the Englishman's starting points of measurement —"Lands End to John O'Groat's" signifying from one end of Britain to the other.

In the reign of James IV. of Scotland John O'Groat and his two brothers, Malcolm and Gavin, arrived at Caithness, and bought the lands of Warse and Duginby, near the beach the mouth of Pentland Firth.

In time their families increased until there were eight households of the same name. They lived as neighbors in the greatest peace and amity, each year holding a festival in the original home. At one of annual gatherings the question of precedence arose among the younger members and they disputed as to whom should sit nearest the "head of the table," or enter the room the first.

The old grandfather, Johnny O'Groat of history, was made arbitrator. He promised to have all satisfactorily settled by the time of the next annual meeting. Accordingly he built an eight sided house in which to hold the annual jubilee. The octagonal domicile was fitted with a door and a window on each side and a round table in the centre. This arrangement made it possible for each member of the John O'Groats to enter by its own door, and to sit at a table which was practically without a head.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

THURSDAY, DEC. 4TH, 1919.

THE COMING ELECTIONS.

The municipal elections are only a month away, yet there is a more than usual reluctance on the part of prospective candidates to state that they will be in the race. Two candidates for the mayoralty, Ald. Taylor and Ald. McIntyre alone have declared themselves, but so far not one aspirant for the aldermanic board has come forward. Is Peterboro to follow the same old custom of waiting until nomination day to secure candidates leaving only a few days for the ratepayers to size up the field and giving the candidates practically no opportunity of placing their views before the people? The Labour party have decided to keep the names of their candidates secret for at least two weeks more while other aspirants who may eventually decide to enter the race are following the same tactics. The result is that the citizens will as usual have but a short time to make their choice.

ANOTHER CRISIS.

The refusal of Germany to sign the protocol presented by the Allies as a condition for putting the peace treaty into effect is another stumbling block in the path of those who are endeavoring to restore peace to the world. The failure of the United States Senate to ratify the treaty is apparently responsible for the defiant attitude of the German Government, who as a result of the American attitude are now backing their government in resisting the demands of the Allies. The Germans object to the claim for additional indemnities and against the intention of the Allies to bring to trial the German officers, accused of being responsible for the atrocities in France and Belgium. There has undoubtedly been a considerable change in the sentiment in Germany during the past few weeks and this has finally culminated in the refusal to sign the treaty protocol. The developments of the next few days will be thought with great interest.

MOB RULE MUST END.

The details of the riot at Kitchener on Monday night recall the definition of an American philosopher "a mob is the quintessence of cowardice—a dirty, mad, hydra-headed monster." The outbreak will be deplored by every right-thinking Canadian as a demonstration of the spirit of lynch law that is out of place in this country—however familiar it may be across the International line. There will be every sympathy for the objection on the part of the loyal element in Kitchener to changing the name of the city; there will be no sympathy however for the outlawry that culminated in mob assaults upon defenceless men and in doing thousands of dollars damage to property. The riot was alike unnecessary and disgrace. The objectors to a restoration of the old name of "Berlin," had already won the victory by constitutional means in the council; there was therefore no justification for the scenes that followed. The outrage of law and order and the violation of the spirit of British fair play should be regretted by every decent citizen and the leaders of the Great War Veterans' Association do well to officially clear themselves of connection with the disgraceful episode. Undoubtedly many returned soldiers took part in the riot and as is always the case when trouble of this kind rears its head, there was a rowdy element in the civilian population too cowardly to inaugurate any disturbance on its own account, which took advantage of the occasion. The ring-leaders in the attacks on the aldermen and on Mr. W. D. Euler, M.P., should be dealt with and if the Kitchener police are not anxious to handle the prosecution the new Attorney-General, Hon. W. E. Raney might take a hand in the game. Mob rule is not to be tolerated.

A REACTIONARY RESOLUTION

The resolution passed by the local City Council asking the Legislature change the law in regard to police departments so that the police commissioners shall be elected by the ratepayers, seems to be one that the new Government might in the public interest receive and forget. There is nothing in the record of police administration in this or any other country that justifies a movement to put the police department into the realm of municipal politics. On the other hand there are warnings enough of the folly of municipal councils controlling the policy to make one wonder why any aldermanic body should desire to restore a condition of affairs that the Legislature very wisely many years ago took steps to avoid.

The aldermen who rushed this through the council the other night must surely have considered only one angle of this problem and that very superficially to say the least. They can hardly have investigated the whole matter or there would have been more discussion of the question and of what it would mean to have the police department controlled by a constantly changing body. The city of Edmonton furnishes an example that might well be taken as a warning. The Alberta city a few years ago, when its police force was controlled by the council, was in a notoriously bad moral condition. The "Red-light" district was flourishing and the police seemed to be powerless. Finally a council, composed of citizens who had the moral stamina to protest against the vice that was rampant determined upon a clean-up. The Chief of Police was discharged and the city secured Chief Detective Carpenter of Montreal, an efficient and zealous officer as head of the police department. He at once instituted a vigorius campaign to improve conditions and was succeeding admirably until municipal election day came around when the gamblers and other citizens with questionable means of livelihood formed an alliance with reactionary politicians and managed to elect a new council whose first steps almost was to get rid of Chief Carpenter and put an end to the clean-up. It was to avoid the danger of such incidents that the Ontario Legislation decided to put the administration of police affairs into the hands of an independent commission, composed of the Police Magistrate, the County Judge and the Mayor, a trio of citizens who may be expected to have a keen interest in the welfare of their home city and in the maintenance of law and order. In all Ontario cities the law requires that the police department shall be controlled by such a commission and rightly so. It is a system that tends to efficiency and permanency of policy in the department and at the same time protects the citizens without having the police at the beck and call of every member of the city council and hampered by over-zealous or interfering aldermen. Some of the Sanitary Inspectors who have been in the civic employ here could give very interesting testimony as to the difficulty of efficiently carrying out the duties of that position under the control of the council and with aldermen ready at all times to complain if their own interests and those of their friends were in any way interfered with. And the policemen would have precisely the same experience under the system that the city council has taken the responsibility of endorsing. A return to the old method would be a reactionary step that would be going back thirty years. Premier Drury and his Cabinet can give a proof of their sound judgment by paying little attention to the local resolution which went through council with as little discussion as a motion to build a crossing.

PRODUCTION THE REMEDY.

The question of production is the one great factor that determines the cost of any article or product whether it is production on the farm, in the mines, or in the factory. If we are to get cheaper food stuffs we must produce more. If we are to get cheaper boots, more boots will require to be made, the same with clothing. In shortage of production everybody is affected adversely. Rich and poor labourer, mechanic, artistan or professional man and of those who demand the necessary articles of life, food and clothing, the worker is by far the great majority, consequently is it not a reasonable statement to make that if the employees in a shoe factory turn out more boots, that workers in every line of activity will benefit, that of will turn out more clothes that the same result will be obtained. It is only reasonable to suppose that if a man will only turn out two articles of a kind when he has previously turned out three the cost of that article must go up in price accordingly. In the man it is production or lack of production that is the great cost factor more than a fair wage.

In this connection the New York Sun made a review of production conditions in ten chief industrial sections of the United States in its issue of December 1st, which it summarizes as follows:

NEW YORK—Normal production is being maintained in the printing trades, but the individual output has decreased from 15 to 20 per cent. in the last five years. Shipbuilding reports a heavy decrease in production. Prohibition is blamed for the unrest among the workingmen.

PHILADELPHIA—Old standards are being maintained where relations between employer and employee are intimate. In other shops and factories a decrease from 25 to 30 per cent. is found.

PITTSBURG—Labor is holding up and endeavouring to take up the slack caused by the shortage of help. Production is falling off per man in the organized crafts.

BALTIMORE—Decrease from 30 to 40 per cent. in output of labor is found. Wages in the textile industry doubled and production decreased more than 50 per cent.

BIRMINGHAM—Increase shown in production, but with labor generally indifferent. Conditions satisfactory.

CLEVELAND—Production shows a decline where no time studies are kept; unit production on the increase; decline noticeable in all lines.

DETROIT—Increased demand for finished materials is being filled with no slackening apparent on the part of labor, although demand for help is increasing.

MINNEAPOLIS—Volume of production about the same as in pre-war days with labor scarce.

KANSAS CITY—Production normal, but with manufacturers increasing output; open shop prevails.

ST. LOUIS—Production advancing, but individual output lower than during war; let down in spirit and efficiency of labor noticeable.

BLIND FIVE YEARS, REGAINS SIGHT

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Maimed and crippled seventeen years ago by an attack of burglars and blind for the last five years, John G. Henry, of this city, has regained his sight through an operation by a Chicago specialist.

Henry was attacked in his home by burglars in 1902 and badly beaten. His injuries caused total blindness five years ago. Friends who recently became interested in him had him sent to Chicago where the successful operation was performed.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Lindsay's night policeman is to be kept awake by having the Hydro lights flashed wherever his services are needed. Why not ring the fire alarm?

Being an alderman in Kitchener must be an exciting occupation.

Members of the local council who escape with a little mild criticism, newspaper or verbal, are no doubt thankful that their jurisdiction does not include Waterloo County.

Only three weeks left to do that Christmas shopping.

By the way it will take that long to get in view of the holiday turkey which is establishing a new altitude record.

If Premier Drury does not think his services are worth $12,000 is he a big enough man to be at the head of the affairs of Canada's greatest province?

This is the time of the year many men mistake personal ambition for a call to office.

LONG BRANCH, N.J., Dec. 1.—Pte. Truman Lindsay, 28 years old, dislocated his neck here while sprawled out in his bunk at Camp Alfred Vail Signal Corps.

Lindsay turned quickly around and the dislocation took place.

He is a member of the Pigeon Detachment of the 15th Service Company, and a native of New Windsor, Va.

The young soldier's condition is critical.

PLENTY OF HOCKEY MATERIAL FOR OSHAWA

OSHAWA, Dec. 3.—With so many young men back from the war, Oshawa has seemingly plenty of material for intermediate and junior hockey teams. It is expected that there will be a lively town league this season. The McLaughlin and the Chevrolet have their athletic associations organized and several other teams will likely be forthcoming.

A church league is another probability. The King Street and the South Oshawa Methodist churches have organzed and will enter teams if a league is formed.

ENGLISH PLAYS HERE

(Montreal Star)

At a time when Canadians are beginning to see prospects of controlling their own theatres, it is most opportune that an English actor-manager of the standing of Percy Hutchison should come to this country with an English production intact from London. In bringing "The Luck of the Navy" to Canada, Mr. Hutchison is fulfilling the ambition of years,—to visit this Dominion and see for himself what prospects it holds out for British plays and British artists. With thirty years' experience of the stage, one of the most prominent of living actor-managers of Great Britain, lessee of a number of theatres and controller of a number of plays and prominent artists, Mr. Hutchison is in the position of a man who seeks new fields of exploitation and who is anxious first and foremost that his enterprises shall expand within the British Empire.

For Mr. Hutchison is a Britisher to the backbone. He is proud to see the Union Jack flying in Canada, proud to be a citizen of the Empire. He sees in the All-Red route also the route by which British plays interpreted by British actors ought to be sent through the Empire. He sees moreover, the immense possibilities such a scheme presents for a closer sympathy, a better understanding, a keener comprehension, as between the various Dominions that compose the Empire.

"After all, what are actors and actresses touring the Empire but messengers of the Empire?" said Mr. Hutchison, discussing his hopes and aims with the writer. "We come here to see Canada as much as for any other purpose. British companies presenting British plays through the various Dominions must of necessity be virtual messengers of Empire, and they learn the ideas and ideals and ways of the Dominions they visit. This mutual exchange cannot but lead to a strengthening of mutual sympathy to a stronger mutual regard to a more comprehensive mutual understanding. Thuse are the bonds that Empire ever forged anew, growing stronger and stronger."

Keen interest was manifested by Mr. Hutchison in the new Transcanada Theatres enterprise, which has for its ultimate object precisely the same ideal as he himself cherishes regarding the production of British plays by British companies in Canada. He realizes that it is not as much to the advantage of Britishers from the Old Country to know and understand Canada and the Canadians it is for Canadians to know and understand the Motherland. The way is opened for a broadening of viewpoints, for the cultivation of a wider aestheticism, and for the development of a national taste in drama.

Particularly after having visited a number of the ruling successes in the American metropolis, where sensual appeal finds a tremendous clientele, is it made apparent that any scheme under which Canada can secure a continuous supply of British production by companies sent straight from England is likely to prove of incalculable value to this country as well as to the English stage.

Mr. Hutchison feels so keenly that the British actor has a mission as a messenger of Empire that he intends to give his theory practical expression by sending other British productions over from England. If he is convinced as the result of the success of "The Luck of the Navy" that the Canadian theatre-goer wants British plays. He recalls the enthusiasm with which his uncle, the late Sir Charles Wyndham spoke of his reception in Canada on his return to England after his tour of this country, and the ardor with which that famous actor urged him to visit this Dominion himself.

It was his meeting with the thousands of Canadian and Australian soldiers who were entertained at various theatres under his control in London during the war, however, that finally impelled Mr. Hutchison to take this the earliest opportunity he has had since the cessation of hostilities, to see this Dominion for himself. He is full of enthusiasm about his tour, and is looking forward eagerly to meeting and talking with Canadians wherever he goes.

Many of the soldiers who visited his theatre urged him to bring a company to Canada. But Mr. Hutchison served in the British Navy during a considerable period of the war, and was therefore unable to pay us a visit as soon as he would otherwise have done. Now he is here, with a play that is British all through a company that is also British all through, and eager and willing to send across the seas not one, but many similar organizations in the future.

It rests after all, with the Canadian public. I see no reason to think that Mr. Hutchison will have any reason to do other than be glad he has come to us, just as I believe we shall have very excellent reasons within a short time for being equally glad that we gave him a warm welcome.

Dandruff Surely Destroys the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails

Eagles are so plentiful in the mountains near Selma, Cal., as to be a serious nuisance to stockmen. They have a strong preference for sucking pigs, and a stockman says that in one season fully 200 young pigs were carried from his ranch by eagles.

NIGHT COUGHS PREVENT SLEEP WEAR OUT THE SYSTEM

The dry, hacking cough, cough, day and night is very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy without an equal for curing coughs and colds, soothing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening and healing the breathing organs, and fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mrs. Fred. Fairburn, Copper Cliff, Ont., writes:—"I caught a heavy cold, got a sore throat and had a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I had tried quite a few remedies, but they did not seem to do me much good until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles my cough was all gone.

"It seemed to loosen the cough right away so that I could spit up the phlegm that gathered in my throat, and also took that hot, raw, burning fever out of my bronchial tubes. I feel that Dr. Wood's has no equal."

New York Grand Jury Returns Charge Against Radical Leaders

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The extraordinary grand jury this afternoon returned indictments against James Larkin, the Irish agitator, and Benjmin Gitlow, former Socialist assemblyman from New York, and "many others" on charges of criminal anarchy.

Bench warrants were issued for those indicted and Justice Weeks refused even to intimate how many were affected.

Larkin and Gitlow are at liberty on $10,000 bail each, following their recent arrest on charges of publishing the "Revolutionary Age", which advocates establishment of a proletariat government in the United States.

WAR INCREASED FISH.

London—The Scarborough fish market is glutted with fish as a result of big catches being made by fishermen plying from that port. The fishermen declare that they never saw so many fish as are now being caught in the North Sea and attribute the bountiful supply to the fact that fish increased rapidly during the war when there was little fishing on account of German U-boats.

A CURE FOR CANCER.

London—A cure for cancer will be discovered shortly, according to the prophecy of Sir James Cantile, the eminent surgeon, who recently preached at St. Peter's church. He contended that if the authorities will give the doctors the power and money required, they will abolish every disease, tuberculosis and cancer included.

Girls! Your hair needs a little "Danderine"—that's all! When it becomes lifeless, thin or loses its lustre; when ugly dandruff appears, or your hair falls out, a 35-cent bottle of delightful, dependable "Danderine" from any store, will save your hair, also double it's beauty. You can have nice, thick hair, too.

SYDNEY LANDON AT THE CONSERVATORY

LAST EVENING'S ENTERTAINMENT WAS ONE OF THE BEST OF THE SEASON.

Last evening at the second of the Lyceum attractions which the Conservatory of Music is presenting this winter, Sydney Landon, the famous impersonator, provided an evening equally clever, humorous, interesting and instructive. His subject, "Speaking Likenesses of Great Men" was developed through a ramble through bookland, in which the artist created personalities of several of the literary lights whose works are well known to the world, leaving the audience with a feeling they had become personally acquainted with the great men who Landon impersonated.

Standing in full view of the audience, with a few touches and in an incredibly short time, Mr. Landon changed his appearance to that of the artist he wished to impersonate, meanwhile giving a short review of the man's life. His make-up complete, Mr. Landon then, using the little eccentricities known through either history of personal knowledge of the artist, quoted some masterpiece of his.

The first impersonation was that of the great egotist, Victor Hugo who, returning frim his twenty years' banishment in Guernsey, was tendered one of the greatest receptions France ever gave to any of her sons. Transforming himself in a moment into an exact reproduction of Hugo, old, shaken, and trembling on the brink of the grave on the occasion of his 80th birthday, when the reception was given him, Landon in a shaking voice, reproduced Hugo's speech given upon the occasion, with startling realism.

The recreation of Edgar Allan Poe was a work of art. Using as he said only the human canvas, with a few touches of make-up and false hair, Landon turned to the audience the living reproduciton of the erratic genius, and repeated in a most effective manner Annabel Lee.

His next impersonation, a character created by James Whitcomb Riley, kept the audience in roars of laughter from the time the quaint old person from Green's corners limped rheumatically on to the stage, throughout his address deploring the strides society had taken and graphic description of real pleasure at Green's corners in his day, until the spell was broken as the artist removed his make up and the audience realized they had listened not to an original but to an impersonation.

The programme was concluded by a most effective interpretation of the man, who, in the opinion of London should have been Poet Laureate of England, Rudyard Kipling. This impersonation was given through the artist's impression received when he heard Kipling speak at his last visit to Canada. His recital of Kipling's poem, explaining what life meant to him, was startling in its realism and practically brought the great poet to the view of the audience.

EMERGENCY COAL IS COMING TO CANADA

SUPPLY IS NOW MOVING, SAYS MAGRATH—HARRINGTON GETS A SUPPLY.

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—I am informed that some of the emergency coal supply allotted to Canada is moving at the present time but, of course, cannot say definately how long the movement will continue," said Fuel Controller C. A. Magrath, when asked about the statement of Canadian Railway War Board officials to the effect that not a car had been received.

Officials of the fuel section of the Canadian Trade Commission state that there was no change in the situation, though they are in constant touch with Washington in an endeavor to have more coal released to Canadian users. The effect of the embargo on the bunkering of British and Canadian owned ships is also being taken up with the fuel administration there.

It is unerstood that unless there is a decided change for the better in the course of a very short time, drastic regulations covering the use of coal for non-essential purposes will be put into effect.

Relief for some Ontario firms was secured by the fuel administration when the Public Works Department turned over 3,000 tons of coal on the Welland Canal to the fuel section and they in turn handed it over to Fuel Administrator Harrington, who was able to spread it out among the industries which showed the greatest need for fuel.

The coke situation is very serious it was stated, only 150 cars of foundry coke have been released to Canada since the embargo was placed in effect, and all efforts to secure more have been unavailing. Unless further supplies are released within the immediate future it is feared that 50 per cent. of the industries in Canada using coke will be forced to cease operations.

SPEECH BY PRINCE NEW THE KING.

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Dec. 4.—One who was present at the banquet given by the King at Buckingham Palace in honor of the return of the Prince of Wales says the occasion was the first when the King had heard the Prince make a formal speech. The King himself concluded his own remarks by saying: "His mother and I are proud of him."

Most men would save a lot of money by letting others do the speculating.

LABOUR COUNCIL POSTPONES THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF ITS CANDIDATES

APPOINTS SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO ORGANIZE ASSISTANCE FOR ALD McINTYRE IN THE MAYORALTY ELECTIONS—MR. C. E. SISSON SUGGESTED AS CANDIDATE FOR UTILITIES COMMISSION.

W. K. Sanderson a prominent Labour man of St. Thomas and chairman of that city's Hydro-electric committee was endorsed by the local Trades and Labour Council last night as a nominee for a position on the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario representing organized Labour. He has recommended to the Trades Councils of the province by the Labour Council of St. Thomas which in a circular letter has enumerated his long experience in public offices and his other qualifications that are regarded as amply fittting him for this important appointment now in the gift of the Drury administration.

Suggests C. E. Sisson.

An official delegation of C. G. E. engineers, Messrs. Langley, Shirley and Barnes suggested to the Labour Council, Mr. Charles E. Sisson as a candidate for the Utilities Commission in the municipal elections in January. They made it clear that Mr. Sisson was not seeking this position, but that from a desire to assist in securing efficiency in the management of the city's affairs they believed that an engineer had special qualifications for the Utilities Commission. With other engineers they had surveyed their ranks and concluded that Mr. Sisson was the best choice. He was interested in the city's affairs had a high standing in his profession and was possessed of sound common sense and an excellent character.

The deputation emphasized that they did not represent the Engineers' club nor any other association, but had taken the initiative solely in the hope that their suggestion might find the approval that would encourage Mr. Sisson to enter the municipal contest as a candidate for the Commission.

This request was referred to the Labour Council's special committtee for election purposes, and President Bolwell assured the delegation that it would receive a sympathetic consideration.

The Labour Council was anxious for efficient civic administration, he said, desired to be represented in the various elective departments to the very best advantage.

Must Accept Platform

In a subsequent discussion on this question it was agreed that to obtain organized Labour's support any candidate for election must accept the Labour platform. It was the general opinion of the Council that a capable engineer should make a good commissioner, but it was also pointed out that a lawyer, manufacturer and coal merchant had carried on the business of the Utilities Commission under the assistance or guidance of their own engineer Mr. Ross Dobbin.

To Assist Ald. McIntyre.

A special committee was appointed to promote the candidature of Ald. A. A. McIntyre for the mayoralty.

Withhold Aldermanic Slate.

Reporting for the special committee that is securing other municipal candidates, Mr. Wm. Rudkins advised that the announcement of their recommendations be postponed for two weeks. He stated that there were good reasons for this delay, one of which was that of good tactics in not showing their hand too early.

Messrs. Bolwell and Matthews were appointed to the I. L. P. committee that is engaged in the task of securing information relative to the establishment of a labour paper in this city.

Paid Union Wages.

Referring to Ald. Edgar's aspersion of Ald. McIntyre's attitude on union wages, Mr. T. H. Lane said that Ald. McIntyre was one of the first contracting carpenters in the city to pay the union scale of 67½ last summer. "He was the first to pay the higher scale and nearly the only one", said Mr. Lane.

Ald. McIntyre briefly explained that last Spring while he was working on the Peterboro Cereal building on a commission basis before the wage scale was increased, it was 60c an hour, and that for a considerable time he paid the men an extra wage out of his own pocket.

The meeting with something between an enquiry and a debate and mostly a symposium of opinions on the salaries of civic employees, with emphasis and reiteration on that ancient and homely aphorism "Them that has gets" in which the street cleaners were mentioned as those who "haven't got" and therefore "don't get."

IS THE 'FLU A NEW DISEASE?

REAPPEARANCE OF EPIDEMIC LEADS TO DISCUSSION ON SUBJECT

The reappearance of 'flu at many points brings up the old question as to whether it is a new disease or a new form of some very common ailment. The general consensus of medical opinion is that it is a germ disease of a virulent type which first attacks the membranes of the nose and throat and then spreads to some vital organ where it develops very quickly and does fearful work.

The symptoms of 'flu are about the same as those of a cold in the head, and for that reason it is now positively unsafe to allow a cold to go without attention. Treatment should be started as soon as the head starts closing up, the nose starts running or the sufferer starts sneezing. Let these conditions run for 24 hours and acute trouble is liable to develop, possibly resulting in an attack of pleurisy, pneumonia or kindred ailments.

If Grip Fix is taken when the cold is starting, relief may be expected in a single night. Even if the cold has reached the Grippe stage, 48 hours treatment is usually effective. Grip Fix contains nothing but the drugs your physician would order, a full list of which is given on every box. It comes in capsule form, and in a night will relieve the closed up condition of the head, overcome the fever, allay the muscular soreness and tone up the system.

Be prepared. Have Grip Fix in the house. Be sure to get the original Reid's Grip Fix. It's on sale at all druggists at 35c per box.

IMPERIAL BONUS HELD TILL JANUARY

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—Because the complete military records have not been received from England, it is believed that the 80,000 Canadians who served in the Imperial forces will not receive the money equalizing their gratuity with that paid to members of the C.E.F. until January. The average will be about $240 for each man.

SOME THIRTY NATIONS

The Chinese may be regarded as the most thrifty nation in the world. In daily life they are frugal, sober, and industrious. Their wants are few and easily satisfied. The poorer class live almost entirely on rice and vegetables, to which they sometimes add small pieces of fish and milk. Their clothes are of the cheapest kind, and they are so accustomed to crowded apartments that house rent forms an insignificantt item in a Chinaman's expenditure. Thus a Chinaman would live where a European would starve, and it is on account of the advantages which he thus possesses, combined with sobriety and frugality, that he is able to underbid the American workman in California and the British colonist in Australia in almost every branch of industry.

The Dutch have the character of being a most thrifty people. They live on the plainest food and eat little meat, their fare being generally rye bread, milk, cheese, butter, and dried fish, which is all produced in their own country. Although wages are low, they manage to save money; they are always cleanly and comfortably dressed, and live in good houses, which for neatness and cleanliness are unsurpassed.

France is also a thrifty country. Among the peasantry the same fashion of clothing prevails from one generation to another, and this is conducive to economy. French cookery is proverbially economical, and a French family will live comfortably, according to their ideas, on what would be a miserable insufficiency to a family of the same number and station in England, and what is more, they manage to save besides.

A New Blood-Food Has Been Discovered That Works Wonders

SAID TO PUT NEW LIFE INTO PEOPLE THAT ARE RUN-DOWN.

For years doctors have been searching for a combination that would enable them to inject into thin blood the elements it lacked. This can now be done, and any weak-blooded person can quickly be made strong and well.

Already a small army of ailing people has proved the merit of taking after each meal with a sip or two of water, two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets. This is easily done, and even one week's use of this wonderful blood-food will prove how nourishing and strengthening and flesh-building the treatment is.

Just think of it—Ferrozone uplifts the entire nervous system, removes the blood, makes it rich and red — gives the sort of aid that's needed in throwing off weakness and languor.

Tens of thousands enjoy the advantages of renewed health through Ferrozone;—if you'll only use it, you'll surely grow strong too; its beneficial action is noticed even in a week. You see it goes right to work, removes the causes of the trouble and then quickly makes a cure.

For those who sleep poorly and have nervous apprehensions. Ferrozone is a boon; it is a specialist in such cases.

Where there is paleness, poor appetite and languor. Ferrozone makes the patient feel like new in a few days.

In tiredness, nerve exhaustion, spring fever and debility, the power of Ferrozone is known from coast to coast and universally used with grand results.

Let Ferrozone build you up let it win you back to robust health,—it will do so quickly if you give it the chance. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name Ferrozone.

LATE BAVARIAN KING LIVES LIFE OF EASE

LUDWIG HAS NO DESIRE TO GO BACK TO THRONE.

GENEVA—"The pickings of the king business are rather lean," is the statement credited to ex-King Constantine of Greece, by a correspondent who has just visited many of the ousted monarchs and princelings in Switzerland, which has become the favorite bemoaning ground of scores of discarded crowned heads.

Neither Constantine nor Ludwig of Bavaria, nor Carl, nor the others understand their hard lot.

To the query "What do you think of the ex-Kaiser?" Constantine, the one-time tool of Wilhelm, replied:

"There are some things one cannot discuss with newspaper men."

"What about the divine right of kings?"

"I am afraid that is an exploded myth nowadays," Constantine replied. "But all the same I cannot see why we should be treated so harshly. Kings are simply the servants of their subjects. They have no will of their own, and can do nothing without their peoples approval.

"Why, then, should we not have been left in peace by the Allies, to live our lives and keep our courts as usual?"

While Constantine has lost his kingly ways and lives in abject terror of assassination, Ludwig of Bavaria leads the comfortable life of a country gentleman, walks a great deal and takes a childish delight in having tourists snap him in their hunt for pictures.

"I have no wish to go back," he declares. "I like the quiet life here, the freedom from cares and responsibilities. I am happy now, happier than when the cares of state oppressed me.

"I admit sometimes I feel we have been the victims of base ingratitude, but there are compensations in being able to live one's own life."

Karl of Austria still retains much of the air of royalty. He divides his time between the beautiful castle of Wartegg and a great mansion on the shores of Lake Geneva. Beyond an alibi, he has little to say.

"I do not want to be worried by the politics and the quarrels of the nations," he says.

"I had nothing to do with the making of the war. I have no enmity toward Great Britain or France. Everybody knows that all my life I have been well disposed toward them, and, had I been free to determine the course to be taken, my country would not have been in the war."

Members of his suite are more outspoken. Among the many other grievances they spill indiscriminately is one regarding the shooting privileges. Karl has a large estate and loves sport, but, they say, it is a crime that the next estate belongs to a gentleman named Paderewski, who happens to be president of Poland. And Karl dare not overstep the boundaries of his estate for fear of international complications with Poland.

Somebody, evidently, has put one over on the royal party, for investigation shows the Paderewski estate to be many miles up the lake, with many estates intervening between it and the boundaries of Karl's shooting preserve.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes, and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

World's Biggest Drydock Will Be Built at St. John.

To Ward Off Winter Complexion Ills

To keep the face smooth, white and beautiful all winter, there's nothing quite so good as ordinary mercolized wax. Rough, chapped or discolored skin, inevitable in this weather, is gently absorbe by the wax and replaced by the newer, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, the latter being applied at bedtime and washed off morningn. Creams, powders and rouges, on the other hand, are apt to appear conspicuous at this season, because of alternating expansion and contraction of the skin, due to changing temperatures. You are advised to try this simple treatment. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drugstore and use like cold cream. This will help any complexion at once, and in a week or so the skin will look remarkably youthful and healthy.

"I do not know how you ever stand it day after day like this. One afternoon's shopping does me up for about two days."

"I suppose we will get a rest after Christmas."

"But don't you have terrible headaches? I always do after shopping. The doctor says it is the eye strain which exhausts the nervous system."

"No, I do not have headaches any more. I used to but by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I got my nervous system in good condition and that is how I am able to keep going and stand the strain of Christmas shopping."

"I have often heard my friends tell about using this Nerve Food but have never tried it myself."

"Well nearly all the girls here use it when they get run down and tired out and it is wonderful how they are benefitted."

"Do you know I think I must need something like that or I would not tire out so easily."

"Our Welfare Department recommends it to the girls as the best way to keep up their vitality and also as a means of fortifying the system against contagious diseases such as the "Flu" or even common colds."

"That is something I did not think about."

"It is important to us for we are constantly in contact with all sorts of people and never know when they are carrying disease germs. We are told that the best way to fight disease germs is by keeping fit and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helps to keep the system in good healthful condition."

BRITISH PRINCE WANTED TO SEE REAL NEW YORK

IT WAS AN OPEN SECRET THAT HE WANTED TO VISIT INCOGNITO.

NEW YORK.—The Prince of Wales has visited us. Before coming to New York he knew precisely what he wanted to do. He wanted to see the city. It was an open secret in his party that he had hoped to visit the town incognito, so, that he might really see it. One can imagine that a lively youth like the Prince could have a pretty good time here if he were not too grossly pestered.

A visit by night to the lower East Side is worth the while of any man, be he king or commoner. The streets swarm with people from every nation in Europe—it is hardly too much to say that representatives are there from every people in the world. The Bronx Zoo is worthy a hurried call, and the water trip about the island is enlightening. The Prince is both soldier and sailor and a glance at the Brooklyn Navy Yard might interest him. A dash through the miles of residential streets, a saunter unattended down Broadway's roaring lane of light, a glance into the cabaret restaurants, a touch of over the top in the subway, a rattle uptown in an L train.—

Things of that sort might conceivably please the Prince, who is a live wire, for all that surface diffidence that makes his knees shake when he addresses a crowd. He is bored immeasurably by high society, but he can talk pleasantly to a pretty girl, But he is a Prince. And so he was taken to Grant's Tomb, and was dined and danced and addressed.

Prince Knows Slang.

Which recalls a possibly apocryphal story. Whether true or not, however, the Prince has a real liking for American slang. He is even able to use it in the right way at the right time, which is a gift. The average foreigner who tries to unbend by using our "quaint Americanisms" present a painful spectacle. Anyhow the story goes that there were two corner-stone layings in London one day. It was the duty of the Prince to take out the royal trowel and lay one. The King was to officiate at the other. The Prince had done his duty and was on his way home when he suddenly encountered the King. He slipped behind the stalwart officer who attended him before the paternal eye fell upon him:

"Beat it," said the Prince in a violent whisper, "or we're pinched."

Horse Show Backs More Dimpled

The poor old Horse Show played against feverish competition. There was a time when the Horse Show was the principal event of the year, even dwarfing the opera and Mrs. Astor's pearls in the newspaper space it seized. The papers sent their best reporters to it, and the boxholders were described in the most finicking detail. The first breach in the wall of reverses about the horse and his worshippers was made when Irvin Cobb discovered Mrs. W. E. Corey wearing an emerald in one ear and a ruby in the other.

"She looked," he observed, "like a Lenox local," and the town screamed.

This year the show was hardly mentioned in the press in the days preceding its opening. Gabriel d'Annunzi in Fiume, the Senate and the treaty, the President on the lawn for the first time, the arrival of the Prince of Wales, good old H. C. L., I. W. W.'s shooting and being shot at, the soothing theory of "Envoy Martens of Soviet Russia that merely to advocate the destruction of government by force is not aggressive propaganda, the game of Imperator, Imperator, Who Gets the Imperator? in the peace conference.

Even on its opening day the Horse Show "went inside," as the make-up editors phrase it. A few familiar names were discovered in the list of boxholders. Most of the horse lovers of the elder days were to be found at the automobile show. The very excellent backs presented to the view of thecircling proletariat in the evening were new backs, strange backs, backs that in some cases had never been seen in public before. It must be conceded that the vertebrae this year were somewhat more dimpled than in the days when the horse really amounted to something.

Woes of a Lace Smuggler.

Smuggling is still being done. But it is not being done so flagrantly as it used to be. Likewise, the detected smuggler cannot kiss himself out of the hole, as he once could do. So the uptown dressmaker who had swathed himself in point lace before stepping on the pier felt pardonably nervous when the customs officer spoke to him.

"Stand aside," said the officer, "until we can attend to you."

He stood for hours. From time to time he begged for action, but was always sent back to his stand. Beads of perspiration appeared on his forehead. He was forced to strip his gloves from off his dripping hands. His collar melted. He was not warm—nor was it a warm day—but patches of black damp appeared on the breast of his silk shirt. At last his trunks were opened and examined and he paid the duty and was permitted to go unharmed. But his smuggled point lace was valueless when he unrolled himself at home. It had been ruined by perspiration.

THERE IS DANGER IN TENDER GUMS

To preserve healthy teeth the ordinary tooth-paste is futile. You must first care for the gums, on which tooth health depends.

How many people think of this? Yet four out of five people over forty suffer from gum-decay, or Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease).

At first the gums become tender, though actual gum-shrinkage is imperceptible. But in time receding gums will surely loosen your teeth, and then only a dentist can save them. The tender, bleeding gums of Pyorrhea also act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's (For the Gums) prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. This means that it prevents gum-shrinkage, gum-tenderness, gum-bleeding. So, automatically, Forhan's prevents tooth loosening.

Brush your teeth with it. It scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for treatment.

A WONDERFUL VEIL OF BEAUTY

The Queen of Siam owns a toilet article which is altogether calculated to fill the hearts of all other ladies of the kingdom with ardent desire an envy. For the queen is the happy possessor of a veil capable of beautifying her face most wonderfully. The veil is a delicate tissue of the finest threads but woven so as to have some resistance. Part of this long veil is intended to conceal the face while the remainder flows down over the figure and closely nestles to the body. The veil, which falls over the back, is completely sown over with diamond dust, while the part in front is less dusted, so as not to impair the face an the organs of sense. The lowest ends of the veil are covered with brilliants. Naturally, the veil has an almost inestimable value as the dusting with diamonds is extremely difficult and from time to time must be renewed.

The tissue of the veil is so prepared as to cause changes in color when exposed to the air. No sooner has the wearer stepped into the street than the veil assumes a delicate rosy hue, which deepens and as it were becomes animate the longer it remains in the open. When the Queen returns to her abode the hue passes away and the veil turns pale and dead as before.

The veil has been credited with possessing the most wonderful powers. For a century it has been in the possession of the royal house of Siam, and although constantly used and exposed to all kinds o finfluences of the weather it has not lost anything of its texture and beauty.

THE FARM AND FACTORY

COL. GRANT MORDEN, M.P., ON CANADA'S DUAL DESTINY.

"Canada was never in such a magnificent psition as now for doing a great export business," is the verdict of Lt. Col. W. Grant Morden, M. P., who has recently returned from a prolonged visit to the Dominion.

"You must bear in mind," he explained to a newspaper correspondent who asked for a statement on the present economic situation in Canada, "that the Dominion is no longer only a great farming country. The war has changed all that. Under the pressure of military requirements it has grown in five years into a great industrial and manufacturing nation. The gap between war and peace conditions has been successfully bridged, and thanks to the excellent measures taken by the Dominion Government, the transition has been remarkably.

"There have, of course, been labor troubles; but the effervescence which produced situations like that in Winnipeg, is now settling down and it may safely be said that the trouble is over. The returned soldiers are being rapidly absorbed into the industrial an agricultural systems; and, provided two or three conditions are observed, Canada will go ahead in the next few years by leaps and bounds. In fact, one can put no limit to the possibilities of expansion."

Asked what those conditions were, Col. Grant Morden said that Canada must have a mercantile marine, flying the Canadian flag, and with regular sailings to all the chief ports of the world.

"Hitherto," said he, "the bulk of the Canadian exports have been carried on tramp steamers, which paid the higher insurance rates for coming up the St. Lawrence, only when they had failed to pick up cargoes at New York, Boston and other ports. Thus the shipper was left in uncertainty when a vessel would arrive to take his goods. All that sort of thing must be altered and big lines of steamers under Canadian direction must be established. We have made a beginning with one line sailing to France, in association with the French Compagnie Transatlantique. This line possesses six fine vessels, and it finds an enormous demand for its services. But one line is not enough; our manufacturers need many more. The shortage of tonnage is blocking Canadian expansion. For instance, I know great steel works which are working only ten per cent. of their capaci because they cannot send their output overseas for lack of cargo room; and a similar situation exists in other trades."

Another prime condition of expansion, eaid Col. Grant Morden, was a better organization of Canadian trade interests on this side.

"Canada needs to-day business man of the first rank, one who knows the work from end to end. This view is shared by any Canadian with any claim to commercial knowledge.

"One of the first tasks awaiting such a High Commissioner is the co-ordination of the work of the Agents General of the Provinces. Hitherto(unlike their Australian colleagues they have possessed no official status. In fact, the Agent-General of Ontario, representing the enormous interests of the richest province in Canada, has been little more than a commercial traveller, so far as recognition by the High Commissioner is concerned. A thorough-going reform in this direction, comprising the full official recognition of the Agents-General and the co-ordination of the business activities of their office, would give invaluable assistance to the development of trade relations between Canada and the Mother Country. A business expert as High Commissioner could also foster the growth of trade by the recommendation of credit—a most important matter. The time is more than ripe for a breaking away from bad traditions, and for the encouragement in official quarters here of all-round expansion between this country and the Dominion."

The newspaper correspondent, in closing the interview inquired whether Canada required British labour at the present time.

"Only on the land," was Col. Grant Morden's reply, "The Dominion can always absorb agricultural workers. But industrial labour—no. At the moment, while the process of reabsorption of the labour displaced by service in the army or in war industries, is going on, there must of necessity be a certain amount of unemployment. Until that is satisfactorily adjusted the intending emigrant who does not intend to go on the land had better remain at home. In any cases no tonnage for emigration is now available. But in twelve months' time possibly the whole position will have changed, and a new demand for labour arise. But of that it is too early to speak with certainty."

To Consumers of BITUMINOUS COAL

The Fuel Controller for Canada, having succeeded in securing a daily allotment of Bituminous Coal for Canada, is obliged, in view of the great demand, to confine shipments to public utilities and hospitals.

All other users of Bituminous Coal must secure their requirements from the stocks of coal now in storage in Ontario until such time as public utilities and hospitals have secured a supply sufficient to carry them through the Winter, or until the United States Government increases the present allotment.

Importers of Bituminous Coal are cautioned not to order shipments forward, as no Coal will be permitted to leave the United States until so ordered by the United States Government.

BECKETT IS THE FAVOURITE IN TO-NIGHT'S BATTLE IN LONDON

BECKETT HAS A REAL WALLOP IN EACH PAW AND IS LIKELY TO PUT THE FRENCHMAN TO SLEEP EARLY IN THE BOUT—A COMPARISON.

(United Press.)

LONDON, December 4.—Georges Carpentier is the popular favourite to win, but the money has gone on his bulky opponent, Joe Beckett. Odds of five to four prevailed here to-day that the British champion would win from the King of the French Heavyweights.

The twenty-round fight to-night in Colburn Stadium for a purse of $50,000.00 and the right to meet Jack Dempsey for the championship is the biggest sporting event in Europe since the beginning of the war.

Less than five thousand spectators will watch the fight.

Hundreds of Frenchmen, however, were still coming across the Channel following the tip that standing room would be sold.

THE LOGICAL WINNER.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(By Henry L. Farrell).—If there weren't so many "ifs" to consider, doping the winner of the Carpentier-Beckett fight to-night in London would be a simple process. London, after seeing both battlers, has made Beckett a favourite at five to four, and he appears to be the logical winner.

In a twenty-round battle the old axiom of brains being better than brawn, does not always go.

Carpentier, a boxer of the scientific type, has shown no indication of possessing the punch to put away the rugged, heavy, bruising gipsy fighter, Joe Beckett.

Beckett packs the well-known wallop, and if Georges Carpentier is able to dance away from him through half the fight until the Welshman gets tired, he has a chance to win on points.

On the other hand, Beckett's rushing, slugging tactics may force the Frenchman to lay aside some of his science and mix it. The Welshman then has a chance to slip one over that may win him $25,000.00.

HOCKEY

Oshawa's O.H.A. Material.

With so many young men back from the war Oshawa has plenty of material for O.H.A. Intermediate and junior hockey teams. It is expected that there will be a lively town league this season. The McLaughlins and the Chevrolet have their athletic associations organized and several other teams will likely be in the running. A church league is another probability. The King street and the South Oshawa Methodist churches have organized and will enter teams if a league is formed.

EX-CHIEF HOWARD IS A CANDIDATE

FORMER PETERBOROUGH OFFICIAL WANTS BERTH ON THE EXECUTIVE OF THE O.H.A.

Among the candidates for the Ontario Hockey Association Executive is none other than Mr. W. A. Howard, former Chief of the Peterborough Fire Department. Mr. Howard is the nominee of the Bracebridge Hockey Club, and a circular sent out by that club to the different O.H.A. teams reads as follows:

The Bracebridge Hockey Club has nominated Mr. W. A. Howard, of this town, as a candidate for the O.H.A. Executive Committee. This section of the Province, though represented by several teams in the playing schedules for many years, has never had representation in the governing body, and, we think, the election of Mr. Howard will mean the organization of several new clubs in the districts of Muskoka and Parry Sound, and be in the interests of hockey generally.

Mr. Howard, who is the managing director of the Queen's Hotel, Bracebridge, has always taken a keen interest in sports and been an enthusiastic and liberal supporter of hockey. He is a native of London, Ont., and has resided in Kitchener, Owen Sound, Toronto and Peterborough, in which last-mentioned city he was an official. He is well and favourably known in these centres, and his general knowledge of the Province would be of valuable assistance in the administration of the O. H. A.

Your club's support will be greatly appreciated.—Yours respectfully,

The Bracebridge Hockey Club.
John Andrews, Pres.
Dr. R. M. Anderson, Secty.

M.P., HALF DAZED FROM BLOWS

and made no move to do so. A fist flew out and he was promptly knocked down again. It was very difficult for a time to restore order, the demand coming from all sides that he be thrown into the lake. Eventually several friends who had come over from the club with him, one, a returned officer, succeeding in getting him a hearing.

The latter said Mr. Euler had come over of his own free will and was deserving of fair play. "Cut out the Masonic stuff," he was told.

No Reason For It.

Mr. Euler when allowed to speak, said that: "There is no more reason to kiss the flag than there is for you to kiss it."

Cries of, "Throw him out."

Mr. Euler—"I have no objection to kissing the flag or to singing the National Anthem, but you have no proof that I am not as loyal as you are."

Voice—"What did you say about the Prince of Wales?"

Mr. Euler—"I am coming to that But I want to say that to kiss the flag is no proof of loyalty. I am just as good a citizen as a[illegible] here."

Voices—"What?"

Would Not Be Forced

Mr. Euler—"To force a man to do something in order to humiliate him is not fair. It is not true that I don't love the flag. But I won't allow you to force me to kiss it."

Voices—"Throw him in the lake."

Mr. Euler—"You perhaps don't know much of what I have done."

Voices—"We know enough. What did you do in the war? You have been pro-German all your life."

Mr. Euler—"I had nothing to do with the agitation to change the city's name back to Berlin. If my advice had been followed there would not have been any trouble to-night. I am only telling you this because——"

Voices—"Because you are afraid."

Voice—"What did you say about the Prince?"

Tries to Explain.

Mr. Euler—"I'll explain." Pause. "What caused it was the action of a certain mayor of Toronto who wanted to spend $20,000 of the people's money to decorate. I didn't think it wise to publish it, though, so I laid it aside. Then I saw an item in one of the papers about a picture in the English papers showing the Prince drinking a bowl of punch somewhere in the Canadian west and some comment about this being a dry country. Surely you wouldn't call the English papers disloyal. I have not the whole say of what goes in the paper. I gave the editorial to the Ontario Journal.

Not an Imperialist.

"I am not an Imperialist. I am a Canadian. I know there is some feeling here against me because of 1917. I wasn't in that because I was opposed to conscription. My own son——"

Voice—"Yes, when did he go, when he had to go."

Voice—"What about the Prince of Wales story. Come back to that."

Mr. Euler — "I have always believed——"

Voice—"In the Hun Crown Prince."

Mr. Euler — "In representative form of government, not hereditary government."

Voice—"Why did you criticize Toronto as the most English city."

Refused Again.

Mr. Euler—"I didn't."

Voice —"Do you love the British flag?"

Mr. Euler—"Yes."

"Then kiss it," demanded a veteran standing close to him.

Mr. Euler made no effort to comply, saying it was not fair to force him to do so.

"Kiss it," came the demand again. When he refused this time another veteran sprang forward and knocked him down. He fell heavily to the floor.

Cries of "Take him to the lake!" caused a general rush forward, and in the confusion his two friends picked him up still dazed and started out of the room. Reaching the corridor they turned quickly down a back stairway and eluded those who were following. Coming out in an alley way they turned into the opposite direction from King street, climbed several fences and disappeared for the remainder of the evening.

A search for Ald. Bowman proved fruitless. First the City Hall was visited, and when he could not be found there the deputation proceeded on up to his home on Church street. There they found that he had not been home. They gave up the chase, but vowed that they would get him some other evening if he had not left town.

After midnight the crowds gradually dispersed. The police did not interfere in any way during the evening. They would have been helpless in any event, so large was the number of people on the streets. There was no resistance from any quarter to the programme carried out by the veterans.

INDUSTRIES CLOSE

coal will have to be brought in as great quantities as possible from the East, whatever the outcome is in the United States.

Cut Off Steamers?

For that reason, the Government is being urged to take immediate extraordinary measures to secure transportation for the Nova Scotia coal, even if it is necessary to make the bunkering at Atlantic seaports regulations just as stringent as those in the United States ports. This the Dominion Government hesitates to do, as it feels that the failure to fulfill promises made by the United States Fuel Administration is not the result of a lack of goodwill, but of circumstances, and because it is desired so far as can be done without vitally affecting Canada's interests to show a spirit of friendly co-operation with the Republic in its troubles.

(Canadian Press.)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—The situation in this district took on a more serious aspect to-day when Federal Fuel Administration officials ordered curtailment of the coal supply to many industries. Coal permits will virtually only be issued to railroads, Federal, State and County Departments, Public Utilities and Retailers. It is believed that the supplies of many industrial concerns will soon be exhausted, forcing many to close down. Reports to-day indicated that practically all union mines in Central and Western Pennsylvania fields remained closed.

What the Local Playhouses Have to Offer—News of the Movie World

Hana Shimozumi, with Gallo Comic English Opera Company, at the Grand Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 10-11.

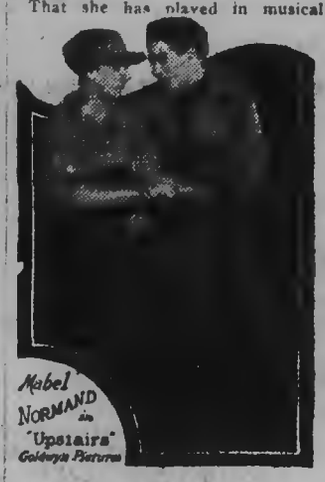
MABEL NORMAND SAYS:

That she was born in Atlanta, Ga., and educated in Boston.

That she loves pie for breakfast.

That she is a painter of considerable ability.

That she has played in musical comedy on the stage.



That at one time in her career she managed her own film company.

That her favorite author is Rex Beach.

That her favorite sport is racing in her own automobile.

That some folks think they're geniuses, when all they have is a bad temper and indigestion.

That the trouble with some "movies" is that they don't move fast enough. That's why she made "Upstairs."

GALLO ENGLISH OPERA COMPANY

For two days, commencing Wednesday, December 10, the Grand Opera House will offer or public consideration the Gallo English Opera Company, fresh from its metropolitan run at the Shubert Theatre, New York, where it has been acclaimed as the logical successor of the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Company of a few years past.

Among the list of artists engaged one stands unique. Hana Shimozumi is without question the first Japanese prima donna appearing in English light opera. She is said to have a glorious soprano voice, clear and beautiful in both the upper and lower ranges, and is also a delightful actress, with a true sense of the value of the Gilbertian humor. She will, of course, be seen as Yum-Yum in "The Mikado" and as O Mimosa San in "The Geisha." The principal comedian of the organization is Jefferson De Angelis, who is fully imbued with the true Gilbert and Sullivan traditions. The principal tenors are Daniel Denton, who was last season a valued member of the Chicago Opera Company, and Albert Parr, well-known in the comic opera world. Rosamond Whiteside, daughter of Walker Whiteside, and herself a young artiste of much charm and promise, is a member of the company, as are also the sterling basso, Louis Casavant, that especially fine contralto, Greta Risley, the well-known baritone, Karl Stoll, the fine young comedian, Frank Ridsdale, the young American prima donna, Ethel Mae Bagnall, and many others whose names will be announced later.

WIFE FOOLS HUBBY BUT NEGLECTS TO HIDE THE EGGS

Dorothy Disturber Gish, who has climbed her way to popularity in pictures with surprising speed, now comes forth with the proper method to put one over on the young husband. But she prefaces it with a scene of how not to put it over.

It is in "I'll Get Him Yet," her new picture which is being shown to-day at the Allen Theatre for the last time that Dorothy is compelled to meet a man of whom her husband is insanely jealous. Husband is in the house. Man is waiting at the corner grocery.

"I've got to get some bread before the store closes" remarks Dorothy, who appears as the heroine of the story.

"Why, you've got two loaves of bread right here," replies the husband, pointing to the table.

"Why, what am I thinking of? It was eggs I meant. Yes, eggs, of course. I'll be right back dearie," and she speeds away.

It would have worked all right if hubby had not looked on the floor, where stood a basket of large fresh ranch eggs. And hubby becomes suspicious and follows.

The rest of the story is in the picture, but Miss Dorothy says that the young wife who would fool her husband, would better hide the eggs.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"A SOLDIER'S OATH."

Breathing the heroism of the Western Front, "A Soldier's Oath," the feature picture presented last night at the Grand starring William Farnum was one of the greatest war pictures yet presented in the city. The battle scenes have been developed with unusual realism and the romance upon which the play is based is exceedingly charming. Farnum is decidedly in his element in the role of the soldier and seems to have been born for the part he plays in the tremendous drama.

The variety programme is especially generous having a Mutt and Jeff Comedy, a Sunshine comedy, Vod-a-Vil Movies and Fox Special Canadian views in addition to the splendid feature picture.

The programme will be repeated this evening.

"the razor that sharpens itself"

"DO you prefer a dull or a sharp razor for shaving?" That is the simple question you are called upon to answer when choosing a safety razor. Nearly every razor is claimed to have a sharp edge. How was it obtained? There is only one process—stropping. Shaving as it does, day after day, how is a razor to be kept sharp? Again only one process—stropping. Then it is more important to choose a razor that strops itself and keeps itself sharp than merely a razor that may come to you sharp, but remains so only because it worries you constantly for new blades.

The AutoStrop Safety Razor is the only razor that strops itself. It cannot be stropped wrongly. Ask your dealer to demonstrate it to you. Don't be content to look at it in the store window or show case. See how it works—how simple it is! If you wish, try it for Thirty Days. Only then will you realize what it means to possess a razor that can be stropped and cleaned without removing the blade or taking anything to pieces.

See the AutoStrop Razor assortment at any store where razors are sold. You will find a style to suit your desire. Prices $5.00 and upwards.

ENLARGES OUTPUT OF PHONOGRAPHS

CANADIAN AEROPLANES PLANT TAKEN FOR PRODUCTION OF INSTRUMENTS.

Enlarged production of phonographs for Canada is assured as a result of a transaction that has just been announced by the Columbia Gramaphone Company, whereby it has secured the Canadian Aeroplanes Limited plant on Dufferin street. The plant site consists of twelve acres, and this was used for half a century as a market garden before it was taken for industrial purposes by the Imperial Munitions Board. The development work undertaken by the Government involved an expenditure of $1,200,000 The purchase price in the recent transaction was $800,000. The buildings have a combined floor space of 235,450 square feet, which gives the company the largest factory space in Toronto, with one exception The production of tone arms, reproducers, cabinets and motors will be entered upon. Manufacture of records will be increased 500 per cent and the output of cabinets will be augmented at least 400 per cent. Fully 2,500 workers will be employed in the plant when it is possible to reach full production. Both from a merchandising and a manufacturing standpoint, the Canadian field has enlarged considerably within the last few months.

The decision of an American company to acquire the Kitchener plant, formerly operated by the Pollock Manufacturing company, affords additional evidence of the enlargement of manufacturing activity in this line.

The Canadian Aeroplanes plant is of modern construction, and is so designed trat several storeys could be added to the existing buildings.

During the war period fighting 'planes were constructed for service on the western front. Manufacture was discontinued after the end of active hostilities, and the plant has been used mainly for storage purposes. The sale of the property marks another step in the utilization in the arts of peace of buildings erected for war-time manufacturing. The plant site was inspected in September by Messrs. F. S. Whitten, President, L. Wilson, General Manager, and T. C. Roberts, Chief Engineer. The plant consists of eight large permanent buildings and three smaller frame structures.

Mr. A. E. Landon, formerly Assistant Manager has been appointed manager of the Canadian branch of the company.—Toronto Globe.

How to Kill Dandruff So It Won't Return

By a Specialist

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well-known fact. We appreciate therefore, the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. For this reason it is a pleasure to give herewith the prescription which a famous scalp specialist states he has found after repeated tests, will completely destroy the dandruff germs in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair-growth after years of partial baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you—6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger tips. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. While this preparation is not a dye it is unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color.

BRIGHT NIGHT SKIES IN ENGLAND.

The report of the Photographic Section of the British Astronomical Association of the year ending September 30, 1919, comments on the unusual amount of light in the sky during the nights of that period. It has, says the report, been possible to read the face of a watch at all hours. The contrast of astronomical negatives has been much reduced. This illumination was not due to searchlights, nor did it seem to be auroral; moreover lighting in towns has been much reduced, under war regulations, so the cause remains a mystery.

OPENING OF LEGISLATURE

GOLD BRAID, COURT GARB AND CEREMONIAL IS THROWN OVERBOARD —GOVERNMENT DECIDES FRILLS OUT OF PLACE TO-DAY.

TORONTO, Dec. 4.—The frills, pomp and display which age-old customs have fastened upon the ceremony that marks the opening of the Ontario Legislature are to be done away with by the United Farmer-Labor Government. At the next session of the Legislature most of the tinsel and show, and the atmosphere of social exslusiveness which in the tpas has been characteristic of the ceremony attendant upon the opening day of the House, will be disregarded. Instead, a simpler ceremony from which the social element will in a sense be lacking, and which in the judgment of the Government will be more in keeping with the democratic ideals of the people of this Province which carried them to power, will mark the first session of each Legislature.

When the House first meets in February next, the booming of cannon, the attendance of Governor and officialdom in general in court uniforms of other days, the presence of a throng of officers in fullest military regalia, and of women in jewels and evening dress, will be lacking. The occasion will be simple and nostentatious. In comparison with the glory, gorgeousness and formality of former years it will be markedly sober.

It has been the custom for the Lieutenant-Governor to attend the opening of the House dressed in Windsor court uniform. This attire, among other things, includes a Nelsonian naval hat, such as was formerly associated with the dress uniform of an admiral in the Royal Navy. White silk stockings, coat heavily braided in gold, silk trousers and white shoes with sparkling buckles ordinarily hedeck the Governor of the Province for this occasion.

The Old Order Changeth.

The rest of the ceremony is fully in keeping with gorgeousness of the attire of the King's representative in this Province. From Government House to the Parliament Buildings the Governor is driven at a stately pace, escorted along the full route by mounted soldiers in full military uniform. Upon the arrival of the retinue at the Parliament Buildings it is customary for the Governor, in his braided coat and white silk stockings, to inspect the escort in their showy rather than serviceable uniforms. Then a number of guns boom out a general salute, and the Lieutenant-Governor enters the Parliament Buildings, where the ceremony is continued in the Legislature Chamber with equal regard to tradition and formality.

The arrival of the Lieutenant-Governor in his picturesque outfit causes a fitting stir among the ladies in the gallery, dressed in all the finery at their command, among the officers of the militia and fighting forces in their immaculate dress uniforms, and among the chosen representatives of church and state who have also contributed to the dignity of the occasion by attiring themselves in dress clothes.

Whether it is the importance of the Lieutenant-Governor's sation, the unusual nature of his costume, or the wonderment aroused through the discharge of so much artillery, his entry creates an atmosphere of decided expectancy.

Very Little Will Be Left.

The sergeant-at-arms ushers the Governor to the front of the legislaive chamber. Here, after the transpiration of another brief series of formalities in which the Governor and Premier have acknowledged each other's presence, the Governor's secretary bows three times and presents to him the speech from the throne. The sergeant-at-arms and the secretory are likewise gaily bedecked.

The Government has decided to delete from this ceremony so much that very little of it will remain. The Governor, on the day of the opening of the next session of the Legislature, will be freed from the peril of disporting himself in flimsy silk, and will wear clothes more in keeping with present-day ideas of how a Legislature should be launched on its business career. The pavements between Government House and the Parliament Buildings will not resound with the clicking of the shoes of the Governor's cavalry escort, and the cannon at Queen's Park will look silently and dully on while the Governor, almost unattended, leaves his motor and enters the great hall.

What will become of the state coach, the uniform of silk, stockings, silk trousers, and gold-braided coat? Will they be presented to the Ontario Museum as curios or retained by some individuals of the old school, who will cherish them, for their associations and history, as keepsakes? At any rate, their usefulness is gone for the present, and most likely for all time to come. The old order, once swept away, is not likely to be restored.

The official strikers numbered twenty-two, but two men were taken to the hospital, and yesterday two asked to be transferred to other cells where they partook of food.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. CANADA HAS MANY DIFFICULT PROBLEMS TO DEAL WITH IN TEE COMING YEAR

BANK OF MONTREAL ANNUAL MEETING

SIR VINCENT MEREDITH, THE PRESIDENT, FAVOURED SYSTEM OF TAXATION THAT WOULD AFFECT ALL CLASSES OF COMMUNITY WHO HAVE ABILITY TO PAY—SIR FREDERICK WILLIAMS-TAYLOR, GENERAL MANAGER, POINTS OUT THAT THERE HAD BEEN NO PROFITEERING BY BANKS DURING THE WAR PERIOD, AS LOANABLE FUNDS HAD REMAINED UNCHANGED—BANK HAD NEVER BEEN IN HEALTHIER STATE.

MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—(Sepcial.)—At the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal, at the head office of the Bank, Sir Vincent Meredith, the President, in his annual address, took occasion to refer particularly to the many problems with which Canada was at present confronted and to the best manner in which these could be solved. It is generally recognized that these problems at the moment are of almost unprecedented character and, therefore, they are of the greatest importance to the mercantile interests of the country.

Sir Vincent attributed the high cost of living very largely to the pressing demands of European countries for commodities of every nature. He considered that in Canada it might be possible to look forward confidently to a reduction in all commodities, both at home and abroad, after another harvest.

He dealt particularly with the change in opinion that had developed as regards the relation of gold reserve to note circulation. He expressed the view that it might be a part of wisdom to depart from the old notions of the rigidity of the gold reserve and recognize that we are justified in enlarging our note issuing powers to respond to all legitimate business demands in periods of great trade activity or emergency, provided such expansion is based on self-liquidating securities.

The President also pointed out that it was vitally important that the unoccupied areas of Canada should be settled and made productive with as much rapidity as possible the future prosperity of the country and ability to meet our debts being largely dependent on increased production.

The question of taxation in Canada also received particular attention and Sir Vincent expressed the view that trade was being hampered by a somewhat penalizing excess business profit tax. Furthermore, enterprise and expansion are stifled and foreign establishments deterred from entering the Canadian industrial field. He expressed the view that Canada should do away with many exemptions an impose taxation on all classes of the community who have the ability to pay and at the same time place a higher tariff upon importe dluxuries, which would cause little hardship and t the same time considerably ease a strained financial situation.

Difficulties to Overcome.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the General Manager, dealt more particularly with the record of the Bank during the past year, but also touched on many of the developments outside of the country which had a bearing on the situation. Sir Frederick stated that it was no reassuring reflection that the United States has already reduced her war debt by some $800,000,000, while Canada was confronted with an increase of $600,000,000 for the current year.

Sir Frederick took occasion to point out that it was a matter of sufficient importance to bear repeating that there had been no profiteering whatever by the banks of Canada, for the price of money had not been raised. Alone of all commodities, the cost to the borrower of loanable funds of the banking institutions of the country had remained unchanged. Not only was this the case, but speaking for the Bank itself, it was only proper that the shareholders should know that in handling business entrusted by the several Governments during the war and since, the policy had been to charge only the narrowest of commissions and minimum interest rates. In many instances, where the services were of a war character, the Bank had acted free of charge.

A satisfactory sign of the times in Canada was the increase in buying power for first-class securities. This is a healthy and desirable condition, induced by Government war loans and war savings certificates. It is vital that Canadians should recognize the virtue of saving, as between production and thrift, though they go hand in hand, the latter is fundamental and leads naturally to the former.

General Trade Activity.

Sir Vincent Meredith, in his address to shareholders, said, in part:

"General trade in practically all branches had been active and profitable during the war and the bank has participated in the general prosperity. The balance sheet shows profits in moderate proportion to the resources employed, and yet, I trust, not unsatisfactorily to the shareholders. That reaction from the feverish activities and high prices produced by the vast conflict which so many aprehended, has not occurred, nor can it be said to be impending. The feeling as to the future is less optimistic than it has been, but the great pressure on our agricultural and manufactured resources, caused by home and foreign demand, shows no signs of abatement.

Three Indispensable Factors.

"There are three indispensable factors to the upbuilding of Canada—immigration, production and exports. Immigration during the last five years has been negligible, owing to the war. In the first seven months of the current fiscal year, new arrivals numbered 82,893, of whom 42,377 came from Great Britain and 35,949 from the United States. While these figures do not represent a large movement as compared with several pre-war periods, they show a gain of 51,734 immigrants, or about 166 per cent. over the corresponding months last year. After-the-war emigration of foreign-born has taken place in fairly large volume, the exact figures of which are not obtainable.

"With regard to the subject of foreign trade, it is only a matter of time before increased production will overtake domestic demands and unless preparations are made in advance for finding markets overseas for our exportable surplus of raw materials and manufactured goods, our uninterrupted prosperity may be checked. The needs of foreign countries are great and pressing, and profitable business awaits the Canadian exporter but it cannot be acquired unless long term credits are provided.

"Our Government has been far-seeing in giving assistance in this direction, and no doubt, is prepared to extend further aid provided exporters who reap the benefit, will assume a proportion of the risk.

"Self-interest alone would seem to dictate that credit facilities be extended to those countries who can demonstrate their ability to pay if given reasonable time, an we would thus avoid the possibility of abrupt changes in industrial conditions and bring about a gradual return of international trade equilibrium.

"I cannot close without voicing what I am sure, is the feeling of every Canadian — that the recent visit to Canada of His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, not only gave abiding pleasure to every class of our population, but rendered a great and memorable service to the Empire in strengthening the Throne in the affection and confidence of the people and by drawnig still closer the ties which bind the commonwealth of nations over which he is destined to reign."

Many Problems to be Solved.

In presenting his report to the shareholders of the Bank, Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, the General Manager said:—

"The economic and financial difficulties that confronted the country during the war have changed in nature, but have not disappeared by any means. There is an aftermath of problems which Canada must face and in which bankers are vitally concerned. At present there is great trade activity; yet our national debt grows apace, with attendant ills. Therefore, even with a full measure of faith in our country, I find the near future difficult to visualize. We derive a measure of consolation incomparing our lot with that of countries worse off than our own but contiguity and ambition direct our eyes towards that country to the South which has benefited so vastly by the war.

Exchange Situation.

"The premium on New York funds, the increase in our national debt and in our Canaian currency circulation, are matters of deep interest and should be studied by all.

"The purchasing power of the Canadian dollar in the United States has decreased, as reflected in the premium on New York funds. A year ago it cost two dollars to send one hundred dollars to the United States of America; to-day the cost is four dollars.

"It will interest you to know that on my recent trip to the Pacific Coast, when I travelled nine thousand miles in visiting various branches of the Bank, I met some 110 of our Managers, and returned more than ever satisfied with the personnel, the intelligent loyalty and devotion of our ever-increasing staff of officers.

"Such meetings are advantageous to the Bank and an iinducement also to close relations between the Bank and its friends at distant points.

"It is impressive an satisfying to view the Dominion's greatest quick asset, the rich wheat areas of our three Western Provinces, at harvest time. While this year the yield was not up to the mark, the Western farmers had much to be thankful for.

"In British Columbia, one is struck by the confidence of the people in the future of their rich and beautiful Province, with its wonderful climate. It is a healthy sign that the men of affairs in the West the outlook - locally and for the Dominion at large.

"I hope that time may presently permit me to visit other divisions as I did British Columbia and the North-West.

"In concluding, I have no hesitation in expressing the belief that the affairs of the Bank have never been in a healthier state. Our domestic business is expanding satisfactorily, our foreign branches and connections have been adequately extended to meet the development of the country's trade, and what is more important, we are well equipped in point of staff. Altogether, I feel that we are well prepared to meet any conditions and contingencies that may arise.

Overseas Record

"The record of the staff of the Bank overseas showed that 1,495 members of the staff had served with the colors. Of this number 1,182 had survived, of whom 663 have already been reinstated. Of the total who joined the colors it was Sir Frederick's sad duty to record the fact that 223, or 16%, gave their lives for their country. In paying tribute to them, Sir Frederick said:—

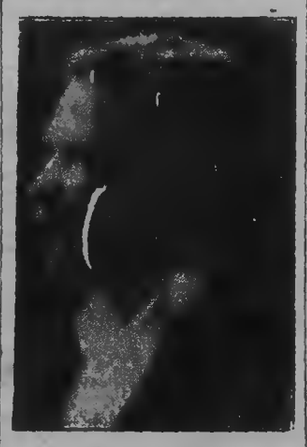
" 'No words of tongue or pen can fully express our pride in, or our admiration for, these gallant young crusaders. It must suffice to say that their names are not merely written in the records of this Bank and in the history of the Empire they served so well, but live on far away, woven into the fabric of other men's lives. Such dead are honored with unchallenged admiration.' "

FROM A CHILD WAS CONSTIPATED

According to the best medical authorities, fully three fourths of the people of the civilized world suffer in some form from costiveness or irregular action of the bowels. There is no doubt that many distressing diseases are caused by constipation. It gives rise to sick and bilious headaches, jaundice, heartburn, floating specks before the eyes, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness and the painful, troublesome piles. Therefore it is of supreme importance to health that the bowels be kept regular. Simple food, fruit, etc., should be used and rich food and stimulants of all kinds avoided. Use with the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills to regulate and establish healthy action of the bowels cannot fail to give permanent relief in the most obstinate cases.

Mrs. Letitia Wainman, Orillia, Ont., writes: "From a child I was always very badly constipated and I can well remember when quite young my mother giving me senna tea nearly every morning and I got to dread it. After taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for a while I am not troubled with constipation any more."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.



MR. R. J. DEVEY.

When asked to-day if Mr. R. J. Devey, organist of St. John's Church, had resigned, Canon Davidson said he had no intimation that Mr. Devy intended to relinquish his duties at St. John's. Mr. Devy has been absent for nearly four weeks, and since the day of his disappearance nothing has been heard of him. It was stated that he had announced that he would not preside at the organ on the first Sunday following his disappearance, due, it was said, to a bad attack of "nerves."

RETURNED MISSIONARY GAVE AN ADDRESS AT ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

After the regular mid-week services at St. Luke's church last night, an interesting address was given by Rev. W. G. Walton, a returned missionary, on mission work among the Eskimos and Indians on the east shore of Hudson Bay.

Rev. Walton is a forceful and interesting speaker and spoke graphically of his work. Rev. Walton has been engaged in mission work in Ungava since 1892, which was the same year Dr. Grenfell began his work in the eastern part of the country. Rev. Walton said that his district was some 800 miles long and nearly as wide, and of this district the northern two-thirds was a barren, waste tract and some 900 Eskimos lived in this part. Formerly there were plenty of caribou in this country, but they had all been driven away and at present there were none. This had taken away the Eskimos' principal source of food, and now there was much suffering and starvation.

Rev. Walton said that they had four months' navigation season, and during the other eight they were completely cut off from outside. The Indians live in the south where it is wooded and where the fur-bearing animals are, and bring their furs to the Hudson Bay Company's stores to trade. The Eskimos also trade at the stores. Mr. Walton said that he divided the year between the two peoples, and that their languages were altogether different and both very hard to learn. He said that the Eskimos lived in a very primitive manner. The houses are built of snow, and there is practically no ventilation and possibly four or five men sleep in this hut. All the flesh they eat is eaten raw or partly cooked.

The speaker stated that many people thought the Eskimos were a low-down race, but he had found they were an intelligent, ambitious, mechanical race, that they could be taught readily when once interested, and he had heard an Eskimo give an excellent address. Correcting the impression that they are immoral Rev. Walton said that this was not the case but unmoral and this could be all traced to their environments and although they wanted to live a better life, everything was against them.

Dwelling on his struggles at first, Rev. Walton said everything was against him. He didn't know the language and it was hard for a missionary to induce an Eskimo to listen to the Gospel when he was always looking for something to eat. Murder and cannibalism were common at first, and it was six years before he saw that he was succeeding.

Rev. Walton said that when he first went back they had no church at all, but held service in an old oil shed of the Hudson Bay Company. He found it very hard at first to interest them, but he won ther hearts through getting the children to sing, and as the Eskimos are fond of singing they came to the services. During his last service Rev. Walton said that there were so many wanted to get in the church—they have a building now—that they had to hold separate meetings, one for the men in the morning, one for the women in the afternoon and a mixed one at night. The Eskimos are anxious and willing to be taught and one has to send them home from church because they never seem to get tired of listening to the Gospel.

The speaker dwelt on the joy he felt in his work, although it was a hard life. His wife's health was ruined, he said, but nevertheless she pleaded wilth the doctor to let her return. But, he said, we cannot go on as we have been doing and the object of the forward movement is to get help, and it was the privilege of the congregation to help them. There was still cannibalism, due to starvation, he said. Last winter seven died from lack of food. He said that the work done by the Ladies' Auxiliary was a noble one and the clothing saved many from freezing to death.

Rev. Walton spoke now on the solution of the whole problem and explained that if reindeer were introduced into that part of the country it would eliminate starvation, bring the people together and the people would be able to live better lives, and the missionary would have a much better field in which to carry on his labours. The scheme had proved very successful in Alaska, and Rev. Walton has prepared plans and statistics for the government, and in all probability his suggestion will be carried out.

Rev. Walton also stated that there was much that could be done for the Indians and that they also deserved every consideration, for is it not in their land that we are living?

In conclusion he said that more men must be sent to teach and preach the Gospel, for, it was the highest service one could perform.

THE PETEBORO SCOTSMEN'S COMING CELEBRATIONS ARRANGED

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR "HOGMANAY NICHT" AND "BURN'S NICHT," AND GREAT BOWLING EVENT.

Again the Scotsmen "frae the Aul Countree" met in the Woodmen of the World Hall last evening ,when well over 30 members were present to hear the report of the committee regarding St. Andrew's Night, which culminated in the event being a great success. To the many Scotsmen and friends that are interested in Burns' works and poetry, the Caledonian Club are contemplating having Dr. Hughes of Toronto, come to Peterborough and give his "Theological and Poetical Lecture on Burns, considering arrangements can be made accordingly.

Then—there is the Burns' anniversary, 25th January, which is going to be held in an appropriate way, when the club anticipate having a prominent Burns' enthusiast to give the toast of the evening, 'The Immortal Memory."

Since the war broke out Scotsmen have had to give up the festivity of bringing in the New Year in "Hogmanay Fashion," but the occasion is going to be celebrated in Woodman of the World Hall on Hogmanay night.

During the evening games were enjoyed and now Glasgow and Edinburgh are going to meet on Wednesday evening, December 17th in a game of "bools" for a handsome prize.

EXHIBITS IN POLICE COURT THIS MORNING SUGGESTED UNUSUAL DECOCTION.

BAGLEY CASE ADJOURNED

The police court habitues must keep as close a record of the adjournments of the Bagley case as do Chief Thompson and the Crown officials. This morning they were all present and made another entry in their diaries for December 18th, to which date the preliminary charges against Mr. J. G. Guise-Bagley were adjourned.

Magistrate Dumble objected that the trial was being unduly delayed, but he consented to the request made by Mr. F. D. Kerr, solicitor for the accused, and Mr. Hatton also assented.

Thomas Cleary pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place last night. He was arrested by P. C. [illegible] Hunter street. Two bottles of beef iron and wine, and one of Florida water were exhibited by Chief Thompson.

"I never drank that," Cleary said, when the Chief remarked that the Florida water was used to perfume the tonic stuff.

"That was a dollar for this bottle, another for that and another for the Florida water. $17.10 counted Magistrate Dumble; $17.10 altogether," he announced as the total of the bill, an indirect intimation that Cleary was fined $14.0.

"That's costly drinking," remarked His Worship. "You ought to have more sense than that."

MR. BAGLEY HAD HIS SHARE OF CASES FOR COUNTY COURT TRIAL

By an ironic turn in the affairs of Mr. James G. Guise-Bagley he just escaped to-day the possibility of being sent up for trial in the County Court next week before which he would have appeared as solicitor in several actions had it not been for the disclosure of his contraband liquid possessions and the arrest that was followed by other charges.

Mr. Bagley had begun a number of actions in the days of freedom, and would have had a consierable share of the cases that are set down for trial. This morning, on the other hand, his preliminary hearing on several criminal charges was adjourned for two weeks largely becaues his counsel, Mr. F. D. Kerr would be engaged next week in the County Court proceedings. Magistrate Dumble remarked that this would prolong Mr. Bagley's trial if he were committed, but Mr. Kerr replied that he could be brought before Judge Huycke at any time. If the preliminary hearing had commenced this morning and he had been committed for trial, Mr. Bagley would have apeared in the December Sessions of the Peace next week as a prisoner at the bar instead of as a solicitor in two or three of the cases.

PETERBORO LAW ASSOCIATION REPORT MATTER TO THE PREMIER

The following letter has been addressed to Premier E. C. Drury:

Peterborough, 5th December, 1919.

Hon. E. C. Drury,
Premier,
Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ontario.

Sir,

I have been instructed by the Law Association of this city to bring to your attention the fact that J. G. Guise-Bagley, a barrister, formerly of Barrie, and lately practising here, has been found guilty under the Ontario Temperance Act; has been sent up for trial, under the Inland Revenue Act, for keeping an illicit still; has been charged with performing a criminal operation; and has admitted to the defalcation of several large sums of money.

The fact is that this man did not take the full course in law provided for at Osgoode Law School, but after serving as a solicitor's clerk, was created a barrister and solicitor by a private Act of the Ontario Legislature in 1914.

The Law Association respectfully urges that in future no persons be admitted solicitors and barristers in this manner. The Law Society of Upper Canada is a properly constituted body for dealing with all applicants for the Ontario Bar; and all students who graduate from Osgoode Hall must satisfy the Benchers of the Law Society that they are of such a character as to be worthy of practising before the Ontario Courts. Admission to the Bar by private Acts of the Legislature is likely to lead to abuses and the creation of barristers and solicitors who are both incompetent and undesirable.

I am, sir,

Your obedient servant,
JOSEPH WEARING,
Secretary, Peterborough Law Association.

VOTE ON UNION OF TWIN CITIES

PORT ARTHUR AND FORT WILLIAM MAY MERGE INTERESTS.

Special to the Examiner:

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—That the union of the twin cities of Port Arthur and Fort William is the only road to success for both municipalities is the opinion of E. J. Blanquier, Mayor of Port Arthur, who is in Toronto to-day.

Mr. Blanquier states that it has been definitely decided to put the question of the union of the cities to a vote of the citizens at the coming municipal elections, and that an active body known as the Inter-City Committee, has charge of the education of the citizens towards a union which means that the Canadian city at the head of the lakes will have a population of over forty thousand.

authorities at Duluth, which is now over 100,000 population, that the real growth of that city, which is the American head of the lakes, did not commence until the municipality passed the 40,000 mark, and by joining Port Arthur and Fort William we can do the same.

Asked as to the secession movement of the north, Mr. Blanquier said that little was heard of it in Port Arthur, which, however, felt somewhat neglected by the older parts of the province, although the district of Thunder Bay was one of the best revenue producers of Ontario. He said that any sentiment which existed favouring secession would be overridden by the appointment of a Cabinet Minister from the head of the lakes, which might now expect to be more in the limelight than it had previously been.

SUFFERING FROM NERVOUS STRAIN

The Editor, "Examiner"
Sir:

A paragraph in yesterday's "Examiner" gives (unintentionally no doubt) an absolutely incorrect impression of an interview with me of one of your reporters, and does a manifest injustice to the organist of St. John's Church.—His absence is a purely personal matter and is, I believe occasioned by strain and nervous indisposition.

J. C. Davidson.

In connection with the item referred to by Canon Davidson, the Examiner regrets its insertion in-as-much as Mrs. Devey has been in communication with her husband regularly for the past three weeks and it was only yesterday afternoon that she received a wire message from him.

POPULARITY OF THE HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO—AND ESPECIALLY THE NEW SEMI-GRAND.

Built for the average-size Parlour, this new Semi-Grand is a very beautiful piece of Furniture, viewed simply from the architectural and artistic angle. But it is very much more—it is a high-class Piano in every respect, possessing that distinctive excellence of tone that marks all Pianos bearing the name of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Limited. George and Hunter Streets, Peterborough.

WOULD RETURN TO CANADA.

About 400 Soldiers Discharged in England Now in Need.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Canadian Associated Press learns that an informal census has been taken regarding the Canadian soldiers who have taken their discharge here and now find themselves in want. The total number who seem genuinely anxious to be returned to Canada through want of work here appears to be about four hundred, although there may be more who have not proclaimed themselves stranded.

TOYLAND AT THE TURNBULL COMPANY

Anticipating the shortage of toys from which the world is suffering the Turnbull Co., headed off any possible inconvenience from such a shortage by ordering over a year ago one of the largest stocks that has ever been shown in the city, and toyland this Christmas represents the biggest display ever shown in the big store.

The stock consists of such a wide variety that at one hour's shopping every member of the family, from big sister who is commencing to use delicately tinted note paper to baby brother who wants rattles or some other noisy instrument, may be provided for. Nothing is wanting. Miniature carriages, mechanical toys, books, toys, puzzles, paper dolls, drums, crackers, dolls beds, paints, and every known toy, is shown in the huge display. And the dolls! Who could imagine a successful Christmas without several of them? The variety instead of being limited is the hugest assortment imaginable embracing most cunning baby dolls to distinguished looking dandies dressed to the latest decree of fashion, and made to fit every purse.

Popular Resort.

From four o'clock in the afternoon well on until six the Toyland is the most popular resort in the city with the kiddies and with the grown ups too whose hearts are still young enough to enjoy the children's delight and the toys which are in most cases extraordinarily clever. The department affords never failing interest as directly the stock on view becomes diminished a splendid new stock from the store rooms to replace those which have been sold.

MARSHAL FOCH AT [illegible] MEETING OF THE SUPREME COUNCIL. ---COERCION [illegible] NECESSARY.

TROOPS NECESSARY

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Dec. 5.—The Supreme Council again considered the note to be sent Germany regarding the signing of the protocol to the peace treaty, but did not complete the document. The Council also considered the question of the share of the Austro-Hungarian pre-war debt to be borne by Jugo-Slavia. The Council examined the items presented by the Jugo-Slav representatives in the matter of claims for offsets to Jugo-Slavia's share of this debt.

Plans Ready.

(Canadian Press.)

According to the morning newspapers, coercion is the only argument to make impression on the Germans and induce them to sign the protocol. It is said this conclusion was reached at a secret session yesterday of the Council of Five, at which Marshal Foch was present. Ample means exist to pronounce and carry out an ultimatum. It is said that Marshal Foch demonstrated at the meeting, and it is reported he undertook to put into execution, the plan drafted last June, the mere threat of which brought the German plenipotentiaries to Versailles.

Left For Paris.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Official announcement that Field Marshal Wilson has gone to Paris in response to an urgent summons to consult Marshal Foch in connection with the peace treaty, is regarded by some morning newspapers as of considerable significance. Alongside the address made by Bonar Law last night, in which he said the Allies had power but would exercise it to insure the ratification of the treaty by Germany, it is suggested that [illegible] steps on Germany's [illegible]

(United Press.)

PARIS, Dec. 5.—Great Britain will carry out the terms of the Franco-British Defense Alliance, by which she agrees to come to France's aid in event of unprovoked aggression by Germany, whether the United States becomes a party to the pact or not, according to newspapers here.

REPORT ON THE STRIKE

CONDEMNS STRIKE AND STATES CAUSE NOT A JUST ONE.

25 PARAGRAPHS

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—The report of Judge Barron into the cause of the strike of the Toronto electrical workers of the Toronto Railway, resulting ing a complete stoppage of the system on 3rd September, is published to-day.

In the course of 25 paragraphs, setting forth the facts, His Honour condemns the strike, and states that the cause was not a just one, and should not have prevailed.

COMPETING WITH INCREASED COST

FIRE INSURANCE POLICIES SHOULD BE INCREASED.

To compete with the greatly increased cost of furniture, home, machinery buildings, six insurance companies represented in the city by the Davis Thompson and Co., 435 George street, the T. E. Bradburn old Opera House block, H. P. Lindsay, 392 Water street, P. A. Ferguson and J. A. Pogue, 172 Hunter street, Taylor and Howden 144 Hunter street and T. Mark 374½ Water street, have instigated a campaign to draw the public's attention to the fact that unless their fire insurance has been increased upon the basis of the greater amount of money it would take to day to replace what thay own they are under insured and destruction by fire would in the majority of cases mean financial ruin. Having the interest of the public at heart the companies involve in this campaign are striving in every way to guard every man against an undersized outgrown policy and gambling on fire for another day. Each of the companies will gladly send a representative to any home, office or building to talk over an increased amount of insurance.

Will Deliver Power to Norwood at $30.00 per H. P. per Annum.

Mr. E. J. Laing, clerk of Norwood, has received a letter from the Chief Engineer of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, giving the completed estimates of power, etc., for Norwood.

For a supply of 200 H. P. the estimated cost of power to the municipality is $30.00 per H. P. per annum.

Further estimates in detail were also given which will be taken up by the Council. A by-law will likely be read to submit to the ratepayers at the coming municipal election.

ONE MILLION WORKERS IDLE

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—More than one million workers are now completely idle or employed but part time, as a result of the coal shortage, it was estimated here to-day. The estimate was described as "extremely conservative" by J. D. A. Morrow, vice-president of the National Coal Association.

FEWER SMALLPOX CASES IN THE CITY

THE MEASLES LIST IS LIMITED TO TWO CASES.

Dr. A. W. McPherson M.O.H. stated this morning that the smallpox epidemic in the city is quieting down and no new cases have been reported lately. The measles epidemic is limited to two cases and like the small pox and diptheria epidemics shows no disposition to grow.

COAL STRIKE SHOWS NO CHANGE --MINERS ARE HOSTILE AND GENERAL SITUATION IS WORSE.

BAIL FOR LEADERS

Canadian Press:

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Returning to this city from Williamstown, Mass., to-day, Fuel Administrator Garfield declared that the coal production was getting closer to normal, although in the middle west the situation is still acute.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 5. — Efforts of Governors of at least ten States to have sufficient coal mined to provide for domestic consumers and essential industries marked the progress of the strike of the bituminous coal miners to-day. Restrictions had been placed on consumption of fuel throughout the country from New York to Sierra Nevada mountains as the general situation showed virtually no improvement and miners maintained firm attitude of hostility.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 5. — Upon the heels of its institution of contempt proceedings against officials of the United Mine Workers of America, the government has taken steps to broaden the scope of its prosecutions in connection with the strike of coal miners and will investigate alleged violations of the Lever Fuel Control Act and the Sherman anti-trust law by miners, operators and others.

United States District Judge A. B. Anderson has ordered a special session of the federal grand jury here next Monday morning, and immediately after ward a statement was given out by United States District Attorney L. Ert Slack and Dan V. Simms, special district atorney, who is aiding in the injunction proceedings, declaring that the time has arrived to determine "whether this is a government of law or a group of men."

Yesterday six officials of the United Mine Workers of America, who were charged with criminal contempt for alleged violation of the federal courts' injunction against the strike, appeared at the federal building and furnished bond of $10,000 each for their appearance in court next Tuesday. They were John L. Lewis, acting president of the organization, William Green, secretary-treasurer; Ellis Searles, editor of the Mine Workers' Journal; Percy Tetlow, statistician, and Edward Stewart and William Mitch, officials of district 11.

URGENT NOTICE

TO ALL PUBLIC UTILITIES, HOSPITALS, ESSENTIAL AND NON-ESSENTIAL INDUSTRIES IN THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO:

The shortage of Bituminous Coal has become so serious that all public utilities and industrials must immediately adopt rules tending to a strict conservation of coal.

No Bituminous Coal will be permitted to go forward or be delivered to industrials until satisfactory evidence is at hand that our public utilities and hospitals have been supplied for the winter.

Manufactures are urged to avail themselves of the supplies of steam sizes of Anthracite now in the hands of local dealers.

Public utilities and essential industries which anticipate shortage within the next sixty days are required to immediately file with me a statement under oath setting forth nature of industry, amount of coal on hand and daily consumption.

USERS OF FREE GAS

Users of free gas in the gas fields should conserve the supply by discontinuing the use of flares and regulating the consumption in their homes by exercising the same caution as practised by consumers paying for supply, in confining the consumption strictly to domestic use.

H. A. HARRINGTON,
Fuel Administrator For Ontario

Toronto, December 2nd, 1919.

THE ETERNAL TRIANGLE BEHIND FIERCE BLOWS

Two smashing rights to the face, and a stinging left on the other jaw, with not a word spoken, except by Detective Cookman, who checked the fury of the assailant, was a strange outburst in the police station that revealed a fierce fire deep with the man who led the attack.

Casual enquiry revealed a sketchy but sufficient explanation of the somewhat startling episode. It was an outcropping of the passionate fruits of the eternal triangle, the husband flaming at the sight of the other man who had run off with his wife.

Who is the third person of the triangle appeared in the corridor down stairs and stood a yard or two away from the husband the latter without a word but with blazing eyes shot his fist against the other's fellow's face, and followed fast with two or three, first on one side and then on the other. There was no retaliation but there must have been a star strewn head.

Chief Thompson, it is understood patched up the differences between the husband and wife in the hope that the family might be happily reunited.

Mr. G. W. Hetton is representing Mrs. Redman. Mr. R. R. Hall is counsel for Mr. Vass, and Gordon & O'Brien for plaintiffs.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind incombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomainelike poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the bowels the previous day's poisons and toxins, and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Boost a man in th' paper an' he'll forget it in two days — but print somethin' he don't like 'n he'll remember it at your funeral! Wunst there was an editor who started out to please everybody or bust; he busted.

Weather prophets are almost unanimous in foretelling a mild winter season, and give many reasons why it will be so. Those who are "short" on coal or wood are hoping that the weather-wise men are right.

INVALID LADIES
This Is For You

There are thousands of females who suffer untold miseries common to their sex.

This is largely due to the stress and strain of everyday life, the trials and drudgery of household duties, or perhaps the improper training of girlhood. Then, too, the physical changes that mark the different eras of womanhood (maiden, wife, mother, change of life) have much to do with her sufferings, much of which are endured in silence, unknown by even the family physician and most intimate friends.

To all those whose hollow cheeks, pale face, sunken eyes and feeble footsteps point to palpitation of the heart, nervousness, faint and dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sinking and smothering spells, rush of blood to the head, and many other troubles, we would earnestly recommend a course of

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

They have a wonderful effect on a woman's system, making pains and aches vanish, bring colour to the pale cheeks, and sparkle to the eye. They do this by strengthening the weak heart and restoring and toning up the run-down nervous system, and making the whole being thrill with new life and vigor.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ON SHOPPING TOURS THAT LAST A WEEK

RUSSIAN WOMEN TRAVEL DISTANCES TO SAVE ROUBLES.

NOVORISSISK, South Russia. — When a housewife in South Russia leaves on a shopping trip she takes a travelling bag along. Because to make an economical success of it she may have to be gone a week and cover a hundred miles of territory. Conditions in a few of the larger cities which Denikine has wrested from the Bolshevists are becoming fairly stabilized, but in hundreds of the smaller villages the utmost economic chaos prevails. Prices vary widely in different towns and the rouble never has the same value in two adjoining villages. So the thrifty housekeeper, buying a week's supply of potatoes or firewood, or seeking cloth for the children's clothes journeys from town to town seeking the best bargains. The high cost of living is a burning question in South Russia, but reliable information on the cost of commodities is not definite.

Rumors of all sorts are bandied about. A traveller arrives in one town and announces that the price of potatoes is two roubles cheaper in the next village. The economical housewives set out for the designated town.

Upon arrival they are likely to find that the price of commodities is even higher than in their own town. But there are always plenty of "straight tips" on the other places further on. So the women journey on travelling by train, ox-cart or on foot, according to the facilities available, seeking the best prices in a territory covering perhaps 50 miles.

A week's shopping tour is considered a success if a few roubles are saved. But the mere physical strain of this heavy competition in economy has been the cause of a great deal of illness, and the hospital at Ekaterinodar has a number of patients who are listed by the doctors as victims of economical shopping tours.

WIRELESS IN THE WILD

HOW DO ANIMALS COMMUNICATE WITH EACH OTHER?

When motors first came into New Zealand the horses went frantic. Nowadays, however you may bring a raw colt down from roadless country, and though he has never seen a motor-car, before in his life he won't be half as scared as his parents were.

Animals of all sorts—birds indeed—must have some mysterious means of communication. Take, for instance, grouse and other birds which when telegraph-wires were first put up in the Highlands, flew into them and were killed by the hundreds, yet which now have learnt to avoid the wires, and fly in perfect safety.

This brings us to a curious change in their habits on the part of partridges. In old days partridges were "dogged." The covey was found by pointers or setters, walked up and shot. Some twenty-five years ago this form of shooting was given up in favour of "driving." The birds are driven by beaters over the heads of the shooting party.

Now, in the old days partridges remained in coveys—that is, families—right up to Christmas. Then they packed in larger bands. To-day they begin to pack as early in the year as September, and fifty or sixty birds may commonly be seen together.

These packs have so many pairs of ears and eyes that the mere glint of a gun-barrel or the sound of a human voice is not likely to pass undetected The amazing part of it is the whole great pack will respond to the warning of one single bird, and consequently it has become extremely hard to get them over the guns.

These packs fly much farther than coveys ever did and will turn and go clean out of a district when they suspect danger.

The birds have, in fact completely changed their habits, and fields thick with partridges will now often yield a perfectly blank drive. Shooters will have to resort to some other device. They talk of using mounted beaters to break up the packs.—Answers.

WORLD'S LARGEST DATE-GROWERS

It is not generally known that Basra, the great port of Mesopotamia, situated on the picturesque Shatel-Arab, some 60 miles from the head of the Persian Gulf, and now under the British flag, is the centre of the world's greatest date industry, for here in normal times, is shipped each year between 50,000 and 75,000 tons of this delicious fruit. Should, as it is expected, Great Britain obtain economic control of the country as a result of the war the date industry would then pass under British supervision.

The date gardens extend for a distance of 50 miles along either bank of the stream, stretching back among the innumerable creeks, in some places several miles. But the nearer the stream, the more vigorous the growth of the trees, for as the Arab says, "the father of trees must have its feet in water and its head in fire."

It is said of the date palm that it is put to no less than a hundred different uses. The fruit forms the staple food of the people of the East; with its wood they build their houses, and with the long and supple leaves they weave and make baskets From fruit is distilled various beverages while the stone furnishes fodder for camels and mules.

Each tree produces in its prime from 150 to 250 pounds of fruit yearly. From some of the more fruitful ones as much as 500 pounds weight of dates is often secured in a single season. It is gathered by the natives who climb the trees by means of a rope around their waist, the other end of which is thrown up like a lasso until it lodges in some projecting part of the trunk, and the climber draws himself up until the big bunches are reached. These are cut off with a knife, curved like a sickle, and then allowed to fall to the ground. Here it is gathered up by the women and boys and packed in cases ready for shipment.

There are many varieties, the best quality date being the Hallowei, which is golden in color.

The Plague of Pimples

Body Covered With Them

The primary cause of pimples arises from the blood not being in a good condition. When the blood becomes impure you will find that pimples will break out all over the body, but more particularly on the forehead, nose and chin, and although they are not a dangerous trouble, they are very unsightly. What you need when pimples or boils break out is a real good blood purifying medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters.

This preparation has been on the market for over 40 years and is the most reliable remedy for all troubles arising from a bad condition of the blood. It removes all the impurities from the system and will leave a clear, healthy skin.

Mr. Emerson G. Goodwin, Cambridge, N. B., writes: "For nearly two years I suffered from boils and pimples on my neck and nearly all my body was covered with the pimples. I tried most everything but got no relief. One day a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using three bottles the pimples and the boils had all left me and there is no sign of them returning. I can strongly recommend B.B.B. to anyone who is troubled with skin disease."

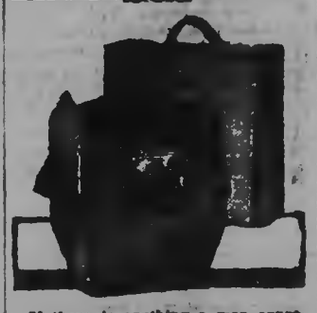
For a Man's Desk



If there is anything a man appreciates more than another it is a waste basket to hold things that he doesn't want or a case to hold things that he does want. Here are both these sensible gifts, made to match, and happy is the man who will receive them at Christmas time.

The waste basket has a foundation of very light board, covered with a dull rose-colored tapestry and finished with dark-green braid. Handles with tassels to match prove convenient. A medallion of figured tapestry bound by braid completes this practical and handsome gift. The case for papers is made to match the basket.

Something New in Bags

A basket crocheted of twine and dipped in shellac, is allowed to dry, after being shaped to suit the fancy of its maker. It is then adorned with odd yarn flowers, as shown in the picture above, and converted into a pretty bag by lining it with silk and extending the silk above the top of the basket. The silk gathers up at the top on a ribbon. If one cares to present a friend with the ultimate in luxurious laundry bags, this affair will answer, for it will grace any dressing room and serve to catch soiled handkerchiefs and neckwear.

Crochet Lace for Gifts

The girl who knows how to crochet can express much devotion in a gift to relative or friend by making crochet lace to be fashioned into caps, trimming and yokes for nightdresses or undermuslins, bags and neckwear. A lovely yoke in an Irish crochet pattern, and a crocheted cap appear in the picture above. They take considerable time to make, but will last almost a lifetime. There are many beautiful patterns for this work, which is very popular for gifts.

Lovely Kerchief Case

Nothing could be lovelier or more exquisite than this handkerchief case made of handsome ribbons. It is fit for a queen and proud will the lady be who counts its like among her Christmas gifts. A beautiful brocaded ribbon makes the case which is lined with a soft, plain satin. There is a frill of fine val lace about the edge and a very beautiful double guilloche ribbon in two shades is placed above the lace. Rosettes at the corners and a ribbon rose at the center add elaboration to this bit of magnificence.

FRENCH BLUEBEARD TURNS ANOTHER SMART TRICK.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Henri Landru, who was arrested last April in connection with the disappearance of twelve women whom it was charged he either had married or promised to marry, was brought before a judge Monday in connection with the suit of his wife for divorce. A "reconciliation" meeting is the first proceeding in a French divorce case, and Landru showed his knowledge of legal procedure by remarking to the judge that he had not been given the stipulated three-day notice of such meeting, the order bringing him into court reaching him on Saturday. The judge had no option but to postpone the case. Madame Landru arrived in the court-room before her husband, who was carelessly dressed and without a tie.

HORSE FULL OF PEP AT 48

CATAWISSE, Pa.—What is believed to be the oldest horse in active service in the United States and one that bids fair to reach 50 years of age is owned and driven by Rev. U. Meyers, pastor of St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Catawissa.

The animal, a medium bay, stands 15½ hands, weighs about 1,100 pounds and is in good condition. He is of Hambletonian stock on both sides and was foaled in Kentucky in the summer of 1872 and is in his 48th year. He has a track record of 2.27 as a pacer and 2:30 as a high-wheeled sulky trotter, being double gaited. He has had but four owners, Rev. Myers owning him for 35 years. He is daily in active service and has the "pep" of a colt.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe: to a lack of digestive juices The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acids and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5TH, 1919.

THE WHITE ELEPHANT.

The joke seems to be rather on the Drury Government in connection with the million dollar residence of Ontario's Lieutenant-Governor, the monument of extravagance erected by the late Conservative administration which according to friends of the new Government was going to be turned into a soldiers' home or an hospital or something of that kind. The palatial edifice was denounced at every U.F.O. meeting during the campaign and when the Farmers' ticket won first place in the political sweepstakes there were chorties of glee at the prospects of an early conversion of Government House into a useful institution. But there was a joker in the pack for a perusal of the deed of the property to the King shows that the building cannot be used for any other purpose than as a private dwelling or as a residence for the Lieutenant-Governor until 1929, when the twenty-year contract will expire. And there you are. Unless the Drury Administration can find a war profiteer with surplus enough to purchase the palace over-looking the Don Brick yards as a residence they will have to keep on maintaining it as a Government residence, paying the bills with as close an approach to cheerfulness as they can accomplish under the circumstances.

THE COAL SITUATION.

The development of the fuel crisis makes it imperative that every effort should be made by private citizens to avoid as far as possible a waste of coal. Many people seem to have the idea that because the strike was only among the bituminous coal miners that there is no especial necessity for economy in the use of anthacite—a very erroneous notion. The fact is that the railways in the United States need about half the present production of soft coal with the result is that nearly 60 per cent. of the industries that have hitherto used bituminous coal will have to depend upon anthracite. There will be an inevitable shortage therefore in hard coal and the whole situation is more serious now than it was at any time during the war years. There is already a scarcity of coal here; the supplies on hand are small and no one can prophesy definitely as to future shipments. The city coal yard has one thousand tons in reserve which will be used for emergency case, but this will not go far if conditions do not improve. Every house-holder should under the circumstances exercise every precaution to see that fuel is not wasted. The outlook, it may be said, is far from re-assuring.

A WEAK ARGUMENT.

The chief argument advanced by those who advocate the control of the police department by a commission elected by the people instead of by a permanent commission named by the Legislature is that the expenditures of the department would be under the control of the council. But there is little virtue in that contention. City councils have rarely been noted for economical methods and there is no reason to suppose that a commission composed of Judge Huycke, Police Magistrate Dumble and the Mayor would be more inclined to be extravagant in their administration than would the aldermanic board. They are surely just as much interested in the welfare of Peterboro as are the aldermen. They have no desire to increase the burdens of the tax-payers but they have every desire to see that the city is given an efficient police department. The fact that they are independent of the electorate and can administer the department unhampered by the political effect of their decisions to which some people raise objections is a very strong reason why the present arrangement should not be interfered with. However, there does not seem much danger that the new Government will pay any serious attention to the request from the local council.

THE VETERANS' CONVENTION

Peterboro is to be honoured in a short time by being the meeting place of the Provincial convention of the Great War Veterans' Association, the biggest Provincial gathering that the returned men have yet held. Between 400 and 600 ex-soldiers will be here for at least three days to discuss the future policies of their Association and as they will represent every district in the province their visit will mean much to Peterboro. This city will be advertised favourably or otherwise according to the welcome that is given the soldier delegates. It is a matter therefore that he city council should discuss as soon as possible with a view of deciding upon a suitable public programme for the entertainment of the visitors. They have been royally looked after in other cities where their conventions have been held and Peterboro will not want to fall below the standard.

The public reception is a matter for the council to decide but the people generally can be of great service to the local G.W.V.A. in the matter of finding accommodation for the visitors. It is impossible of course for Peterboro's hotels to take care of anything but a very small proportion of the delegates. The majority will have to be billeted in private houses, where their accommodation will of course be paid for, and just now the problem that the Peterboro Veterans are facing is to secure the necessary billets. Any citizen who may have room for one or more delegates can render a great service to the G.W.V.A. if they will agree to throw their homes open to the soldier delegates. The convention may be called within a few weeks so that it is imperative that complete information should be obtained as soon as possible. Local people who can help are asked to get into communication with Secretary Whatley of the local Association.

A SPLENDID SERVICE.

The returned soldiers of Kingston are showing a commendable desire to be of service at home as they were of service overseas. Realizing the necessity in Kingston as there is in Peterboro of securing a greater interest in municipal elections and of putting men of business ability into the civic government, the veterans grappled with the problem as they grappled with the enemy. There are two organizations of returned men in Kingston, the Army and Navy Veterans and the G.W.V.A., and the first step was to form a working alliance, a joint committee being selected to take charge of the all-important work of bringing out a field of candidates of a calibre that would be of service to the city. The soldiers had no intention of running [illegible] candidates for control municipal affairs. They simply desired to see that men were brought into the contest who had the ability to perform the duties of the different civic positions and who enjoyed the confidence of the people. Their slate has just been announced and judging from the comments of the Kingston papers and the reputation enjoyed by some of the candidates even outside their home city. It is evident that the soldiers have succeeded admirably in their aim. When such men as Mr. H. C. Nickle has been induced to become a candidate for the mayoralty and Col. Alexander MacPhail, C.M.G., of Queen's University, as an aspirant for the Utilities Commission, it is evident that the Municipal Committee of the Kingston Veterans have accomplished a definite step in its campaign to give Kingston a progressive civic government. Equally strong candidates have been secured for the city council. The Kingston Whig remarking "These are the men who have accepted the nomination of the Veterans for the aldermanic contest. They represent all classes in the community and can be depended upon to frown upon any attempts at class legislation of any kind. Their names are a sufficient guarantee that there is no thought of creating a pro-alleged soldiers' class, but that the aim of the organization which is putting them forward is to provide the best possible material for next year's council."

PREMIER DRURY'S SALARY.

Premier Drury's voluntary decision to reduce his own salary from $12,000 to $9,000 annually may be a greater tribute to his unselfishness than to his good sense. In public service, as in every other sphere of endeavor, the laborer is worthy of his hire; and if Mr. Drury's premiership is not worth $12,000 a year to Ontario then Mr. Drury should not be Ontario's Premier.

The tendency in the public service is not to reduce but to increase salaries. It is becoming recognized that unless compensation for public men is brought reasonably near the level of that which can be obtained in private endeavor it will become impossible for the state to secure the character and capacity of service to which it is entitled. Mr. Drury, who is a prosperous farmer, and to whom the premiership salary is but a sideline, probably does not need to worry about the loss of $3,000 a year; but what about the case of a successor who may not be so well off? Would either Mr. Rollo or Mr. Halcrow, for example—and remember this is a Labor-Farmer Government—be as able to maintain the position of Premier with Mr. Drury's reduced scale of pay?

Mr. John Burns, the English labor leader, as much a patriot and as disinterested a public servant as Mr. Drury, once said that five hundred pounds was as much as any public servant was entitled to, but when he became President of the Local Government Board in the Asquith Administration he accepted the regular salary of $25,000 per year. Confronted on a certain occasion by his old declaration he replied, and with some force: "I am a trades unionist; the scale of pay for my present job is five thousand pounds a year; do you want me to scab on my comrades?" Perhaps Mr. Drury's Labor colleagues, some of whom may have the premiership in mind for some future date, may regard Mr. Drury as a sort of blackleg; and, beyond question, they would have some ground for such feeling.

Economy is a great thing, and much to be desired. But any novice in efficient service, whether private or public, could have told Mr. Drury that poor compensation for capacity and brains is not economy but extravagance of the worst kind.—Ottawa Journal.

AN EVIL STRIKE.

John L. Lewis, acting president of the soft-coal miners who are on strike in the United States scoffs at the idea of a [illegible] per cent. increase in wages as an inducement to the strikers to return to work. He says that the miners will have to be given the 31 per cent. increase which the United States Secretary of Labor suggested as a minimum offer. If the president of the striking miners is warranted in his intimation that the strikers will return to work for a 31 per cent. increase upon their wages, he gives an extraordinary proof of the temper among many union men which keeps precipitating senselessly huge strikes upon the distressed world in these times of high prices. To begin with the miners demanded a 60 per cent. increase in wages combined with a five-day week and a six-hour day. Practically this meant double wages for the old rate of work and inevitably nearly double the price of soft coal to all users, whether industrial or domestic. The demand was a tremendous one. The owners or operators of mines proposed arbitration. The miners refused to arbitrate. Clearly they thought that they could enforce whatever demand they chose to make. Now, after finding that such opposition has been stirred up that their original demand may not be successful, the strikers according to acting president Lewis are ready to accept half the advance in wages which they originally demanded, and to accept that without apparently any concession being made to them regarding days or hours of work. If Mr. Lewis voices their mind correctly, the intimation is a proof that the original demand of the miners was of the most grossly unjust character, based upon a vicious arrogance which believed itself able to impose any terms it pleased, and determined to do so utterly regardless of the interests or health of the rest of the community. A strike of that kind was little less than criminal, and it is no wonder that the antagonism it has aroused in both the federal and the state governments across the line, as well as among the operators of the mines, is of a particularly determined character. And apparently the whole community is to meet severe suffering before an end is reached.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The time is getting short. How about those Christmas presents?

Premier Drury's reference to the Dominion elections and his remark that "our duty here is to guard the trenches we have won" will be a shock to a lot of people who had the idea that the duty of the new Government was to endeavour to give Ontario an efficient administration.

(Calgary Herald.)

Just how a man can assert that he will represent the whole people when he accepts nomination from a class organization and gives that organization the right to force his resignation if it does not agree with his course of action it is difficult to understand. At the very outset he becomes the special servant of a particular class, and to hold his position must cater to that class.

Sickness Cure or Sickness Prevention

When Pasteur proved the relation of germs to infectious disease, he marked a big advance in that development of medical science which reigns to-day—the Idea of Sickness Prevention.

As a result, many plagues and epidemics that were the bane of former ages no longer terrify the world, and science has now developed an effective agent against the condition which is the first cause of over 90% of all human disease—constipation.

That effective agent is Nujol.

Nujol by relieving constipation prevents the absorbtion of poisons which otherwise would be taken into the blood and so under-mine the whole system.

Leading medical authorities agree that pills, salts, castor oil, etc., simply force and weaken the system.

But Nujol is entirely different.

Nujol prevents constipation by softening the food waste and encouraging the intestinal muscles to act naturally.

Nujol helps nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

BILLETS NEEDED FOR G.W.V.A. MEN

PROVINCIAL CONVENTION LIKELY TO BE HELD IN PETERBORO IN COURSE OF NEXT FEW WEEKS.

The local branch of the G. W. V. A. are facing the problem of finding accommodation for between 400 and 600 delegates to the Provincial Convention of the G. W. V. A., which is likely to be held in this city in the next few weeks.

Peterborough was selected as the meeting place of the next convention, which, under normal conditions, would not have been found necessary would not have been held until next spring. It has been found necessary, however, to hold a Dominion Convention in January, so that it is imperative for the Provincial Convention to be held almost immediately.

It will be necessary to billet many of the delegates, as the hotel accommodation is not sufficient to take care of all the visitors.

Citizens who can billet one or more delegates, for which accommodation, of course, they will be paid, are asked to telephone Secretary Whatley at the G. W. V. A. Headquarters as soon as possible. The telephone number is 141.

MEETING HELD ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Last night an important meeting in connection with the Anglican Forward Movement was held in St. John's School House, with an attendance of between 75 and 100 of the leading men of the four parishes.

The chair was occupied by Dr. G. S. Cameron, president of the District Committee.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. Dr. C. A. Seager, of Toronto, diocesan organiser, who gave an informal as well as an inspirational address on the aims and objects of the movement.

Following Dr. Seager's address, Mr. T. Tooms, M.P.P., gave a carefully prepared paper on labour's relation to the Forward Movement.

In the evening at six o'clock, preceding the meeting, a large body of men sat down to supper in Hooper's Palm Parlours. Mr. A. G. Roberts, the chairman of the occasion, very skilfully brought out the opinions of all present regarding the problems of the Forward Movement.

Rev. W. G. Walton was present for a few moments, and gave an interesting address touching on his scheme of re-stocking the Hudson Bay district with reindeer and caribou in order to aid the Eskimos.

Have Beavers Intelligence?

Chief Thompson Relates An Experience of His Hunting Trip—Other Observers Scout the Fabled Reasoning Powers of the Beaver.

Men have marvelled at the natural art of the birds that build their nests of "wool and hay and moss," and those who have penetrated the unsettled country to the homeland of the Canadian beavers have been astonished at the evidences of a seeming intelligence transcending mere animal instinct. How the beavers plan their building schemes and flood their townsites by means of dams skillfully thrown up to the exact height to provide their peculiar community protection have been thoughts that engrossed chance observers and baffled their pondering efforts to explain the wonderwork they beheld with questioning doubts of the truth of their vision.

In this connection Chief Thompson relates an experience of his recent hunting holiday in Burleigh township. Scarcely believing that he had stumbled upon a beaver colony, in the course of his patrol in the woods he lost all interest in moose and deer in an examination of a dam above which the stream spread out to a considerable width in contrast to the fordable trickle further down the course.

While investigating the skillful workmanship by which the beavers had felled trees, cut them into lengths floated them into position, carried brush and other debris to fill the gaps, making the strange structure almost water tight, Chief Thompson noticed a blunder that suggested the limits of the builders' supposed intelligence. A wire fence running through the woods had been clinched to a tree in its sapling days. As it developed in girth the bark overgrew the wire so securely that when the beavers cut down the tree the wire held firmly. In their next operation the busy sawyers gnawed off a section of the trunk which held by the wire fence resisted every attempt to roll or otherwise move it to the water. It was manifest that the beavers failed to recognize the obstruction that wasted their labour and that they were guided only by instinct in their natural art.

Discussing the instinct of animals, in an article published in the November issue of "Rod and Gun in Canada" Robert Page Lincoln relates some interesting observations of the reasoning capacity of the beaver. The following is an excerpt:— .....

"Among the wild animals of this continent the beaver has certainly won its host of admirers. The beaver has been studied from the very earliest times on into the present. No doubt were all the writings about the life of the beaver collected they would fill a small-sized library. A few of these books are worth while.—A. Radcliffe Dugmore's "Life of the Beaver," is one of these. It aims to tell the truth about the beaver as seen through the eyes of a modern, his vision undimmed by fairy stories: his chief object the pursuit of the truth. Certainly in the beaver we find evidence of a reasoning capacity of no small order; intelligence if you wish; unless we are permitted to designate a heightened degree of instinct as being analogous to our divine gift. The fact that so many thousand fairy tales have been told about the beaver, and his marvelous supposed doings, has served to brand almost everything said about the creature as a fake, pure and simple. All that is left for us to do is to go to the authoritative naturalist, and Dugmore is one of these. His book can be taken as substantially reliable.

A Fantastic Story.

Whatever will lead an otherwise truthful man to fake wierd tales about nature and the animals found therein is more than I can understand. A well known sportsman once made a farce of himself by writing these supposed observations on the life of the beaver. They are too good to miss so I quote:

"The stream at this point was a series of little lakes, and about two hundred yards below I could hear the trip-hammer and pile-driver thumping away as each beaver's tail came down on the new construction. I was soon near the dam, but I could get no satisfactory point of observation. A few yards ahead of me stood a box-holder tree and I began to crawl toward this as carefully as if I were stalking a band of deer. The bushes and willows covered my approach and presently I was among the branches. Carefully I peered out from the green foliage and what a sight met my gaze. Seventy or eighty beavers were working in broad daylight. I was eager to give my entire attention to what I had sought after, but never had had the pleasure of seeing until now. The dam was nearly one hundred yards long, about six feet wide at the bottom and narrowed to two feet at the top. It comprised stones, logs and willow branches packed together so firmly that it was impossible to dislodge any portion of the structure. I first sought to divide the workmen according to their respective duties. The most prominent figure was that of an old beaver gray with age and of enormous, size whose function seemed to be that of a general supervisor, for he sat paart on the sand-bar. My attention was next attracted to some very large, strong beavers which placed in position material brought forward by others. I was curious to know how these carriers, who came forward with their tails loaded down with mortar obtained their load. The master mechanics with their tails beat this mortar into position. I peered a litle further over the boughs and saw that down below the dam close to the original creek bank where some water was creeping forth the mortar trough. Some beavers were engaged in mixing this sticky clay and placing it on other beaver's tails who, in turn, went straight to the dam with it. I could scarcely stay silent when I saw this proceeding, for how this mud was moved had always been a mystery to me as it takes tons of it to make a dam. I beheld with delight even the youngest beavers coming with long willow twigs in their mouths to lay beside the masters. These in turn took them, cut them in pieces and stuck them down by rearing upon their hind legs, holding the twigs fast in their teeth while pushing them firmly into the dam. As soon as the mortar was taken from the hod carriers it was stamped solidly into position by the tails of the workers. Such precision and orderly work I have seen carried out except by the bees and the red ants of the plains. I notiged two or three times that the youngsters had a disposition to play between loads. The masters would then thrust out their necks and show their teeth. This would cause them to scamper back to work."

If this "observer" had said that the superintendent beaver wore "Never-Crack" overalls smoked a corn-cob pipe; if he had stated that when the twelve o'clock whistle blew, all the hod carriers "downed tools" and brought forth their dinner pails; if he had stated that the mortar mixers chewed tobacco he would not have deceived his readers who would then have known beyond a doubt that the whole narrative was a commendable bit of satire.

Is a Master-builder.

There is no doubt but that, combined with industriousness the beaver is a master-builder among the animals, and surely if there be reasoning ability represented in the wild estate then the beaver takes the foremost place. Nevertheless painstaking naturalists, given to correct and therefore invaluable observation, discounting all fashionable stories, have placed before the public evidence that the beaver often makes mistakes or falls far short of his professed ability. One of these incidents recounted by a well-known professor will go to prove how sadly a beaver misses intelligent action.

Desiring to fell some trees across a pond a beaver went to work along the shore. But instead of felling the trees close to the brink, first, dropping them toward the pond, that beaver went inland and started gnawing off trees. He severed the first one; it sagged to fall and got caught up in the branches of the trees that lined the pond and remained in that position at a slant of well over forty five degrees. Unable to get the tree to ground the beaver went to work on another; gnawed that through. That tree fell and also got caught up. The beaver was again non-plussed; he could see no way of getting those trees down. In this manner he gnawed off some ten, fifteen trees, all of them caught up in the trees bordering the pond. In despair the beaver gave up and compromised with failure by gnawing off saplings and sticks that could be cut in short pieces and conveyed by mouth to the pond. If he had had any degree of intelligence that beaver would have gnawed off the trees along the brink of the pond that held up the severed trees. By doing this he could have dropped easily enough the trees hung up behind.

MAN OWNS ENTIRE TOWN IN WYOMING TERRITORY

The entire town of Moneta, Wyoming, on the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad in Natrona County, has been sold for $10,000. The purchaser, John Goodman, of Shoshone, Wyo., secured the title from A. Kenney, who founded Moneta, twenty years ago and has owned it ever since to the following: One town site of forty lots, one eighteen room hotel, one five-room cottage, one three-room cottage, two two-room cottages, one large livery barn, one railroad eating house, one small barn, one ice house, a miscellaneous assortment of corals and outbuildings, and a large assortment of more or less valuable junk, representing the accumulations of a score of years of Moneta's history.

No other person than Goodman owns a single thing in Moneta, but the Chicago and Northwestern owns the right of way on which the townsite is located and a small depot building on this right of way.—Christian Science Monitor.

RHINE TO FURNISH PARIS WITH ELECTRIC POWER.

PARIS, Dec. 3.—Albert Clavielle, Minister of Public Works, is to be appointed President of the International Rhine Commission as soon as the Treaty with Germany goes into effect, it is reported here, in order to obtain the fullest advantages arising from the special rights which were accorded France by the Rhine Treaty.

M. Clavielle has already worked out a most elaborate scheme which includes, in addition to an intensive development of export and import traffic, a series of huge waterpower plants at which huge turbines will generate electric current which will be transmitted to Paris to carry on industrial work. It is stated that the capacity of plants here will be doubled almost without cost.

RUINED OR FULLY COVERED

Unless your fire insurance has been increased upon the basis of the greater amount of money it would take TO-DAY to replace what you own

You Are Now Under-Insured Against Fire

Values have greatly increased during the last three years. So you are WORTH MORE. But likewise you are LESS PROTECTED.

During the first eight months of this year there were 6,379 fires in Ontario, causing a loss of $6,705,671. Of this sum $2,484,358 was not covered by insurance. THINK OF IT. AN ABSOLUTE LOSS OF NEARLY TWO AND A HALF MILLIONS THROUGH NEGLECT.

Suggestion:—Get out your fire insurance policies to-day—and write or phone your insurance agent for information that will surely benefit you.

VALUES HAVE GREATLY INCREASED

AFTER "your fire" you'll find the present replacement values of your buildings and possessions to have far outgrown the amount they were insured for in your policy.

Because, since [illegible] the constantly advancing costs for materials and labour—

—Your HOME
—Your BUILDINGS
—Your MACHINERY
—Your FIXTURES
—Your MERCHANDISE
—Your HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS
—Your RUGS, CARPETS and TEXTILES have greatly increased in value.

You may therefore be paid only a fraction of your fire-losses unless you are properly insured.

INSURE NOW ON 1919 VALUATIONS

DO you know that fire insurance companies will pay you "the actual cash value at the time when such loss shall happen"—the present market replacement value—if you will properly insure?

Do you know that the rich man gets no lower rate per hundred dollars than does the poor man on an equal risk—that, likewise, big business pays the same rate as does the small business man?

Delay means needless risk. Don't be under-insured against fire another day! increase your insurance to an amount which adequately protects you. This applies with even greater force to those whose policies bear "Contribution Clauses."

Don't try to shelter your home, your business, your all, behind an under-sized, outgrown policy. Don't gamble on fire another day!

Suggestion: Get out your fire insurance policies to-day. Figure up the value of what you own—at to-day's prices. Find out what you're worth. Your Insurance Agent will help you to do it. 'Phone or call upon him—send him the coupon below—or write him. His name and address are on your policy. Talk it over with him. He'll gladly do it—without any obligation. Do it NOW. Who knows but that a fire alarm to-morrow may find your home, your business, ablaze—and dire loss confronting you!

GEORGES ESCHEWS JUICY BEEFSTEAKS CUTS CIGARETTES DOWN TO TWO A DAY

DIETS ON MILK FROM SPECIAL COW—HAS SPECIAL COOK WHO WATCHES OVER HIS MEALS LIKE A CHILD.

PARIS, —No juicy beefsteaks go to make up the training of George Carpentier, French heavyweight champion, who is to do battle with Joe Beckett, of England, for the championship of Europe on the night of December 4. Carpentier is living on a diet composed principally of spinach, fish and milk, according to reports from his training quarters in the village of La Guercha.

An old French lady, Mme Vanelbrouc, is his housekeeper and cook She is the mother-in-law of Carpentier's manager, Descamps, and thinks she knows better than all the trainers in the world what fighters should eat. So she dishes out chops and bits of roasts very sparingly to Georges and sees that he gets plenty of milk from a cow that grazes very near the training quarters.

The French champion takes very little wine, only with his meals, and mixes that with water. He smokes exactly two cigarettes a day, no more, no less, and gets 10 hours of sleep every night.

Carpentier opens his day with six or seven miles of roadwork and he keeps his partners pulling when he swings from a brisk walk into a run. After lunch he plays a game of billiards in the town cafe and then takes a rest until three. Then for an hour and a half he goes in for bag punching, sparring, skipping the rope and other exercises in a little gymnasium built inside the old farm house owned by his manager, who is also a village cheese magnate. A shower bath and massage complete the day's programme.

Mme. Vanelbrouc is taking no chances on Carpentier's diet and will accompany him to England when he goes over for the final workouts before the fight.

Carpentier fully expects to win the championship from Beckett and he believes Mme. Vanelbrouc's utmost tender care will prove one of his greatest assets when he enters the ring.

The madame's daughter is dead and her only son was killed during the war after attaining the rank of captain. So she has adopted Carpentier as the one object of care in her life. Everything the French champion eats is cooked by her.

"English food," says she, "would upset him. "I'll train him on French food to whip the English champion." Carpentier keeps a big car at La Guerche and is fond of making motor excursions. One of his hobbies at his training quarters is his collection of boxing gloves with which he has won his most important fights He also collects newspaper posters announcing his victories.

STRAIGHT LINES HOLD SWAY

Good Thing to Remember Now That It Is About Time to Plan for Fall Things.

Interest in summer suits is naturally waning somewhat at the present time, with fall so near at hand, and the woman who is planning a fall suit must bear in mind the fact that regardless of dress silhouette, straight lines hold sway in suits. No matter what material is used or what trimming embellishes it, the smart suit will have a straight, semi-fitted coat, thirty to forty-five inches in length, with narrow shoulders and long, tight sleeves. Suit skirts are shorter than those shown with spring models, and while by no means full they are a trifle wider. Soft velours are very popular and a great deal of fur trimming will be used. This fur trimming is usually only in the form of generous sized collars and revers and sometimes cuffs. Trimmed skirts or the elaborate fur peplums used on suit coats last season are not in evidence so far. Embroidery and fanciful beadings appear on many smart suits.

For first fall wear strictly tailored models of chevlot and smart wool mixtures are being brought out.

LASH KEEPS ITS POPULARITY

Far From Passing, It Bids Fair to Become Even More Important Article of Dress.

We keep hearing the rumor that the veil is passe—certainly it is passing, if we judge by the signs of the times, and unless it has a revival will not be here at all by fall. The mesh, however, has taken on a new lease of life and is to play an even more important part in our costume than ever before As to fringe, it is to be more extensively used than ever—in every depth and wherever possible. The fringe banding is often seen trimming satin capes coats of camels' hair and dresses of taffetas and satin. This banding is made by stitching the fringe on a strip of satin at top and bottom, so that it has the appearance of insertion when used as trimming. Now and then one finds a color different from the dress or cloak showing through the threads, but this is not nearly so often used as the plainer colored banding in blue or black.

Children's Fall Styles.

Mothers are glad to see gulmpes coming into fashion again for the little folks. They give a dark dress a "dressed-up" appearance, and are a great saving in the laundry. They are decidedly fashionable this summer and autumn, being made simply and trimmed with either a bit of Val lace or a frill of pleating of the sheer white material from which they are made. One mother has made a half dozen of these useful gulmpes for her small "sunday" daughter who is in the second grade at school, deciding that it is easier to wash several gulmpes than several whole dresses, since it is the sleeves and collar that are soiled first.

Smock and Holland to Match.

If you wish to make an effective embroidered costume harmonize, trim your smock in blanket stitch in lavender and use the same decoration for your hat, adding to both an appliqued design of leaves made of lavender or several smaller motifs will suit the scheme.

Red Rag to a Bull.

How many people know the real meaning of the phrase, "Like a red rag to a bull?"

Why should a bull, or any other creature, be enraged when a piece of scarlet cloth is flaunted before them? For bulls are not alone in this. Sheep, usually so meek and gentle, will apparently become exasperated at its sight if they see anything of this color. Goats and turkeys are similarly affected—the former only having been known to attack a scarlet-clad child.

The excitement animals display on such occurrences is similar to that caused by the smell of blood. There is the theory: The color reminds the animals of blood, an association which invariably suggests hostile conduct and fight. So they suppose their terror at the only sight they

The opening of the bag is bound with braid, and just below this a number of eyelets are let in, and through these eyelets a piece of strong lined cord is threaded, by which the opening may be drawn together, and also by which the bag may be carried.

Sewn on in front of the bag and behind at the edge with tape is a small linen pocket, into which bills may be slipped.

A "Joker."

A "joker" is a word or clause of innocent appearance, inserted in a bill before Parliament in such a way as to make the bill mean something which some who voted for it did not think it meant. Then members are sometimes entrapped into voting for a bill which they would have opposed had they understood its real purport.

Bowler Vs. Vass and Redman.

The plaintiff, a returned soldier, seeks $1,500 from Albert Vass and Mrs. Edith Redman. He alleges the conversion of his military pay by the co-defendant, Redman, to her own use and that under the promise of marriage she obtained his automobile. The co-defendant, Vass, is charged with conspiracy in the automobile affair.

The defence states that Mrs. Redman bought the automobile from Bowler for one dollar under a bill of sale, and that he assigned certain monies to her before going overseas. He now alleges that she promised to marry him. Conspiracy is denied by the defendants. This is a civil case

SUPREME COUNCIL DISCUSSES CASE

NEW NOTE TO GERMANY WILL CONTAIN VERY STRONG REPRESENTATIONS.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Dec. 4. — The Supreme Council spent the greater part of today's session discussing the attitude of Germany towards the signing of the protocol putting the peace treaty into effect, Germany's representatives having declared they could not sign it in the present form, including provision for reparation for German warships sunk at Scapa Flow and other features objectionable to them. The form of the note to Germany on this question was considered, but no final decision reached. It is anticipated that the reply to the German note re the Scapa Flow question will contain very strong representations as to the consequences of further resistance. The Council decided to give the small powers possessing sea coasts a few of the smaller German torpedo boats.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS.

The Duke of Aosta, who is mentioned as the most likely candidate for the throne of Italy in the event of the abdication of King Victor Emmanuel, is the eldest cousin of the present sovereign. His father was Amadeus, brother of the late King Humbert and who has a brief career as King of Spain. Should the Duke of Aosta come to the throne, the legitimatists will have good reason for setting up a wail at the degeneracy of the blood royal, for Aosta is only half loyal. His mother from whom he inherited an enormous fortune, was a commoner, a Cisterna of the house of Mesode. The Duke is an excellent sportsman, and an army officer of genuine merit, having served as commander of the Italian Third Army during the recent war. In 1896 he married Princess Helen of Orleans, daughter of the Count of Paris, pretender to the French throne.

"LET HER GO"

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—High heels, corsets, low necks, silk stockings, rouge and face powder—long the targets of reformers (male)—have received the official endorsement of Dr. R. S. Copeland, New York Health Commissioner.

"Let her wear them if she wants to. They're all good for her," said Copeland.

The city woman, who is generally credited with embracing some of all of the above, ordinarily lives longer than her sister on the farm, he declared.

"Let us not discourage anything with which women care to adorn or leave unadorned her beauty, he said.

RUBBED FINISH INSTEAD OF GRANITE FOR BRIDGE

COUNCIL REVERSES FORMER DECISION---ARCHES ALREADY BUILT WILL HAVE SAME FINISH AS EASTERN APPROACH WALLS ---CONSIDERABLE GRANITE ALREADY SET.

ECONOMY WAS URGED

Although part of the Hunter street bridge has been prepared for a chipped granite finish, the Board of Works last night decided by a vote of six to four to make the entire finish, excepting the soffits of the arches of rubbed concrete.

According to the records of Mr. Frank Barber this was the sixth occasion on which the Council in regular session or in committee debated the question of the bridge's surface material and appearance,—the concrete rub or the crushed granite. It was not the first time a majority was given for the smooth finish of rubbed concrete. An evidence of that temporarily prevailing opinion is found in the exterior facing of the eastern approach already completed.

Last night's change of mind came at the conclusion of the meeting during which nearly all the members expressed their views of a complication reported by Ald. Phelan to the effect that the cost of this part of the work was exceeding the estimate to such an extent that he deemed it his duty to apprise the members of the Council of the facts he obtained from the contractor so that they should approve or disapprove of proceeding with the chipped granite finish.

A motion by Ald. Edgar that the granite be retained was withdrawn for the reason that it was unnecessary in view of the resolution that had been passed some months ago.

Vote on the Change.

Followed an interval that promised no action until Ald. Gainey remarked that an expression of opinion might as well be secured, moved, seconded by Ald. Garside that the former resolution be rescinded and that the bridge be finished in plain rubbed concrete.

The vote resulted as follows:

For.	Against.
Gainey	Turner
Garside	Morrison
Crowe	Edgar
Phelan	Hamilton
Taylor
Mayor Duncan

Ald. McIntyre was absent.

The indignation of Mr. Barber, the engineer in charge of the bridge construction, was eloquently expressed by his rising and leaving the committee room without a word of comment.

Ald. Phelan, referring at the outset to the purpose of the meeting, stated that the contractor's records of the work showed that about $3,000 had already been spent on the finish of the bridge, for which $7161 was estimated including handrails.

Mr. Barber interjected that he had never had a chance to meet the bridge committee. He wondered where the information came from.

Ald. Morrison remarked that the question of the finish had been previously settled. He was in favour of letting it continue as it is.

Mr. Barber repeated many of the arguments he had used to impress the Council, in the five previous deliberations of the advantages of the chipped granite over the rubbed concrete finish.

Orders Work Stopped for Season.

"I have advised Mr. Christie to stop the work on the west spandrils" he announced, meaning that no more concrete would be poured above ground.

He stated that when an order had been given for red granite to be procured near Washago for the bridge finish some person had interfered with that order and that as a consequence it had cost more to bring the gray granite from Quebec. He objected that that the handling of the granite from the crusher to the cement forms had not been preformed as cheaply as it might have been.

Nearly Half Done.

According to his estimate nearly half the facing of the bridge had already been put in. If a rubbed concrete was decided upon, the soffits of the arches would have to be done, Mr. Barber insisted, and this process would be as expensive as the granite. Because of the cold weather the work was now costing more that it would next year.

Mr. Barber emphasized the harmony of colour that would be obtained by making the surface of the bridge all one shade. The handrails would be of gray granite, but rubbed concrete below the floor line would present a contrast that would be noticed while the bridge endured, and should far outweigh any question of an excess cost, which Mr. Barber refused to admit.

The arguments had all the familiar words and sound of the reawakened echoes of the meetings of last summer and spring when it was thought that bridge finish had been definitively determined.

Delays Cement Pouring.

Mr. Barber agreed with Ald. Garside's contention that the setting of the chipped granite near the exterior faces of the bridge, from which the thin concrete coating would be afterwards removed by bushing, thereby exposing the chipped granite, tended to retard the laying of the concrete and was not so cheap as the pouring of the cement mixture for simply a rubbed surface finish. But Mr. Barber added that the former plan could be accelerated by putting enough men on the granite setting in order that the pouring would not be held up.

Mr. C. Townsend, the contracting engineer, also believed that the pouring of the cement without the granite chips would be a cheaper operation.

Aldermen's Opinion.

Ald. Turner said he was wavering in opinion as to whether it was better to leave the finish as it is or to make it of rubbed concrete.

Ald. Edgar said that he had seen the sample square of granite that had been uncovered and he preferred that finish.

Ald. Crowe remarked the work should be done right. "We don't want future generations to blame us for it if it isn't right" he said.

Mr. Barber almost pleaded with the Committee not to make the change. Any excess in cost, he urged, was out of all proportion to the general appearance of the bridge when completed.

Then came the upturning vote. "We've saved money tonight" was Mayor Duncan's comment.

It may be added that if no more concrete is laid above ground this season the whole subject may be reopened next year, the possibility of which may slightly allay the disappointment that consumed Mr. Barber.

Since the chipped concrete is now hidding beneath a coating of cement the entire bridge may be given the rubbed concrete finish, as in the eastern approach, without any loss except for the money expended in buying the granite, crushing and setting it.

PRESENTATION TO MISS PECK

On Friday, November 28th, the final meeting of the Progressive Club was held at the residence of Mrs. W. R. Morris, with about twenty-five members present.

The President, Miss Peck, briefly reviewed the activities of the Club, from its formation in October 1914 to from its formation in October, 1914, to 965.47 was expended, but the personal effort of the members was the important factor in the carrying on of the huge amount of war work accomplished.

The Treasurer reported a balance of $269.77. Of this amount $100.00 was voted to the Women's Auxiliary to G.W.V.A. for relief work, and $169.77 to British Marine sufferers from the War, this money to be forwarded to Lady Jellico.

After a pleasant half-hour over tea and cake the meeting was called to order by the hostess for the very pleasant purpose of making a presentation to Miss Peck, President of the Club, during its five years of existence.

Miss Peck's unfailing enthusiasm, energy and kindliness were referred to appreciatively, and regret expressed at the parting of friends in the breaking up of the Club.

Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Andrews on behalf of all the members then presented Miss Peck with a handsome leather hand-bag and a bouquet of chrysanthemums. Miss Peck who was taken quite by surprise expressed her great pleasure in being thus remembered, and spoke feelingly of the pleasant relations that had always existed in the Club.

After singing "For She's a jolly good fellow," "O Canada" and "God Save the King" the gathering dispersed, with evidences of regret at bringing to a close a long and pleasant association.

STUDENTS TO HOLD AT HOME IN INSTITUTE

The Board of Education has decided to allow the Collegiate Institute students to hold their 'At Home' in the Institute. This was decided at a meeting of the Supervision committee after the Board meeting on Tuesday night.

Monday, December 29th had been selected as the date for the event and the Students' Committee is going ahead with the arrangements but is experiencing considerable difficulty in securing an orchestra due to the fact that many of the orchestras are already engaged for the holiday season.

The invitations are being limited to pupils and ex-pupils, and the invitation lists are now practically complete. A promenade will be provided for those who do not wish to dance.

A Home Recipe for Wrinkled, Saggy Skin

The famous saxolite lotion recommended by beauty specialists for removing wrinkles and for reducing distended pores, can easily be made at home. Ask your druggist for saxolite in powdered form, one ounce, and a half-pint of witch hazel. Dissolve the powder in the witch hazel and bathe the face, neck, and hands in the solution. Results are remarkable, and instantaneous. The skin tightens, and this naturally reduces the wrinkles, as well as creases or folds about the neck, cheeks, or hands. The tissue beneath the skin also becomes firmer and more solid.

One feels much refreshed and exhilarated after using this truly wonderful preparation. Many women look five or ten years younger after using it only a short time.

Voice Of The People

Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Kindly allow me a small space in your valuable paper re election of Mayor.

A few nights ago a letter was published, signed Workingman. Whoever the writer may be, he is a man with good judgment in bringing Mr. G. N. Gordon's name before the public. Mr. Gordon's experience on the Council during the time he was City Solicitor should be sufficient to carry him by acclamation to the position as Mayor. I need not write of his qualifications, but allow me to ask those who are not in favour of Mr. G. N. Gordon's nomination for Mayor, who has ever done as much for the labour man, or the poor, or the soldier's wife, than Mr. G. N. Gordon, no one who done as much as Mr. Gordon to make soldiers' wives or the poor families comfortable in their homes during the severe cold winter we had in 1917, who supplied as many Christmas dinners to the children in poor families as Mr. Gordon did, and then the labourers try to forget all the gentlemanly acts Mr. Gordon done for them.

I think the people of Peterborough should wake up and get such a man as Mr. G. N. Gordon for Mayor and some good men on the Council, such as Dr. McCullough, F. R. Macpherson and J. Primeau, men who would not allow themselves to exercise in boxing bouts as our councillors did Monday night; also a short while ago a little of the same occurred.

Now allow me to suggest that the people of Peterborough get up and not only call on Mr. Gordon for Mayor, but demand him to accept the position, and then we will be sure of success and prosperity in our city.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

LUI.

WILL ROGERS' WIT SPARKLES IN "ALMOST A HUSBAND"

Will Rogers' original wit has at last found the wide audience it deserves through his entry among the ranks of screen stars in the production of "Almost a Husband," by Opie Read, which will be shown at the Allen Theatre today and tomorrow.

On the stage of the Follies, Will Rogers has been swinging his lariat in good old western style for the past few years and dropping pearls of humor for a tired audience to grasp and laugh over. Now his ever-ready flow of wit finds an outlet in the rich comedy of the titles and in the action of "Almost a Husband."

When Rogers, as the new school teacher, finds no one to receive him on his arrival in the old Arkansas town, he remarks, "I'm as welcome as poison ivy at a picnic." Later, when he is united in a mock marriage (which proves to be genuine) to the daughter of the town's banker, the girl tells him that she is glad she is temporarily married as she is in great trouble, Rogers replies: "Sure you are—if you're married."

Throughout the making of the picture, Will Rogers found fresh humor in every situation and many of the remarks he made were incorporated in the titles of "Almost a Husband." Often, the cameraman had to stop turning the crank to give the other members of the cast a chance to laugh at the extemporaneous flashes of wit which made the filming of Will Rogers new picture a jolly vacation for the players.

GALLO ENGLISH OPERA COMPANY

A notable offering in the repertoire of The Gallo English Opera Company is the first local presentation in some years of Robert Planquette's fine old romantic French opera, "The Chimes of Normandy", which is to be given on Thursday night, December 11. This opera occupies a unique position in that it not only sets the standard, so far as its music is concerned, for the school of French opera comique, but it possess what is said to be the most perfect specimen of libretto in operatic history, a book strong enough to play without music, and contains one of the greatest acting characters known to the stage, that of Gaspard, the miser, his character will be portrayed here by Jefferson De Angeli the first serious piece of work he has done since the days of "The Prodigal Daughter." A fine scenic equipment has been provided for this opera, and the Gallo forces will use every endeavor to make their offering in full accordance with its sublime traditions.

MABEL NORMAND SAYS:

Now that the bars are closing, the name "Gus" is going out of fashion.

Some people say that Jazz isn't music. They're the kind that don't know how to dance.

A woman can do much to brighten her home if hubby will pay the gas bills.

If a woman is color blind she is apt to get more on one cheek than on the other.

It's easy for a man to be patient with a stupid woman if she's pretty.

Few men are capable of putting up a good bluff just before pay day.

SPORTING COMMENT

The Prince of Wales took several boxes of American-made golf balls with him when he sailed for home.

Fred Fulton has received many offers of big money to engage in bouts since his return from Europe.

The Center College football team closed the season with a total of 485 points scored to 23 points for its opponents.

Manager Pat Moran of the champion Reds has turned down a flattering offer to go into vaudeville. A baseball monologue was to be Pat's turn.

It is said that promoters of professional football have offered some of the college stars as much as a thousand dollars to play in a single game.

The Georgia Tech football team, in past seasons a wonderful outfit in gridiron warfare, was compelled to stand for considerable beating this year.

Harry Kid Brown and Johnny Mooney made such a hit in their recent boxing bout in Boston that the pair are to be signed up for another slam at each other.

Boston boxing promoters have posted $5,000 as a guarantee that they will make good any terms they offer to Jimmy Wilde, English flyweight champion, to box in the Hub.

As both Joe Stecher and Wladek Zbyszko are credited with recent wrestling victories over "Strangler" Lewis, a bout between the two grappling demons would probably be a big drawing card.

In meeting Benny Leonard, Johnny Dundee will get his long sought for chance to show his real class in the ring. Just how far the "Scotch Wop" can step with the champion remains to be seen.

According to Manager Jack Curley the grand finale of Willie Meehan's campaign in the heavyweight division will be a championship bout with Jack Dempsey. The Californian holds a decision over Dempsey, gained in a bout in San Francisco last year.

The West had it on the East in intersectional football games this year, four games to one. Both Indiana and Nebraska defeated Syracuse. Notre Dame won from the Army, and Detroit trimmed Holy Cross but lost to Tufts.

The action of the New York Yankees' admirers in picking the Yanks to win the American league pennant has led Kid Gleason, manager of the White Sox, to remark that the Yanks shouldn't stop at winning the league pennant, but should also con the world's championship before the season opens next year.

CITY LEAGUE BASKETBALL

Cressman's 62.
C. G. E. 10.

In Wednesday's senior City League Basketball fixture, Cressman's piled up a big score against the C. G. E. team. The one sided score, however, does not indicate the play as the losers put up a very stiff argument, but were particularly unfortunate in their shooting.

Wednesday's win gives the big store boys the league leadership with an unbroken string of victories, and the Belmont Club and Quaker Oats are tied for second place with only one loss each:

The winners' line-up in Wednesday night's game was:

Nichols, Cressman, DeGraw, Matthews, Jackson and Raynor.

Referee—Physical Director Loomis.

Saturday Night — Quaker Oats vs. C. G. E.

Bankers vs. Belmont Club.

THE MAN WHO DEFEATED BECKET

There probably is not in the ring a more picturesque figure that Carpentier, the French champion, who defeated Joe Beckett, the British title holder, in London last night. He was born in Lens, France, January 12, 1892. He was 27 years of age last January. He has been practically out of the ring for five years, serving his country.

While he is not a physical giant, he is 5 feet 11 1-2 inches tall, and weighs about 180 pounds. In type of build he is similar to Kid McCoy and Jim Corbett, possessing much of the art and cunning of the former and the skill of the latter.

Beckett appears to be a Jeffries in build, and he is credited with a knockout punch in either hand.

Clever Frenchman

Before the war the French champion was regarded as the greatest fighting man of his weight developed in Europe within the last twenty years or more. Entering the ring as a little fellow, he rapidly fought his way through the various classes successfully, finally emerging as the middleweight champion of Europe.

He gradually grew into a light heavyweight, and as such continued his victorious career, although suffering reversals once or twice on referees' decisions when opposed by American boxers. Gunboat Smith went to France and fought Carpentier some three or four years ago, but lost on a foul in the seventeenth round, after having the better of the fight up to that time.

Willard Too Big

Great efforts were made a year ago to have the Frenchman come to this country to fight Jess Willard but public opinion on both sides of the Atlantic was strongly against such a fight, both because of the tremendous difference in size between the men and also because of Carpentier's long lay-off from the ring. France did not relish the idea of seeing the man who had proved himself a hero on a real battlefield borne own by the giant of the ring.

Beckett Metereoric.

Beckett only began attracting notice within the last year, but he went steadily ahead, defeating all who came against him, and a few weeks ago he knocked out the veteran, Eddie McGoorty, the American middleweight, after a bitter battle. McGoorty was regarded as all through by critics in this country many months ago.

PASTIMES WON TWO GAMES

Last night in the Business Men's 5-Pin League at the Water street alleys, the Pastimes defeated the De Laval, placing them in first place and putting the Post Office in second place, and De Laval and Lawn Bowlers tied for third. For the Pastimes King was high with 648, Miller next with 500. For the De Laval Barrett was high for the evening with 612, Lafave next with 576. The scores:

CARPENTIER WON IN THE 1ST ROUND

HOLBORN STATION (RINGSIDE), LONDON, Dec. 5.—Georges Carpentier, the French champion, knocked out Joe Beckett, champion of England, last night in a brief and decidedly one-sided bout for the heavyweight championship of Europe. Seventy-four seconds, as announced by the official timer, sufficed to decide whether Carpentier or Beckett should meet Jack Dempsey, the American heavyweight, for the championship of the world in June next. From the moment the referee, B. J. Angle, called time Carpentier had the battle entirely in his own hands. Beckett never had a chance of hitting the agile Frenchman, who landed blows with enormous strength whenever he felt inclined.

Amid absolute stillness most of the spectators could hear the terrific crack of the swing that put Beckett to sleep. There was a roar of cheering as Carpentier assisted Beckett to his corner, where the Englishman opened his astonished eyes and saw his opponent being carried on the shoulders of some of the enthusiastic crowd around the ring.

Beckett Nervous.

The contestants presented a notable difference in appearance when they stripped and were introduced—Beckett swarthy and muscular; Carpentier white-skinned, with slight figure. Carpentier looked about him as though accustomed to his surroundings; Beckett seemed somewhat nervous.

The Prince of Wales, Peers and Peeresses, members of the House of Commons, high officials of State, and many women, [illegible] evening dress, looked the fighters over critically as they squared up. As a bout the contest was not spectacular. Carpentier was light on his feet, dancing in and out, and playing havoc with the Englishman from the first lead. With lightning swiftness, Carpentier's left leaped out and caught Beckett on the face, and a suppressed sigh was audible all over the house. A quick break away followed a short clinch, and the Frenchman landed two more hard lefts.

The Knockout Blow.

Beckett, with a sort of bulldog determination, forced Carpetnier almost to the ropes. But this was a diversion for a moment only, for the Frenchman stepped back and then forward, and, with all his strength and the full weight of his body, swung his right to Beckett's jaw, putting him down and out.

Beckett was favoured to win, although Carpentier had plenty of supporters.

After the bout Beckett said to the newspaper men: "I hadn't started to box when I got it. I didn't realize what had happened. I was just 'falling in' for the first round when he slipped in."

C. B. Cochrane, the promoter of the Carpentier-Beckett bout, will leave here for the United States in a few days. He hopes to arrange for a championship match between Jack Dempsey and Carpentier to be held in London in 1920.

Canadian Press:

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 5. — Jack Dempsey already is under contract to meet the winner of the Beckett-Carpentier fight in New Orleans, Dominic Tortorich, local fight promoter, announced to-day. He added that Nate Lewis, of Chicago, acting as his representative, was due to arrive in London to-day to sign up Carpentier.

Expert Opinion.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Experts commenting on last night's fight concur in saying that the victory went to the best man, and that Carpentier won by speed and cleverness. Beckett's manager says Carpentier brought off a "million to one" chance, but this is not the view of experts. The "Daily Mail" critic accuses Beckett of "sheer stupidity."

MAY MAKE SKATING RINKS ON RIVER

BOARD OF WORKS HAS AN ALTERNATIVE SCHEME—MAY USE PARKS.

In providing public skating rinks this winter the Council intends to take advantage of natural supplies of water as afforded at the Goose Pond, Little Lake and Jackson Park.

City Engineer Parsons suggested that, if public rinks were to be maintained annually, permanent locations should be selected and prepared for the first freezing .The ground should be levelled and pipes laid. Mr. Parsons said it was too late for any work of that kind this year, but for permanency this was the most desirable plan. In the north and for the present winter, the goose pond provided a rink that could be easily flooded, or Inverlea Park as an alternative. There was also Little Lake in the south, or King Edward park, and Central Park in the centre. The use of fire hose for flooding had been unsuccessful. It threw too heavy a stream and the accumulated water drew the frost out of the ground.

Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Ald. Crowe, that the City Engineer be instructed to make skating rinks on the lake at Crescent street, and another at the goose pond; also that the trustees of Jackson Park be requested to permit the use of the artificial pound for a public rink; and that Mr. A. L. Killaly be asked whether skating may be allowed on the canal between the Lift Lock and C.P.R. bridge.

Ald. Edgar mentioned the requests from young men of St. James' Methodist and Park street Baptist churches and advised that their letters be answered. He moved, seconded by Ald. Garside, that they be informed that it is not the intention of the Council to flood private rinks nor to permit private rinks to be built on public property.

$200 CITY'S PRICE FOR FACTORY LOT

ADJOINS WESTERN CLOCK COMPANY'S FACTORY ON GEORGE STREET.

The city will offer the Western Clock company fifty feet of the property south of their factory for $200. This was the price set last night by the Manufacturers' Committee, Ald. Gainey presiding in the absence of Ald. McIntyre. The lot is not of uniform depth and is part of the acute angled formation between George street and the Belleville line of the C.P.R. with the tip of Romaine street.

Mayor Duncan advised that the city should give as favorable a price as possible to the Western Clock Company. They had asked for no concession and were prepared to pay the city for this strip of land adjoining their factory.

LUMBERING OPERATIONS

Mr. Stewart Murphy, the manager of the Murphy Bros. Lumber Company, Limited, was in the village last week on a business tour, making arrangements, etc., for their winter's operation on their extensive limits in Methuen.

Mr. John A. Murphy, the general superintendent of the company, visited their limits last week, taking in ample supplies for the camp, which has been in operation for several weeks.

The staff of management, after looking the limits over, report the situation favourable for another successful winter's work. Men and teams are plentiful, and it looks as though the winter's cut will by far exceed that of last year. Mr. Stewart Murphy is acting in the capacity of foreman, and intends to push business to a finish. Elm Aulthouse has accepted the responsible position of cook, and thinks that he can hold his end of the business down. The chief clerk and scaler have not yet been appointed, but will very likely be elected at the next regular meeting of the directors, at which time the road boss will also be chosen.

MRS. KOWALSKI NOW HELD BY THE POLICE ON A NEW CHARGE

SHE IS ACCUSED OF HAVING THREATENED TO SHOOT GOVERNOR OGILVIE WHEN HE REFUSED TO LET HER SEE HUSBAND.

HAMILTON. — Annie Kowalski, John Kuick, Mike Smith, and O. Stosek, were arrested. The woman is charged with threatening to shoot Governor Ogilvie, of Barton street jail, and the men are held on charges of vagrancy. Their cases were adjourned until to-morrow.

In referring to the case of the woman, Sergeant McKay said that Governor Ogilvie, anticipating trouble if she were sent to Barton street had requested that she be detained at central police station. The feeling is general in police circles that the only satisfactory method of dealing with the situation is to have the woman deported. Referring to this, Inspector Wyllie, of the Children's Aid society stated that the Children's Aid is being put in an awkward position with regard to the Kowalski children. Owing to the position of their parents it is impossible to place the children in respectable homes, as is the case in such cases, and the only practical solution appears to be that of deportation.

Mrs. Kowalski did not appear in court but the men were present and were remanded.

Confederate Bills.

Inspector Cruickshank stated that while detained at Sherman avenue police station the prisoner, Kuick, was seen to fumble in his hip pocket. After their removal to central police station a roll of confederate states bills was found in the east end station amounting to approximately $200.

Expects No Trouble

Asked as to whether he anticipated any trouble prior to Kowalski's execution on December 19, Chief Whatley replied:

"We do not at any rate nothing we are not already prepared to cope with."

Was not Troublesome

Detectives Chamberlain and Crocker stated that Mrs. Kowalski gave no trouble when arrested, the former remarking however, that she took "one awful time to get ready."

On her arrival at central police station she maintained a sullen demeanor, but protested vigorously when the children were taken charge of by Inspector Wyllie. She gave no trouble, however, it is stated when being searched prior to her removal to the cells.

Police Prepared

While the police or jail officials do not officially admit that they expect any attempt on the part of foreigners to liberate Kowalski, it is evident that every precaution is being taken to frustrate any such possibility. Just inside the entrance doors of the jail a special guard of three turnkeys is stationed all the time, ready to meet any emergency.

The police hope that Mrs. Kowalski and the two men arrested with her will be kept in confinement until after the hanging on December 19.

When seen by a reporter, Governor Ogilvie was quite evidently a man very ill at ease. Questioned regardnig Mrs. Kowalski's alleged threat against his life, he said: "I didn't see the woman myself."

"Did she make the threat while in this building?"

"Well, it wasn't far from here."

Is Well Watched

The governor said that the death watch guards were having no trouble with Kowalski, but it was learned from other sources that the murder, despite the fact that he is shackled hand and foot and will continue so to be rendered harmless for the remaining 16 days he has yet to live is manifesting a spirit of bravado rather than contrition in his actions and bearing. He isn't giving his guards any trouble for the simple reason that it is a physical impossibility for him to do so, nevertheless no chances are being taken and he is being watched as closely as a cat watches a mouse.

Kowalski's Record

The first that the local police heard of Kowalski was a complaint from a local foreigner that he had been made drunk in Kowalski's house on Kensington avenue, the scene of Trembluk's murder, and robbed of $300. Constable Speakman investigated but could find no trace of the money nor any evidence on which to make an arrest.

Shortly after that Kowalski was convicted in Toronto on an O.T.A. charge and sent to the jail farm for three months because he could not or would not pay a $200 fine. He was released from the jail farm on Friday, February 1, and murdered Knot Trembluk two days later Sunday, February 3.

Never Reported

Despite the fact that he was an enemy alien, Kowalski never reported here as such, although it was his duty to do so. The police say that he, like many others, passed himself off as a native of a neutral or allied nation such as Russia, and it was not until after the murder of Trembluk that they knew him as an Austrian.

While in Toronto last week a Hamilton official who has had some connection with the Kowalski case and whose word is unimpeachable overheard a man in a book store ask for a paper containing the news of Kowalski's double crime at the jail. This man explained his desire to read about Kowalski with the statement: "He (meaning Kowalski) threatened my life a couple of times, so I'm interested in him." The local man at once reported the conversation to Detective Guthrie of Toronto police force.

No Iron Gates

Governor Ogilvie denied the story that inspector of Prisons Dunlop had ordered iron gates in the death cell and corridor following his investigation of last Saturday's double murder at the jail. The governor stated that the inspector simply commended the plan of having two guards at one time instead of one, and approved of the plan whereby the guards should remain outside the death cell instead of being locked in with the condemned man. Kowalski, by his crime on Saturday, has forfeited the privilege of using the corridor.

A Costly Murderer.

The extra guards will mean that the total cost to the city of looking after Kowalski will amount to about $3000, and the cost of his trial, keep and hanging will total nearly, if not more, $10,000.

Inspector's Statement.

Speaking over the long distance telephone, W. Dunlop, provincial inspector of prisons, Toronto, expressed regret at the publicity that has been given his visit to the Hamilton jail.

"Until after the coroner's inquest I cannot make any statement, as it would be grossly unfair to those who are connected with the jail," he said. "There are desperate criminals confined there, one of whom is to be tried for murder. I have my own opinions on the subject, but it certainly would not be fair to express them before the inquest."

Questioned regarding the truth of the rumor that iron gates had been installed in the corridor of the jail as a result of his visit, the inspector remarked that he had made no recommendations in connection with the jail and that any other reports had no foundation. All attendants at the jail have been carefully enjoined to secrecy.

Called Him Name.

Last week Mrs. Kowalski, wife of the condemned murderer, now locked up herself on a charge of threatening to shoot Governor Ogilvie, met Detective Smith on the street. Recognizing him as one of the police officers who arrested her husband and later assisted in his conviction, the woman called the detective a vile name, one that always means a fight when used by a man, but although she yelled the dirty epithet across the street, the officer took no notice because she was a woman.

Lawyer Quits Him.

Kowalski's counsel, who had been working hard to secure a reprieve for him, has washed his hands of the condemned man.

"I have done all I could for him," he said.

A new death watch, Mitchell Bowman, was sworn in. The new guard has had considerable experience and will be armed.

Not Demented.

Governor Ogilvie of the jail denied the rumors to the effect that Kowalski, the condemned murderer, was showing signs of insanity. The Governor refuted the report that Kowalski spent all his time sitting on the edge of his bed rocking his body to and fro like one demented. "Absolutely no truth in it," said the Governor.

MOTHER HAD TO PROP HER SON UP IN BED

COULD HARDLY GET HIS BREATH AT TIMES—IS NOW THE PICTURE OF HEALTH

"My son Francis is the picture of health since his recovery through the use of Tanlac," said Mrs. Annie Haxby, living at 12 Walker St., Kingston Road, North Beach, Toronto, Ont.

"My boy has been suffering for several years," she continued, "with all the symptoms of asthma and catarrh and couldn't stand the least exposure without catching cold. His bronchial tubes and nasal passages seemed to be completely stopped up and at times he would have such awful spells of coughing that I would have to prop him up in bed at night before he could get a good breath. I had him treated for years but he only found a little temporary relief.

"As everything else had failed to help him I thought I would give him Tanlac and it is simply wonderful the way it helped him. His catarrh is about gone and every symptom of asthma also and his health is better than it has been in years. In fact he is just like a different boy, is going to school regularly and is feeling fine."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

CHASE & SANBORN MONTREAL

PNEUMONIA DEATH, $1,500.

LONDON, Eng., Dec. 3.—Judge Osborne, the Derry Recorder, yesterday granted $1,500 compensation to Mrs. Mary Dennis, who brought a claim against the Midland Railway Company in respect to the death of her husband, an enginedriver, after taking a train from Derry to Colerain.

It was usual for a cleaner to knock up the driver an hour before the train started, but one morning Dennis was not awakened till the train was almost due to start. He rushed out without food and with his clothing only partly fastened. The morning being bitterly cold, he collapsed at the end of the journey, developed pneumonia, and died a week afterwards.

The Judge said the occurrence came within the definition of an accident.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR WEEK

Dec. 7, 1919.

Peter and John Asleep in Gethsemane. Mark 14:32-54.

Golden Text: Watch and pray that ye enter not into temptation. Mark 14:38.

1. Verse 32. Why did Jesus not want all his disciples close to him while he was praying?

2. Verse 33. What reflection was it if any on the other disciples, that Jesus chose the company of Peter and James and John on this and on some other occasions?

3. Why was Jesus thrown into such agony of soul as indicated by t his narrative?

4. Verses 34-36. Would Jesus have been glad or not and why if God had taken the cup of suffering from him?

5. What had been the benefit of this suffering of Jesus to him and to humanity?

6. Most true Christians have one or more Gethsemanes in their life time; are such experiences of soul agony a bane or a blessing and why?

7. Verses 34-36. Would you say or not and why that this suffering of Jesus was wholly subjective or was God in any sense punishing him for the sins of the world?

8. Would it be a bane or a blessing in this present life, with conditions as they are, if God were to make suffering impossible?

9. Verses 37,38. What is the benefit of human sympathy when we have real heart trouble?

10. Verses 39, 40. Why did Jesus go away and pray the same prayer that he had prayed before?

11. Verses 39, 40. When we pray for what we actually need is it right or wrong and why to keep on praying until God gives us some sort of an answer?

12. Verses 41.-42. If the crucifixion was a necessity and not a contingent event why did Jesus discuss the matter with his heavenl. Father?

13. Why does God frequently keep his faithful children in the dark as to their future duty, notwithstanding they cry unto him day and night?

14. Verses 43-45. Why did the rulers of the Jews seek to arrest and destroy such a beautiful character as Jesus? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by the members of the club)

15. On what principle of psychology or human motive do you account for Judas betraying Jesus seeing he was so intimately acquainted with him?

16. Verses 45-50. Who was it that cut off the ear of the servant of the High Priest and what do you think of the act?

17. How do you account for the cowardly conduct of the disciples of Christ of whom it is here said, "And they all forsook him and fled"?

18. Verses 51, 52. Who would you say was the young man with the linen cloth about his body, and can you see any significance in the incident?

19. Verses 53, 54. Why did Jesus submit to be led away when he could have freed himself and have destroyed his enemies?

20. Why did Peter follow Jesus "afar off" instead of as near as he could get?

Lesson for Sunday, December 14th, 19th, At the Trial and Crucifixion of Jesus. John 18:15-27; 19:25-27

FROM CHERRY-BLOSSOM LAND

The Japanese Give Good Example

It is a proverb of Cherry Blossom Land that beauty of face and figure depend on womanly health.

What is it that makes any Canadian woman often pale, sallow-faced, with dark circles under the eyes, and very often old at forty-five when they should be in their prime?

Women suffer in girlhood from backache, spine-ache and headaches, followed by irregularities and as a result diseases of the womanly organs are more common than any one but a physician in active practice could suppose.

After long experience in the treatment of women's diseases, Dr. Pierce evolved a vegetable tonic and corrective which he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is a purely vegetable preparation, without a particle of alcohol contained in it.

When a woman complains of headache, dizziness or pain—when everything looks black before her eyes—a dragging feeling, with [illegible] she should turn to this "[illegible]" herbal tonic. It can be obtained in almost every drug store in the land and the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper. Put up in tablets or liquid. Dr. Pierce, of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., will send a trial size of the tablets for ten cents.

For a Little Boy

An "aviator" coat and cap made of chinchilla, eiderdown, or other thick, soft fabric will make a fine gift for a little boy. The round cap has earflaps attached and the coat is provided with a collar that may be turned up about the face. Such an outfit will fill a youngster's heart with pride and insure him against the cold.

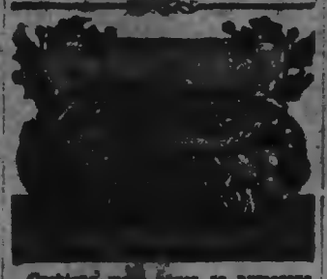
For a Tiny Girl

A bonnet, scarf and muff of satin, trimmed with imitation ermine fur, is enough to make the eyes and heart of any little girl dance at Christmas time. Here is a set that loving mothers or aunties who know how to sew can make without much trouble. Both the muffs are sold at the department stores. The scarf fastens with a snap fastener at the throat, and the muff is suspended on a silk cord.

Gifts for Grandparents

Just what to get for grandparents seems to be the hardest question to decide at Christmas time. They like things that add to their comfort. In the picture above are two suggestions. One is a reading glass, which will prove useful, when ordinary spectacles fail to reveal to the eyes that are growing old. Below is something pretty and useful for grandmamma. It is a bouquet made of paper flowers, and in the heart of each flower is something needful for sewing or darning. The center of one flower is a small spool of black thread, in others are loops of tape, pins, needles, hooks and eyes.

Pretty Gift Cushions



Cushions! we [illegible] never so numerous or so beautiful [illegible] than the memory of the oldest gift [illegible] are as they are now. They are made [illegible] chairs, window seats, lounges [illegible] and the floor, of all sorts [illegible] materials. Here is a [illegible] in which brocades and [illegible] ribbon are used and [illegible] with satin-covered cord and [illegible] roses and leaves made of [illegible].

A Fad for Flowers

There is a fad for artificial flowers to be used instead of natural flowers for household decoration just now and every home-loving woman will be sure to enjoy a gift of this kind. Small garden roses, nasturtiums and chrysanthemums are great favorites and these particular flowers are cleverly made. They appear in baskets and vases as shown above and make a charming Christmas gift.

TNACONDA COPPER MINES WILL BE CLOSED DOWN

BUTTE, Mont., December 3. — The Anaconda Coper Mining Company is preparing to close all its mines and smelters in this state because of the coal shortage, the officials of the company announced to-day. About 12,000 men will be thrown out of work. Other mines will be effected by the shut-down which also will curtail operations in industries closely associated with mining.

IN TRICOLETTE

A Striking Combination of Black and White is Successfully Combined in This Embroidered Tricolette Costume.

The Yellow Sea of China is so-called from the presence of yellow mud washed down by the great rivers that empty into its waters.

We often wonder why the man who is always boasting of the splendid positions offered him continues to hold down his job.

BEWARE OF DECEPTION

Statistics show that when egg albumen is used as a constituent of baking powder, the amount so used is too small (usually 15/100 of 1%) to affect the quality or effectiveness of the baking powder containing it, and when so used, is plainly for the purpose of fraud. Intelligent buyers will not permit themselves to be deceived by the water glass test.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

contains no alum or egg albumen and is guaranteed to be composed of the ingredients printed on the label—and none other.

Historical French Canadian Rooms in the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec

"Ma roulant, ma boule roulant,
En roulant, ma boul-e! . . . . ."

The rollicking refrain from three hundred or more lusty French Canadian throats is wafted up from Dufferin Terrace, where, under myriad colored lights, glistening over the diamond-sparkling snow there tramp to this old French marching song, gay young French-Canadians, members of various snowshoe clubs, in their picturesque blanket costumes and tasselled toques. The great toboggan slide at the end of the terrace is outlined with red and green and white lights, and across at Levis, more jewelled lights twinkle gaily, as the whiz of the toboggan is heard, plunging down the glassy ice trough, to come to a stop only at the great Champlain monument at the far end of the terrace.

From the warm snug security of the Chambres Canadiennes in the great round tower of the beautiful Chateau Frontenac, one may watch such scenes almost any evening in Quebec, during the winter, when the great white city comes into its own and people flock there from all far corners of the United States and Canada, and even from England, to enjoy the incomparable winter sports in La Nouvelle France, so rich in historical tradition and architectural charm.

The Chambres Canadiennes! Ah! There is a story in itself, a story interwoven with the early history of Quebec, in the early days when there arrived from France, those French pioneers who elected to make of our beautiful New France a country this ... reckoned with in its future, a to be ... try with farms surpassing in ... countries the Norman farms which ... behind, and a country where they ... tion of their native land the trad... upheld, and at the same should ... them a blessed liberty of thine give ... action, in those days de... speech and ... home. With all the changes ... ought by three hundred years, the P... ividuality, and its antiquities still speak eloquently of the ... past, in which gallant men and ... ty of their birth, lived and loved and ... made history in this far corner of ... the great American continent which ... they lovingly christened "Nouvelle France."

The suite of Chambres Canadienne in the Chateau Frontenac represent a real achievement by those who so lovingly assembled the historic pieces of furniture and the many interesting relics of a fragrant past. Something quite new in hotel decoration, it serves to link the old with the new and is a permanent museum, rich in historical charm and depicting the fashion in which the early settlers lived in their new home across the seas.

The three rooms are named respectively after Montcalm, Jacques Cartier and Champlain, and comprise two bedrooms, each with bath and a sitting-room between, the latter in the round tower overlooking the broad St. Lawrence, with Dufferin Terrace at its feet and the Citadel rising in the distance, a grand, gray fortress over which the Union Jack flies bravely by day and where the boom of cannon announces the sunset hour.

It was a labor of fifteen years to assemble all the furnishings of these three rooms, which historians affirm are perfect. The old four-posted bed itself is over 200 years old, beautifully carved and bearing upon its headboard the motto:

"Lit doux, lit dur, peu importe Pourva que je repose tranquille."

"Little does it matter whether the bed be hard or soft,
Provided my slumbers are tranquil".

The entrance to these rooms is through a small private hall, which is decorated with a frieze depicting scenes in French-Canadian life, one panel, an old French boot shop; another a scene in a fish market; still another the selling of "catalogne" or rag carpet, and the last a scene in a bakery. A great carved chest inlaid with brass stands in the hall. These chests were used by the early settlers for the storing of their furs in summer, and this example is at least 200 years old. The weathered oak door giving upon the hall has an iron handle and lock, hand-forged. Hanging from a Gargoyle at the entrance from the main hall of the hotel, is an iron hand-forged sign. The hall itself is beamed with massive timbers, and iron hooks are placed at intervals as in olden days. In the treasure chest are hand-woven blankets, examples of catalogne woven by the old habitants, and other relics. The yellow-painted floor is partly covered with braided and "drawn in" rugs collected in far corners of the Province.

In the bedroom where the ancient carved bed stands, is a carved table to match, bearing the same kind of wheels as adorn the bed, and there is a Prie Dieu to match, also quaint old chairs with the same design. Catalogne in stripe, intricately drawn in rugs of many colors, and a curious woven rug adorn the floor. There is an interesting sofa of the period, and a quaint old chest of drawers. The tiled fireplace bears that historic moto: "Je me souviens." Above it a tiled portrait of Ste. Grobiel is let into the wall, and pieces of quaint pottery adorn the mantel. There are hand-wrought iron sconces and the doors which are of weather oak, like the heavy carved beams of the ceiling, are studded with hand-wrought iron nails and their hinges and handles are also of iron. Some interesting framed samplers, wrought by tiny fingers more than 200 years ago, adorn the walls, and there is a portrait of the gallant Jacques Cartier for who this room is named. Even the telephone is cleverly disguised by a wrought iron case adorned with the Fleur-de-Lys of France. The floor is painted in alternate stripes of robin's egg blue and yellow, and the windows of stained glass let the light fall softly upon these beloved relics of the olden town.

In the Montcalm Room across the hall, there is a mahogany chest of drawers with an interesting mirror above and a quaint old table. Table and chest of drawers are adorned with hand-woven linen scarves fashioned by the habitants, and the printed linen curtains are in tan and green. Catalogne ... these shades together with hand-made rugs bearing French mottoes, are upon the floor and the walls are hung with rare historical engravings depicting the Death of Montcalm, Louis Joseph, Marquis de Montcalm, Lieut.-Gen. des Armees de France, and other subjects. The mahogany bed is four-posted and the sheets are coverlets of hand-woven linen. Rush-bottomed chairs complete the furnishings of this room.

The sitting room is a veritable museum, and contains, among other things, the very table and chairs used by Montcalm during the siege of Quebec. Like the Prie Dieu in the Jacques Cartier Room, the great carved writing desk in this room, over 200 years old, was taken from the old Ursuline Convent in Quebec. It is supposed to have been a part of the altar and to put together

Upon the floor is a great rug in dark blue—a real Venetian blue—and yellow, with a design of Fleurs de Lys. There is an ancient hand-carved settee, also in blue, as to upholstery, and there are strips of catalogne in tan and cream to match the general tone of the room. Over Montcalm's table hangs a wrought-iron lantern, and the iron sconces on the walls are done in Fleur de Lys design as befits this room dedicated to the memory of France. There are wonderful old French colored prints upon the walls in the quaintest of frames, and a framed piece of needlework, done in cross-stitch, of a pretty peasant girl. The rocking chairs have seats woven from strings of reindeer hide. In the circular tower are great cupboards with bright brass hinges on either side of the fireplace, which bears the motto "Soyez le Bienvenue."

The only quasi-modern note in the room, introduced for comfort of the occupants, are the wing chairs, in mahogany, upholstered in blue like the settee.

Hanged in the glass shelves before the tower windows are blue-glass bottles of every shape and hue, and on the plate rails are pieces of old Norman pottery and Quimperware and ancient china from France. There is Britany pottery and there are lustre pitchers, and all sorts of fascinating things in cupboard and upon shelves. Carved wooden statues of the saints and a golden statue of the Virgin adorn the old desk, and there is a great carved French clock to tell the fleeting time. Gold-framed paintings of saints are here, and upon an old lacquer tray is painted a scene of the Death of Wolfe. Engravings of George III. and of Queen Charlotte find a place here, and there are painted lanterns in Venetian blue through whose stained glass sides the mellow light falls upon the stool whereon Montcalm used to rest his feet. These charming rooms are usually occupied and are in great demand, but are usually given to distinguished visitors, of whom Quebec has a lion's share in these days.

General Meeting Board of Trade Held Last Night

SCHOOL TEACHERS SALARIES LEFT TO BOARD OF EDUCATION TO SETTLE--TOWN PLANNING

ADDRESS BY MEMBERS PRESENT

A very successful luncheon and open meeting was held by the Board of Trade last night, at 6.30, and 52 members of the Board sat down to a luncheon.

After the luncheon the members congregated in the Business College Rooms in small groups and had their little chat and joke, and good will was evident everywhere.

The meeting opened about 8.15 p.m. with President J. J. Turner in the chair.

Teachers' Salaries.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by the secretary, Mr. Leon Fraser read a letter received from the Peterboro Male Teachers' Association, drawing the Board's attention to the inadequate salaries paid to the teachers, and asking for the Board's support in their movement towards better remuneration, and said that they would be glad of the oportunity to have a deputation wait on the Board.

War Memorials.

Mr. Turner said that the most important thing that had occurred since the last meeting was the presentation of war memorial certificates on November 11th, by General Williams. Mr. Turner said that they had been somewhat handicapped during the last few weeks because of the absence of Mr. Ryerson Ritchie, but Mr. Ritchie was now back.

The Convention.

Mr. Turner spoke of the convention held in Toronto on the 2nd and 3rd of this month, and said that they would have the pleasure of hearing the reports of the different committees. Mr. Turner spoke briefly on the good work the Board was carrying on and the service they were rendering the public. Mr. Turner remarked that the motto of the board was the same as that of the Prince, "We Serve."

Not Asleep.

Mr. G. O. Cameron was also called to speak and he showed the Board that the Peterboro members were not asleep at the convention. A motion was defeated through the efforts of Mr. H. O. Fiske and G. Walter Green to equalize the hydro rates throughout Ontario, because why should Peterboro pay for the leaks between other places and along the line. The question of good roads was gone into said Mr. Cameron.

The question of taxing mail order houses and departmental stores, was opposed by the Peterboro delegates, for Peterboro has some of the finest departmental stores between Toronto and Montreal.

In conclusion Mr. Cameron said that they were impressed with the fact that many things were brought up that hadn't had much previous thought and wouldn't have been brought up if they had. As an afterthought Mr. Cameron stated that Peterboro had the largest number of delegates present from any one Board.

Town Planning.

The next report was given by Dr. E. E. Harvey, chairman of the Town Planning Committee. Dr. Harvey spoke of the splendid address given by Thomas Adams, the government town planner, and of his suggestions which have been carried out and reported to the city council, and the city council has seen fit to appoint a committee to look after such matters.

The Membership.

Mr. Thomas Barrie, chairman of the executive committee, gave an outline of the many matters that had been looked into by his committee since his last report.

Mr. Barrie said that since then 51 new members had been added and

WILL INSIST ON THE RESOLUTION

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Senator Fall and his supporters to-day declared that they will insist on the passage of the resolution directing the President to sever diplomatic relations with Mexico, despite the release of W. O. Jenkins, American Consular Agent, imprisoned at Puebla.

DIVISION COURT CASE DISMISSED

UNUSUAL CASE SETTLED BY MUTUAL AGREEMENT.

An interesting case was heard in the Division Court yesterday, in which J. S. Boyd, a local grocer, sought to recover an account from Fred Smith. The account represented a bill alleged to have been contracted by wife of the defendant. In 1918, the defendant, who is an employee of the Hydro Electirc Commission, returned home after an extended absence. Smith found that his wife had contracted debts of about $300 and Smith was warned that he might lose his position over these debts unless he got protection. Therefore he published notices in the local papers, declining to assume responsibility for debts contracted by his wife.

Mrs. Smith ordered groceries from Boyd and contracted the debt, it was alleged. Mr. Smith claimed that he told Boyd not to let her contract debts in his name, but Boyd says he never told him.

After hearing evidence from Mr. Glass, who has a store near Boyd's, and from Mrs. Smith herself, His Honour Judge Huycke said it was unfortunate that such a case had ever reached the court. His Honor said he thought that Mr. Smith should pay part of the bill at any rate. Mr. Smith said he was willing to give the money to the Children's Aid Society, at which His Honor remarked that Boyd might need it for some of his own children.

Mr. Carickhank, Mr. Kerr and His Honor then conferred together and His Honor spoke to Boyd on one hand and Mr. and Mrs. Smith on the other, and the case was dismissed by mutual agreement.

WEEK'S WORK FOR TWO HUNDRED HENS

ONE REASON ADVANCED WHY EGGS ARE HIGH AT THIS SEASON OF YEAR.

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—Strictly new laid eggs were a rather rare commodity at the St. Lawrence Market this morning and on account of that rarety the price maintained itself in proportion. One vendor was asking $1.30 a dozen while the others in no case wanted less than $1.20. A farmer from Aurora, in complaining of the general scarcity produced a paper box containing the gross egg production of 200 hens for one week.

The box held exactly one dozen.

Eggs were selling at $1.05 at Aurora yesterday", he said. "At the present rate of going I would still be in debt if I got $3 a dozen. But the chances are that I can make up this loss after a while."

NAVAL HERO IN TORONTO

TORONTO DOES ITS BEST TO IMPRESS ADMIRAL JELLICO WITH ITS LOCATION ON GREAT LAKES.

VISIT THE FALLS

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—Viscount Jellico of Scapa Flow, with Lady Jellicoe and members of their party on a world tour of the British Dominions arrived here this morning and received an enthusiastic reception.

Toronto, with its location on the Great Lakes, considers itself a maritime city, and a reception committee of provincial and civic dignitaries today did their best to impress the British sea hero with that claim. The crowd at the reception on the arrival of the train to which Admiral Jellicoe's car was attached, included several military and naval officers and a guard of honor of thirty naval veterans. After the reception at the station, the distinguished visitors were driven to the residence of Mr. George Beardmore, where various reception committee waited on Viscount Jellicoe to present their respects and addresses of welcome and appreciation. Tomorrow the party will visit Niagara Falls, and on Monday various functions are planned in honor of the Admiral. The visitors will leave for Montreal at 11 p.m. Monday night.

ADMIRAL ASLEEP.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—There was no reception for Admiral Sir John Jellicoe at the Union station this morning as had been planned. A long line of policemen and a guard of 30 naval veterans, under Gunner W. Field, were drawn up in order of review, when the train from Ottawa arrived at 7.46 a.m. All the blinds on the special car Nipissing were down and the news soon spread that the Admiral was asleep and would not leave the coach till half past nine.

OPENING OF THE CLINIC FOR BABIES

SMALL, BUT WELL-ATTENDED, HAS BEEN SECURED.

At a meeting of the Babies' Welfare committee held in the doctors' room of the Public Library with the committee of doctors, a report was read from Dr. Jessie Birnie by Mrs. R. H. Harstone, outlining the scheme. This was to a large extent approved by the Doctors' committee, but another report is being prepared by Mrs. F. C. Neal to present to the Doctors' Association.

Quarters Secured.

Owing to the patriotism and liberality of the Great War Veterans, headquarters have been secured free of rent in their hall for the Baby Clinic, and the Babies' Welfare committee wish to publicly thank the Great War Veterans for their kindness. This is an important movement and a gerat consideration is being given to every detail connected with it as once established it is hoped it will be a permanent institution. The cooperation of every citizen is asked and that they will use their influence to make this a great success and to save the babies.

THE TARTAN TAILOR SHOP

A SIGN THAT'S COME TO STAY.

Good-day!

This is December 6!

And remember: the more you look round for an overcoat to suit you the more you will appreciate mine. You know you can't appreciate a good opera till you have heard ragtime; nor can you appreciate a merchant tailored overcoat or suit, made to your individual taste, till you have seen the others. Look around, boys; inspect closely the cloth, the linings and trimmings and the tailoring, then you'll come to the Tartan Tailor shop, choose your cloth, and be measured to conform to your physical build and persona l taste. But don't look too long boy, Christmas is just around the corner, like the Tartan Tailor Shop. The utmost in Custom tailored clothes, overcoat or suit, $30, $35, $40, higher if you want to go the tip-top notch in cloth. We have had a busy season —a record business, so far, and its still coming strong. But our tailoring organization is keyed up to the highest pitch of efficiency, so that we are prepared to handle many more orders before the New Year. Yours, for good clothes, Frank N. Hourigan, manager The Tartan Tailor Shop, 161 Hunter street, just around the corner off George street.

CONSULAR AGENT ANXIOUS TO RETURN TO PRISON--BAIL PROVIDED.

UNCONDITIONAL

(Canadian Press.)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 6.—W. O. Jenkins, the United States Consular Agent at Puebla, who was released from prison there on Thursday night attempted to secure his re-imprisonment there yesterday, according to special despatches received here late last night by the Excelsior.

The judicial authorities at Puebla refused to allow the Consular Agent to re-enter the prison.

Mr. Jenkins' move, according to despatches was prompted by a desire to secure unconditional liberty, Jenkins being quoted as declaring that bail was furnished by his friend, J. Salter Hansen without his knowledge, and that he refused to accept conditional freedom

Hilario Medina, Under Secretary of Foreign Relations, is quoted by the Excelsior as stating that the release of Jenkins had removed all the cause for friction between the United States and Mexico.

Advices to the El Democrata state that Consul Jenkins was set free after the authorities had been handed a cheque for $300.00, signed by J. Salter Hansen drawn on the Guaranty, Trust Company of New York.

It is declared that Mr. Hansen conducted all the negotiations for the release of the Consul.

ARMED FORCES MUSTERED ALONG THE BANKS OF THE RHINE--BRITISH FLEET READY FOR ANOTHER CAMPAIGN.

GERMANS MUST SIGN

(United Press.)

PARIS, Dec. 6.—The Allies to-day were prepared to start a new triple invasion of Germany if she refused to sign the protocol to the Peace Treaty.

In the opinion of well-informed persons here, the press and public alike were confident that a virtual ultimatum will be despatched to the German Government within forty-eight hours.

Preparations for a decisive military blow already are under way.

Under the armistice terms, the Allies can denounce that agreement upon ten days' notice, re-establishing a state of war.

It was learned authoritatively, however, that they probably will give Germany another chance to sign the protocol, and agree to the execution of the Peace Treaty before denouncing the armistice.

MAY CREATE A NEW GERMAN CABINET.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, Dec. 6.—The reorganization of the German Cabinet if the Entente insists upon the enforcement of the terms of the protocol was considered probable here to-day.

Herman Mueller, Minister of Foreign Affairs, may resign if the section of the protocol requiring Germany to surrender certain docks and shipping in return for the sinking of the Scapa Flow fleet is forced, it was said.

BRITISH FLEET IS READY FOR TROUBLE.

(United Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Field-Marshal Wilson, in his conference with Marshal Foch yesterday, offered the cooperation of the British Fleet, if armed force is necessary to compel Germany to accept the terms of the Allied protocol, an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Paris to-day said it was understood there.

AMERICAN TROOPS ALONG THE RHINE.

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Twelve thousand American troops now along the Rhine could be used by Marshal Foch in any Allied advance further into German territory to enforce the signing of the protocol by the Berlin Government, it was declared to-day at the State Department.

Under the armistice terms and the arrangements made in connection with it, Marshal Foch can command these United States forces, according to the Department.

ANOTHER NOTE SENT BY SUPREME COUNCIL.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Dec. 6.—According to the Excelsior, Germany will be called upon in a rigorous note which the Supreme Council will complete to-day, to yield immediately to the Allied demand that the protocol of the Treaty be signed.

The newspaper says it has reliable information that Washington has advised Berlin to adopt a more conciliatory attitude.

If the ratification is not completed by 31st December, says the Echo de Paris, certain clauses of the pact will be rendered impracticable, and the Allies will be obliged to submit a new protocol, causing further delay.

RIVERSIDE PARK OFFERED TO THE CITY FOR $11,000, OPTION UNTIL FEB.

PRICES FOR ADJACENT PROPERTIES CONSIDERED TOO HIGH BY THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE—WILL MAKE AN OFFER FOR THESE LOTS BEFORE MONDAY.

Prices for parcels comprising the entire area south of the Hunter street bridge on the east bank of the river which the Council had thought of purchasing for a public park were received last night by the special committee appointed for that purpose, and they were considered too high.

The items were as follows:—

D. J. Lundy quoted $7,500 for the Rapid Tool building and lot on a 90 day option.

E. H. D. Hall, solicitor for Dr. Wightman and J. J. Howden owners of Riverside Park, offered to sell this entire property for $11,000 with the stipulation that the grounds be used for park and athletic purposes. This option is good until February 3rd.

J. H. Bettes, through his representative Mr. Harry Stabler, asked $10,000 for his property, and Mr. James Ellis owner of the mattress factory did not submit a price for his holdings.

The Committee considered the price for the Riverside Park quite fair and satisfactory, but were unanimous in the opinion that the Bettes option was too high.

"At that rate the best thing to do is drop the whole scheme" Ald. Hamilton said.

The total of the offers received was $28,500 and this did not include any allowance from the Ellis property.

Would Buy Park.

Ald. Hamilton moved, seconded by Mayor Duncan that a by-law be submitted to the electors for the purchase of Riverside Park for the sum of $11,000.

This recommendation is proposed to the Council on provision that the owners of the park will agree to the lapsing at the end of ten years of the restriction that the grounds shall be used for athletic purposes.

"Dr. Wightman and Mr. Howden desire that the park shall always be preserved as such," remarked Ald. Edgar. "That was also our intention in taking up this question, but ten years from now there may be other athletic grounds in the city and it might be desirable to dispense with athletics at Riverside and use it only as a public park."

Mr. Hall said that his instructions were to demand the retention of Riverside for both park and athletic purposes, but he thought that the owners might agree to the amendment suggested by the committee eliminating the restriction referring to athletics after a period of ten years.

The Committee expect that there will be claims for damages from the owners of the property facing Hunter street.

In the meantime the committee will offer Mr. Lundy $5,000, and Messrs. Bettes and Ellis $4,000 for their combined properties.

A Montreal Woman's Experience—Says Internal Bathing Saved Her Life.

If the thousands of men and women with constipation and the many ills which follow would bathe internally instead of continually dosing themselves with drugs, they would soon realize why every user of the J.B.L. Cascade is so enthusiastic in its praise. There should be one in every home. Keep the colon clean and free from poisonious waste and you will not need the Doctor.

Mrs. Robert Gordon, 420 Cadillac St., Montreal, Que., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of the J.B.L. Cascade. It has saved my life. I have been troubled with constipation, piles and vibration of the bowels for years, have only been using the Cascade for three months, and am happy to be doing my own work again after having been laid up for many months. I would not take one hundred dollars for my Cascade if I could not procure another."

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfect appliance for Internal Bathing, the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, of New York, and is doing more towards improving the health and efficiency standard of the nation than all other means combined.

This appliance is shown and explained at Warne Drug Co.

Stomach and Liver Trouble

Once the liver fails to filter the poisonous bile from the blood there is a clogging up and poisoning of the whole system which causes many troubles to arise. Therefore, upon the liver, more than any other organ of the body, depends the general health.

Carelessness and neglect, and oftentimes wilful disregard of nature's laws will put the system out of sorts. The bowels become constipated, the liver inactive and the stomach upset. To bring the system back to its normal you should take Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. They liven up the liver, get the bowels back to their proper condition and tone up the stomach.

Mrs. G. L. Cockett, Enchant, Alta., writes:—"I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and have found them good for both stomach and liver troubles. I have told others about your valuable medicine and they have used them with good results.

"They are also good for headache."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PREMIER SEES NO REASON WHY HOUSE SHOULD BE DIVIDED INTO TWO PARTS

HE'LL NOT DEPEND FOR POWER ON SERVILE FOLLOWING AND PARTY WHIP.

TORONTO, Dec. 5. — "I do not care whether my Government is in power four years or fourteen. I will never resort to patronage to retain office, nor will I countenance anything that might lengthn the life of the Government if it has to be done at the expense of the people," said Premier Drury at the Canadian Club meeting at the King Edward Hotel, and it made a profound impression upon the one thousand members who greeted him.

The Premier said his great aim was to give honest, efficient, straightforward government, "and if the people are not satisfied with my policies and my administration I hope they will dismiss me and I will return to my farm at Crown Hill."

The great audience was delighted with his statement that he is not counting upon the support of servile members but is depending upon the support of men who cannot be whipped into line by the party in power. "The measures which are submitted to the Legislative Assembly must stand or fall on their merits," he said.

A New Educational Policy.

The Premier announced that one of the big things which concerns him at present is the educational policy of the Province. He said frankly that he is planning a vast improvement in the common school system, "because ninety per cent. of our people never go beyond the common schools There will not be so much attention to technical or vocational work," he added. "It is not so important to turn out a good farmer or a good carpenter as to produce a good citizen." The Premier added, however, that he does not intend to restrict the universities or collegiates.

Caucus Government Abolished.

He said "caucus government will be a thing of the past," because the U.F.O. members are not servile, but men who will think for themselves and will not be whipped into line. He thought the Labor men also would be independent, which would be a good thing for the Province.

The Premier did not see why members of the Legislature should be divided into Opposition and Government.

"We are going to be faced with a little difficulty, or at least the Speaker will have some trouble in deciding who is to be the leader of his Majesty's Loyal Opposition." (Laughter.)

Nothing Revolutionary.

Honest, progressive legislation is the object of the new Government, he continued, but nothing of a revolutionary nature is required. "We have many good laws, but the trouble is they have nto been enforced in the past."

To Produce Good Citizens.

"I don't think our educational policy will be along technical or vocational lines. We don't care about making a good farmer or a good carpenter; the main thing is to turn out a good citizen." The Premier intimated that the Government would endeavour to strengthen the position of th male teachers so that their usefulness in the local communities may be increased.

A progressive forestry policy is to be inaugurated by the new Government with a modern scheme of reforestration. New Ontario must be wisely developed, he said, "In the past our treatment of forest resources has been criminal," declared the Premier.

Touching on the question of prohibition, he said the will of the people would be carried out impartially. They were not going to allow the rich to drink and the poor not to drink. "Everybody will be treated alike."

Patronage Is Taboo.

The Premier added that, "We are not going to entrench ourselves by patronage." Merit alone will count in future. "Nor are we going to discharge a man from the service simply because he was appointed by some other party." He believed that, on the whole, the service as very efficient.

MISUNDERSTOOD

"Well, Blanch! What's the trouble now? You're all excited, somebody been tramping on your corns?"

"Oh no, but I have been made the victim of a pretty lie, all dressed up in very attractive gear, and wearing a very plausible mask of truth."

"Now, see here Blanch, speak out, and say just what you mean."

"Well, Maud! It's just like this; you know I'm a member of the Methodist Church. I work in the League and Sunday School, and my father is an official on the Boards and here I've been dancing, and cardplaying and running to all kinds of questionable amusements, while the rules of the church and the teachings of the Bible are all against such conduct."

"But, Blanch! You know the Methodist Church has changed her rules, and now see allows her young people to dance."

"Maud! That is just where the pretty lie comes in, that has duped both you and me. All that the Methodist Church did with that Foot Note, that you hear so much about, was to change it from a command to an admonition."

"But Blanch! Are you sure that the Foot Note has not been taken out?"

"Well Maud, here is the Foot Note that I got to-day from my minister, read it for yourself."

Note—For as much as these rules are to be interpreted by the enlightened Christian conscience according to the principles of Christian liberty revealed in God's Word, our members are earnestly admonished that they guard with great care their reputations as servants of Christ; and in the case of those amusements and practices which are of a hurtful or questionable tendency, that they engage in none injurious to their spiritual life, or incompatible with their allegiance to Jesus Christ the Master.

"Oh, Blanch! I had no idea of this note being still in your Church Discipline."

"Then, you can understand how I feel now. And why I'm so ashamed. Think of father and mother both being to a big dance last night. Before the war, when Methodists had a dance or a card-party they felt rather ashamed afterward, but now they have it published in the papers. Oh, I'm sick at heart, but I'm done with the dance, and in the future I'll try to show my gratitude to God for our great victory over the Hun in a more worthy manner. Good-bye Maud."

"Good-bye Blanche, I must hear more from you on that subject, I'm not going to the euchre party to-night, I'll go to the 'Guild'."

CHICAGO HOTELS CUT DOWN RATES

"Everybody Knows That Extortion Has Passed the Limit."

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Managers of Chicago's biggest hotels yesterday showed no indication of following the action of the Hotel Lasalle, one of the largest in the city, which yesterday ordered a sweeping reduction in the prices of rooms and food, Ernest J. Stevens, manager of the hotel, explains that the reductions were made in the hope of starting a general movement "back toward s reasonable profits."

"I don't know how to get a reduction of prices unless someone starts it," Mr. Stevens said. 'Everybody knows that this is a day of extortion; 'get it while the getting is good,' seems to be everybody's motto.

"Business has never been so good as it is now, and will continue to be good for the next year. But we are cutting prices because we want to be fair with the public. The time to cut prices is when business is at its best.

"The hotels are the barometer of business. If the hotels start cuttinfi prices other businesses will follow."

UNSAFENESS OF RAW MILK

Important Informatinn to Milk Consumers

Because the dairy cow is susceptible to a peculiar form of contamination, investigation has proved that the udder is constructed like a sponge. There is a constant shedding of waste tissues from the lining of the udder. This udder waste often includes the products of udder inflammation. Such inflammations are so common they are present in some form in practically every dairy herd. Even when there is no external evidence there is often internal inflammation discharging its product with the milk.

The fact that these impurities are present in all milk and cannot be removed by the ordinary strainer, is being pointed out to the milk consuming public by the pure milk authorities everywhere Epidemic of various diseases have been frequently traced to the presence of udder waste in the summer time, with it swarms of flies and mosquitoes, increase the dangers.

DRURY PLEDGED TO MOTHERS' PENSIONS

ONLY A MATTER OF TIME JIMMIE SIMPSON BELIEVES IT WILL BE AT THE FIRST SESSION.

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—The Committee of Twenty-six advocating Mothers' Pensions or Allowances met and decided to take steps to persuade the Drury Government that the public want a measure along that line put through at the first session of the fifteenth Legislature.

It is expected that a multitude of representative bodies will urge that immediate action be taken to meet the great social evil due to widows leaving their young children in order to earn their bread and butter, and in January a strong delegation from the churches, labour organizations and social workers will wait upon the Ministers at Queen's Park.

"Will mothers' pensions be put through at the first session of the new House" Hon. Mr. Rollo, the Minister of Labour, was asked by The Star.

"I cannot say," replied Mr. Rollo "The Government has not reached the stage where it draws up the legislative programme for the Legislature."

Nevertheless, the Coalition Government was formed on a legislative programme which included mothers' allowances, and it is only a question of when the measure will be put through. The fact that the Government's majority in the House is precariously low stimulates the friends of the measure to press the issue. There is no reason why the Government should hold back. The measure is the most popular of any suggested, both the Liberals and the Conservatives are fairly committed to approval of the principle, and the main provisions should go through with little comment.

"I am confident that mothers' pensions will go through in the very first session," said Jimmie Simpson. "The Hearst Government promised that it would be enacted at the next session and I don't think the present Government will be less enthusiastic about it. Those who have worked so long and hard for mothers' pensions will be greatly disappointed if action is deferred, for all the data have been gathered, officials' reports have been made, and the way is clear for legislation."

SUSPENSIONS LIFTED FROM TWO OFFICERS

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—The re-instatement of Sergeant-Major J. Berigan and Sergeant Barlow, of Ottawa police department, was approved at the meeting of the Police Commissioners. It will be remembered that they were suspended by the Commission following an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Sarah M. Shipman two weeks ago.

The two officers, with Police Constables Feaney and Gleason, appeared before the Commission and Magistrate J. E. Askwith, chairman, pointed out to them where they had been remiss in the performance of their duty, and warned them to be more careful in future. They were instructed that on any future occasions, when in doubt about the condition of a person brought to the station on any charge, they were to call medical assistance at once.

Lose Their Pay.

The officers have resumed their duties, the suspension having lasted exactly two weeks. They will retain their full rank as before the investigation, but will lose their pay for the two weeks during which the suspension was effective.

The report of the Commission published two weeks ago stated that the two men had shown a want of judgment in handling Mrs. Shipman when she was taken to the police station on the night prior to her death.

Provision for the care of females, placed under arrest in the future, was discussed and the Commission will try to effect an arrangement with Sheriff Richardson to house any females, arrested after six p.m., in the county jail. Under present regulations the county jail is closed after six o'clock.

In the event of this arrangement failing to provide the needed facilities it was decided to arrange for Mrs. Boucher, the police matron, to occupy permanent quarters in the police station.

CONTROLLING THE POLICE.

It is no argument to say that because the fire department is controlled by the City Council that the police should be under the supervision of an elected body of commissioners. The work of a police department is different from that of any other municipal body, much as it is unpleasant work at best and work that would be impossible if the police were interfered with by aldermen or elected commissioners. Under such a condition of affairs the department would be working under a constant handicap. John Smith for instance drives his motor car beyond the legal speed limit and the traffic constable makes a note of the number of his car and a summons is the result, with an elected commission practically controlled by the council. Mr. Smith who has considerable interest politically hustles to an alderman friend or one of the commission and asks them to intercede for him and there is a telephone message to the Chief of Police suggesting that the case be dropped. Those who say that such things would not happen under a system of that kind have only to ask some of the city's former sanitary inspectors how often aldermen interfered with their work and suggested that they suspend action in cases that involved friends of the Council.

THE PREMIER'S SALARY.

Criticism of Premier Drury's theatrical action of voluntarily reducing his salary from $12,000 to $8,000 comes from a somewhat unexpected source. Speaking at a meeting in the interests of Mr. R. H. Halbert, the U.F.O. candidate in the North Ontario Dominion by-election, Mr. John Kennedy, vice-president of the United Grain Growers of Canada referred to the Premier's salary-reducing feat and remarked after the meeting that if a man as Premier of Ontario was not worth $12,000, it was necessary to get a man that was. There will be many people throughout the province who will agree with Mr. Kennedy .The position of Premier of a great province like Ontario calls for an executive head who has qualities that should command a big salary in private life. Mr. Drury in going back to the salary of Sir James Whitney has not added to his prestige in the estimation of many electors, who believed in paying full value for public service. If Mr. Drury really believes that he is not worth $12,000 to the province of Ontario he is either unusually frank in sizing up his own ability or he has a misconception of the importance of his duties.

JUST HUMAN NATURE.

Organized labour, when it enters the arena of municipal politics, is inclined to regard any opposition that may be offered its candidates as "capitalistic manoeuvres to keep the working man down," as one labour leader expresses it. But Labour should realize that its own tactics sometimes are responsible for strengthening the hands of the opposition. When any class or faction, labour or anything else, organizes for municipal action on a basis that excludes everybody from its support except its own members, it may expect to find sooner or later the rest of the community organizing against such a movement. The principal that no candidate shall be supported excepted a member of a trade union, regardless of his capabilities or fitness, leads to a stronger opposition against candidates so placed in the field. There is no deep political or economic mystery about such a development; it is simply a demonstration of that trait in human nature which resents an attempt on the part of anyone section of the community to control the affairs of all other sections. Thus hundreds of men who do not come within miles of being considered in the capitalistic class are opposed to class legislation or an attempt at class government.

Be very careful what you say to your enemies, and be more careful what you write to your friends.

PILES Do not suffer [illegible] Piles. Be original and [illegible] Chiropodist will relieve you at once [illegible] Piles, or if you [illegible] to pay nothing. [illegible]

THE BABY CLINIC.

The progress that is being made by the committee in charge of the Baby Clinic Movement in Peterborough should be gratifying to every citizen who has the welfare of the city at heart. Looking after the health of babies is an investment that brings actual returns from a dollars and sense standpoint, as well as from a humanitarian point of view, and the campaign is one that should be generously supported. The Medical Association of the city has been quick to recognize the clinic as an asset that should be encouraged and the War Veterans have swung in behind the movement by placing quarters in the G.W.V.A. Hall at the disposal of the committee. The Board of Trade is another body that may be expected to be sympathetic towards the clinic plan. Their ideal is a better Peterborough and any movement that is designed to improve health conditions may reasonably look for for support from the Board of Trade.

THE CHRISTMAS TREAT.

It is pleasing to note that in spite of the fact that the impetus of war excitement is absent there is a great deal of interest in the Christmas treat of the Great War Veterans' Association at which this year there will be a special effort to bring joy into the lives of the children of Peterboro's soldiers who passed away in the war. Public gratitude is unfortunately a short-lived thing and there were pessimistic doubts that the war being over there would not be the response to the appeal that was forthcoming on other similiar occasions. To the credit of Peterboro, however, it may be said that quite a number of citizens have already expressed their desire to financially assist the Veteran's in this splendid effort. Mr. G. N. Gordon who may rightly be called the father of the movement has made a donation of $50 to the fund and this has been supplemented by a similiar grant from the Veterans' Association. Citizens who wish to help are kindly asked to leave their donations at the newspaper offices or at the G.W.V.A. rooms. It is a splendid cause and should be and no doubt will be splendidly supported.

PROGRESSIVE LIBERALISM.

The progressive ideas of the August Liberal Convention are being strictly carried out by the National Liberal Organization Committee at Ottawa. It is announced that no contribution to party funds will be accepted if there are "strings" to it. We are to have clean politics in Canada if Liberalism has its way.

Who will subscribe then if there is to be "nothing in it?" some of the anxious old hacks will be asking. Particularly old dyed-in-the-wool Conservative campaigners will be disposed to rub their hands and chuckle at the enemy's foolish innocence. "We expect help from the tens of thousands who support our principles, we intend using the funds not for 'campaigning,' but for the spread of the Liberal Gospel of industrial, social and political freedom; we do not look for the support of special interests and privileged groups, but the Liberalism of this new age will unite and harmonize what is best in the demands of the various elements of our population, and will thus deserve and win the support of Canada's rank and file"—that is what the Liberal leader and his associates say and they say it in accents of confidence.

If the old hands laugh for a moment at such virtuous bearing, they suddenly turn sober at the thought of what happened to the Hearst government and its liquor friends. Cash in plenty was available for their campaign, but the public is in no humor to be dominated by big interests and their lucre. Liberalism at Ottawa led by a simple, honest man, perfectly trained in finance, economics and the school of life, scorning the dodges of old-line politics, has caught the trend of these after-the-war times. It throws over the stale professionalism, the wire pulling and place hunting, and thinks to-day what the old hands will regretfully think to-morrow. There is no shadow of a doubt that since the war the general public takes a different attitude towards government. "Our world has passed away in wanton overthrow," sighed Kipling. Some of the old "world" can be dispensed with to our gain, especially the unchallenged dominance of money in politics. The public calls now for openness, clean honesty, fair fighting and a square deal for all, in place of the old underhandedness and Pharisaism. Liberalism is doing its part valiantly to ring out the old, ring in the new. — London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Make a resolve to do that Christmas shopping next week.

Municipal election gossip continues to increase. There is no use of the newspapers trying to publish the rumours—they would be out of date before the ink dried on the papers.

The G.W.V.A. Christmas treat for the children of Peterborough's soldiers who died during the war, should receive a generous measure of public support.

The Beckett-Carpentier fight does not seem to have lasted much longer than a recent local aldermanic battle. However, the European contest had a decisive result.

The Review suggests that a business man with a fair amount of leisure should be chosen for Mayor, the inference be that a citizen who has large interests of his own would not be able to give the city sufficient service. However, there is a good deal in the old adage, "If you want a thing well done, take it to a busy man, the other kind have no time."

KILLS PHANTOM DEER OF THE NORTH WOODS

MUCH-PRIZED ANIMAL IS KILLED BY GREAT SHOT.

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. — "The phantom of the north woods," a white deer, one of the curiosities of the Adirondak Mountains, was killed by a hunter and is on exhibition here, attracting wide attention of hunters. The animal, a doe, is entirely white except for a few tufts of brown on the head. The doe weighed 100 pounds and was estimated to be two years old. The "phantom," for that was what it came to be called near St. Regis Falls, where it had eluded hunters two seasons, fell with a bullet through its head.

Fred Forshay of Carmel, brought the much-prized deer to earth with a remarkable shot when out hunting near his camp.

Fred Cheney, a registered guide, who is one of the best woodsmen in the vicinity of the Falls, and who is proprietor of the Red House, had charge of the party, and when the phantom fell he had much to tell of it. His sons, he said, had seen the queer animal several times bounding through the woods like a white flash, and many hunters had shot at it. This was borne out by marks on the animal's side made by bullets. The shot that gave Forshay the prize was a direct hit.

FIRE DESTROYS MOTOR VEHICLE

Fire Department Had Run to Concession Street.

About 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Paddy Carroll's motor transport, which had just been overhauled and was making its trial trip, caught fire from an unknown cause on Concession street, and the top was completel ydemolished before the Fire Department got the fire under control. The chassin, however, remained unharmed.

The only effective way to convince a contrary man that he is wrong is to agree with him.

IT certainly is exasperating to soil the cuff of a perfectly fresh shirt when attending to the furnace.

If you don't change it, you'll feel uncomfortable all day fearing some one will notice the soiled cuff—

Unless you are lucky and are wearing a W. G. & R. shirt with Double Wear Cuffs. Then, all you have to do is to turn the cuff and it's as good as new.

These new Double Wear Cuffs are a convenience men have longed for. Now that they have been invented, men are taking to them enthusiastically.

Double Wear Cuffs look equally dressy and lie perfectly flat either side out. A clever new idea in cuff designing makes this possible. Ask your dealer to show you

SOLDIERS' DEPENDENTS TO RECOVER SEA FARES

GOVERNMENT WILL ALSO INVESTIGATE CASES OF NEEDY CANADIANS OVERSEAS.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—Hitherto the regulations govering free transportation and refund of passage money to dependents of Canadian soldiers have only been applicable in favor of those dependents who sailed from England or any European port for Canada subsequent to November 11, 1918.

By the provisions of a recent order-in-Council the benefits of these regulations have been extended and made retrocative in favor of wives, widows, and children of Canadian soldiers who returned to Canada prior November 11 1918, since the outbreak of the war.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—An order-in-Council has been passed providing for a refund of amounts paid in fares by dependents of soldiers returning home. An appropriation of $1,000,000 was made last session for that purpose. A further order-in-Council is under preparation to provide for the payment of amounts sufficient to equalize the gratuities of Canadians who served in the Imperial forces with those paid to members of the Canadian expeditionary force.

About thirty thousand men are affecting, and the amount to be paid will be about $20,000,000. In the meantime, it is stated that there are from 1,000 to 20,000 Canadian soldiers overseas who took their discharge in England for various reasons who have spent their gratuities, and who are now in needy circumstances. Naturally, preference is given to British soldiers in the matter of positions, and the privilege of unemployment insurance or doles is not extended to the needy Canadians. The matter is under the Government's consideration.

SAY CANADIAN NURSE HAS NOT APOLOGISED

Witnesses Declare She Has Received a Diploma Although Course Wasn't Completed.

RUTLAND, Vt., Dec. 5.—Testimony regarding an alleged insult to the American flag by Miss Annie McLane, a Canadian nurse at the Rutland Hospital, was heard to by an aldermanic committee appointed to investigate the institution. Miss Josephine Niles, a nurse, testified that when she showed Miss McLane a post card bearing a picture in which the American flag was shown, Miss McLane remarked: "That would be a pretty picture if it were not for that dirty red, white and blue flag."

After Miss McLane had refused to make an apology, Miss Niles said she and several other nurses went to the Canadian young woman's room with an American flag and insisted that she salute it.

The hospital superintendent, Miss Annie Aitken, according to the testimony of Miss Niles and other nurses, would not accede to their request that she make Miss McLane apologize, but instead reprimanded them for going to the nurse's room. Thereupon the nurses declared a strike. After they had remained away from duty one night they returned upon being informed by the superintendent that Miss McLane would apologize and would leave the hospital.

Three nurses, testified that, so far as they knew, Miss McLane never made an apology. They said she left the hospital shortly afterward, returning to her home.

Note the weight gains time each week. Cut out this chart for reference.

CAREFUL investigation shows that one child in every three is under weight as the result of malnutrition.

The chances are one in three that your child is in this class. The tables presented here will enable you to find out.

In the Students' Army Training Corps one in five was unfit because of being under weight, while in the adult army the proportion was about the same.

This condition could have been prevented by proper attention during school life, so that these young men would have developed normal, healthy bodies.

By neglect in childhood they have been sentenced to see their healthy comrades pass them in the race for success.

It is not necessarily the children of poverty that suffer from malnutrition. Your boy or your girl may look well and still be under weight. The regular use of the scales is the only sure test.

Other indications of malnutrition you may note are—easily tired—nervous—restless—finicky appetite—irritability—difficult to manage—talk in sleep—lack of happiness and spirits of a normal child.

These symptoms tell of the exhausted condition of the nervous system. They tell you that the blood is thin and watery and wholly unsuited to nourish the starved body.

It will take a little time to restore the wasted tissues, but the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will very materially aid.

Digestion is weak, appetite is fickle, but in the meantime Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies in condensed and easily assimilated form the elements which go to make up rich, red blood.

Careful attention should be given to the eating habits of the child. Good, wholesome, nourishing food must have the preference. Exercise should be limited and daily rest is required in cases of extreme exhaustion.

By sharpening the appetite and strengthening the nerves of the digestive system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food soon removes the chief causes of malnutrition and builds up the system generally.

Improvement will soon be noticed, not only in the way of increased weight, but the eyes will be brighter, the cheeks a better color and the spirits and happiness of healthful youth will again express themselves.

For your protection the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on every box of the genuine Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50c a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

GERMANY'S GUILT CLEARLY PROVEN

LONDON, Dec. 4.—In view of the German Government's denial of responsibility for the sinking of the German warships in the Scapa Flow, the British Admiralty last night published a number of documents, including as the secret instructions of the German Admiral von Reuter to his officers on the preparations for and the method of scuttling of vessels wherever the signal to do so was given from his ship, the Emden, his intention being to send the vessel to the bottom should the British attempt to seize them without the consent of the German Government.

Referring to the possibility of Germany agreeing to surrender the ships Admiral Von Reuter said in one of the documents.

"Then the ships will be handed over, to the lasting disgrace of those who placed us in this position."

The weightiest document the Admiralty discloses is a letter from Rear Admiral Adolf von Trotha, chief of the German Admiralty, written to von Reuter, dater Berlin, May 9, and marked "most secret." It was found in the safe of the Emden at the time of the salvaging of that cruiser.

This letter discusses at considerable length the negotiations then proceeding at Paris regarding the fate of the German ships. It gives no actual instructions for the scuttling of the vessels, though one sentence runs, "their surrender to the enemy remains out of the question."

The Admiralty does not claim this as proof that the German Government ordered the scuttling of the warships, but it claims that the letter proves the German Government was able to communicate with Von Reuter. Moreover, it says, opportunities were available for such communication, notably in the arrival of two German transports, the Bardenja and the Schleswig, on June 17, bringing provisions for the German ships and taking away the surplus crews.

"Indeed," says the Admiralty, "June 17 was the date of Von Reuter's secret orders to his officers concerning the projected scuttling."

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

COURT WILL VISIT SCENE OF THE ACCIDENT

STORY OF COLLISION THAT TOOK PLACE IN OCTOBER LAST.

In the Division Court yesterday Thomas Doughty claimed damages alleged to have resulted to his car in an accident with Mr. T. Barrie's car on Sunday afternoon Oct. 5 about 2.30 p.m. The damages were said to have been caused while Mr. Doughty was backing out of his lane on George street south of Sherbrooke and Mr. Barrie proceeding south on George street.

Mr. C. R. Widdifield conducted the examination of Mr. Barrie while Mr. Basil Hall appeared for the defence.

The First Witness.

Mr. Doughty was the first witness called and stated that he with two other companions was backing out of the lane from his house which is in from street and had backed about seven feet out on the road when he saw the other car coming.

Mr. Widdifield—"How fast were you going?"

"Very slowly and we had stopped dead when we saw the other car coming", replied witness.

Mr. Widdifield—"How fast was Mr. Barrie's car going?"

"I would say 20 or 25 miles an hour, any rate it was over the speed limit."

Mr. B. Hall—"What damage was done to your car?"

Mr. Doughty—"The back was badly bent, one spring broken and the mud guard damaged."

Witness stated that he had paid Mr. H. Magee $17.50 for repairs.

Mr. Hall—"Would the deterioration amount to $22.50?"

Mr. Doughty—"Yes."

Tooted Horn

Both of the young men in the car were called and corroborated Mr. Doughty's statements and said that they tooted the horn and it could be heard up to Sherbrooke street.

Another witness, Mr. Taylor was then called. He stated that on that afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock he was walking south on George street and that he saw Mr. Barrie's car pass him, going about 30 miles an hour, he believed. He saw it pass a rig on the right side and as it was necessarily close to the curb the car couldn't turn out in time to avoid a collision.

Mr. Cranston Layfield was called by the defence.

He stated that on that day he was driving Mr. Barrie's car to the station with people to catch the train. He saw the train pull in when they were near King street but he didn't increase his speed any.

Mr. Widdifield—"How fast were you going?"

"Between 15 and 18 miles an hour. I looked at the speedometer between King and Sherbrooke and that was what it registered then. We passed a horse and buggy near the corner on the right side because, although, I had tooted the horn they refused to turn into the curb and let us pass on the left side."

Mr. Layfield stated that he didn't see the other car till it backed out of the lane on top of them and although he increased the speed and tried to swerve past them he couldn't avoid a collision.

Mr. Widdifield questioned him on the accuracy of his speedmeter and he said that it was accurate for the car was only a new one.

Mr. Layfield stated that he was 18 and Mr. Barrie was his uncle and although he had driven the car for him he had never received any remuneration.

Another witness the man who was seated in the back seat was questioned and he said that he never saw the car coming out and if as they said, it was seven feet out on the road he could hardly have missed seeing it.

Mr. Barrie was now called to the witness stand and told much the same story as Mr. Layfield. He did not see Mr. Doughty's car he said until it backed out of the yard and struck them.

Mr. Hall questioned him on the damage and he said he had had to get his tire vulcanized in two places and the deterioration to the tire was estimated at $22.50.

Mr. Widdifield—"Were you not worrying about catching the train."

"No, I knew, we had plenty of time."

"Did you stop immediately?"

No, we went on until the car stopped. The place we stopped was about 440 feet past where the collision occurred.

Mr. Widdifield now introduced the question of Layfield being under age as he was only seventeen when the accident happened and he had no license.

Mr. Hall—"There is negligence on both sides."

Mr. Widdifield—" If he had passed the buggy on the left side all would have been well.

His Honour Judge Hayche spoke of the contradictory evidence and of the driver being under age. Judgment was reserved until the court could view the vicinity of the accident.

LAKEFIELD PERSONALS

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 1.—Mr. S. F. Dixon returned home from Toronto on Friday.

Mrs. J. E. Galvin was in Peterborough on Friday.

ANNUAL MEETING OF A.S.K. CLUB

"RUSSIAN" MENU

SUCCESSFUL BANQUET IN KNOX CHURCH.

The annual meeting and election of officers—A. S. K. Bible Class, Knox Church—was the reason for a gathering of the boys of this organization last night in the Parlours.

This body of young men had about sixty representatives overseas during the years of the European War, 1914-1918, and while the "eligibles" did their "bit over there," the youngsters carried on, with much success, the work these veterans had temporarily laid aside.

Now that practically all—a few have laid down their lives overseas—have returned to the fold, it was a fitting occasion to have the same old spirit set agoing again, and the returned lads take up the reins of office, with the continued assistance of the junior crew who "carried on."

The Elections.

The various reports submitted by the various conveners showed a very healthy state of affairs in the class, under the teachership of Mr. Andrew McKenzie and the presidency for the past year of Mr. George Cunningham. The success attained and the appreciation of duty well done was shown in the re-election of several members of committee for another term—the names of the officers for 1920 being as follow:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. J. A. Mackenzie.
Pres.—Wm. Jackson.
Vice-Pres.—Lance Petty.
Treas.—Arthur McLeish.
Teacher—Mr. Andrew McKenzie.
Social Com.—Tom Smith, with Alec Segar, George Cunningham, and John Bradbury.
Athletic Com.—P. Long, with Bob Pilling, George Cunningham, and William Wright.
Sick Visiting Com.—Bob Pilling, with Tom Smith and Jim Turnbull.
Look-Out Com.—Harold Pollock, Gordon Ego, and W. McWilliams.

This important function over for another year, the boys betook themselves to the Basement, on the invitation of the Volunteer Bible Class, to have a look at the decorations and to sample the tempting edibles. The girls (bless 'em!) had a fine table spread—the A. S. K. Class colours, purple and mauve, predominating—and what an array of good things was there. (The writer was present, and can vouch for the goodness of the fare!) The menu made one lose any semblance of not having an appetite—ane one or two lads and lassies at least one helping! The Volunteer girls did the banquet in fine style, and the thanks tendered by all present were sincere.

The Remarks.

Mr. George Cunningham made an apt chairman, and without repeating the names, he with the members of the 1920 directorate, almost without exception, prophesied a banner year for the Class. Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Mackenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McKenzie, and Miss Ruby Carr voiced the sentiments of all concerned when referring to the interest and the duty lying before the members of the two organisations.

Presentation.

Mr. Andrew McKenzie, the respected teacher, was the recipient of a handsome silk scarf, at the close of the speeches, from his Class boys. Another link in the chain binding the boys to the teacher, he said, and meaning a mark of confidence for 1920, for which he thanked the Class.

The National Anthem and benediction ended the gathering.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS FOR 1920.

The Volunteer Bible Class held their annual meeting, at the home of Mrs. John Allin, Sherbrooke Street, on Wednesday evening last, when the following members were elevated to offices for the coming year:

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. McPherson.
Teacher—Mrs. A. McKenzie.
Asst. Teacher—Mrs. L. McKenzie.
Pres.—Miss K. Hall.
1st Vice-Pres.—Miss Ruby Carr.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Miss Sproule.
Secy.—Miss G. Collop.
Treas.—Miss H. Wedlock.
Miss. Secy.—Mrs. John Anderson.
Miss Treas.—Miss H. Huffman.
Con. Social Com.—Miss Cunningham.
Flower and Sick Vis. Com.—Miss Grace Allin and Miss Buckham.
Look-Out Com. —Miss Robson, Miss Rae, Miss L. Thompson, Miss Madden, Miss Lockhart.
Room Com.—Miss Cunningham and Miss Madden.
Girls' Council—Mrs. L. McKenzie.

At the close of business, dainty refreshments were served by the genial hostess, for which the visitors tendered a vote of appreciation.

The following menu was placed before the members of the Volunteer and A. S. K. Bible Classes at the annual banquet of the latter body last night. It was in Russian, and was very easily followed, in giving the waiters your order, by running your finger over the various items. Thus:

WHAT'S THE USE NOW?

A recent invention that might have made a fortune for its originator, has not the Anti-Saloon League got so busy, is a little electric light which aids in finding the key-hole in the dark. In the middle of the door knob is a little electric light button which when pressed lights a bulb on the inside of the knob just over the key-hole. The bulb can be so placed as to shed light above or below the knob. The battery is placed on the inside of the door directly under the knob.

FOUND GUILTY OF NEGLECT

THREE YEARS' PUNISHMENT FOR MAN WHO ALLOWED A SERIOUS SITUATION TO DEVELOP.

Failure to take proper precautions has been responsible for many deaths, and is the cause of much suffering and hardship to-day.

Take the case of Wm. Dunn, 313 Gerrard St. East, Toronto, Ont. Mr. Dunn was a chronic rheumatic sufferer for ten years. Three years of that ten he spent in bed suffering indescribable torture. Picture the joy of this man on finding that Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules were restoring him to normal health again. Here are a few extracts from his letter to us: "During the past ten years I have been laid up with Rheumatism. One attack confined me to my bed for a year, and a second attack left me helpless for over two years. After I had tried almost everything, a friend got me a box of T.R.C.'s, and a few doses convinced me that I had at last found the proper remedy for my trouble. T.R.C.'s improved my condition rapidly, and I feel that had it not been for T.R.C.'s I should have been laid up for years."

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.00.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $1, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth); then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you 16 ounces of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

CROSSING THE OTONABEE RIVER NEARLY ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

A STIRRING EVENT IN THE EARLY LIFE OF THE CITY—SOUNDINGS WERE TAKEN WITH THE AID OF A PAIR OF STILTS—PETERBORO'S FIRST CIRCUS.

(By F. H. Dobbin.)

The erection and use of the temporary bridge at the river end of Simcoe sereet, brings traffic back to where it was wont to gather not quite, but nearly one hundred years ago. For Simcoe street, from the river to Aylmer street is of historic interest as the one time principal street and avenue of traffic. Grouped about the crossing of Simcoe street at Water street, where the buildings that at the time made up the very centre of municipal life and activity. George was off to one side. The grounds covered by the central business blocks, bordering George street were in appearance most unsuitable for building sites, being swampy, rough and on the west side subject to periodical overflow from the creek. All vestiges of this state of affairs have been swept away, and from an almost impassable swamp George street has reached the eminence of being our principal thoroughfare.

Ancient Oaks.

Simcoe street ended at the river. And as explained further on, the shore offered possibilities. Indeed the shore of the river from Hunter street to below King street has been defamed and defaced. Most recklessly and irrevocably by the hand of industry and of commerce. In the early days the shore was a level grassy space, shadowed by ancient oak trees in good number, shaded by magnificient elm along the shore and on this plot the incoming immigrants of the Robinson emigration built their first shelters in which to pass the first year of life in Canada. The whole was a scene of sylvan beauty, now sadly defaced. Mrs. Trail, in her charming story, "The Canadian Crusoes," a tale of the Rice Lake Plains, refers to the flat on the shore of the Otonabee, as it is now named and to the beauty of the locality. Describing especially the oaks, and mentioning that many crowned the summit of the hill, from which a view could be had of the torrent of the river as it turned to the east. The hill refered to is that on which the county buildings stand, and several of the old oaks are still in evidence. It was under these oaks that the wandering children, who had been taken by Indians, encamped for one or more nights.

Crossing a Municipal Centre.

Why Simcoe street was selected as a general centre grew out of the force of circumstances. At the crossing of Water street were the "Government Buildings," erected by Hon. Peter Robinson shortly after his arrival in 1826, to serve as a residence for himself, his clerks and servants and used as well as storehouses and offices. The buildings were built of squared logs with gables and shingled roofs. Four of them stood in a row, covering ground that is now covered by the east front of the city building and the police offices and weigh scale. The largest of the four was of the modest dimensions of 18 by 20 ft. In this lived Dr. Reade, surgeon to the immigrants, and the one adjoining was used temporarily as a church and in which at stated intervals Rev. Mr. Crowley celebrated Mass. The two other buildings were used as storehouses for effects brought across by the immigrants, and until other shelter could be provided.

The most important of the number stood at the corner of Simcoe and Water streets on ground now covered by the building of the Peterborough Club. Built of logs and 40 ft. long by 30 ft. wide and of unusual height. Quite an imposing structure. Across the street, to the north was the garden, the ground being used for that purpose. A very full description is extant, of this building, and the compiler of the details rather gloats over the fact that it was said to be the best constructed log building in the Central District, which meant in the territory extending from Toronto, (then York), to Kingston. The ground east of the building was open to the river, and this ground is now covered by the house of Mr. Roland Denne, and by the garden attached. Early in the history of the town the property came into the hands of late George Dunsford, who erected the house now occupied by Mr. Denne.

Peterborough's First Circus.

Historical interest attaches to this piece of ground now owned by Mr. Denne. Being directly opposite the south end of Queen street, it was selected as the lot on which Peterborough's first circus exhibited. The very first. My, that was a notable event. Myer's Bros., Greatest Show on Earth, came, saw and conquered. The admission was a shilling, current money. Advertised by posters of modest size but blazing, true to tradition, with color, the event was anticipated with more than local eagerness. Look at the size of the lot, yet there was ample room to spread the canvass. Two side shows only. No grafts, sleight-of-hand or merry-go-rounds. Just a plain and satisfying circus.

Travelled by Wagon.

The show travelled by wagon, bringing everything with it. It gloried in two elephants. Big fellows that drew the wagon in which the "big top," as the large tent was named, was stowed. The cavalcade came by way of the Norwood road, and so early as five of the morning of a day in July, 1858, hundreds of boys hiked out the road as far as the back of the big hill to welcome the show and accompany it into town. There were eleven wagons, in all, besides a sprinkling of buggies and light vehicles. Quite enough to make an impression and to whet popular appetite. The line wound around the hill and down the principal street of the Scotch village, but when the bridge was reached a halt was made. The Warden of the county was there and denied passage to the elephants for fear that the weight of the two would break down the bridge. After a parley the elephants were unharnessed and led around by Clarke's tannery, to the shore of the river, just at the old fording place, and the animals swam and waded across. The big wagon was pulled to the lot by six teams. It was estimated by Three-fingered Jack Robinson, who was a local arithmetical authority, that as many people thronged to town that day as were gathered together on the occasion of the visit of the then Prince of Wales, two years afterwards. In a boy's memory some things will stay, and there are men in the city today that attended, as small urchins, that circus, and who have never forgotten it.

Difficulties in Making Crossing.

But having disposed of the circus, as a side issue, we go back to the bridge matter. Then the river formed a very serious barrier against com-East City. In the spring of the year the flow of the river was in nature a perfect torrent, water pouring past the town in an impetuous stream. From Nassau to the Little Lake the fall is over one hundred feet and this extent of declivity made the river a perfect rapid. The bed of the stream is, as it then was, confined to moderate width until the turn is reached, running east from the dam of the Hydraulic Power Co. From this point to the lake the course broadened and the depth of the current was lessened. So the most available point at which the river could be forded or crossed by wading, and in driving, came opposite the east end of Simcoe street.

As there were no restraining works to impound and hold back the water, the spring flow was immense in volume, and fell to very sparce amount in the summer months. In the river, at this point were two beautiful islands, covered with a growth of elms and basswood and underbrush. One of these lay opposite Simcoe street. Between the bank of the river and the island, after the first rush of water had passed, lay a shallow gravelly bottom, that could be crossed on foot at times of the year. From the eastern bank of the island was the main channel, and down which the larger part of the stream found its way. To build a bridge, during the first few years was more of an undertaking than the sparsely settled vicinity cared to undertake.

Soundings Taken.

Soundings were taken in a primitive though satisfactory way. Adam Scott undertook to walk across the bed of the stream on a pair of stilts and from the depths as disclosed conclusion would be reached. This was done and it was found that only in one spot was there less depth than would cover with water the distance from the bottom to the wagon box. As carefully as could be this hole was located and all hands joined in a "bee," drew stones collected from along the shore, floated the stone out on a raft of logs and dumped the cargo into the hole. In this way an attempt was made to make the spot a ford that might be crossed, the traveller taking the chances. Also in seasons of low water the river could be crossed on foot, or by vehicle opposite the eastern end of King street, and island in the centre of the stream facilitating the passage. Those driving wagons, after fording the river at Simcoe street drove diagonally across what is now Riverside Park and reached the level of now Burnham street by a trail that led past the brewery site.

The First of the Bridges.

Reference has been made in previous articles to the first bridge constructed, largely by government aid. This was located at the end of Hunter street, the narrowest part of the stream. The east side of the river was very low, and covered with water, so to provide access to the bridge the western end of Hunter street, (previously known as Elizabeth street), was cut down and the material deposited on the low land, forming an approach to the level of the bridge. The engineers in locating the substructure of the piers for the new bridge now building found that they had to carry excavation down very far to get below the filled in portion of the roadway. The general level is identified by the surface of the gardens to the south of the road and by the level at the ball park. The western side of the river, at Hunter street was also filled in to form the approach from the side. This bridge stood on three piers, set in the current, and of triangular shape, with the apex turned upstream. The selection was not happily made, for drift wood, loge, etc., pounded the structure, which was built of squared timbers, filled in with stones. The bridge was built by Horace Perry, who had a contract from the Government at the time to erect a large flour mill. Eventually this bridge was destroyed, and for a time the locality was served by means of a ferry, or ford, at about the same spot from bank to bank as occupied by the bridge.

Connection by Water Carriage.

A large flat-boat was contracted, capable of taking on a team and loaded wagon. Ropes were attached to two trees, one on the west bank about where the Quaker Oats Co. steam power plant is located. The other tree just about the shore end of Wand's shop, east bank. An arrangement of a windlass, on the boat wound up the rope, drawing the scow up to the tree. When let go the scow swung, like a pendelum carried by the current across to the opposite shore. The arrangement was rather crude but effective. A fee of six pence was taken for carriage of a team and wagon. Passengers for divers pence and halfpence. Curiously, this ford was operated by Joseph Ford, one of the Wiltshire weavers, from Warminster, Eng., who came out with an emigration, before referred to, and located on the town plot. The ferry remained in service until a second bridge was erected, partly at the expense of public subscription and partly by aid from the province, in 1847-48. This bridge, in turn, to be destroyed by fire. Its successor, the ill fated "cast iron bridge" had a comparatively short life, and fell as the result of the severe frosts of a Canadian winter. To be succeeded by the iron bridge now in use and in turn to have, as one might say, its nose put out of joint by the overhead structure now under way. The iron bridge will be re-erected at opposite Hazlitt street, to do duty it is hoped and expected, for a generation or two as yet.

Change of Direction.

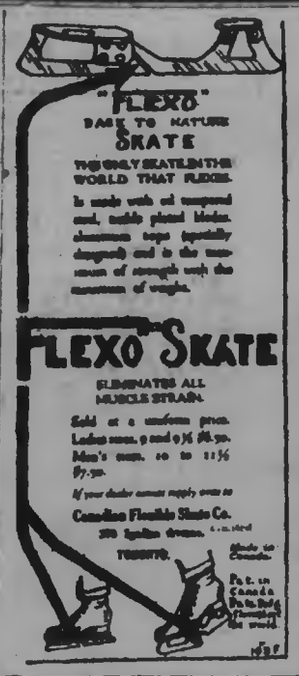
It is quite true that often small things change the course and life of villages, towns and afterward cities. Had, in the very early days, attention been given to the strong appeal that the first bridge be put up, not at Hunter street, but across from Burnham's Point to where McDonald's mill now stands, who knows but that the growth of the place would have directed in the direction as originally planned, out on to the level plains of North Monaghan, instead of up the river to straddle about and around the swampy ground along the creek, and which parts of the city are now the most important and valuable from a business point of view.

PEEVED OVER INSPECTION.

Women Coming to Canada Dislike Medical Inspection.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The Daily Express asserts that there is a strong feeling being manifested among women immigrants going into Canada against the revised regulations for a stricter medical inspection and compulsory guardianship by Canadian Government conductresses.



MR. GORDON WILL NOT ENTER THE MAYORALTY RACE

Mr. Gordon announced to-day that he did not intend to be a contestant in a three cornered fight for Mayor. He gave as his reasons that this was the busiest month of the whole year, and he had practically every day between now and Christmas filled up with trials and that he could not give three weeks' time to a Mayoralty campaign.

Mr. Gordon said further that it was his opinion that it was not a time for contention but a time for everybody to get together and establish a real community feeling in order to bring new industries and more people to the city, instead of allowing the city to go behind, but to develop like Oshawa, Brantford, London and other cities.

According to Mr. Gordon, Ald. Taylor had insisted that he had claims, and intended to run anyway for Mayor, and Mr. Gordon said, notwithstanding the large delegations that had met and asked him to be a candidate, he felt he could not do so, as he and Ald. Taylor would split a large portion of the business men's vote and both would probably be defeated.

Mr. Gordon further said that he was strongly in favor of giving the Labour men a voice in public affairs, and the Labour policy generally was such, Mr. Gordon said, that any citizen could accept it. This policy, according to Mr. Gordon's view, was reconstructive, fair to the small wage earner, and at the same time was loyal and faithful to business and industril interests.

Mr. Gordon said that he felt that under the circumstances he could in a private capacity help although he was not able to assist by entering into a protracted campaign which would in all probability lead to contention and differences instead of building up the best feeling among citizens.

WEEK'S BUSINESS AT LABOUR BUREAU

HIEF WOULD "SCRAP" CITY'S FIRE ENGINES

PLACE SEVEN STEAMERS WITH MODERN MOTOR-DRIVEN APPLIANCES.

CRONTO, Dec. 5.—Re mmendions for a sweeping change in the ipipment of the Fire Department being sent on to the Board of ntrol by Fire Chief Russell. These none other than plans to "scrap" sell the city's seven big steam fire ines and replace them with six triple combination hose chemical and pumpers. The Chief figures out that the change would mean a difference in salaries along of some $50,057 per year, which would pay for the new equipment in one year, as well as greatly add to the efficiency of that branch of the service.

At present there are 108 men connected with the seven steamers, the annaul pay-sheet for these men being $144,500. To man the six new machines only 80 men would be required, the wage bill being only $94,-868, or a reduction of $50,057. In addition, as the new machines would be motor-driven, there would be 28 horses to be disposed of, valued at $8,400. The change would also mean the closing of one fire station, while the seven steamers could be disposed of for at least something. The inventory value is placed at $11,921.

The Chief does not propose to discharge the men released by the purchase of the new equipment, but he points out that he will, in any event, need more men next year, and that these "steamer crews" could be "absorbed" by the department.

A striking comparison is made between the cost of operating a steam fire engine and a gasoline pumper. In the one case the upkeep amounts to $400 per year, while the new machines would cost only $105 each per year for upkeep.

May Criticise Lack of Police Protection —Raney Getting Report.

KI..CHENER, Dec. 5.—The latest development from the disturbances which occurred here on Monday evening, when the council turned down the recommendation of the finance committee to submit a plebiscite on the name question, is the announcement by Mayor Gross that a special meeting of the council will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. While the purpose of the meeting is not announced, it is intimated that the council, dissatisfied with the protection afforded Alder men Bowman an Biltzer by the police on Monday night, will endeavor to instigate an investigation of the local police department.

General opinion as expressed throughout the city is strongly opposed to the meeting, the view being expressed locally that the calling of a special meeting is inadvisable under present conditions.

"THE HOUSE OF QUALITY"

STORY OF JAPANESE SINGER

Little "Flower" folded her hands in her lap and gave a sigh that was ever so gentle.

Through the windows of little "Flower's" apartment there stretched a dreary vista of roofs and blank brick walls. Little "Flower" looked out and gave another gentle sigh. Her almond-shaped eyes grew clouded.

"Oh, it was wonderful that the audience was so kind to me as Yum-Yum at the opening performance of 'The Mikado,' she said, but still, do you know what I was thinking all the time I was on the stage? I said over and over to myself, what a difference it would make if only some of my own people could have been with me. My parents are far away in Japan. I felt so much alone."

Somewhere half way around the earth lies the land of the purple islands. There is the land of coral and many colored parrots, of the lotus and the cherry spray, of the carmen lips and the almond eyes. The willow trees sway gently to and fro, and a soft breeze blows up from the southward.

But little Miss Hana Shimozumi, or "Flower," as Hana means in Japanese, has travelled far from the purple islands. It does not matter to her that the critics have been kind and proclaimed her a "diminutive Melba" and sad many equally complimentary things about her after her first appearance in "The Mikado." She simply "wants her own people with her." She feels "so much alone."

"I am purely Japanese," says Miss Shimozumi, and she says it with a ring of pride in her voice. "My parents live in Japan today. I only wish that it did not take so long to get mail through to them."

Miss Shimozumi does not claim Japan for her birthplace, however. She was born in Honolulu. Her parents went there after leaving Japan, but when their baby girl was eleven months old they came to San Francisco.

"I have been steadily travelling eastward all the time," she said with a smile. "I can hardly believe myself that I am really at my goal," she continued. "I never thought of doing anything like this. My father and mother went back to Japan after the earthquake of 1906, and left me with my dear foster mother and father who had been anxious to adopt me. I had always lived with them and I loved them dearly. They have passed away since." and she gave another little sigh.

Miss Shimozumi tells you that she expected until a few years ago to become a teacher in the kindergarten. She likes the work with children, and with this end in view she was graduated from normal school. It was only two and a half years ago that she began to study singing with a teacher in San Francisco. When the San Carlo Grand Opera Company was in San Francisco she attracted the attention of the manager, and later through his efforts she considered becoming a professional. Before her performances in "The Mikado" she had done little but concert work up and down the Pacific Coast.

She is surprised at her success and delighted by it. What's more, she is not afraid to say so. There is nothing of the blase veteran of the stage about her—she is pleased as any youngster that she has succeeded.

"But I haven't read the papers even yet about it," she adds. "I never do—I so much prefer to have my friends come and tell me." The little lady has a certain naive way about her that is just as charming off the stage as on. She is one of those persons who will never grow up.

In appearance Miss Shimozumi supports her assertion that she is "purely Japanese." Sans her Yum-Yum costume she is still the same fascinating little Oriental. In spite of the smart pale pink Georgette dress and the decidedly Western wrist watch which she wears, she is still Yum-Yum of "The Mikado." She has no trace of accent, however, but speaks perfect English in a low melodious voice.

As she talked she walked over to a bowl of flowers which was standing on her writing desk, and buried her face in them. Everywhere in the tiny sitting room were zowers that had been sent to her. She is pleased over these tokens of success in the same pretty way that she is pleased over the public's reception of her.

"They all told me that it would be a dreadful thing to open in New York. I was afraid. I wondered what it could be that was so dreadful about the place. But it has not been dreadful at all. New York has been very kind to me. I will never forget it."

"I know that I am young in music. I have already everything to learn. As for acting, I have never had any training at all. I have not acted even in amateur performances. Everyone in the company has been so good and kind to me, however, and I will get used to it. Our company is the most congenial one you can imagine."

Miss Shimozumi said that the present tour of The Gallo English Opera Company will bring her to San Francisco by March. She thinks of that city as her home, and she admits that she will feel something of a thrill over playing in her own "home town."

"I love to sing," she will tell you. "I always have loved it. When I was a little girl I sang and sang just because of the joy it gave me. I never tire when I am singing. It may be that my body is tired, but never my mind."

On Miss Shimozumi's desk, amidst roses, stands a photograph of a bright faced girl in white ivory frame. "That's my best friend," explains the little singer. "I take her picture about with me. She has the prettiest red hair."

"Oh, but I have often wished I had a sister," she added. "How I did long for a sister to share my joy with me on my opening night!"

And so it is that little "Flower" is only as any girl of her age. She may have been called a "diminutive Melba," but still she longs for a sister, and she carries about with her a merry faced "pal" who has "the prettiest red hair."

Every day come new converts to that great army of men and women who rejoice in new-found health that came to them through the use of that wonderful blood-renewing preparation called "FERROZONE." Very simple how it acts. All you have to do is take two small chocolate-coated tablets with a sip of water at the close of each meal.

Ferrozone is a marvel. It contains just what thin blood lacks—lots of iron, but mark you, the kind of iron your blood is able to absorb. Ferrozone puts life and vim into the blood. Makes it rich, red and nourishing. Naturally the body is better fed and grows stronger day by day.

Of course digestion must be improved, and probably the stomach will require aid as well. Ferrozone serves the purpose admirably. Those who use it, enjoy appetite and digestive powers far beyond the ordinary.

That tired feeling is replaced by the buoyant, joyous sensation of health and vigor. Day by day as your strength increases, you feel new energy surging through your veins, and know that a great tonic of great merit is at work.

No remedy more nourishing or uplifting, no treatment so sure to bring lasting health, good spirits and contentment. Ferrozone contains just what run-down folks need; it cures because it supplies more nutriment than you can get in any other way. 50c. per box or six for $2.50 at all dealers, or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Drop Freezone on a touchy corn, then lift that corn off with fingers

Your corn hurts a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic! No humbug.

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful

SUITS OF CLOTHING SELLING IN FRANCE FOR EQUIVALENT OF ELEVEN DOLLARS

"NATIONAL COSTUME" FOR MEN, MANUFACTURED BY THE GOVERNMENT TO CONTROL THE INCREASED PRICE OF CLOTHING, MAKES ITS APPEARANCE.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—The "national costume" for men, manufactured by the Government to combat the increasing price of clothing, made its appearance on the Paris boulevards on 1st December, as promised by the authorities. The suit is not such as to draw the attention of promenaders either by its elegance of its shabbiness, and but for a little strip of lining inside the coat marked "National Garment," one would never know that the suit had anything different from others daily turned out of the so-called fashionable tailoring houses.

Wearers of suits, however, seemed proud to exhibit the inside of the coat to friends and strangers in the cafes and theatre lobbies. There is one thing alone in which the national garment differs from others, and that is the price, as the suits sell for one hundred and ten francs. (At the present rate of exchange the price of the "National costume" is 110 francs, the equivalent of about $11.00 in American money.)

HOME TREATMENT FOR BAD COLDS

A Method Which Promises Relief in a Single Night

Colds probably cause more trouble than any other single ailment. They also probably lead to more serious forms of disease than any other common complaint to which human beings are subject.

The secret in overcoming a cold is getting at it in its early stages. Here home treatment is effective, whereas if it is allowed to develop so that the bronchial tubes or lungs are affected it is advisable to summon medical aid.

For home treatment of colds and grippe there is no remedy equalling Grip Fix for prompt results. It is a compound of Quinine, Salol, Caffein Citrate, Cascara and Camphor Monobromate. This treatment for colds is universally advised by physicians as not only prompt in action but also leaving no after effects to be overcome. The action keeps the system open, checks the fever, allays the pain in the muscles, opens up the head and tones up every organ of the system.

If Grip Fix is taken according to directions—two capsules every 2 hours for 6 hours and one capsule thereafter, the sufferer gets relief from even a bad cold in a night, while 48 hours is usually sufficient for Grippe. When buying it be sure to get Reid's Grip Fix with the ingredients noted on the box, as there is no substitute which approaches it. On sale at 35 cents per box at all druggists.

SPECIAL BARGAIN MATINEES TO SEE "UPSTAIRS"

The management of the Allen Theatre has decided to introduce Mabel Normand in her new Goldwyn picture "Upstairs", in an entirely original way. Special bargain matinees will be held on Monday and Tuesday when the balcony will be thrown open to the public at a special Upstairs bargain rate of ten cents, war tax extra.

Mabel Normand, irrepressible and delightful does things in Upstairs the like of which she has never done before. This is partly explained when it is said that the action of the comedy transpires wholly in a big metropolitan hotel, where the star is first seen as an humble toiler in the subterranean kitchen.

All the intricacies of the vast culinary department are shown. Here the funniest action is seen. Mabel Norman'ds best effects are achieved on the spur of the moment and all the laughter she creates is usually the result of a sudden whim which sends the sprightly comedienne sprawling or twists her face in a comic grimace.

In "Upstairs" she plays a mock game of billiards with maraschino cherries, with a stick for a cue.

When she went through her pranks her director regarded her out of the corner of is eye and was quick to see the amusing possibilities of her fun making. He whispered to the cameraman, and with Miss Normand in ignorance of what was going on her by-play was recorded on the celluloid for all time. The result is one of the most original and convulsing scenes in which she has ever participated.

"THE LUCK OF THE NAVY," A WONDERFUL BRITISH PLAY

MR. PERCY HUTCHISON, FAMOUS ENGLISH ACTOR MANAGER, AND SPLENDID COMPANY AT THE GRAND IN ONE OF THE BEST ACTED AND MOST EXCITING MELODRAMAS THAT PETERBORO HAS SEEN.

IS REPEATED TO-NIGHT

Peterborough's taste in the theatrical line seems rather difficult to gauge. Given the first all-British production by an all-British company that has been seen here since before the war, an original London caste, headed by no less a celebrity than Mr. Percy Hutchison, one of England's best known actor-manager, and a play, the fame of which had preceded it across the Atlantic because it had been seen in London by so many of our soldiers, one would have imagined that these were sufficient reasons to expect a capacity audience. And yet "The Luck of the Navy," by long odds the most exciting and best-acted melodrama that Peterborough has had an opportunity of seeing in many seasons was played at the Grand last night to a disappointingly small attendance — an audience that must have been disheartening to Mr. Hutchison and his associates, accustomed as they have been, both in London and on this side, to crowded theatres.

Fortunately Peterborough has a chance to retrieve in a measure at least her reputation this afternoon and to-night, when "The Luck of the Navy" will be seen at matinee and evening performances. The Examiner has no hesitation in advising local play-goers not to miss the opportunity at seeing one of the best of the season's offerings. It has seldom been the privilege of local audiences to see a London production in its entirety. "The Luck of the Navy" is presented here with the identical company and exactly as shown at the Queen's Theatre, London, and as given at a command performance before Her Majesty Queen Mary.

It is hard to do justice in words to the gripping nature of the performance and to the merit of the acting. "The Luck of the Navy" of course is frankly melodrama, dealing with the attempt of a clever coterie of German spies to capture Lieut. Clive Stanton, V.C., of H.M. submarine A-8, and to secure naval information that will be of service to the Fatherland. The exciting developments in which the enemy is finally frustrated keep the audience tingling, the excitement growing in intensity until the climax. A detailed story of the plot would, to some extent, spoil the pleasure of those who will see the play to-night; it is perhaps only necessary to say that the performance holds the interest of the audience from the spectacular prologue to the final curtain. There is not a dull moment anywhere.

Of the company one could say much. Their work throughout was distinguished by the characteristic ability of first-class English artists to speak properly with none of the slurringness in enunciation that mars the speech of so many of the American players and by the natural unartificial manner in which the characters were delineated. Mr. Hutchison of course carried off the stellar honours. As the naval hero he was cast in a part that fitted him perfectly—that came natural to him, for he saw active service in the present war as an officer in the navy. He made the role of Lieut. Stanton one that will linger long in the memory of those who saw him last night, because of his pleasing personality and the realism with which he invested the part. Associated with him was a caste of uniform excellence. A notable feature was the picture of Midshipman Wing Eden, of the British Navy, as portrayed by a very clever young actor, Mr. Patrick Ludlow, not yet out of his teens, who gave a refreshing interpretation of the part of an irrepressible "middie." Refreshing too in its freedom from artificiality was the work of Miss Elsie Strauch as the hero-worshipping 'flapper.' Mr. A. P. Kaye was convincing in his conception of the role of Admiral Maybridge, a retired British naval officer, whose laments over the fact that his seventy years keep him out of active service are alike amusing and pathetic. Miss Muriel Martin-Harvey, daughter of the famous English actor, whose work in "The Only Way" and "The Breed of the Treshams," remains still fresh in the recollections of local play-goers, was charming as Cynthia Eden, in love with Lieut. Stanton. The spy roles —there are half a dozen altogether— were all in clever hands. Mr. C. M. Croker-King gave a realistic portrait of the chief Hun Secret Service agent, and Mr. Aubrey Mather scored heavily as the German spy who masqueraded as an officer in the British Navy. Equally effective was the acting of Miss Kate Carew, who made the part of Mrs. Peel an outstanding one.

The opening of "The Luck of the Navy" is unique. A prologue, spectacular in its nature and cleverly carried out, shows a section of the British grand fleet in action against a Zeppelin which, located by the searchlights of the warships, is finally brought down in flames. The prologue thus supplies the atmosphere for the ensuing melodrama.

The play is splendidly staged and magnificently acted. It is far too excellent an attraction to play to empty seats, and Mr. Hutchison's little speech at the final curtain last night, when he expressed surprise at the small attendance, in view of the reception he had received everywhere else, was natural under the circumstances. There should be a different kind of audience to-night.

MANY DRAMATIC SCENES IN "THE DARLING OF PARIS"

There are some large and exciting scenes in "The Darling of Paris." There are more than a thousand people shown in some of them. This production will go down to history as one of the most absorbing in which Miss Theda Bara has ever been identified. Many of the episodes are strong, forceful and gripping—of the character that makes patrons rise from their seats when witnessing it. Many of the more important episodes may be enumerated as follows:

1 Kidnapping the girl.

2 Teaching her to become a pickpocket.

3 Charged with committing a crime of murder, of which she is innocent.

4 Threat of executing her unless she admits having committed the crime.

5 When she is taken to the scaffold in the cart.

6 Protesting her innocence.

7 When she is rescued by the man who knows she is innocent.

8 The great carnival scenes in the streets of Paris.

9 Where the girl's protector throws Claude Frallo, who is the real murderer, from the belfry.

10 Great rejoicing by the populace when it is known that the girl is innocent.

Scenes Located in Paris.

The scenes are all located in Paris. The story upon which the production is based was written by one of the most illustrious writers of France. It has a conspicious place in French literature. There is not a scene in it that is not filled wit hgreat dramatic action.

This show will open at the Grand Monday and Tuesday.

G.W.V.A. BAND IN A SPLENDID CONCERT

PLAYING PLEASED BIG AUDIENCE— RESULTS OF THE DRAWING CONCERT ANNOUNCED.

The concert and draw under the auspices of the band of the Great War Veterans' Association in the G. W.V.A. Hall last night was a splendid success. There was a capacity audience and the playing of the band, under the direction of Bandmaster Hughes, was a revelation to those who had not had the recent pleasure of hearing the organization. Especially notable was the rendition of the splendid selection, "Reminiscences of Verdi," which was played in a masterly style. The band has made steady improvement, and its work last night was a treat to the large audience.

The vocal numbers by Bandsman Everett and Mr. Douglas Carlisle were much appreciated, as was the paino solo by Miss Agnes Logan, while the other programme numbers were equally well rendered.

The draw, for which many tickets had been sold, resulted as follows:

First prize—Two tons of coal, W. Wheeler, No. 1562.

Second prize—One ton of coal, Mrs. W. G. Nicholls, No. 2636.

Third prize— Bag of sugar. Mr. Shaughnessy, No. 706.

Fourth prize—Bag of flour. Mrs. Peryer, No. 1641.

Fifth prize —Turkey. A. J. Lashbrook, No. 1510.

Sixth prize—Ham, Miss V. Peryer, No. 156.

Seventh prize—Box of cigars. D. M. Minnicola.

RECORD OF FORGETFUL BRIDEGROOMS FREES ONE.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—John Landsdowne, a clerk under arrest on complaint of his bride-to-be for forgetting to show up for the marriage ceremony, was freed by a local magistrate who declared:

"Many famous men have had memories in regard to the same subject. The Rev. George Harvest was to have been married to the daughter of Bishop Compton, of London, but on the morning fixed for the ceremony he forgot all about it and went fishing. M. Pasteur, the scientist, was so absorbed in his work on the day of his marriage that he kept his bride waiting at the altar without putting in his appearance.

"After Thomas Edison's wedding, he returned to his workshop and entirely forgot his newly-made wife for 48 hours. When John Kemble, the great tragedian, was married, he returned to the stage a few hours after the ceremony. After the show he went to his bachelor apartment, forgetting what had happened to him on the fateful day."

DISPUTE OVER SHOP ON HUNTER STREET

HIGGINS HARDWARE SEEK PAYMENT FOR MATERIALS USED.

In the Division Court yesterday, the first case called was Higgins Hardware Co. vs. A. Murphy.

Mr. Ozias Laplante appeared for the Higgins Hardware Co., Mr. C. R. Widdifield for A. Murphy, and Mr. S. T. Medd for A. O'Brien.

Mr. Matchett apeared for the Higgins Hardware Co., and said that there was about $300.00 worth of supplies that had been ordered by Mr. O'Brien in the spring of 1918, which had never been paid for.

Mr. Medd: "Do you know who ordered them?"

Mr. Matchett: "Mr. O'Brien. On two occasions, between 3rd April and 1st June, O'Brien was in the store. The goods were ordered on 1st of April. The items were two rolls of roofing and other supplies, enough to furnish and build a blacksmith's shop."

Mr. O'Brien was then called and the bill for the goods was read to him.

Mr. Medd: "Did you order any part of the goods, and if you did, what part?"

Mr. O'Brien: "I ordered two rolls of roofing."

Mr. Medd: "Did you ever order anything else?"

O'Brien: "No."

Mr. Medd: "Who built the blacksmith shop?"

O'Brien: "I started it, but was called away, and someone else finished it."

"Who owned it in April, 1918?"

"Miss Hurley did, and I was her tenant."

"Where is it?"

"On Hunter Street East, on the north side near the furniture factory."

O'Brien stated that he rented it to A. Murphy for a year.

Mr. Medd: "Was there a shop there?"

O'Brien: "It had to be built."

Mr. O'Brien stated that in July they took his locks off the building and put theirs on, and Murphy claimed he was in possession. Mr. O'Brien had rented the building for a year. It seems, and at the end of that time he was to take it over. However, he rented it to Murphy at $12.00 a month for one year, but Murphy did not pay all the rent.

Mr. Widdifield to O'Brien: "Do you still claim the building?"

"I spent some $300.00 on it."

Murphy was called and cross-questioned by Mr. Widdifield, and stated that in the second week of July he bought the building.

Mr. Medd: "You beat Mr. O'Brien to it in purchasing it?"

"Yes."

"Why are you not willing to pay for what you bought?"

No answer.

His Honour: "Do you think that fair to O'Brien?"

As the evidence was very complicated, Judge Huycke reserved judgment.

RETURN YOUR MILK BOTTLES

Dealer Has to Buy Twenty Bottles Each Year to Deliver One Quart Daily to Each Customer.

Did you know that the average milk bottle takes only 17 trips?

That if you have a quart of milk delivered to your door every day for a year it is necessary for the dealer to supply you with 20 bottles?

Do housewives realize that ultimately the housewife pays for all this waste?

Do they realize that this is one of the things that make milk high in price, and is one of the things over which they have no control?

Every housewife can do her bit toward reducing this expense, and the fact that dairy specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have made a really exhaustive study of the milk bottle situation shows that it is one that is going to come in for considerable attention. There really is going to be a very different attitude toward milk bottles in the future, and if you are an "up-and-coming" housewife you are going to do your share.

Investigation shows that 8,000,000 sound milk bottles are collected from city dumps by junk dealers. That is, that in 8,000,000 instances housewives or restaurant employes have felt that it didn't matter about milk bottles—that it was just something that they paid for anyway, so they might as well waste it if they wanted to. True, in a measure you pay for it anyway, but it is a payment that ought not to be made because it is an expense that ought not to be incurred.

There really are a lot of housewives who just haven't any conscience when it comes to milk bottles. They wouldn't think of doing the milkman out of a cent in the payment of their bills and they would feel it their duty to keep track of the strawberry baskets for the huckster if he asked them to do so. They would be scrupulous to the penny in keeping track of their income tax obligations, and they would feel it their religious duty to contribute as much as they pledged themselves to this good work or that. But milk bottles!

What if one does break now and again: what if there are a lot of them down cellar that belong to various milkmen, and why shouldn't they save a few out to use in putting up catsup? They are much nicer than the beer or ginger ale bottles, and besides those have to be returned. Isn't that the attitude of a lot of women?

Usually the housewife or the housekeeper is blamed for all this waste of bottles, but the housewife knows that a little at least is due to the milkman, whose attitude toward milk bottles is one of negligence. That is, he often leaves the bottles outside your door when you put them there for him to take away, signifying by so doing that it is of little importance whether you put them there or not. Moreover, you know that he sometimes handles them with anything but care and surely he breaks a Mothers!

NEVER NEGLECT WHOOPING COUGH

Many mothers make the mistake of thinking that whooping cough is not of serious importance, but unfortunately this mistake often leads to the neglect of this dangerous child's disease.

Never neglect whooping cough, for it may be followed by some serious lung trouble.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble. It will clear the clogged-up air passage of the mucous and phlegm that has collected in in this way bring on the "whoop" which bring the so-much-sought-for relief.

Mrs. Francis Burlingham, New Gate, B.C., writes: "This spring three of my children took the whooping cough, and they had it so bad I thought they would choke. I was getting pretty worried when my sister wrote me, telling me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I sent for some right away, and, believe me, I will never forget how it worked. I will always have it in my house."

There are many imitations of Dr. Wood's on the market. Get the genuine when you ask for it. It will pay in the end. Put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

TEA DANCES AT COLLEGIATE

INNOVATION IN PROSPECT FOR LOCAL INSTITUTION.

The girls of the Collegiate Institute, evidently not satisfied with the prospect of a school dance, are trying to obtain permission of the Board of Education to hold tea dances in the Institute on Saturday afternoons. The idea was formulated by the Executive of the Girl's Athletic Association a little over two weeks ago and as a result a letter was written to Dr. F. C. Neal, Chairman of the Supervision Committee of the Board, but as yet no answer has been received. If permission to hold the dances were secured they would likely be limited to pupils of the Institute. In attempting to gain permission to hold the dances the girls have the double purpose of increasing the finances of their Athletic Association and of adding to the school spirit by making the school a factor in the social life of the students.

THE DAY'S NEWS

General Alvaro Obregon, who is reported to have broken with President Carranza, has held the post of Minister of War in the Mexican Government for several years. He is a Yaqui Indian, and has been generally credited with being the "strong man" of the Carranza Administration.

Born in the State of Sonora in 1880, he was egaged in farming until the commencement of the Mexican Revolution. The treason of Huerta and the murder of Madero led Obregon to cast his lot with revolutionists of that time. With the election of General Carranza to the presidency, he was called to Mexico City to take a seat in the Cabinet.

General Obregon is considered one of the ablest military leaders in Mexico. His most noted military achievement was the decisive defeat of Villa at Celaya in 1915, at which battle he lost his right arm.

We have already given away $5.000 FREE. $200.00 more IN CASH and numbers of Merchandise Prizes will be GIVEN AWAY at an Early date.

1st Prize, $50.00 in Cash. 2nd Prize, $40.00 in Cash
3rd Prize, $25.00 in Cash. 4th Prize, $25.00 in Cash
5th to 9th Prizes—Each $10.00 in Cash.

TOGETHER WITH MANY MERCHANDISE PRIZES

Herewith will be found the picture of a Log Hut in the Woods. At first glance all you see is a man, a woman and a dog. If you look closely the faces of 10 other persons will be found. Can you find them? It is no easy task but by patience and endurance can be accomplished.

You may win a cash prize by doing so. Many have done this as will be shown by the names and addresses which we will send you. If you find the faces mark each one with an X, cut out the picture and send it to us, together with a slip of paper on which you have written the words "I have found all the faces and marked them." Write these nine words plainly and neatly, as in case of ties, both writing and neatness are considered factors in this contest.

This may take up a little of your time but as TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS in cash and many merchandise prizes are given away, it is worth your time to take a little trouble over this matter. Remember all you have to do is to mark the faces, cut out the picture and write on a separate piece of paper the words, "I have found all the faces and marked them."

WE DO NOT ASK YOU TO SPEND ONE CENT OF YOUR MONEY IN ORDER TO ENTER THIS CONTEST

Send your answer at once: we will reply by Return Mail telling you whether your answer is correct or not, and we will send you a complete Prize List, together with the names and addresses of persons who have recently received over Five Thousand Dollars in Cash Prizes from us, and full particulars of a simple condition that must be fulfilled. (This condition does not involve the spending of any of your money.)

Although these persons are entirely unknown to us, they are our references. An enquiry from any one of them will bring the information that our contests are carried out with the utmost fairness and integrity.

Names of cash prizes in our late competitions will not be allowed to enter this Contest.

This Competition will be judged by two well known business men of undoubted integrity, who have no connection with this Company, whose decisions must be accepted as final.

Your opportunity to win a good round sum is equally as good as that of anyone else as all previous winners of cash prizes are debarred from entering this contest.

ERRANT PARAGRAPH BECOMES MISPLACED

In last night's issue of the Examiner a paragraph containing the names of the solicitors in the Bowler vs. Redman and Vass case that is set down for trial in the County Court next week became separated from the body of the article and by misplacement was attached to an account of an assault in the police station. By this inadvertency it may have been interpreted by some readers that Messrs. G. W. Hatton, R. R. Hall and Gordon and O'Brien were in some way connected with the participants in the affair at the police station, whereas in its proper place the errant paragraph would obviously have closed the statement of the claim in the Bowler action that may be tred next week.

It is hardly worth while to dread a thunder storm, as there is only one chance in a million that a person will die from a lightning stroke which is doubtless the most instantaneous and painless of all causes of death.

CONTRACTORS HAVE CHOICE OF BONDS

GARBAGE COLLECTORS ASSENT TO PLAN OF PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

Messrs. F. Anglesey and C. W. Johnston, who have been awarded the contract for the collection of garbage next year, accepted last night an alternative bonding proposal submitted to them by the Property committee as a guarantee of the execution of the contract.

Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Ald. Crowe that twenty per cent. of the monthly contractual instalment be retained by the city for three months, and ten per cent. each month for the rest of the year. Bank interest will be allowed on this accumulating sum which at the termination of the contract shall be returned to Messrs. Anglesey and Johnston. As an alternative they may provide a bond for $2,000, which Mr. Anglesey said they expected to have ready by Monday. In the meantime they will consider Ald. Edgar's suggestion and decide whether they will adopt it or the usual guarantee bond.

The monthly installments of the contract price amount to $825, but, in the event of this plan being accepted, it will be only $660, the city retaining $165 monthly during the first three months. The contractors believed that they could manage to carry out their work with five teams. For the rest of the year the monthly deduction would be $82.50.

FEVERISH SEARCH FOR OIL REPORTED IN CANADA'S WEST

THREE GREAT OIL COMPANIES ACQUIRE TREMENDOUS TRACTS OF LAND --SAY PROSPECTS OF THE BEST---ENGLISH INTERESTS SEND SURVEY PARTIES.

OTTAWA, Dec. 5. —Prospectors and representatives of the great oil companies arriving in Ottawa from the Great Slave and Peace River countries report great activity in the search for oil in these areas and that the prospects of developing a great oil field are of the best. In addition to the work being done by private companies, there is great activity displayed by the three great oil companies, the Standard, Shell and Anglo-Canadian. Leases covering immense areas have been secured by the Standard and Anglo-Canadian and the former has two outfits in readiness to test the field next spring.

The Standard Oil Company has leases on Great Slave Lake and will make a thoro test of them next year. Adjoining the Standard Oil property a Canadian-American syndicate has located several thousand acres and will send in an outfit next year. In other areas there has been substantial development with considerable success.

English Interests Investigate.

English interests have been in northern Alberta with survey parties for four years. These interests have been consolidated in the Anglo-Canadian Company. A party of seven headed by A. F. A. Coyne and W. R. Martin, Medicine Hat, are in Ottawa, en route to London, to consult with the British directors. They have under lease 240,000 acres and have made contracts for development work extending over the next five years This company is prepared to spend a million dollars in definately locating the oil bearing strata in the northern wilds.

The Shell oil people have, it is stated, several survey parties in the north. This company attempted to secure exclusive rights for a large area, but were not successful. They are now, it is believed, entering into competition with the Standard and Anglo-Canadian Companies to secure oil bearing areas in the north. When navigation opens on the Athabasca River and Great Slave Lake there will be a great rush to these districts. Active operations will be under way by two of the big companies and before the close of navigation the Great Slave oil field will be tested.

WILL ALLOW WOMEN TO OCCUPY PULPITS JUST ONCE A YEAR.

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—Toronto Presbytery, at its regular monthly meeting, agreed to allow women to occupy the pulpits once a year. A deputation of two ladies from the Women's Missionary Society asked the presbytery to allow representatives to present the claims of the society to the congregation on one Sunday in the year. On this day women will take full charge of the services. This new departure will be the women's part in the Forward Movement.

NAPOLEON CULT DIES

MILITARY "GENIUSES" DID NOT PROSPER IN THE WAR

The truth is about to be unmuzzled. For four and a half years she has been in quarantine. The public has been spoon-fed with an official diet, prepared sometimes to deceive the enemy, sometimes to deceive ourselves, sometimes to protect a reputation, sometimes to destroy a reputation, rarely without any ulterior purpose of some sort altogether unrelated to the fact, says an editorial in the London Daily News. Now the truth is about to come out into the daylight and open her lips. She will be very unlike what we thought her to be—very unlike the fiction that has haunted itself in the public eye. She will have some surprising revelations to make, and as they hurt a good many people and reverse a good many judgments, we must expect to see desperate effort made to silence her or discredit her beforehand.

Among the illusions that will go are the illusions about that foul and filthy thing called war. The idea that it is "God's medicine" will not survive the tremendous balance sheet of loss and gain—the record of the sacrifice of the flower of the world's youth, the material ruin, the spiritual desolation, the opening of the food gates of hate, the carnival of passion, the release of all the baseest elements in human nature, the wolfish rapacity and uncontrolled lust, the submergence of every humane and kindly emotion and of every instinct of truth and justice under the torrent of greed and vengeance exploiting themselves as patriotism. War is not "God's medicine," but the devil's poison.

And if the truth about the war end the fictions about war, it will also end the Napoleonic cult. The age of the demi-god of war is done, and there is nothing cheaper in the world today than military reputations. War has become too vast and cosmic a thing for the inspiration of a single genius. It is the sum of infinite forces, and if we want to find the sources of its judgments we have to trace it to men sitting in offices as well as to generals sitting in camps, to scientists in their laboratories and manufacturers in their factories, to civil servants controlling transports and keeping famine at bay, to the inventions of poison gas and all the artifices of death, to the courage of merchant seamen, and a thousand other springs all contributing to the great sum of the decision.

The failure of Von Kluck at the beginning—perhaps the crucial failure of the war—struck the keynote. Moltke, Hindenburg, Falkenhayn, Mackensen, Ludendorff — one after another they rose like giants and set in failure. And the history of the Allies is hardly less strewn with the wreckage of reputations. Sir Douglas Haig survived the test, not by Napoleonic qualities, but by his plain virtues of honesty, steadfastness, good temper and sound sense.. Marshal Foch comes nearest to a supreme reputation, but he had the good fortune to "arrive" late, when the struggle had reached its climax, after Joffre had been succeeded by Nivelle and Nivelle by Petain, and when the hour for reaping the harvest of four years of effort had come. Had he had the supreme command at the beginning can we be quite sure that he would have escaped the fate of the others?

MOTOR BOAT SINKS; THREE HAVE NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

KINGSTON, Dec. 6.—Three men, William Leith of Cape Vincent, Grover Baker and Harvey Thompson of Watertown, N. Y., had a terrible experience when the motor boat in which they were attempting passage from Cape Vincent to Kingston foundered, and left them stranded on a submerged island. They remained in the icy water for three hours, and were on the point of collapse when rescued by two boys in a boat. They were taken to a farmhouse, where warm drinks and warm, dry clothes soon restored them to a normal condition.

The men were on their way to Kingston, to secure a supply of sugar. They started to cross the lake towing a scow, but encountered ice and in order to secure sufficient headway to break through untied the scow. Rushing at the ice the motor boat instead of forcing a channel, had part of its bottom cut clean off, and immediately sank. Its former occupants were good swimmers and managed to reach the sunken island, which was marked by a clump of cattails whose tops showed above the water, but not before they were chilled to the bone, for their overcoats had gone down with the boat

The Ideal Bathtub for Baby

EDDY'S Indurated Fibreware Washtub is just the thing for baby's bath. Besides being light, easy to handle and unbreakable, it has a surface which cannot cause injury—no cracks, no joints, no nails or rivets. It is moulded in one piece and unlike wood, it cannot splinter or come apart. It is much superior to metal because it cannot dent or rust. Metal tubs quickly absorb heat and are liable to scald baby's skin, even after cold water is added. In a like manner, metal if cold will strike chill to the skin and also cause the water to cool quickly. Eddy's Indurated Fibreware does not radiate heat or cold and is quite safe. For the same reason it keeps the water warm longer.

JIMMY'S DREAM.

'Twas a nice October morning last Sept. in July

BOWLING NEWS

A very exciting game of ten pins was staged at the Water street Alleys last night when the cutters of Barrie's Ltd., after excepting the challenge of the blocking department to bowl for a chicken supper took the blockers into camp with two straight games. H. McIlmoyle was high man for the cutters with 285 for the two games, Smith was high for the losers with 251.

The Blockers might have had a better chance if Loescher and Stabler had not found the gutters so close to the alleys. The score was:

Cutters.
H. McIlmoyle	151	134
G. Kelley	119	118
W. Hamilton	106	129
W. Irvine	137	101
	513	482
Blockers
O. Nichols	117	106
G. Loescher	93	136
R. Stabler	93	105
L. Smith	138	113
	440	460

The Blockers were good losers and provided an excellent supper and were voted good sports even if they did want to destroy the score sheet.

CUTTERS V. BLOCKERS.

An exciting bowling contest was held at the Water Street Alleys last night between the Blockers and Cutters of Barries, Ltd. The Blockers issued the challenge, the stake to be a chicken supper. The Blockers, who are by far the most skilful players, with a view to future games, agreed to let the Cutters win. The Blockers are to be congratulated upon the diplomacy they used, as it is believed the Cutters would have to be dragged up next time with halters around their necks if they had lost their first game.

GENERAL MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

that the total membership now stood at 359 members. He asked the co-operation of all the members in order to increase it to 500 by February, the end of the board year. He said that negotiations had been carried on with American industries with a view to locating here and that a new firm had had a man looking over the city only a day or two ago.

Concluding, Mr. Barrie said that they must work together and help each other if the Board of Trade was to prove successful.

The letter from the Teachers' Association was read and considerable discussion ensued.

Mr. Denne said that as chairman of the Board of Education, he was in a position to speak, and that in June last the salaries had been increased 10% and that the matter of new increases would be brought before the Board at the proper time.

The Teachers.

Mr. C. R. Banks put the matter concisely when he stated that the remuneration received by the men who taught our children was less than that paid bricklayers. He advocated the Board backing them up in their movement.

Dr. Harvey moved that the matter be left to the Board of Education to settle. This was seconded by Frank Whitehouse and carried.

A question pertaining to the fuel supplies was asked by one of the members. Why was it that there was 1200 tons of coal in the city being sent to Toronto?

Mr. Wearing as chairman of the local fuel commission, said that the coal belonged to a private party out of the city but that a local man had gone to Toronto to-day to try and purchase it.

Mr. Turner brought up the question of the Board arranging a public dinner to Mr. T. F. Matthews, who is leaving the city.

Mr. Turner dwelt on the public-spiritedness of Mr. Matthews and of his generous response to every call, and said that a farewell dinner to Mr. Matthews should be arranged, and on such a date that Mr. Matthews could be present.

Mr. Turner then moved a committee to arrange the dinner and appointed Mr. W. H. Bradburn, chairman, and Mayor Duncan, ex-Mayor Duffus, Mr. W. R. Breyfogle and Mr. W. G. Morrow (and himself if they saw fit) members of the committee.

The members expressed hearty approval of the sugestion.

Mr. J. E. Firth, representing the Commercial Travellers, asked the Board to write to the secretary of the Railway Commission to endeavor to have a train a day each way on the I. B and O. Division of the C. N. R. instead of three trains a week as at present, in order to avoid the congestion of freight and passengers now inevitable.

The motion was seconded by Mr. Stratton and carried.

Mr. Turner thanked Mr. McKone for so kindly letting them use the rooms and hoped that they would be able to return the kindness some time. At this point Mr. Kerr spoke on the good work being carried on by Mr. McKone in preparing pupils for a business career.

Mr. G. O. Cameron moved to adjourn. This was seconded by Mr. Firth and carried.

A voice we loved is still;

Workers On Board

PREMIER BORDEN MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT TO RAILWAY WORKERS

NEW PRINCIPLE

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Dec. 8. — Sir Robert Borden, addressing the annual meeting of the Canadian Legislative Board Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers to-day intimated the likelihood of employees' representation on the Managing Board of the Dominion government lines.

"We must give earnest attention to some means by which employed shall have just representation in the executive administration of this system," he said.

"Such a proposal," he added, "would have his sympathy. The Premier spoke of necessity for devising some means by which the work of transportation would not be interrupted by disputes between employers and employed. If between jealous and sometimes antagonistic nations the principle of settling disputes by peaceful means has been acknowledged and adopted, surely disputes between employers and employed can be investigated and adjusted by means other than those which may bring upon the whole people distress and suffering comparable to that entailed by war, he said.

PREMIER E. C. DRURY AND PARTY ATTENDED CHURCH AT COCHRANE

(Special to The Examiner.)

COCHRANE, Dec. 8.—The little United Church in this junction town of 2,500 people and the head of the rail for the T. and N. O., was flattered on Sunday morning by the presence of Premier E. C. Drury, Hon. Mr. Bowman, Minister of Lands and Forests, Hon. Mr. Mills, Minister of Mines, Commissioner Lee, of the T. and N. O., and Mac Lang, the local Liberal member, not to mention the Sunday newspapermen.

The service took the actual form, except when the minister, Rev. Mr. Coulter, the joint pastor of the Presbyterians and Methodists, after returning thanks for the appointment to high office of men of fairness and righteousness, requested that the congregation should sing the National Anthem, and the Ministers of the Crown take seats on either side of the pulpit, when he hoped Mr. Drury would speak for at least two or three minutes.

The Premier gently declined the invitation by rising and saying that while as a citizen he belonged to one of the churches represented at the service, as Premier he belongd to no church. His preference was to remain where he was as a humble worshipper.

The disappointed minister accepted the situation, and the National Anthem was omitted.

In the afternoon Mr. Drury visited the hospital. At daybreak this morning the Ministerial party left Cochrane for New Liskeard and other points south of here. They expect to address an important gathering in North Bay to-night.

Premier Drury made a hit at Cochrane, and many echoed the public utterance of Mayor Carter, who said: "I believe the new Government will make good."

Protocol Modified

SOME OBJECTIONABLE CLAUSES TONED DOWN—REVISED FORM WILL BE SUBMITTED THIS AFTERNOON.

SCAPA FLOW

(Special to The Examiner.)

PARIS, Dec. 8.— The Allies have consented to modify some of the terms of the protocol putting the peace treaty into effect, to which Germany has made objection.

The clause providing for indemnity for the destruction of the German fleet at Scapa Flow is modified so as to refer to the Hague Tribunal the question whether delivery of tonnage demanded will cripple Germany, it is understood. The final paragraph of the protocol providing that even after the peace treaty has gone into effect the Allies might use military measures of coercion to ensure execution of the treaty's terms, has eben eliminated entirely, as also has the clause relating to the evacuation of the Baltic provinces by German troops.

Imputation of responsibility to Germany for sinking of ships at Scapa Flow is left in the protocol, according to the best information obtainable. The note to the German plenipotentiaries regarding the signing of the protocol setting forth the Allies' position as indicated, will be handed to Baron Von Lersner, head of the German mission, this afternoon.

PUBLIC STILL IN THE DARK AS TO LATE DEVELOPMENTS IN THE MINERS' COAL STRIKE

ALLIED NOTE TO GERMANY

(Special to The Examiner.)

LONDON, Dec. 8. — The Allied note to Germany has not yet been despatched to Berlin pending the submission of certain portions to the British Cabinet, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Paris.

The note is not an ultimatum, but a formal summons, the despatch said.

A COMPLETE SETTLEMENT IS LOOKED FOR BY TO-MORROW —NEW PROPOSAL SUBMITTED TO THE MINERS.

TRAINS CANCELLED

(Specail to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The public were still in the dark to-day as to the government's last move to settle the coal strike. Not a hint of the nature of the proposals had been made public, either by the miners or officials, but comfort was taken in Attorney General Palmer's statement that he was sure the end was in sight. Success or failure will not be determined until Tuesday, when the court and strike leaders will consider it.

The following formal statement was issued to-day at the White House:

"It is hoped that there will be a settlement on Tuesday afternoon of the controversy between miners, operators and the government through acceptance by the miners of a plan for definite settlement proposed by the President, which proposal was submitted to Acting President Lewis of the miners by Attorney General Palmer Saturday night."

TRAINS WITHDRAWN.

(Specail to The Examiner.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.— Hundreds of passenger trains were withdrawn from service on railroads of the country to-day, mostly in the middle west, south and south-west, in accordance with instructions issued last week by the Railroad Administration.

Hundreds of others had been ordered annulled on Wednesday next, chiefly in the east. In New England alone orders were out to cancel three hundred trains on Wednesday. Reduction in the passenger service in the United States since the strike began amounts to approximately one-third of the total. Many hundred thousand workers were idle to-day on account of closing of non-essential industries. Measures to conserve fuel supplies went ahead in nearly every part of the country.

CONTINUES ACUTE.

(Specail to The Examiner.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The coal shortage will continue acute until January 1st, even if the mine union wage scale officials in Indianapolis to-morrow vote to accept the settlement proposed by President Wilson, it was predicted here to-day.

(Canadian Press.)

PITTSBURG, Dec 8.—Phillip Murray, President of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, will leave here to-night for Indianapolis with 17 other members of the Scale committee, to take part in the conference which, Mr. Murray said, he believed would end the coal strike. Mr. Murray to-day received a telegram from John L. Lewis, containing information that he had tentatively accepted the proposition made in Washington Saturday night and ordering committee to be in Indianapolis by to-morrow.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.— It was learned that the proposal came from President Wilson himself, and was in the form of a memorandum written by him.

MONTREAL, Dec. 8.—The C.P.R. has not yet announced the exact trains affected by its decision, arrived at over the week end, to drop 86 trains. They will principally be those running between local Quebec and Ontario points. It is understood that one of them will be the train from Toronto to Sudbury, which connects with its Transcontinental express.

Nurse Proceeded To Maul Associate Nurse in Hospital

A NEW VERSION OF THE FLAG INCIDENT IN WHICH A CANADIAN NURSE WAS THE CENTRAL FIGURE—MISS M'LANE EXONERATED.

CIVIC AUTHORITIES BUTTED IN

(Special to The Examiner.)

FREDERICTON, N.B., Dec. 8.—A story from Woodstock, New Brunswick, points out that Miss Annie McLane, the central figure in the now famous flag incident at the Rutland, Vermont, hospital, is not a native of Woodstock, but of Truro, N.S. The correspondent follows that up by saying there are a number of Woodstock girls at the Rutland hospital as nurses and probationers, and gives the following version of the whole affair as gathered from their letters to their families at Woodstock.

"The flag trouble started when Miss McLane and Miss Miles were alone together. The former claims she said "It is a good looking building if it did not have that dirty old rag flying over it." Miss Miles then proceeded to knock Miss McLane down.

Some time previous a number of American nurses decorated a Canadian flag belonging to some of the nurses, but no trouble came from this incident, as there always had been good-natured bantering between the nurses as to the merits of the Canadian and the United States' flag. To the American nurses who [illegible] upon Miss McLane at her room [illegible] explained to this extent: "I am sorry, girls, I did not mean to hurt your feelings; it was all in fun. I respect your country and I respect your flag, but I won't get up and salute it. Go out of this room." This apparently closed the incident and was satisfactory to the hospital authorities. Two weeks later an investigation of the affair was ordered by the Alumnae Association, which completely exonerated Miss McLane and admited her into the membership of the association. Everything seemed to be harmonious, but the city authorities took it up."

WOMEN VOTERS' LEAGUE MEETING

The Women Voters' League held a meeting on Thursday evening, Dec. 4th., when Municipal politics occupied the attention of the members for the greater part of the time.

The League hopes to have short addresses from the aspirants for Municipal office as soon as these have announced themselves.

It was decided that two women candidates could probably be elected to the Board of Education this year. Mrs. S. T. Medd and Mrs. W. R. Morris were asked to enter themselves as candidates for office on the Board, and every support was promised them.

It is expected that Mrs. Medd and Mrs. Morris will make an announcement in a few days.

ENGINEERS ELECT OFFICERS FOR 1920

INTERESTING ADDRESS GIVEN BY MR. G. B SMITH OF BELLEVILLE.

At the meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, held on Saturday evening in the Empress Hotel. The following officers were elected for the coming season.

Hon. Chairman—R. B. Rogers.
Chairman, —Reid Munro.
Vice Chairman— R. H. Parsons.
Secretary—R. L. Dobbin.
Treasurer—D. L. McLaren.

After supper the meeting was addressed by Mr. G. B. Smith of Belleville. Superintendent of the Central Ontario Division, of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario. His subject was "The operation of the Central Ontario System, and he described its growth from a small beginning in 1908 to its present large proportions.

Among other statements Mr. Smith made the following: The population served by this System runs well over 100,000 and the industries served include plants for the manufacture of chemicals, automobiles, Portland cement, rubber goods, ore reduction wood pulp, crushed stone, and the many varied industries found in the different municipalities. In view of the present coal situation and its prospects for the future, it is apparent that Central Ontario is fortunate in the progress made toward independence of this commodity for power purposes.

At present there is 4,000 or 5,000 h. p. in reserve, which could be supplied to industries at any part of the system.

Mr. Smith brought with him a large number of Lantern views of the construction of the new Chippewa Development of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, and these were explained to the members.

Mr. Walter R. W. Blackwell, the architect of the new Memorial School was present and explained for the benefit of the members the plans of this new building.

A letter was read from the Board of Trade.

SMALL FIRE ON LONDON STREET

SHED OWNED BY THE QUAKER OATS COMPANY CAUGHT FIRE.

Only one fire marred an otherwise uneventful Saturday at the Fire Hall. In the afternoon, at 4.03, the firemen received a call to London Street East to put out a small fire in the most easterly of the barns formerly owned by the Dickson Co., but now owned by the Quaker Oats Company. A hole about two feet in diameter was burned in the floor, but the fire was quickly put out with chemicals. The damage amounted to about $5.00 The fire was probably caused by boys in the building putting on skates and throwing cigarete butts on the floor, and if the fire had not ben checked promptly a dangerous conflagration might have resulted.

Miss Margaret Lynch has returned to the city after several weeks visit with relatives in Oil City.

ANNIVERSARY AT GILMOUR MEMORIAL

TWO SPLENDID SERVICES—SPECIAL MUSIC FOR THE OCCASION.

The seventy-seventh anniversary of Gilmour Memorial Church was observed yesterday and the congregation was fortunate in having Rev. W. T. Graham, D.D., of First Avenue Baptist Church, Toronto, to conduct both morning and evening services.

At the evening service Dr. Graham spoke on the "Divinity and Personality of Christ." The subject was handled in a masterful and impressive manner, and the way in which his sermon was received proved that the day of pure theological preaching is not yet past.

At the morning service he spoke on a kindred subject.

The music was under the direction of William Paul, choirmaster, and Miss Mabel Paul, organist and the musical programme was unusually good.

A special feature was a solo by Mrs. James Yonng, "If with all your hearts ye truly seek Me," from Elijah, rendered in very fine voice.

Both services were enjoyed by unusually large audiences and the anniversary will not soon be forgotten by those who attended.

SUGGESTS SAMPLES OF BRIDGE FINISH

ALD. HAMILTON CONSIDERS THAT PUBLIC SHOULD BE WELL INFORMED.

In order that the general public might understand the merits of the opposing aldermanic contentions in regard to the finish of the Hunter Street Bridge, Alderman Hamilton has suggested that it would probably be helpful and illuminating to prepare two specimens of the plain rubbed concrete and the chipped granite and exhibit them in the business district.

He believed that it would not be difficult to make samples of the two finishes without building up heavy and unwieldy designs. All that was needed was a thin showing of the outer wall as it would appear with both surfaces.

It was desirable, he said, that the citizens should understand the point of the Council's divided opinion in order that the public's preference should prevail.

MENTIONS MAYOR DUNCAN FOR THIRD TERM IN THE CHAIR

A rumour was current this morning that Mayor Duncan had been interviewed by a number of citizens requesting him to be again a candidate for the Mayoralty.

The Examiner could not get in touch with Mayor Duncan to-day, and consequently could not verify the statement, but from another source it was intimated that several citizens had ureged His Worship to consider the proposal of his candidature against Aldermen McIntyre and Taylor, both of whom have declared that they will carry the mayoralty fight to a finish.

It has been expected that Mayor Duncan will follow the precedents of W. H. Buller and J. J. Duffus, who held the Chief Magistracy for two years. Mayor Duncan has hitherto stated that he would not seek a third term, but some of his friends and supporters had begun to boom him for the Utilities Commission. This demonstration is in abeyance for the present but it will likely be revived when the municipal pot boils up in earnest above a steady fire.

PREMIER'S ROAD POLICY VERY RETROGRESSIVE

HON. E. C. DRURY DECLARES SMALL ROADS SHOULD BE BUILT FIRST—OUTLINES THREE DISTINCT ROAD POLICIES THAT HAVE NOT ONE THING IN COMMON—CLASS APPEAL—LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY'S NON-PARTISAN POLICY AND PROGRAMME SCIENTIFIC AND DEMOCRATIC—ONTARIO TO LOSE FEDERAL AID?

The appended article appeared in last Sunday's issue of the Toronto Sunday World:

Ontario under the U. F. O.-Labour administration will receive none of its five-million-dollar share of the Federal grant to Provincial highways if the Coalition Government adopts the highway policy outlined by Premier Drury at a meeting late last week. So much the more for division among the other Provinces at Ontario's expense. Isn't it sweet, isn't it lovely to think of Ontario contributing multi-millions to the construction of highways in Quebec and the other Provinces, while this, the premier Province, wallows in the mud of self-abnegation? The Hon. E. C. Drury declared:

"When the farmer hears about a cement highway, he remembers that closer at home he is confronted with five or so miles of rutty roads from his farm to the town, so do you wonder that he does not want all the money spent on trunk highways? The farmer knows that you, in the city, can do without highways, for you have the train services to take their place, but he knows that he cannot do without roads, for he has not the same conveniences of the railways. What, he asks, is a fair distribution of the money derived from automobile licenses, and he does not want $30,000.00 spent on one mile of road, quite as much as he wants 30 miles of good road at $1,000 a mile. He feels that the best way to spend the money is to see that the present roads are resurfaced.

"The cement roads are all right. We have nothing to say against them, provided there is enough money to go around, but we want the small roads first. And I believe that you in the cities do not want the expenditures limited to the trunk roads any more than does the farmer, for I feel you want to be able to get out into the country on good roads. That appears to be one respect in which other politicians failed to gauge public opinion. So it seems to me that the fairest and most economical policy with regard to highway improvement would be one of continuous repair based on an even distribution of the funds available."

He said he wanted to see the revenue derived from motor licenses spent on roads "where it comes from." But why quote further. It is no unkindness to say that the Premier of Ontario is at his worst on the subject of good roads. Federal aid is to be extended by the Dominion Government to the construction of high efficiency, all-year trunk highways only, during the next five years. The Premier purposes maintenance work on our trunk roads, with maintenance and improvement of the lateral roads first. If the Premier's programme is implemented — kiss Federal aid good-bye. Also kiss good-bye rural motor express, and all ultra urban truck transportation save over the Toronto-Hamilton Highway and other constructed all-year roads. With them bid adieu to the decrease in the Hight Cost of Living that this most efficient and economic form of transportation would bring.

The Premier's proposal is analogous to a suggestion to restrict the capacity of the bed of the St. Lawrence River to the capacity permitted of the beds of all tributary streams, or to build lateral (feeder) and trunk railway lines, alike, with 63-pound rails, despite the fact that trunk lines for economic maintenance require 90, 100, or 110 pound rails, according to traffic conditions. Traffic must be the criterion of the type of pavement in highway construction—not parochial theories or class affections and prejudices.

Most everyone who has enjoyed a larger radius of travel than from farm to market, rigidy-jig, knows that it has been demonstrated times without number that to build a gravel or water-bound macadam surface road that will stand the gaff of the intensive, all-year traffic which a main trunk highway must bear, is impossible. That on heavily-trafficked roads like the Toronto-Hamilton Highway, maintenance costs would be prohibitive were a less permanent type of pavement than concrete, asphalt, or brick used. The Commissioner of Highways of New York State recently declared that it had cost the Empire State tens of millions of dollars to learn this.

Our highways must be built with a view to continued service and rapidly-increasing highway transportation, where they will best serve the greatest good to the greatest number.

Few highways in the world carry a greater volume of traffic than the Toronto-Hamilton Highway. The best gauge of its usefulness and popularity is the extent to which it is used. Those who criticise it as an extravagance and "a speedway for joy riders," either deliberately tamper with veracity or speak from wild conjecture only. To say that a macadam or gravel road would do just as well is to stultify oneself. Ask any of the property-holders along the Highway what they think. Their real estate has been enhanced in value from two hundred to a thousand per cent. by the Highway. It is worth many times its cost to the communities it serves.

A thoroughly democratic and equitable highway scheme has been drawn up by the Legislative Assembly, based on investigations extending round the world, and pronounced by international authorities as being as near ideal as is practically possible. It is not to be thought of that the new administration, after deliberation, will be so ill-advised as to adversely tamper with it.

The general plan of the Province in connection with good roads has been to improve the 20 per cent. of them first which carry 80 per cent. of the traffic. This has been done by making grants for what are called county provincial highways, as well as for the provincial highway proper. For the latter, the Province provides 70 per cent. of the cost, and the municipalities 30 per cent. For the county provincial highways, the Province puts up 60 per cent. and the counties 40 per cent. It is hoped that, as the result of Federal grants, the counties' contribution will be reduced to 15 per cent., with the Province providing 45 per cent. and the Dominion 40 per cent. The Province also aids ordinary county roads to the extent of 40 per cent.

The township roads, while representing 80 per cent. of the roads in Ontario, carry only 20 per cent. of the traffic.

A railroad company first constructs its main lines, and then its laterals, or feader, lines. Efficiency and economy demand this procedure. If a company were constructing roads, the same sequence would be followed, for the same reason. A government has yet another reason for so proceeding—the greatest good to the greatest number.

Yet there has been complaint that the so-called provincial highways have been given a disproportionate amount of government money. Toward the cost of this class of road the government pays 70 per cent., compared with 40 per cent. toward the cost of county roads. The concrete highway between Toronto and Hamilton, which is cited in some quarters as an example of this discrimnation in favor of urban motorists, was not built under the 70 per cent. regulation. Of the total cost of about $1,250,000, the province paid only $500,000, an amount which will be collected in license fees from Toronto and Hamilton motorists in two years. The city of Toronto paid about $250,000 toward the highway, the city of Hamilton about $50,000, and the remainder came from municipalities along the route and from frontage assessments. Toronto will pay an additional $50,000 toward the cost of widening a stretch of the road. The highway was classified as a semi-suburban road, and on that account much of the cost was levied on the cities most directly interested. The 70 per cent. provision applies to provincial highways, which are not so obviously inter-urban and which are designed to run through the province from end to end and link up the other road systems.

It is important, of course, that township market roads be improved with all possible dispatch—but not at the expense, as Hon. Mr. Drury would have it, of the more important highways. The tail must not wag the dog. Let it be remembered that the provincial revenue from motor car licenses has in equity been earmarked for highway improvement work. If the Hon. Mr. Drury meant what he said when he declared that the revenue derived from motor vehicle licenses should be spent in the districts it comes from, then much more money would be spent in the inter-provincial road, with its offshoots to Ottawa and the Falls, than under the present plan. While farmers lead all classes in the purchase of motor vehicles, numerically the cars in the cities, towns and villages far outnumber those in the country, and per mile of road!—but why continue. Obviously Mr. Drury, no more than city motorists, wants the money derived from the licenses of city motorists spent on city pavements, despite his words. Nor do we think he means what he contradictorily says about uniform distribution of the motor vehicle license money over the roads of the province for improvement. If every deserted cadge road is to receive an equal mileage appropriation for improvement and maintenance as will the main highways—why, the appropriation will be so attenuated that it will not keep half the weeds off the roads of Ontario.

The premier may be interested to learn that several years ago Toronto decided, for economy's and efficiency's sake, to lay no more macadam, let alone gravel roads, and that aside from five or six main thoroughfares, there are few streets in the city that carry anything like the burden of traffic that the Toronto-Hamilton Highway, Yonge street beyond the city limits or the Kingston road do. Our lanes are not all permanently paved, Mr. Premier—that will come in time. Our main streets were first taken care of, though doubtless people living on Darling avenue or Pine Terrace would have preferred to have had their roads given precedence. Now, if your equal distribution policy had obtained here, our roads at best would still all be gravel, with a maintenance cost that would have long ago bankrupted the city, and I fear, Toronto, like that "loveliest village of the plain," would be a deserted village, perhaps unwept, unhonored and unsung. So much for the premier's "equal distribution" roads policy.

Now for his contradictory "small roads first" policy—the second of his unholy trinity, all conflicting and contradictory. What the premier under this policy suggests is that the province construct the small roads before touching the main highways. To logically apply this policy the smallest and most unimportant road would be improved first, the largest and most important last. Applied to our cities, this would mean that the smallest alley, the least lane, would be the first to be paved, and the main streets last. King, Queen and Yonge streets in Toronto under this policy would still be hog wallows—with vehicles mired to the hubs (if there were any vehicles to get mired) at this season of the year.

The third of the premier's road policies—revenue expended where derived—would leave no money for many of the small roads and a negligible amount for most of them.

With the whole civilized world committed to record-breaking construction of permanent, high-efficiency, all year roads in well planned and co-ordinated systems, it is no time to let retrogression drag the highways of Ontario in the mud. Moreover, this province, with its abject poverty in good roads, can not afford to contribute five million dollars to highway construction in other provinces, while they contribute not one penny to the construction of Ontario highways.

The premier would be well-advised to drop his three roads policies that have in common only their detrimental class or sectional appeal, and adopt as his own the equitable democratic policy and program evolved after years of experience and investigation, as a non-party measure by the legislative assembly.

Tobacco Habit Dangerous

Dr. Doctor Conner, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Philadelphia, says: "Thousands of men suffering from fatal diseases would be in perfect health to-day were it not for the deadly drug, Nicotine. Stop the habit now before it's too late. Try a simple remedy for rid yourself of the tobacco habit in any form. Just go to any up-to-date drug store and get a box of Nicotabs; take them as directed, and by the peculiar habit quickly vanishes. Druggists refund the money if they fail. Be sure to read large and interesting announcement by Doctor Conner soon to appear in this paper. It tells of the danger of nicotine poisoning and how to avoid it. In the meantime try Nicotabs; you will be surprised at the result. (6)

LAW WILL PREVENT CARRYING OUT PLANS

No Intoxicated Person Can Be Admitted to Jail.

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—The proposal of the Police Commissioners to have female prisoners who are taken to the Police Station after six p.m., accommodated in the county jail till the following morning, is declared by Sheriff Richardson to be impracticable under the present laws. He points out that the order for commitment must be signed by a judge or magistrate before a prisoner can be received in the county jail, and that it would be difficult to locate the officials after that hour.

A change in the law would be necessary to have female prisoners committed for the night. Another point of law that intervenes in the proposal is that no intoxicated person can be received in the county jail.

The alternative suggested by the commission was that the police matron, Mrs. Boucher, should be provided with sleeping quarters at the station and be given charge of females brought there during the night as well as in the day time.

It is likely that this latter arrangement will be decided upon emporarily on account of the lack of proper accommodation for females at present.

THE 47TH ANNIVERSARY OF GEORGE STREET METHODIST CHURCH

REV. R. G PEEVER, D.D., PREACHED BOTH MORNING AND EVENING— CALL FOR MEN TO LEAD THE PEOPLE.

At the 47th Anniversary services of George Street Methodist Church yesterday the Rev. R. G. Peever, D. D., a former pastor of the church and now pastor of the First Methodist Church of London, Ontario, preached at both the morning and evening services. Rev. A. J. Thomas, present pastor of the church was present and spoke of the pleasure which it gave a preacher to return to his former congregation and believed that this feeling was reciprocated by the George Street congregation. He stated that he had never followed a pastor more beloved by his congregation than Dr. Peever was by the people of George Street Church

Rev .R. G. Peever.

At the morning service Dr. Peever said that his heart was filled with very deep emotions by his visit to his former pastorate. He could not find words to express how deeply he appreciated the privilege of speaking in George Street Church once again. It was rather amusing he thought that this 47th anniversary day should be also his birthday. He paid a glowing tribute to the church, the congregation, the choir, and the present pastor, Rev. Mr. A. J. Thomas and went on to comment upon the changes which had come to pass since he had last been with the people of this Church. The Great War had drawn to a close, the liquor traffic had been abolished, and the influenza epidemic had passed leaving deep furrows in the lives of the people.

His Text.

Dr. Peever took as his text, Proverbs 29; 18, "Where there is no vision the people perish." This meant that where there was no vision the people lost their regard for law, justice, and equity and their lives became dissolute.

To-day, civilization was trying to leave the lowland of War and cross the turbulent stream of Reconstruction to the upland of Stability but was being dragged down toward Chaos by the spirit of Bolshevism. It was the duty of the Church to steady civilization.

A Fundamental Principle.

Dr. Peever believed that the text expressed a fundamental principle of the life of the individual, the church, and the nation. If a young man were to begin life without an ideal as a vision of life he would become but a piece of driftwood. The principle applied to the church and the nation in the same way. Without a vision of something to do or to accomplish individual, church, or national life became nothing more than a hell.

Applications of the Text

Commerce girdling the world, was simply [illegible] vision, men with keen perceptions. It was the same in the educational world. To-day education was becoming the watchword of the people. This was because the people were getting the vision that the making of a life was greater than the making of money. There was a call for men to lead the people and steady civilization.

All the great moral reform movements of history were the work of men with a vision, men who caught the vision and then gave their lives to carry it out. Thus had slavery been abolished and prisons reformed and civilization and liberty perfected. The sanest men of Canada, the United States, and Europe believed that only the religion of Christ could preserve civilization.

A False Philosophy

At this point Dr. Peever called attention to what he believed was a false philosophy, founded on: "The voice of the people is the voice of God." This was a dangerous conception of life and carried a menace to civilization. It implied that the great mass of men had an unerring sense of right. History and human experience had proven that this was not so.

No Solution by economics.

In trying to steady civilization, Dr. Peever stated, some people would enter the realm of economics and prescribe a programme for the world But the message of the Christian ministry did not lie within the realm of ecomonics but rather in the realm of ideals and visions. Wages might be raised and prices lowered but that would not steady civilization. What was needed was men who would infuse a new spirit into the world.

Great Revolution of History

Dr. Peever thought that the great revolution of history was being enacted before us now. The common people were intoxicated with a sense of their power. Sane leadership was necessary. Unless civilization caught the great vision it might go down. Democracy must become sacrificial rather than acquisitional. Men were needed to interpret the call of God.

New Idea of Service

Continuing, Dr. Peever stated that a new idea of service had come into the world of commerce and industry. Men were no longer dwelling upon acquisition alone. Our boys had given their lives in the war and from now sacrifice would be the measure of a man.

In closing, Dr. Peever referred to the Forward Movement of the Churches as a wonderful thing. It was an expression of his text. Evangelization was cheaper than revolution.

BUTTER WILL BE SCARCER.

Canadian Creamery Association of Ontario Holds Convention.

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—A scarcity of butter th is winter is predicted by the Canadian Creamery Association of Ontario which opened its fourth annual convention at the Carls-Rite yesterday afternoon.

"The price of butter has never been so high before in the history of the country," said Mack Robertson, Belleville, the past-president. "We predict a greater scarcity of cream for butter. This is on account of the high price and sacrcity of feed. Then there is so much butter being exported."

Premier Drury has promised to address the convention. Others to speak are Dr. Creelman, Ontario Agricultural College; Frank Herns, chief dairy inspector, Weston; E. H. Stonehouse, president of the National Dairy Council.

A number of Toronto merchants will speak on the wholesale situation.

SICK HEADACHE
For Last 10 Years

Headaches affect all ages and both sexes alike, but in all cases the treatment should be directed to remove the cause for with the cause removed the headaches vanish for all time.

What is necessary for a permanent cure is something that will go right to the seat of the trouble. For this purpose it is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of all descriptions than Burdock Blood Bitters acting as it does on every organ of the body to strengthen, purify and regulate the whole system.

Mrs. Flora Hall, Dominion, N.S., writes:—"I have been troubled with sick headaches for the last ten years. I had lost faith in all remedies until recently a friend of mine advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. This I did, and found relief in a very short time. I would now recommend B.B.B. to anyone who is suffering as I did. I only took 3 bottles, and am never troubled with sick headaches anymore."

B. B. B. has been on the market for over 40 years. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

5TH ANNIVERSARY WAS CELEBRATED

CHURCH OF THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION COMPLETES HALF A DECADE.

The fifth anniversary of the opening of the Church of the Immaculate Conception was celebrated yesterday with appropriate ceremony. Pontifical High Mass in the morning and vespers in the evening were sung by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien. Large congregations were present, and also at the early mass, at which the majority of the members of the parish received holy communion. A steady stream of worshippers visited the church throughout the afternoon for the exposition of the Blessed Sacrament. In the evening Bishop O'Brien was assisted by Rev. Fathers Cantillon and Cote. Rev. Father McCarthy, of Norwood, preached the sermon. Other clergy assisting were Rev. Dean McColl, pastor of the church, Rev. Peter McGuire, Rev. J. J. O'Brien and Rev. J. V. McAuley.

In the morning Bishop O'Brien congratulated the parish upon the attainment of its fifth anniversary. He spoke of its increase in numbers and of the spiritual advantages afforded the people in having their church within their very midst. The occasion brought joy and happiness to himself as much as to the priests and their congregation. His Lordship reviewed something of the progress during the past year and also during the entire five years, and offered the people encouragement in the frequent use they made of their church in assisting at mass, receiving the sacraments and otherwise trying to love and serve God and to keep themselves in His grace.

In his sermon at vespers Rev. Father McCarthy reviewed the sacrificial form of worship from the days of Abraham and David in the old dispensation to Calvary, told of the perpetuation of Christ's sacrifice on the altars of the Catholic Church in fulfillment of the divine commands and mission given to the apostles.

PORT HOPE RESIDENT ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

Trimming a Tree, Jas. Britton Has His Head Split and One Lung Pierced.

PORT HOPE, Dec. 5.—While assisting Frank Spotten to trim a large maple tree yesterday morning, James Britton was struck on the head by the butt of one of the limbs, and his head was split from the forehead to the base of the skull. He was standing on a ladder at the time and was thrown to the ground with such force that a couple of ribs were broken and these pierced his lung. He was hurried to the hospital, but died an hour later.

THE POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Supporters of the proposal to place the police department under the control of a commission elected by the people maintain that such a method would be consistent with the spirit of democracy that is making itself felt. Why do the friends of the elected commission plan stop with the police department. Why not go the whole ticket and adopt the American political system? Why not elect the judges and the police magistrates and the sheriffs? And fight municipal elections with the frank slogan, "To the victors belong the spoils?" All these things would be as logical as the proposal that the Council has seen fit to send to the Legislature for approval.

In these enlightened days, when progressive communities are discussing government by commission, and the natural development of that system, the city manager plan, it is surprising to find a council in a city of Peterborough's size advocating a return to conditions that the Legislature many years ago found it necessary to deal with. The reasons that actuated the Ontario government in establishing a statutory commission are just as urgent to-day as they were when the Act was passed. There are enough departments to run the risk of mismanagement under aldermanic control now without adding to their number.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

The announcement by Mr. G. N. Gordon that he will not be a candidate in a three-cornered fight for the mayoralty is another development in the municipal campaign. Mr. Gordon was honoured by a call from the Great War Veterans to be their candidate, and strong pressure was brought to bear upon him from other quarters to allow his name to go on the ballot paper. His decision not to enter the contest leaves Ald. McIntyre, running as the Labour candidate, and Ald. Talor still in the field, with rumours of a "dark horse" who may come into the race and convert the contest into a triangular one.

As for the aldermanic elections there is still little definite news. Polling day is less than a month away, but there is an unusual silence as to prospective candidates. Organised labour will of course have a "slate," and various names are mentioned in this connection, but outside of the Trades and Labour nominees, who will not be definitely announced for some time, there has been little talk of new candidates for the Council. It is not an encouraging sign. In other cities the interest seems to be much greater, and aspirants for the various offices are already in the field and announcing their platforms. Last minute candidates have little chance of placing their views before the people and the election becomes more or less of a lottery when the ratepayers have to decide at short notice and make their choice with only the personality of the candidates to guide them.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

The important problem of teachers' salaries which is under general discussion, not only in Peterborough, but throughout the country, is a question that must receive careful and sympathetic attention. A system of granting a bonus to the teachers is only an expedient—a stop-gap, instead of a solution to the problem. There seems no question as to the fact that teachers are in the main inadequately recompensed. Their pay, in the face of the ordinary expenses of living and compared with the remuneration of other citizens, is far from generous. Male teachers, especially, are being driven into other occupations where they can receive more ample returns for their labours, and this condition of affairs is not confined to one city or one district, but is general. A correspondent writing to the Examiner on this subject a few days ago made the suggestion that, owing the expenses of maintaining the schools were already a heavy burden upon the taxpayers, that the Ontario government should assist by increasing the annual grants to such an extent as to pay 65 to 75 per cent. of the teachers' salaries. A logical development of that suggestion would be the paying of teachers solely by the government—a plan that has many supporters throughout the province. For instance, a writer in the Ottawa Journal remarks:

Let the teacher be paid as civil servants are, directly by the government. They are servants of the state in the sense that no government employes could be. They are more vitally connected with the welfare of governments than any other class of servants and yet they are farthest removed from its notice. They serve the state in the finest sense in which that word can be employed. They fulfill the purpose of imparting knowledge but they do and will continue to do more than that; they bring to the youth of the land something, a true something, that is just a grain of the mothering that this old world needs; not selfish indulgence; but qualities of strength that somewhere find root.

THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

The splendid work that is being carried by the Children's Aid Society should be recognised by a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Society which will be held in the Bank of Montreal Chambers to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. The meeting promises to be a very interesting one, as the different officers will give reports on the work that has been done during the past year, and the Board of Management for 1920 will be elected. All citizens who are interested in the objects for which the Society was formed, are cordially invited and a representative attendance, indicating that the public appreciated the manner in which the affairs of the Society are being looked after, would be an inspiration to the officers.

THE ONLY REMEDY.

The high cost of living is the greatest material problem of our day.

For the man with a small income, it is a large-sized menace; even for the man with a comfortable income it is a source of continual worry.

The phenomenal rise in prices since 1916 is due to the scarcity of goods brought about by the suspension of production during the war. We have also wasted untold quantities of material for war purposes.

This shortage and this waste must be made good before the world can be again prosperous as in 1914. Until they are made good, it is useless to expect that prices materially decline or even remain stationary.

Recognising this fact, many people propose that we get over the difficulty by increasing wages, salaries and profits in the same ratio as the advance in prices. If this were possible, the effect would be the same as reducing prices to pre-war levels. Ultimately, this may take place, but certainly not soon.

The "day-light savers" realised that they could not get the public to perform every act of the day one hour earlier than usual, so they innocently deluded us by advancing the clock. It worked, because there was no fundamental law against it. But we cannot cheat ourselves over the cost of living in the same manner. Increasing wages without augmenting production sends up prices and leaves real wages unimproved.

What does the higher cost of living really mean? Sweeping aside the camouflage of prices expressed in currency, it means this: That we must now put forth greater effort and work harder to obtain the same satisfactions. There is no cure for it but economy and increased production.

It is not in the nature of the average human being to economize in what is lightly come by, nor to work any harder than is necessary to obtain a comfortable living.

Therefore, the high cost of living is not only natural, but necessary at the present time, says "Conservation." Let us face this blunt truth bravely and apply ourselves patiently to work and to save—the only remedy.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The new "Voters' League of Toronto" will be doing a fine work if it gets more chistas to go to the polls. It is a reflection on the city that so many of those who demand better municipal government during the year do not bother going and voting for it on New Year's Day, to say nothing of offering themselves as candidates or promoting the candidature of desirable men.—Toronto Star.

BE PATIENT AND PROGRESSIVE

There is some excuse for those who are discouraged by the present condition of the world. Naturally they expected that after the war there would be peace. Moreover, they believed that the victory won a year ago was one of right over wrong, and that international and human relations would be better than they were before the storm broke in 1914. This was to be the war that would end war. The noble ideals of liberty and justice which led so many young men to take part in a crusade would be still exalted, the hatred and fury inseparable from war would vanish, while the spirit of sacrifice and service would remain. Peace would bring, not stagnation, but opportunity for constructive effort and for co-operation in all that could better the lot of humanity.

The actual situation is so different from the hope and promise that there is some danger of the optimists becoming soured. Europe is anything but a happy family. Wars are still in progress. The nations are anxious, and there is an atmosphere of hostility and suspicion. The Senate of the United States shows a tendency to leave Europe to its own devices. International war is followed by class war, and in more than one nation labor and capital are in conflict.

The optimists expected too much. Milton asked: "For what can war but endless war still breed?" Such a conflict as the world has seen cannot be regarded as like the extraction of an aching tooth leaving the patient happy and comfortable. It is more like a major surgical operation, after which there must be a long and painful period of convalescence. The frightful loss of young, vigorous human life can never be repaired, and will leave a scar upon humanity for many a year. Not only systems of political government, but systems of industry and commerce have been shaken to the ground. The effect upon the mind and heart of mankind is more subtle but not less real. Habits of violence cannot be eradicated in a day. Men are impatient of the slow processes of law and peaceful effort for reform, and seek short cuts to the attainment of their desires. Governments have set the example of ignoring the law and the constitution, of interfering with liberty of speech and of making laws to suit their purposes, instead of waiting ing for the orderly, deliberate procedure of legislative bodies.

All this belongs to war. The student of history will find nothing more instructive than an inquiry into the conditions of England during the French revolution, which has points of resembance with the Russian Revolution, and then during and after the Napoleonic wars. Men's minds were shaken. Governments were nervous and fussy, meddling and tyrannical. The advocacy of moderate political reforms, up to a point which has now long since been passed, was regarded as a crime. Peterloo followed Waterloo. A peaceful meeting for the discussion of reform was broken up with loss of life.

There is a lesson in this history for conservatives as well as radicals. The radicals must learn patience, knowing that progress is inevitable and can be achieved by the peaceful use and improvement of the free institutions of the country. The conservatives must not try to check progress and free discussion, nor brand earnest, thoughtful reformers and lovers of humanity as Bolshevists. If they do they may cut as foolish a figure in history as the Tories who thought England would be ruined by the abolition of the rotten boroughs, or the Tories who thought Canada would be torn away from British connection by self government. There must be new thought, there must be change. Political and economic science will no more allow society to stand still than physical science. In all these fields is needed the scientific spirit of patient and fearless search for the truth. — Toronto Star Weekly.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A greater production campaign among the hens seems to be a very necessary bit of propaganda work.

Tarvellers from Toronto to Montreal must show evidence of recent vaccination, while arrivals in Toronto from Montreal often display signs of recent exhilaration.

W. D. Euler, M.P., showed admirable spirit when he refused to kiss the flag at the command of that Kitchener mob, remarks the Hamilton Herald. His refusal was as creditable to him as the action of those who tried to coerce him was discreditable to them. Self-respecting men would not submit to being coerced into doing many things that they would gladly do of their own free will. A man might refuse to kiss his wife at the command of a hostile crowd; but that would be no evidence that the didn't love her well enough to kiss her.

A teachers' strike would have public opinion behind it as far as the pupils are concerned anyway.

THE DAY'S NEWS

William Cardinal O'Connell, who celebrates his 60th birthday to-day, is one of the two American members of the Sacred College of Cardinals, the other being the venerable Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore. Cardinal O'Connell was born in Lowell, Mass., and studied for the priesthood at St. Charles College in Maryland and at Boston College. In 1881 he went to Rome, entering the American College, where he established a brilliant record for scholarship, being ordained a priest in 1884. Returning to the United States, he held pastorates in and around Boston until 1896, when he was transferred to the American College at Rome as rector, remaining there for five years. In 1901 he was consecrated bishop of Portland, Me., and later was sent to Japan on a special mission in behalf of the Catholic interests in that land. Apoointed coadjutor to Archbishop Williams of Boston, he became archbishop on the death of Archbishop Williams in 1907. Four years later he was elevated to the cardinalate.

HORSE SHOES OF STRAW.

In Japan, most of the horses are shod with straw. Even the clumsiest of cart-horses wear straw shoes. In their case the shoes are tied round the ankles with straw rope, and are made of the ordinary rice straw, braided so that they form a sole for the foot about half an inch thick. These soles cost about a half-penny per pair, and when they are worn out they are thrown away. Every cart has a stock of fresh new shoes tied to the horse or to the front of the cart, and in Japan it was formerly the custom to measure distance largely by the number of horseshoes made a day's journey, and the average shoe lasted for about eight miles of travel.

The average age of a horse is usually put down at twenty years; the greatest age on record is believed to be sixty-two.

GARDEN OF EDEN BUILT FOR MOVIES

THE BIBLE TO BE FILMED ON THE HILLS OF CALIFORNIA.

On the foothills of the Verdugo mountains just east of the town of Burbank, California, and not a dozen miles from the heart of the city of Los Angeles, are building the studios of The Histotical Film Corporation of America, the organization that is to picturize the Holy Bible.

Here, like unto "a city that is set on an hill" and overlooking the beautiful San Fernando valley, as Jerusalem sat queen of the east, will be built a new Jerusalem, replica of the city at the time of Christ, and here also will be called into being again the people and events of the old and New Testaments.

Here will the Ministry and the Passion of the Prince of Peace be revived in solemn but gorgeous pageantry and here will Moses and the Prophets be called into pictured life in order that Bible history and its lessons may be made a part of the daily life of the people to cure unrest and help in the work of bringing lasting peace to the world.

In short an American Holy Land is rapidly being called into being at Burbank, and something new and wonderful in motion pictures is in process of creation. The Jerusalem set will be the largest ever conceived for motion pictures, but there will be many other sets, like Jericho and Thebes, nearly as large, and hundreds of fragments which in the aggregate would make a city.

Back in one of the canyons, in the heart of the Verdugos is building another kind of set—the Garden of Eden. Here with $100,000 worth of flowers and trees, shrubs, vines, ferns and plants, Director Wells, with his staff of artists and engineers, is creating the most entrancing garden ever dreamed of outside the Elysian Fields.—an appropriate setting for the great tragedy of the Fall. And this garden, when the purr of the camera is no more heard within its purple shadows, and the actors have departed to other scenes will remain a memorial to the greatest work ever done in motion pictures and a show place to travelers who, in time to come will make pilgrimages to the Western Holy Land.

Burbank was named for Luther Burbank, the famous horticultural wonder worker. It is an ideal setting for Bible pictures, for the beautiful environment is bound to lend inspiration to all who work therein. Work on "The Creation," the First Spectacle of the Pageant of the Bible has already begun.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. TWO MINISTERS HARD TO PLACE

HON. MR. DRURY "PUTS IT UP TO" ELECTED U.F.O. MEN.

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—In the first rush of enthusiasm following the triumph of the farmers at the polls and the choice of a leader to accept the responsibility of government, perhaps half a dozen U. F. O. elected members placed their seats at the disposal of Mr. Drury. The offers may not have been in black and white, or, for that matter, in definite form, but the new leader had reason to believe that if he had to go outside his elected following for Cabinet material seats would be available for the newcomers.

But the altruistic spirit has languished of late, and day by day the $1,400 sessional indemnity—for seven weeks' not too-exacting work amid the comforts of city life during an off-season on the farm—has loomed larger in the minds of those who once were ready for immolation upon the altar of farmerism. Now, apparently, Hon. Mr. Drury has two Ministers upon his hands and no seats for them to sit down in, nor little prospect of them.

From time to time reports drift in of unsuccessful efforts to secure the retirement of an elected member, and each is received with surprise at the Parliament Buildings. The most recent of these, the statement that Major Kennedy, Conservative member for Peel, had been approached and offered a Government post if he would make way for Hon. Mr. Doherty, brought a double-barreled statement from the Governmentr, a carefully-worded denial by Mr. Doherty, and a declaration against "bargaining," and an appeal to U. F. O. loyalty from Mr. Drury.

Mr. Drury's Statement.

The Prime Minister's statement was worded as follows:

"I have neither authorised nor will I countenance any bargaining for seats with members of the Legislature. I was chosen by the U. F. O. members to for ma Cabinet, which I have done to the best of my ability. In doing so I have had to go outside for two elected members besides myself. I believe the U. F. O. members are enough interested in the matter to see that seats are provided for these men."

Mr. Doherty's statement, which is addressed to the Prime Minister, is as follows:

"On my return to the city this morning my attention was drawn to articles appearing in to-day Toronto papers, making reference to a supposed attempted arrangement on my part looking to the resignation of the elected member for the County of Peel. In this matter I wish to assure you that no offer of any kind was made by me, and I am informed by the gentleman who is supposed to have acted on my behalf, and who is a mutual friend of myself and the elected member for Peel, that he made no offer as emanating from me or any other member of your Government."

Major Kennedy yesterday confirmed the report that he had been approached and that a post in the Public Works Department had been held out as a consideration. He did not say that the offer had been made with the authority of any member of the Government, but he believed that the man who made the offer had not come to him on his own authority.

The problem of finding seats for Mr. Doherty and Mr. Raney has become such a troublesome one that it is probable that nothing will be done about it until the U. F. O. Convention meets on the 16th. If some U. F. O. member has not come forward in the meantime, the matter may then be put up squarely to the elected members and the U. F. O. Executive.

The only fish that never sleep are said to be the salmon, pike and goldfish.

HEALTH OF BABIES AND ADULTS

That the health of babies and adults is actually an "asset" has been proved in a three-year experiment financed partly by the Metropolitan Insurance Company, which voted to give the National Tuberculosis Society $100,000 to establish a "health town," and partly by the town itself, which helped in a material way by raising the per capita amount to be spent in the interest of the public health sixty-one per cent. The soundness of the investment is thus pointed out in "American Medicine," (New York:)

"When level-headed insurance directors spend such a large sum of their company's money, they naturally expect it to bear interest, however indirectly it may be. Framingham, Mass., was chosen for the experiment. The leading spirits of the town, level-headed business men, saw a good opportunity for investing the town's money, and raised the per capita expenditure for public health from thirty-nine cents to one dollar. The purpose of this experiment was to show that in many cases sickness and death, particularly tuberculosis, can be eliminated by medical treatment and careful nursing, personal hygiene and adequate health administration. The experiment proved an unqualified success. In 1916, before the experiment was begun, eighty-one babies per thousand died; during the first year of the experiment this was promptly reduced to sixty-one per thousand. Previous to the inauguration of health conditions in this town of 16,000 souls, 121 persons died in one year from tuberculosis. In the first year of the test this was reduced to ninety-nine deaths, in the second year to seventy-nine, in the third year to seventy-six, and this reduction occurred while the town increased in population. At the end of three years the town leaders were well satisfied that their investment of sixty-one cents excess tax for health was an exceedingly profitable one. The directors of the insurance company felt that their $100,000 experiment was beginning to pay them better than if it had been sunk in first mortgages. Health towns, it is discovered, paid. The health of babies and adults was actually an 'asset,' which could be measured in dollars and cents. We beg the indulgence of legislators for our carelessness in overlooking these facts and for sentimentally regarding the health of babies and adults merely from a humane point of view."

LATEST BUTTER IS A LEATHER PRODUCT

British 'Margarine' Comes From Refuse of Hides

LONDON, —The Britisher is beginning to realise that, like the rhinoceros, he can eat anything.

During the war butter vanished from the menu, the only obtainable substitute being margarine. The small boy, asking his parent what was margarine made of, invariably got the vague reply, "O, nuts or something."

But now the small boy knows. And so does his parent.

The Government recently found itself left with large surplus stocks of lanoline and castor oil, and it was announced in the press that those had been "taken over for the manufacture of margarine."

And now scientific journals are telling the much-tried British public "it is possible that during the war you may have buttered your bread with the refuse of hides from which your boots were made."

TOO MUCH REGARD SHOWN CRIMINALS.

Hamilton Jury Bring in Verdict Regarding Murder of Jail Guards.

HAMILTON, Dec. 8.—"We find that Albert Case Springstead was murdered in Hamilton Jail on the morning of November 29 by Paul Kowalski. We are of the opinion that too much consideration is shown criminals in the jail, and not enough to the guards. We would recommend that one guard, at least, be armed and kept on the outside of the gate; that no benches be allowed in the corridor, except such as are securely fastened to the wall, and that all windows be screened by strong wire netting on the inside."

The above was the verdict returned last night by the jury empanelled by Chief Coroner Rennie at Central Police Station, after having heard the evidence submitted regarding the death of County Constable Springstead. The only new fact brought out in the evidence last night was given by Governor Ogilvie of the city jail, who stated that he had given strict orders to the turnkeys that they should remain outside of the corridors and that the gate on the corridor should be kept locked and the governor's evidence in this respect was corroborated by Turnkey Hunter.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralise the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

"KEPT IN" FOLLY

LONDON, Eng.—The indoor worker's need of fresh air was emphasized by Professor L. Hill in a lecture to L. C. C. school teachers at King's College.

He strongly criticised the existing forms of punishment in Council schools and characteriacd as absolute folly the practice of punishing such faults as fidgeting and inattention with "keeping in" and "lines," when the very faults themselves were caused by too much sedentary work.

REV. DR. CHAFER AT ST. PAUL'S

SERIES OF MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK.

The Rev. Dr. Chafer, who is conducting a week of meetings in St. Paul's church, delivered two messages of great power at the services yesterday. He took for his general theme both morning and evening God's revelation of Himself in the Cross of Christ. He spoke in the morning on the cross as the revelation of the love of God. Every moment of Christ's life on earth was a manifestation of God's love, but the event in that life through which, above all others, God's love was manifested, and his bosom unveiled, was the death of Christ. His life is more than a moral example. It was the final answer to the great necessities and problems which sin imposed on the very heart of God. The eternal issue of sin was called into question at Calvary's Cross, and a sufficient substitute stood in the sinner's place until the grounds of condemnation were forever past, and every righteous judgment of God was perfectly met. On the Cross the infinite God bore upon His own breast the doom of those whom His infinite love would save.

REV. DR. CHAFER
Who is preaching a series of interesting sermons at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

In the evening he spoke on the Cross as the revelation of man's sin and of God's righteousness. Every human act in the crucifixion was a revelation of the sin of the human heart. The crown of it all was the act of one man who took a spear and drove it into the heart of God. In that act he was the representative of a fallen race. All who continue in sin "crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh and put him to an open shame." The Cross was also the declaration of the righteousness of God. God in the Cross stepped down from His judgment throne and took into His own heart the very doom He had in righteousness imposed on sin. "God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself." He can now be just and yet the justifier of them that believe. The death of Christ was the greatest possible thing that God coud do for a lost world. If the sinner regrets what God has done for him the responsibility for his being lost rests wholly with himself. When he believes and acepts what God has done he is a saved soul and God will not forsake him until perfected into the very image of His Son He sets him in the eternal glory.

Dr. Chafer will speak every afternoon at three thirty o'clock and every evening at eight o'clock. The public are invited. These meetings are part of the Forward Movement in which all the churches are taking part.

EXPANSION FOR GOLDWYN PICTURES

PETERBORO THEATRE WILL SHARE IN THE RESULTS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. — Probably the biggest announcement in the history of motion pictures was made today with the announcement that Du Pont interests had invested heavily in the stock of the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation and that this company would now show a great expansion.

The action of these interests in making their huge investments in motion pictures is eloquent testimony to the fact that leading men of vast capital regard the film industry as the best avenue of investment for their earning.

Especial interest is given the new expansion by Canadians in that the Canadian rights to the product of the Goldwyn Corporation are controlled by the Allen Theatre Enterprises with headquarters in Toronto and owning the greatest chain of theatres in the entire world, when both size and number of the houses is considered.

The new interests which will be associated with Goldwyn in making motion pictures are represented by S. F. DuPont, vice-president of the DuPont Powder Co.; Eugene E. DuPont; W. W. Laird, of Laird & Co., Wilmington, Del.; R. R. McCarpenter, vice-president of the DuPont Co., C. C. Kurtz, vice-president of the Wilmington Trust Co.; E. V. R. Thayer, president of the Chase National Bank of New York; Duncan A. Holmes, vice-president of the Chase Securities Corporation, William Tompkins; George T. Bissel; G. W. Davidson, vice-president of the Central Union Trust Co., MacMillan Hoopes, and Abbott M. Willenberg, a member of S. Content & Co.

These gentlemen will be actively identified with the Goldwyn Corporation and will act as members of the directorate in addition to the present board of directors.

Addition to these powerful resources will make this company financially the strongest and most powerful organization of the kind in the entire United States. The Goldwyn Company announced but a short time ago that F. J. Godsel, another man of great wealth, had become actively connected with the company. This had been immediately preceded by the announcement that Lee and J. J. Shubert and the A. H. Woods Theatrical Enterprises, controlling more than half of the stage productions made in the United States, had become associated with the Goldwyn company and that they would reserve all of their plays of the past and productions to be made in the future to be produced as motion pictures by the Goldwyn Company.

The Goldwyn Company is a young organization, having been founded in 1916 by Samuel Goldwyn, who left the chairmanship of the board of directors of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation to form this company. It now has under contract the exclusive motion picture services of Geraldine Farrar, Pauline Frederick, Mabel Normand, Madge Kennedy, Tom Moore, Will Rogers, Jack Pickford and many other noted players. It also has exclusive long term contracts for the motion picture production of all works by Rex Beach, Gertrude Atherton, Mary Roberts Rhinehart, Rupert Hughes, Goveneur Morris, Basil King and Leroy Scott and has in production some of the famous juvenile stories by Booth Tarkington. In addition it has bought the screen rights to many of the most famous English dramas.

The company recently purchased its own studios in California and now has the largest single studios grouping in the world. Plans have been completed for equally large studios near New York city so equal care can be taken of those players who do not find it convenient to go to the coast and such pictures as require the Eastern settings can be staged better.

The Goldwyn announcement follows a series of big announcements made in the past few weeks and which cover the prosperity of the industry throughout the world. It is estimated that during the past season contracts have been made for the erection of motion picture theatres in the United States and Canada, representing an investment of far in excess of $100,000,000, and the plans for the next year are even more comprehensive. The vast portion of this investment has not come from stock sale plans, but from the investments of men who have studied the industry to the core and have become satisfied that it represents one of the best possible means of investment.

WILL STUDY NATIVES OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA

Data shedding light upon many difficult ethnological and sociological questions is expected to result from the proposed scientific expedition into the heart of Australia with the purpose of studying the aborigines and rendering them such aid as found necessary.

The aborigine population of Australia is one of the few more easily available sources for the collection of material dealing with primitive social organisation and religious beliefs.

South Australia, as the central state of the Commonwealth, is to share the greater part of the expenses involved in the investigations. Dr. Herbert Basedow, noted scientist, has been elected to head the expedition. He will have three trained assistants. Thorough medical and anthopological examinations will be made of the tribes in the north-western corner of South Australia, especially in the Musgrave Ranges. The itinerary will cover an immense area, stretching from the Queensland border to the Fowler's Bay and Western Australian border districts.

Members of the expedition will also chart the country, which geographically is not yet thoroughly known. The question of setting apart native reserves—the chief of which would be in the north-western corner of South Australia—will also be considered in the light of the results of the investigation, which, it is expected, will last several years.

COURT SEASON

LONDON, Eng.—Next year it is understood that the Court season will resume its pre-war appearance, and that the opening function will be an evening Court for the reception of the ladies of the diplomatic and official circles. Though evening courts for the general circle are also likely to be re-established it is understood that the afternoon garden parties at Buckingham Palace which were so popular this summer, will be retained.

How to Peel Off a Weatherbeaten Face

It's really a simple matter to renovate a face soiled by dirt, wind or cold. Ordinary mercolized wax, used like cold cream, will transform the worst old complexion into one of snowy whiteness and velvety softness. It literally peels off the outer veil of surface skin, but so gently, gradually, there's no discomfort. The wornout skin comes off, not in patches, but evenly, in tiny particles leaving no evidence of the treatment itself. The younger, healthier underskin forming the new complexion is one of captivating loveliness. One ounce of mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to remove any coarse, chapped, pimpled, freckled, faded or sallow skin. Apply before retiring, washing it off in the morning.

1920 OLYMPIA HORSE SHOW

LONDON, Eng.—The directors of the International Horse Show have decided to hold a show at Olympia next year from June 17 to June 26.

WHEN WE WERE BLACK

Were we all black once?

According to scientists, there is no doubt about it.

All white men, they declare, are descended from black ancestors, the skin of mankind being originally black.

The explanation is to be found in the fact that there are certain glands in our bodies which have regulated our growth and shape. According to Professor Keith, the great authority on the history of man, all men are descended from a common stock. White men, black men, red men, brown men, and yellow men arise from the one tree of life, and we have divided into three groups, write, Negro and Mongolian.

Ages ago the glands began slowly to change their method of working, and so gradually to evolve three distinct races of mankind. Each type became slowly fixed, and there came into existence the three types, white, Negro and Mongolian. Injury to a gland brings about in use effects which we find in other races.

For instance, gland failure may make us as dark as a Negro or as sallow as a Chinaman. It may make us a dwarf or a giant. In a word these glands, of which there are enough in the human system to fill a watch pocket, regulate our growth and shape, and, if they become diseased, amy cause a reversion to the primitive type.

IN THE DAYS NEWS

The English world of music today will pay tribute to Sir Frederick Bridge, the renowned organist of Westminster Abbey, this being his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary. Besides being one of the greatest of organists Sir Frederick has won fame as a composer and has written many learned works on theoretical as well as other muscial subjects. His musical career has been a long and varied one, beginning at the age of 17 when he got his first opportunity as a church organist. In 1869 he was appointed organist at Manchester Cathedral, his first important post. Thirteen years later his ambition was crowned when he stepped into what may be considered the highest post of English cathedral organists, that of organist of Westminster Abbey. Among many historic occasions upon which Sir Frederick has officiated were the jubilees of Queen Victoria and the coronation of King Edward VII. and King George V.

WAS ON VERGE OF GIVING UP

LASSARD GAINS SIXTEEN POUNDS AND OVERCOMES TROUBLES BY TAKING TANLAC.

"If any man had told me that Tanlac could do me just half the good it has done me; I would have laughed at him," said John Lassard, who lives at the Richelieu Hotel, Edmonton, Alberta, to a Tanlac representative the other day. Mr. Lassard saw three years service in the Canadian Expeditionary forces and was in the thickest of many of the great battles. He is now a popular brakeman on the Canadian National Railway.

"Just ask any of the boys I work with; they'll tell you what Tanlac has done for me and what I think of it," he continued; "why three bottles of Tanlac have not only put me in good health but they have added 16 pounds to my weight.

"I went through such a nerve strain while in the trenches in France that when I got back over here I just went to pieces all at once. I lost my appetite almost entirely and it seemed that everything that I ate soured on my stomach and caused gas to form so bad that I would be in misery for hours after every meal. My nerves were in such an awful condition that it was next to impossible for me to get more than a few hours sleep at night; and if any kind of an unexpected noise happened it made me jump like I was shot at. I was in such a run down condition that I could not half do my work. At last I thought that I had just about reached the limit and I had decided to give up my work altogether and take a long rest and try and build myself up.

"But before I quit one of the boys who heard I was going to leave came up to me and told me what Tanlac had done for him and kept on insisting so much that I agreed to try it. Well, sir, I would hardly believe it if anybody else told me that Tanlac had helped them as much as it has helped me. Why, I am not the same man at all. My nerves are so steady I can stand any kind of a noise. I can sleep like a log and never felt better in my whole life than I do right now. I eat anything I please without ever having a pain of any kind anywhere in my body and that gas has quit forming. I have been built up in every way; am never troubled with anything in the least, and as I told you I have gained 16 pounds. I wish that you would publish this testimonial of mine so that other soldiers who may come back from France in a weak and run down condition wil know that Tanlac is the very thing they need to build them up and put them in fine shape."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Limited; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Baby Cutters and Sleighs are most difficult to procure but we have them

The other day we received a shipment of baby cutters, not all that were ordered, but a few of each so we have the variety but the quantity was far from sufficient for they are very difficult to procure and within a few brief days we expect the entire lot will disappear from our third floor and put to their proper use.

One series is finished with white enamel and striped with blue, and another is French gray striped with blue. Both have steel runner, long handles adjusted at a convenient angle and the size of the box is quite spacious. If the dash board is rounded and the box is shaped with a few curves, the price is $9.00. If the box is square at the front, back & sides, the price is $7.00.

This white enamel baby conveyance is, really, half sleigh and half carriage; for it is equipped with steel runners and a set of wheels that can be dropped by touching a handle with your foot. The box is shapely and spacious. Price $11.50.

This one of red is, truly, a cutter, a miniature one of course. The runners are all wood, extending from the base of the box to the ground, and are shoed with steel. The box is striped with gold, is very spacious, has curved dash board and a long handle. Price, $9.25.

Infants' Rail Sleighs, made with detachable handles, are made to be drawn. The handle can be replaced with a cord if desired. They have steel runners and a six-inch rail extends all around the seat. The finish is natural colour. Price, $2.00 and $2.50.

PRINCIPAL D. J. FRASER WAS THE SPEAKER AT KNOX CHURCH SUNDAY

TWO INSPIRING MESSAGES—CHURCH WAS FILLED TO ITS CAPACITY —SPECIAL ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.

Principal D. J. Fraser, D.D., LL.D., of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, conducted the anniversary services at Knox church yesterday morning and evening, and at both services the church was filled to capacity.

At the morning service, after expressing his pleasure at the evident prosperity of the church and his confidence in Rev. J. A. MacKenzie, the pastor, who is an ex-pupil of his, Mr. Fraser preached an eloquent and especially appropriate sermon on "The Missionary Function of the Church," basing his remarks upon the 16th chapter of Matthew, verse 25th, "Whosoever would save his life shall lose it."

After speaking of the tendency the Church is experiencing of her members wandering from the old conception of the church, and taking a waning interest in the sacraments, the speaker outlined the history of missionary efforts in the different ages.

Continuing he spoke of the three principles for which the Church stands: Unity, Sanctity and Catholicity, the latter of which he said is the basis of missionary calling.

To apply election to the missionary effort he said is perhaps a blunt way of expressing one's self but Jesus recognized the doctrine of election when he said to his disciples "I have elected you to go forth," and appointed them to carry on the redemptive work of the world.

In Self Defence.

God has entrusted the work of distributing the revelation of the Gospel to the Church, and with a failing mission effort the Church would automatically cease to be a light. History has proved that the church must be a missionary institution in sheer self defence. In the earliest ages the church was saved from becoming a Jewish cult by the missionary zeal of St. Paul. In the dark ages she was kept alive by similar efforts of St. Columbus, St. Patrick, and St. Augustine, who carried the gospel to Northern Europe. In the middle ages she was saved by the missionary efforts being essential in St. Dominic. Since the Reformation there have been times when missionary efforts alone have sustained her. It is not hard to find, he said, concrete cases proving the truth of missionary efforts bein gessential in sustaining a church. The Unitarian Church stands out as a striking example. The awakening of the missionary Society saved the Presbyterian Church and gave her unparalleled prosperity.

In the last five years we have witnessed a tragic example of the results of the doctrine of saving the truth rather than spreading it in the downfall of the Lutheran Church which to-day stands discredited in the world. By seeking to save Prussian life it lost.

True of Nations.

That missionary efforts are needed for sustaining life is as true of nations as of churches. When the British Nation ceased to be a missionary nation it will lose its identity. It is true of congregations. When a congregation ceased to shed the light of God its election is given to others.

A selfish policy in congregations is suicidal. The congregation which ceases to be a missionary and degenerates into a social club, which does not carry in its heart the needs of the poor and sinful is taking the shortest possible cut to uselessness. A congregation hence can only save its own life by losing it in self sacrificing missionary efforts.

Special Music.

The music at the morning service was exceedingly good. Mrs. Hughes sang "Angel Land" most acceptably, while the anthem with the quartette composed of Miss Penrose and Miss Williams and Mr. Gillespie, and Mr. Roy, was unusually well rendered.

Evening Service.

In the evening Principal Fraser preached a most interesting sermon on "Immortality," and the music was of a very high order.

It had been said that he was to enter the contest for the Utilities Commission, and thus clear the field for Mr. G. N. AEROPLANE DELIVERY SAVES AN EPIDEMIC.

MEDICAL SUPPLIES ARE RUSHED BY AIR TO POLAND.

PINSK, Poland, Dec. 3. — By an aeroplane flight from the Polish aerodrome near Vladimir-Wolynski, in Ukrainian Poland, to one of the villages near Pinsk, Captain E. R. Schoedsack brought a trunkful of medical supplies that arrested a threatened cholera outbreak. It was the first aerial delivery of civilian medical supplies in the history of Poland.

A refugee camp had been formed on the outskirts of the Pinsk marshes. Bad roads and in some places absolute lack of them due to heavy rains, had made communication with the medical warehouses in the rear absolutely impossible by horse or automobile.

Captain Schoedsack, who was formerly an aero photographer in the signal corps, suggested the aeroplane as a means of delivering the much-needed supplies.

Major H. S. Diehl, of Clear Springs, Md., the officer in charge, instantly got together a trunkful of medicines and other necessary supplies for the emergency stores. The local aerodrome of the Polish Air Service had agreed to furnish the aeroplane.

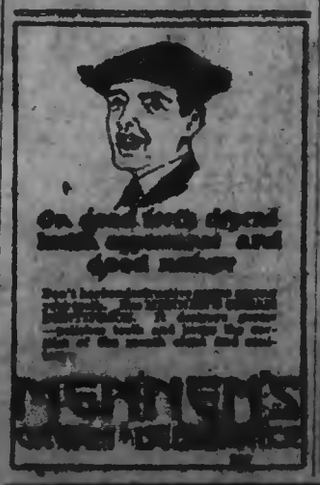
HARTLEY DEWART USES STRONG WORDS

OTTAWA, Dec. 6.—Mr. H. Hartley Dewart, Ontario's Liberal leader, in a speech last night to the Liberal stalwarts of East Ottawa riding gave evidence he did not like the new Farmers' Government, and in no uncertain language. He charged them, in fact, with indirect bribery in connection with an attempt to obtain a seat for the Hon. Manning Doherty, who is to be the new Minister of Agriculture. "The U. F. O.," said Mr. Dewart, "means 'us for ourselves.'"



The first balloon ascent took place in 1783.

The easiest way to teach children to save, is to start a Savings Account for each child ($1.00 each is sufficient). After a child has saved another dollar to make an additional deposit, he or she will have a better appreciation of just what a dollar stands for, and how much ...

PAINTING THE EX-KAISER RED

PRACTICAL JOKERS IN RHINELAND

As the laden troop trains steam out of Cologne Station with our departing soldiers, the sworded and blue-uniformed German police have a night of relief and twirl their bristling moustaches with revived vigour.

The German minions of the law have had a strenuous time endeavouring to restrain our soldiers' truly British love of practical joking. These diversions have facts all the more humorous on account of the fact that the square-headed Teuton has no sense of humour himself.

On a never-to-be-forgotten night last January, one has memories of a cordon of distracted German policemen endeavouring to prevent a statue of the ex-Kaiser being embellished with red paint. A number of British soldiers, under cover of darkness, had scaled the plinth, and, with the assistance of hefty brushes and pails of Ordnance paint, were greatly adding to the festive appearance of the All-Highest. If there were any British military police in the vicinity, they diplomatically remained in the background, and the playful jokers did not allow any foreign representative of the law to spoil their evening's amusement.

Recited the Hymn of Hate.

The spectacle of a burly Prussian in the sergeants' mess of a famous regiment of the Guards, chanting the notorious Hymn of Hate, is an occurrence which few people would have predicted. This incident has for long been a cherished anecdote amongst our troops in Rhineland.

One night a cherry sergeant-major suggested that a street expedition be formed, and the first German encountered should be marched back to the mess to entertain the company with a recital of the Hymn of Hate. In less than half an hour a cowed Prussian stood, hat in hand, before a crowd of laughing Guardsmen. In vain he protested that he did not know the world-famous composition, but eventually he considered it the safest policy to refresh his memory, and, in wavering tones, he recited the poem. The company shook with mirth as, in guttural tones, he rolled out the passages which condemned Britain and the British to eternal destruction.

A particularly bombastic monument glorifying Prussian militarism excited the interest of a number of soldier humorists a short time back. It stood in a secluded spot on the Rhine bank, and late one night an Army lorry halted close to this unpopular erection.

Within an hour a strong steel cable had been placed around the monument, the trailing length of which was attached to the motor vehicle. The lorry commenced to move steadily down the road, and the practical jokers, at a safe distance, waited to see the German emblem dragged from its plinth into the dust. But they had underrated the efficiency of the German masons. The statue remained stationary and the cable snapped.

PARIS WOMEN NOW HIRE PARTNERS FOR DANCING.

PARIS, Dec. 6.—The day of the wallflower is over for Paris women. The latest device of the up-to-date tango palaces enables all women irrespective of age, degree of beauty, to find handsome partners of noble birth to dance with them at 2 francs (about 40 cents) a round.

This innovation was introduced by M. Duque, the fashionable dancing master, and has been enthusiastically acclaimed by that section of society women who thus far have refrained from frequenting public dance halls because they lacked partners.

Now they find an array of aristocratic young men of unquestionable physical pulchritude and fine dancers, whose only drawbacks is penury. These stand in the corner of the large room where the society women can pick them out after careful scrutiny through lorgnettes.

HANDCUFFED AND GIVEN THE "CURE"

GIRLS IN BEDFORD REFORMATORY ILL-TREATED—STRUNG UP TO DOOR OF THEIR CELLS.

BEDFORD, N. Y. —Sensational allegations that the "cold water cure" was inflicted upon the girl inmates while handcuffed, in a hundred cases, since Miss Helen A. Cobb has been Superintendent, and that in some instances they appeared near death at the end of it, were made in testimony given at the investigation of conditions at the State Reformatory for Women by Thomas Quinn, who has been a guard at the institution for the past four years.

Quinn said that when he first came to the institution a very unruly girl was set down on a blanket with her hands handcuffed behind her back, lifted up, an handcuffed to the cell door. Then if not quiet within a "reasonable time" she was put on a cot, with one hand shackled to either side of the cot, and a pair of ankle cuffs holding her feet fast to the foot of the bed. The girl generally screamed throughout this treatment, Quinn said. He said he had never heard of washing a girl's mouth out with soap and water during the administration of Dr. Katharine B. Davis as Superintendent.

Describes Alleged "Cure."

On one occasion, Quinn continued, last June or July, after the present Superintendent, Miss Cobb, came, one girl, Elizabeth Nichols, "rebelled."

"She seemed insane," Quinn said. "Three or four of us went into her cell. One threw water on her. It was cold water. It had no effect, so they dipped her head in the pail several times. Each dip lasted from 30 seconds to a full minute.

This girl did not scream, Quinn said, but she swore. The dipping having no effect, the attendants took a towel, Quinn said, wrapped it around her head, and then put soap and water in her mouth.

"Ordinary washing soap was used," said the witness. "All the girl said to me was, 'My insides are burning.'"

The cold water method with the girl standing on her tip-toes, was the "uniform practice," and probably has been applied from twenty-five to thirty times in the last year, he said. At the end of the treatment the victims are "all in." When the handcuffs were removed the girls could not speak. They were left in their cell, but with no bed, so that they had to sleep on the floor.

Quinn said that in his opinion excitable girls, known as the psychopathic cases, should be turned over to a trained nurse.

In reply to a question, whether the cold water treatment was applied when the girls were hung up, Quinn said: "Yes, in most cases."

"One dip was as good as five," he continued, "if you kept her head down long enough."

Girl's Unconscious.

The girls' eyes were swollen after the treatment, according to the witness, they gasped for breath, and in some cases were unconscious. He said that on a number of occasions when he lifted a girl up to take off the handcuffs he was afraid she was dead.

In reply to further questions Quinn said that on Aug. 1 last a girl was handcuffed, with her feet off the floor.

"Where was she hanging?"

"She was hanging to the cell door" was the reply.

"She managed to get the heels of her shoes in between the door, but when this was discovered by an attendant, the attendant kicked the girl's heel out."

Ruth Carter a Witness

Ruth Carter, a former inmate of the institution, whose recent trial resulted in the investigation, testified that on August 19th, 1918, she was strung up to her cell door, handcuffed by the wrists, with her feet off the floor.

"Did you not kick some of the attendants that day?" asked Daniel T. Hays, member of the Board of Directors.

"Yes," answered the witness. "I kicked them while they were stringing me up. My wrists were all cut by the handcuffs."

"Was a doctor called to treat you?" asked Kennedy.

"No," replied the witness.

"Isn't it a fact that the doctors visit the cells of the girls under punishment at once a day?"

"No," said the girl. "The doctor comes only about three times a week."

"When were you next punished?"

"On Easter Monday. I was wrapped in a blanket and handcuffed to my cell door for three consecutive days."

The witness testified that she fainted only on Good and Easter while undergoing punishment. She said the matron held the cup of water to my lips, and when the bread was said.

Mrs. Alice M. Glickrist, of Golden's Bridge, N. Y., former matron in the reformatory, testified that between May, 1917, and October, 1918, she had seen girls strung up to the doors of their cells, sometimes as many as twelve, in one day. Some of these, she said, had refused to get up from the table in the mess hall when ordered, declaring they had not had enough to eat.

GALLO ENGLISH OPERA COMPANY

The orchestra carried by the Gallo English Opera Company has been recruited by Max Bendix, especially for this season's tour, and is described as being second to no other organization of the kind in the world. It comprises five first violins, three second violins, two violas, two cellos, two basses, flute, piccolo, two clarinets, bass clarinet, oboe, bassoon, two French horns, two trumpets, trombone, tympani and drums, hence it will readily be seen that the witcheries of the Sullivan scores will lose nothing in the interpretation.

An announcement of extraordinary interest is made by the management of the Grand Opera House to the effect that Peterborough is to enjoy a limited season of standard English opera at the hands of the Gallo English Opera Company Wednesday and Thursday nights and Thursday matinee, December 10 and 11.

This company has just completed a phenomenally successful engagement at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto and will appear here with the same splendid array of principals, including Hana Shimozumi, Jefferson De Angelis, Albert Parr, Daniel Denton, Louis Casavant, Karl Stoll, Frank Risdo, Rosamond Whiteside, Greta Risley, Ethel Mae Bagnall, Alice Booth, a chorus of fifty and a concert orchestra of thirty under the direction of Max Bendix. The list of operas presented by the company includes, "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Penzance," "H.M.S. Pinafore," "The Gondoliers," "The Chimes of Normany" and "The Geisha." The announcement of the operas to be presented here will be made later.

MABEL NORMAND SAYS:

If you want people to sit up and take notice simply make a noise like a hundred dollar bill.

Typewriters tell no tales, but the same cannot always be said of stenographers.

Many a young man gets rattled when a young widow acts as if he was trying to flirt with her.

If a book bores you it is an easy matter to shut it up but it is different with a woman.

He is a poor friend who will not stand by you until your last dollar is gone.

Too many men try to get what they want before they know what they want.

During courtship a man boasts of his income, but after marriage he growls about the outgo.

Women have more religion than men because they need it less.

TO SOCIALIZE CHILDREN

LONDON, Eng— The Russian "Reitch," of Warsaw, reports that Trotsky has declared in favor of the socialization of children. In Tula, a town in East Central Russia, seven thousand children between seven and ten years of age have been taken from their homes to special colonies under the Bolsherist educational system.

A general census of children is being taken preparatory to the adoption of national socialization.

PLAY FAIR.

DON'T JUMP TO CONCLUSIONS.

What is the difference between remedy and cure? Any disease which is liable to recur cannot be indefinitely "cured." You may dispel the germs from the system—but that is simply remedying it.

A man suffers for years with Rheumatism. After trying numerous treatments without success, he takes Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules, and is restored to perfect health again.

A year or so later Rheumatic symptoms appear again. What does he immediately conclude? That it is his old trouble returned; that the medicine he took had only a temporary effect; that he will never again be well. This impression is the one we wish to eradicate—because it is entirely false. Whenever Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules are given a fair trial they remedy Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuritis, Neuralgia, or any of their kindred diseases.

T.R.C.'s won't make you immune from the above diseases. They will remedy them and drive them from your system, but whenever you feel an attack coming on, start using T.R.C.'s again.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our free booklet: it is interesting and tells you something (Templeton, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of price.

WHAT I KNOW ABOUT THE GIRL "UPSTAIRS"

SCANDAL

While I have always tended strongly toward a close adherence to the Golden Rule, "With malice toward none and charity for all," I have in my possession some facts concerning a certain young lady of this town that, in the interests of the community, I feel morally obliged to divulge.

Something of a mysterious glamour surrounds this young lady, for although she has been in our midst for a number of weeks, and her escapades are well known to the habitues of a certain local hotel, I have been unable to find a person who knows something about her, other than she styles herself the girl from Upstairs and from some ulterior motive refuses to disclose her name.

This girl from "Upstairs," I learn, recently secured a position as kitchen maid in the hotel, and in order to satisfy her ambition to be a "wild woman," deliberately took a hat and evening gown belonging to a guest. This theft, I have every reason to believe, was committed by the girl, with the help of a certain well known young man who is the son of one of the wealthiest citizens and who has fallen a victim to the girl's wiles to the extent of working as a bellboy in a hotel near her.

It is now rumored at the hotel where the young lady works that she plans an elopement with her wealthy bellboy admirer. I trust that the young man's father will read this letter in time to prevent this calamity, and sincerely hope that my letter will come to the attention of every person who holds the welfare of Peterborough at heart so that they may be duly warned of the harmful influences resulting from the presence of the girl who went "Upstairs" and there found a real Ragtime Romance!!

OH JOY! OH BOY! HE WEDS HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW

NEW YORK, Dec. —Wilbur B. Broer, a rug manufacturer of Brooklyn, is the first person, so far as is known, to have solved the problem of what to do with a mother-in-law. His answer to the ages-old question is—marry her.

And so he is going to take as his bride Mrs. Kate Schorling, fifty-two years old. The bridegroom-to-be is fourty-four. She is the mother of Broer's wife, who died in September, 1913, and has made his home with her since. He has no children.

The marriage license was obtained in Jersey City from City Clerk Frank A. Dolan.

"I see nothing unusual in the fact that I am to marry Mrs. Schorling," declared Broer. "I have known her for sixteen years. I was not quite twenty-eight when I met her. I am not a child, and know what I am doing."

Here is a man who is to marry his mother-in-law, who pronounces all whoozes as false, misleading and untrue, as well as without foundation and "nothing but jokes."

(Who of us does not like a good Western Picture? The above Star is, I believe, quite new to the Picture Fans of Peterborough. He is a real Westerner, to the extent that he was born and brought up in that great open country, and is as much at home on a horse and with a gun as you and I are sitting in front of a full plate at meal time. His initial Photo-Play will not be disappointing.)

GRIZZLY BEARS, LURED BY FISH, DISURB CAMPERS

VANCOUVER, B.C., Dec. 5.—Grizzly bears in such numbers that they lost count of the animals seen is the story brought to this city by J. McHugh, resident engineer of the Dominion fisheries, who has just returned from the headwaters of the Bella Coola River.

Mr. McHugh spent three weeks in the wilds. He went north by one of Canadian Pacific coast steamers to Bella Colla and thence by canoe and portage up the Atnarko and Whitewater rivers to the head waters. They were following the spawning salmon and clearing the streams to let the fish get to the spawning grounds.

Large numbers of grizzly bears attracted to the streams by the number less fish made night life in camp a restless dream. The Indian guides shot several of the animals.

DIVERS' CHANCES.

There is a great and increasing demand for divers in order to rescue from the sea the millions of pounds' worth of treasure that has been sunk by the Hun during the war.

The actual amount of gold alone that is buried beneath the ocean in topedoed and mine-sunk ships runs into millions, and there are many millions more in preserved foods and other goods which do not easily perish and which are worth rescuing.

Anyone in search of good, healthy employment could not do better than become a deep seadiver. Of course, the work is hard, but from a purely physical culture point of view it is probably the best and most effective way of expanding the lungs and broadening the chest, because deep, regular breathing becomes a necessity.

Taken as a class divers are extremely healthy. Consumption, indigestion and similar complaints are practically unknown among them.
